There never was a doubt as to the need of newspaper for the boys. From the time that the first bunch of "rookies" arrived, it was evident that something was lacking. The personal touch was not there, and getting acquainted was not the easiest matter. So it was that the idea of "The Airscout's Snapshot" was conceived. Like Topsy, it "just grew." But to put out the first issue of the paper was another matter, and the story of the initial endeavors reads more like a dime novel than the work of getting out a weekly newspaper.

Suffice to say that "The Airscout's Snapshot" to-day makes its first bid for the approval of the soldier-students of the United States Army School of Aerial Photography. From the first the paper was indorsed by Angelo Newman, the popular K. of C. secretary, and John A. Wells, the equality energetic and Photography, we very gladly indorse

HAS TO RUN TO KEEP UP WITH SOLDIERS THAT DO HUNDRED IN NOTHING FLAT

One by one—each time with a puff and two sighs—Angelo, the Arbuckletic Knights of Columbus secretary, climbed the stairs of the barrack to the office of Captain Betz. When he reached the commandant's office he was out of breath, to say the

"The captain is on the field, drilling the boys," announced Miss Dorlan, secre-tary to the commanding officer. Angelo sighed, looked troubled, then relieved, and finally hung the upper portion of his massive frame from a window of the barrack overlooking the field. There he saw the captain, running here, jumping there and trying his best to watch all of the four or five ring circus at the same time.

Of a sudden Captain Betz appeared, coming up the barrack steps two at a time. Angelo looked in bewilderment. "Phew," he said. "Do you do that very often, Captain?"

"Sure! When they're going a hundred yards in 10 2-5 down there—well, you've got to run to keep up to those boys."

May Build Caproni Planes Here.

Caproni biplanes for the American Army in France will be made in this country, it has been accounced by Signal Corps of-ficers. Although no contracts have been signed, it is expected that before the end of the end quantity production of the new machines will be under way. The planes will be used for night bombing. It is believed that the Italian aircraft mission, which will reach this country soon, will bring the latest revised plans for the construction of the powerful machines.

THE SNAPSHOT'S FIRST SNAP.

Herewith is submitted for the approval of the soldier-students the first issue of The Airscout's Snapshot, the official publication of the United States Army School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park. The publication is indorsed both by the Young Men's Christian Association and the Knights of Columbus, and is issued with the permission of Captain Charles F. Betz. commandant of the school. It is planned to publish the paper every week, Saturday being chosen as the date of issuance.

The Airscout's Snapshot is published in the interests of the soldier-students first snap break the plate, or will the snapshot keep on snapping?

The answer must come from the soldiers. Their interest in the paper, both as to its news items and advertising, spells victory or defeat for The Airscout's Snapshot. If it fails, it will be the first army publication to "go under" since Uncle Sam entered the war. It is the hope of the publishers that The Snapshot will keep on snapping, each time bringing to a better focus the interests of the soldiers.

For the news columns, The Snapshot wants short, pointed items, written without malice. No "time exposure" stories can be used; every item must be a "snapshot." The Snapshot is supported entirely by its advertising. Therefore the soldiers are asked to read the ads before making purchases.

As all news matter in The Snapshot must be censored by Captain Betz, we

ROCHESTER DEDICATES TREE TO AIRSCOUTS

THAT the care, protection and conservation of America's vast forests will do as much as any one thing to help win the war was brought of the school. It is their paper, and out forcibly by Captain Betz on Arbor its destiny is in their hands. Will the Day, in an address delivered at the Arbor opening of Seneca Park, one of Rochester's most beautiful recreation spots. Captain Betz accepted a large tree, dedicated to the air fighters of America. In his acceptance, he spoke as follows:

"To-day we meet for the celebration of Arbor Day. The observance of Arbor Day by the schools of the State of New York had its official beginning in the year 1889. In 1864 Hon. George P. Marsh, represen-tative of the United States at different times to various European Courts, wrote a book entitled, "Man to Nature", dealing with great efforts being put forth by many European countries to reforest large areas which had been recklessly destroyed generations before. One chapter of his book in particular, entitled "The Woods', aroused much interest and discussion. As a result the people began to realize that radical steps must be taken to eliminate wasteful forest destruction. forest destruction.

Inquiry Commission Named.

"The Committee on Public Lands of the House of Representatives in 1874 recom-mended the appointment of a Commission of Inquiry into the destruction of forests and measures necessary to be taken for the preservation of valuable timber; two years later Congress authorized the same. The Secretary of Agriculture, acting upon the authority of Congress, appointed Dr. Franklin B. Hough of the State of New York the first forest commissioner, who published a complete report on forests of this country and Europe.

"The first movement practically towards setting apart some special day for tree planting was made by Hon. J. Sterling Morton of Nebraska, but who was born in Jefferson County, this state. In the year Jefferson County, this state. In the year 1872, two years before Congress took action, he succeeded in having the State Board of Agriculture pass a resolution stating that Wednesday, the 10th day of April, 1872, be specified and especially set apart and consecrated for tree planting in the State of Nebraska and named it Arbert Day, Over 1,000,000 trees. bor Day. Over 1,000,000 trees were thus planted in the State of Nebraska, the first state to have Arbor Day, and in 1885 Ar-bor Day was declared a legal holiday in Nebraska. The first states to follow the splendid example of Nebraska were Kansas, Tenessee, Minnesota, Ohio and Virginia, and they followed the other states in rapid succession.

Empire State Soon Follows.

"The State of New York set apart the observance of Arbor Day in the schools by legal provision in 1889. I am proud to say that New York, my birthplace and for which I have a warm heart, (although I have traveled all through the Orient and New York, my birthplace the Philippines), has done more through its public schools to encourage 'the planting, protection and preservation of trees and shrubs' than any other state in the mind that the observance of Arbor Day is doubly important during the war we are engaged in for the suppression of 'Hun' or 'German' autocracy, that our trees be given protection and new trees planted to take the place of trees necessarily cut down to be used in the manufacture of ships and vessels to convey our brave sons across KEEP THE SNAPSHOT SNAPPING the waters to 'over there,' where they are fighting to protect our glorious Red, White and Blue, and for the honor of their wives, mothers and sisters.

Trees Help Win War.

"As in the days of yore when Hudson first saw the river which bears his name, and Champlain sailed the waters of the Great Lakes, the trees were cut down to erect homes for the first settlers and stockades were built to protect our forefathers from the Indians, so we must now utilize our trees in the manufacture of vessels trucks, field hospitals, shelter huts over seas, and numerous other articles required during this war, including the construction of airplanes to guide the army now fighting against the 'Huns.'

"In the old days our forefathers went forward and bravely fought off the Red Foe in order to protect the most priceless treasures of men—their wives and daughters. Now our brave boys must go forth to fight against the barbaric German tribes of Europe for the same cause, and as this war will necessitate the cutting down of millions of trees, we must put forth every effort in our power to plant trees to take the place of those cut down, so that the next generation will not suffer for lack of fuel, building material, implements, tools and the other necessities of life.

"Wood is one of the absolute necessities of life—it follows us from birth to death. We are rocked in cradles made of wood; we rest in chairs of wood; we eat from wooden tables; the papers and books we read and study are made of the pulp of wood; farm wagons and implements are mostly constructed of wood; half of the homes of the world are constructed of wood; barns housing the cattle which provide our meat and food are erected from wood; then when we die, we are buried in

City of Beautiful Trees!

"The trees also furnish a safe shelter for our little friends, the birds, who are out best allies in fighting and killing insects that destroy our crops and flowers. Rochester is singularly fortunate in the absence of plant and tree destroying in-sects, since I find this to be a city of beautiful flowers, lawns and trees.

"In all my extensive travels through the tropics—where luxuriant foliage, trees and flowers abound because climatic conditions tation, I must admit that Rochester is one of the most beautiful cities I have ever had the pleasure of visiting. Being a lover of outdor life, and as a soldier in the tropics living out-of-doors all my life, I can fully appreciate the care, time, and thought given by Rochester to her parks War Wrecked Countries.

"This subject brings the war home to us, when we think of the time, money and care spent by Our Allies 'over there' in cultivating flowers and beautifying their homes by the planting of trees and shrubs, and patiently watching the trees blossom in the Springtime before this war, and now seeing their homes destroyed, their wives, daughters and sweethearts crushed and trampled under the feet of the 'blood maddened barbarians', their sons and hus-bands shot down in the righteous fight of protection—for the greatest instinct for the human race is the protection of its own. And if we don't show our mettle, we will experience the same wanton destruction in our country. But the American men, loyally supported by their patriotic wives and daughters, who are doing their bit in Red Cross work, knitting, making bandages, selling Liberty Bonds, etc., thus backing up our glorius American manhood in the trenches, will crush completely German autocracy from the face of the globe, and imperialism will be a thing of the past

British bombing planes crossed the western fighting front early on May 16 and headed straight for Saarbruecken in Rhenish Prussia, more than 200 miles from the British air bases in Belgium and more than thirty miles inside the Franco-German border. Two dozen big bombs were dropped on railway stations and factories. Though 25 Hun machines engaged the Britishers in a running fight, only one allied ma-chine was lost.

Allied air supremacy on the western front was demonstrated on May 16, when 47 Hun planes were downed with a loss of only eighteen allied ma-chines. Forty of the German planes were bagged by the British, and seven by the French airmen.

British airmen made a daylight raid on Cologne (Koeln), the big German fortified city on the Rhine, on May 17. They dropped 33 bombs on the railway stations, factories and barracks. Before returning the aviators also dropped tons of bombs on the railway stations at Metz, the big German fortress in Lorraine. All the planes re-turned to their base.

The former left Washington at 11.47 a. m. and was forced to land at Waldorf, Md., 25 miles from the starting point, be-cause of machine trouble. Lieutenant Culver left Philadelphia at 2.20 p. m. and flew the 85 miles to Belmont Park, arriving at 3.35 p. m.

American fighting planes flying over the Toul sector in France brought down three German machines on May 15. The story of a thrilling air battle between Lieutenant Eddie Rickenbacker and tween Lieutenant Eddie Rickenbacker and a German filer was told in Pershing's communique of May 19. It says: "Last evening, north of Toul, Lieutenant Rickenbacker, flying at 5,000 meters, was pursuing an Albatross type plane, when a second machine came between them. Lieutenant Rickenbacker struck the tail of the second machine, taking it off and apparently forcing the hostile plane down out of control. Although his own machine was badly damaged, he succeeded in returning badly damaged, he succeeded in returning safely to his own lines.

"About the same time Captain Peterson attacked a two-seated machine, signalled to him in the vicinity of St. Mi-

"Lieutenant Chambers at about the same time engaged two hostile machines, of which one was seen to fall. The other was pursued without results."

He had many times discussed the possibility of such a death, and cooly took the leap when the bullet hit the tank, rather than be enveloped in flames. Lieutenant Bongartz, the "Ace" of the German Flying Corps, was shot down by a British aviator on May 19, according to a report from the Frankfurter Zeitung, from Zurich, via London. He received a bullet wound in the eye and is now convalescing in a hospital. Thirty-seven men, women and children were killed, and 155 others wounded when German airmen raided London on the night of May 19. Six persons were injured in the provinces.

Sub-Lieutenant Fonck, French "ace", was reported unofficial on May 21 to have brought down three more German air-planes. That made a total of 45 enemy machines to his credit.

"A thousand German airplanes have been brought down or driven out of control since the German offensive began two months ago," the London War Office announced on May 20. More than 1,000 tons of bombs were dropped behind the German lines in that period.

There isn't a ghost of a show for the blues when once in the "Y." K. C. hut. If Wells, the smiling secretary of the "Y.", isn't there to give the airscout a hearty handshake, Brother Newman is there with handshake, Brother Newman is there with his usual line of—conversation. And many are the good shows that have been "put over" on the stage in the west end of the big auditorium.

But in passing a brief description of the hut, its opening and purposes are interesting. Miss Katherine Stinson, whose Chicago—New York air mail flight was to have been completed on May 26, was held up in Binghamton by engine trouble. Her airplane, injured while landing, was repaired, but the engine proved bulky, missing fire so persistently that safety demanded postponement of the final lap of her long flight.

That American airplanes are operating in Flanders was intimated in a Berlin dispatch of May 23, which asserts that three of the machines were downed.

Tons of bombs were dropped on the billets in the neighborhood of Peronne, Fricourt and Bapaume on the night of May 23, the British War Office announced. her long flight.

An air raid warning was sounded at 10:45 o'clock on the night of May 27 in Paris, but no hostle airplanes were reported having operated in the vicinity.

Airscouts Prove Good Entertainers

Rochester's school of airscouts has developed some royal entertainers. Among the khaki-clad soldier-photographers are and they never have been known to "fall down" on an entertainment programme.

Members of the Seventh District Dental

Society, holding a convention here, were entertained in Hotel Senece by a bunch of the boys. At another time the Rochester Rotary Club featured its luncheon with the airscouts' programme. Recently the boys from Captain Crowell's motor convoy unit at Exposition Park came down to the "Y."

The pole was planted the day before, and at 2.15 o'clock the colors were raised while the school stood at attention. A new flag, recently raised, measures ten by nineteen feet. Herewith The Snapshot prints a number of views taken on the day Old Glory was unfurled at the school.

Pyro A and Pyro B Prove To Be Only Passing Visitors and School Is Still without a Regular Mascot

For a number of days it looked as though the problem would be solved, and that the U. S. A. School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park would at last boast of a regular, live, honest-to-goodness mascot. In fact, there were chances of boasting of two mascots, alike enough to be twins and yet each with characteristics all its own.

Two young crows, each as black as the proverbial printer's ink, were the mascots. They flew into the office of Lieutenant Furness one evening, so the story goes, and he caught them and turned them over to the boys. A coup was built and placed at the "Y."-K. C. hut and the two mascots given a temporary home.

Pyro A and Pyro B were the names given the mascots. Just how Pyro A was distinguished from Pyro B is difficult to relate, but 'tis said that Pyro A invariably was the first to accept breakfast, dinner or supper at the hands of the boys.

Buttons Good Eating!

Uniform buttons, nails and other objects soon attracted Pyro A and Pyro B and many an hour was passed by the boys in teaching the mascots to climb on their shoulders or arms, or jump for food. Pyro A even developed a fondness for tobacco during his brief stay at the school—until one day he was attracted by the red glow and tried to swallow the wrong end of a cigar held in the mouth of one of the boys.

Came a day, however, when Pyro A's wings grew stronger, and Pyro B found that he, too, could aviate to a more commodious home than that provided by the soldiers. The crate was empty last Thursday morning—and since then nobody has seen either Pyro A or Pyro B.

Found in the Contribution Box Last Week

When The Snapshot first was conceived, provision was made for the contributions of student-soldiers who wished to see their literary and other work in print. John Agreeable Wells, popular Y. M. C. A. secretary, said he'd chisel a hole in the recreatary, said he d chise a hole in the recreation hut desk top and have items dropped in a big drawer, much the same as letters now are left at the desk. "Angel" Newman, K. of C. secretary, had another idea. And "Angel" won out by mere weight of his arguments. So he dug up Top Sergent Murphy, who dug up a carpenter.

geant Murphy, who dug up a carpenter, who in turn dug up a few boards and made a box, which was placed on the counter. Somebody stenciled a brief plea in behalf of The Snapshot, and the job was com-

But here we must pause to give credit to that carpenter. Jimmy Valentine would find it hard to pry items out of that box. A screw driver, pocketknife and lots of elbow grease finally won out, and the top was pried loose enough to let the first week's contributions fall into the itching mit of the editor.

First of all, there was a penny! That was given to "Angel" Newman, who announced he would use it to pay the balance on the player-piano. Then came a small Japanese lantern—visible evidence of the tea-garden-to-be. Then came a varied the tea-garden-to-be. Then came a varied assortment of items, some humorous, some pathetic and others of high caliber. For all of which due thanks is given.

Police Force Keeps Hut in Apple Pie Order

John Agreeable Wells is happy, and his side-partner, "Angel" Newman, is bubbling over with joy. For there is a regular police force to keep order in the "Y."—K. C. recreation hut. Not that the fellows get boisterous and have to be shown the door, but after an evening of pool, reading, writing and stunts, the inside of the hut looks like No Man's Land.

And John and "Angel" used to have to swing the brooms gallantly every morning. That was, however, before Acting Corporal Charles H. Groene arrived from Madison Barracks. Now Groene, who has been given the title of chief of police, has the first squad of Company 5 do the chores at the hut every morning. Among the chief's strong arm squad may be found Privates Lawrence, Childs, Hirsch, Moller, Kunz, Hull and Estberg.

Up Inch Rope Is This Boy's Climb

From Mansfield, Ill., hails Private Harry F. Schuler. Harry is a jack of all trades, using his own expression, but principally he has established himself as the record climber of the school. He has been here since March 14, and at no time has a climbing stunt proved too much for him.

'Twas only the other day that the flag became caught at the top of the sixty foot became caught at the top of the sixty foot steel pole. Somebody called Harry and he elimbed to the top with little effort, unfastened the pulley ropes and slid down. "That was nothing," he said as he landed again on the ground. Then it was that he spoke of his climbing records.

Before Uncle Sam decided to finish the big fight "over there," Harry worked as a garage man, electrician, etc. In fixing electric light signs he has climbed to the top of the Singer and Metropolitan Buildings in New York City. His record climb

Those automobilistic joyriders, who have a habit of "letting her out" after Ridge Road has been passed and literally burning up the road as far as the lakeside, will have to stop, look and listen to a good many new rules this summer. Likewise, they'll have to control their desire to "open her up" until after the U. S. A. School of Aerial Photography has been

Both the sol-diers and policemen have records which some day may be used to the disadvantage of the motorists.

On Memorial Day, for instance, something like 200 speeders were caught in the trap. Just what will be done with those whose name have been secured is not announced, but it's a safe bet that speeding will be stopped in the vicinity of the Signal Corps Frolic Company Expected Soon

Close to half a hundred of the cast the Signal Corps Frolic Company, which was organized at Madison Barracks, now are students at the school and with the arrival of more expected every week it is hoped to revive the organization and appear in a number of productions here.

The company had a cast of seventy soldiers. It gave two performances at Sacketts Harbor and four in Watertown. An engagement of one week was sought by Syracuse theatermen, but the boys were unable to get away from the post long enough.

At the Watertown performances, Red Cross girls sold $7,500 worth of Thrift Stamps between the acts. The performances were given to raise funds to buy paraphernalia and equip a band, and for that purpose something like $1,400 was raised. Cass W. Whitney, former member of Whitney Brothers, well known Victrola quartette, was stage manager for the production.

ANOTHER EXPOSURE?

Twice the shutter of The Airscout's Snapshot has clicked and as many times the official school paper has been distributed to a well pleased student The first issue was greeted with considerable praise, and "got by" in great style. The second issue, herewith submitted, bids fair to outsnap its predecessor.

But will The Snapshot continue to snap? At present its very existence hangs in the balance. Two serious obstacles are in its path. First, The Snapshot has not cleared expenses thus far. It is up to the soldier-students to patronize The Snapshot's advertisers whenever possible, if the paper is to Secondly, the amount of news items contributed for the first two issues of The Snapshot has fallen far short of expectations. Short, snappy stories concerning students at the school, activities of the various soldiers, and items of interest to them are needed badly. To continue, The Snapshot must reflect truly the life of the school. See that it does that, and the other problems will take care of themselves.

Every soldier-student should see to it that those merchants he patronizes are regular advertisers in The Snapshot. When making purchases of advertisers, it is their duty to see to it that the merchant knows who they are, and why they are patronizing his business.

Press Club Soon May Be A Reality

There's more truth than poetry in that head, too! Ask Top Sergeant Murphy if you don't believe it.

For "Murph", besides being a good scout, is a regular newspaperman, and it don't take him long to spot others of his class—and speed. Back in Kansas City, before Uncle Sam decided to finish the fight "over there," "Murph" toted a camera around town for the Kansas City Post, Selig News-Tribune, Mary Pickford, Inc., and the Jesse James Gang. Now "Murph" has a number papermen associates. There is Instructor Fisher, who used to draw cartoons and a good sized weekly pay envelope out in Columbus, Ohlo; Howard W. Lord, who also handles the pen and ink outfit, and J. R. Shaw, who just can't help snapping every news picture he comes across.

Doubtless there are other newspapermen in the school. If so, they can do nothing better than see Top Sergeant Murphy—and drop an item in The Snapshot contribution box it the "Y."-K. C. hut.

Free Rides for Airscouts, Plan of Auto Clubmen

Student-soldiers of the school need want no longer for auto rides. The Automo-bile Club of Rochester has come to their rescue, and hereafter the boys will have all the rides they want-providing they ask for them.

Last Thursday evening 38 cars were driven down to the "Y"—K. C. recreation hut, and close to 200 of the boys were taken for a ride through Rochester's park system. And more than that, each and every member of the Auto Club has agreed to give the boys a "lift" whenever they signal the driver of a car. A left hand salute is the signal.

AN ALMANAC, A BIBLE AND A DECK OF CARDS

A private, Richard Lee, was taken before a Magistrate for playing cards during service. When the parson read the prayer, those who had the Bible took them out, but Lee pulled out a pack of playing cards and spread them before him. The ser-geant of the company saw him and said: "Richard, put up the cards. This is no place for them."

"Never mind that," replied Richard.

When the service was over the Constable took Richard before the Mayor.

Out of Focus!

All special duty men have to get up early in the morning and drill like regular soldiers now. They formerly slept until 7 a. m. Ha! ha!

AS WE KNOW 'EM!

Captain Betz-skipper, the old man, high chief veteran of three campaigns.

Sergeant Roth, first class.—A real fellow and a first class soldier. Also as funny as Sergeant Cameron, first class.—Also good fellow, but a wee bit quiet.

UNCLE SAM IS FEEDING YOU!

(To the tune of "If You Don't Like Your Uncle Sammy, Then Go Back to Your Home O'er the Sea.")

If you don't like your beans and hard tack. And you don't like your limburger stew, No matter what you eat, the tables' always neat,

There's no kick coming from you.

If you don't like your thirty monthly,
And you're sore at the mess sergeant, too,
Remember, it's not your mother,
It's UNCLE SAM THAT'S FEEDING YOU!!!!!

WHO?

Some people were made to be soldiers, The Irish were made to be cops; Sauerkraut was made for the Germans, Spaghetti was made for the Wops; Fishes were made to drink water,
Bums were made to drink booze;
Banks were made to keep money,
And money was made for the Jews;

Everything was made for something;
Everything except a miser;
God made Wilson for President,
But who in h—— made der Kaiser?

WHEN? Absolute knowledge I have none, But my aunt's washerwoman's sister's son Heard a policeman on the beat Say to a laborer on the street Say to a laborer on the street
That he had a letter just last week
Written in the finest Greek

Buck Private Lange, S. C. L., from Minneapolis, Minn., was seen promenading down a quiet lane with one of the fair sex the other evening. We always took him for a woman hater-but war changes everything.

Two boys from the school are loud in their praise of Captain William Andrews of the Ferry Windsor. On offering their fare, Captain Andrews put his hand over the cash box, saying, 'No, boys, no money from you."

Private Lange, S. O., in Company 2 now has another horn to blow on. While at Langley Field he blew a bugle a couple of times, but lost his alarm clock, so couldn't wake up in time to blow said bugle. Good luck to Ollie Lange!

ALL BETS OFF.

Johnnie hear the bugle call, So Johnnie got a gun; 'Cause that's one of the things, That Johnnies always done.

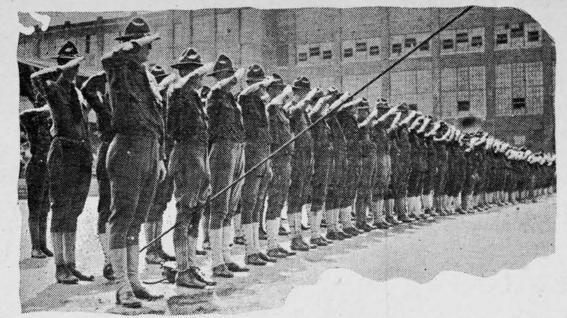

There is another little thing, That Johnnies always do So wishing always to be right, He got a haircut, too.

Johnnie heard the bugle call, And felt prepared to fight; ut he found they wouldn't let him, —for his haircut wasn't right.

For if you ever want to fight, And also to look fine; Johnnie get your haircut, Just like mine.

Of course I'm not particular, Or anything like that; But your haircut must be circular, And shaved up to your hat.

Lovers of good music—and there are many of them in the school—were given a rare treat last Thursday evening when Mme. Marie Connell of Rochester, former-ly of New York, sang a varied programme. She was accompanied by Mrs. Harold Mac-Auley of Rochester. The hut was packed to the doors.

MADAME MARIE CONNELL.

Mme. Connell is well known throughout Mme. Connell is well known throughout the eastern cities as one of the finest contralto solcists in the musical field. Airscouts Aid in Search for Hun Submarines

Submarines, from earliest times to the very latest thing in underwater craft, were described in an illustrated lecture last Thursday noon at the Hotel Rochester before the Rochester Ad Club by Professor C. L. Harrington of New York City, an expert on the subject.

One of the most striking of the pictures thrown on the screen showed the outlines of a submarine deep under the surface of the water, as seen from an aeroplane scouting over the sea watching for enemy craft. That the aeroplane was one of the most effective means of fighting the submarine was stated by the lecturer. Aeroplane observers flying above the surface of the sea are able to detect submarines from forty to sixty feet below the surface, said the lecturer.

Another view shown was of a new type of submarine which carries a deck gun for firing at aeroplanes, showing that the air scout menace to undersea boats already has forced the submarine to devise a system of defense against Police Aid Soldier Guards.

"Big Mike" Zimmerman, well known deputy chief of police of Rochester, has come to the aid of the soldier guards trying to keep speeders from burning up the road near the school. A dozen good sized hickory night sticks, similar to those carried by the Rochester coppers, have been given the school for use of the guards.

School Mail Becomes Weighty.

That American mothers, wives and sweethearts are keeping "the home fires burning," is demonstrated daily by the increasing allotment of mail received by the school. Often as many as eight and ten sacks are brought to the office on one trip. To expedite matters, a motorcycle has been detailed to get the mail, thereby saving the time consumed by the big truck. Express packages, however, will continue to be packages, however, will continue to handled by the truck.

The Forman Service to the Boys in France

UR Paris office, which used to send us advance information on Paris styles—if you are new to Rochester you may not know that our only business is specializing in women's, misses' and children's ready-to-wear apparel—has taken over a war activity of great scope and importance to those who have friends and relatives in France.

Our office will purchase in the shops of Paris any of the things you would like to send to the boys, and will forward them to the trenches or the rest billets. This service has become, since the government regulation that packages may not be sent overseas to an American soldier without his regimental commander's O. K., practically the only means by which American tobacco, candy, "goodies," luxuries and necessities may be forwarded to members of the American Expeditionary Forces.

Outside of the actual cost in the Paris shops of the articles you wish sent, there is no charge of any kind for this service, unless the order is cabled. It is a matter of no little expense to us, but we have proudly undertaken it as "Our Contribution to the Situation." There are two ways you may make use of it.

1st. By telling us the exact articles you may wish sent, or

2nd. By depositing with us a sum from which we may send things regularly semi-weekly, weekly, bi-weekly or monthly.

Our arrangements for making all purchases in Paris do away with all danger, delay and bother of shipping goods across the ocean and valuable cargo space is thereby made available for government purposes.

Call, write or telephone our "Paris Soldier Service" and we shall be pleased to give you fuller information.

NOTICE TO THE BOYS TEMPORARILY STATIONED AT KODAK PARK, EXPOSI-TION PARK AND MECHANICS INSTITUTE: After reaching France if you should wish to send any gifts to those you leave behind you, our Paris office will be glad to reverse the operation and have the goods bought here in Rochester and forwarded. Ask to have a circular describing the service sent to your family.

From London under date of May 28 comes a dispatch to the effect that nineteen German machines were brought down by the British the previous day. The German towns of Mannheim, Landau and Kreuswald were bombed, 42 bombs being dropped. Three British machines were reported missing.

Lieutenants Douglas Campbell of Mt. Hamilton, Cal., and Addie Rickenbacher, former automobile racer, on May 28 encountered six enemy planes over the Toul front. The Huns tried to out-maneuver the Appericans but the Yanks out guessed them. They concentrated on a German bi-plane, driving it down out of control in the Bois Derate.

French aviators, immediately after the start of the Hun drive, began a gigantic destructive campaign against the German communications, which was in full swing for some days, Paris reported on May 30.

Five Yankee pursuit planes, protecting a large squadron of British bombing machine returning from a raid over Germany on May 30 out fought seven battles with the Huns, shooting down two German planes and forcing another out of control. One plane and one Yankee pilot were lost.

OTHER SNAPSHOTS COMING!

As we stagger to press, comes an official communique from the office of the Business Manager to the effect that The Snapshot has passed its initial financial crisis and that other issues of the school paper can be counted on. That's the best news that has been received in some time, and deserves at least brief mention.

But what of the other problem of the paper? That is still unsolved, and the student-soldiers are the only ones that can remedy it. The Snapshot needs more news contributions. Each week there have been more stories handed in, but still the total is small.

The Snapshot, to be the success it deserves, must be filled to the brim with snappy news stories, directly pertaining to the U.S. A. School of Aerial Photography. Thus far it has been found necessary to include certain "outside" news, of interest to the student, but not reflecting activities of the school. That condition must be changed soon.

Again, items must be handed in earlier in the week. Under present conditions, no news composition can be depended upon after Wednesday of each week. It is the plan to issue The Snapshot every Saturday, but thus far it has arrived at the school several days late each week-simply because enough news was not hand by Wednesday. Hand in an item to-day for the next issue! Be on time this week, and make the next Snapshot outsnap all

Auto Ride and Pie for Soldierboys

An evening which will long be remem-bered by all who attended was that of June 6, when forty automobiles owned by members of the Automobile Club of Rochester, appeared before the "Y"-K. C. hut and took large droves of our men for drives through the city and outskirts, showing them the points of interest and the beauties of the city.

Upon their return, the men were greeted with entertainment supplied by Madam Marie Connell, and, most important, a "home-made ple party." The latter was arranged by Mrs. George W. Kellogg, to whom great credit is due. Many thanks are also extended for the 200 most luscious pies supplied by the various ladies and, needless to say, every man ate more than his share. That can be vouched for by the sick reports the following morning.

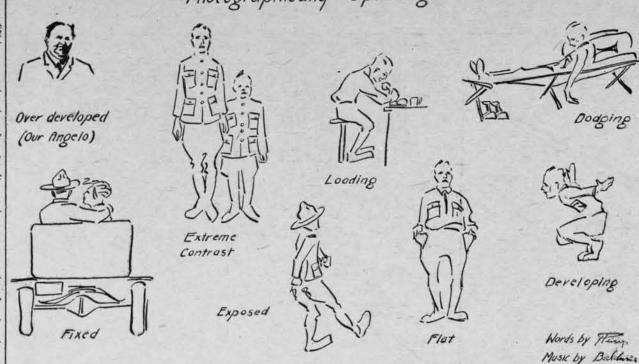

Proving That It Surely Pays To Advertise

No longer will the patience of Job be tried. No longer will the editor sweat in vain attempts to pry items from The Snap-shot's contribution box.

The answer is: "It pays to advertise." When first the contribution box was made, it was found worthy of a Jimmy Valentine. Comment was made in The Snapshot last week, and within an hour after the paper appeared in the "Y"-K. C. hut another more commodious, more artistic, more companionable and hugely better contribution box took its place.

the present contribution box used to contain salted peanuts. Which should be interpreted to mean that school jokesters shouldn't try to spring any more chestnuts in the peanut box,

The Devil Quits His Job

(Written by an American soldier in the trenches in France, the original manu-script being now in the hands of a man in Rochester, to whom it was sent by the author.)

The Kaiser called the Devil up Upon the 'phone one day; The girl at Central listened in, To hear what he would say.

"Hello!" she heard the Kaiser's voice,
"Is old man Satan in-?
Just tell him that Kaiser Bill
Would like to talk to him."

The Devil said, "Hello Bill!"
And Bill said, "How are you?
I'm running here, a hell on earth,
So tell me what to do."

"What can I do?" the Devil asked,
"My dear old Kniser Bill;
If I can assist you in any way,
You know I surely will."

The Kaiser said: "Now listen, And I will try to tell, The way I've been running On earth a Kultured hell.

"I have planned this many years, And I've started out to kill, That it will be a model job, You just leave to Kaiser Bill.

"My army went through Belgium Shooting women and kiddies down. We tore up all that country And blew up every town.

"My Zeps dropped bombs on cities, And killed both old and young. If any the Zeppelins did not get, They were taken out and hung.

"I started out for Paris,
With the aid of poisonous gas,
But these Belgians, damn them, stopped us,
They would not let us pass.

"My submarines are devils."
Why you should see them fight;
They go sneaking through the seas
And sink all ships at sight.

"I was running things to suit me, Till a year or so ago; When a chap named Woodrow Wilson, Told me to go more slow.

"He said to me, 'Dear William, We don't want to make you sore, So kindly tell your U-boats, To sink our ships no more.'

"I didn't listen to him, And now he's after me, With a million Yankee soldiers, From their homes across the sea.

"Now that's why I call you, Satan For I need advice from you I know that you will tell me Just what I ought to do."

"My dear old Kaiser William, There's not much for me to tell, For the Yanks will make it hotter, Than I can for you in hell.

"I have been a mean old devil, But not half as mean as you, And the minute you arrive here, I'll hand my job to you.

"Th be ready for your coming And I'll keep the fires bright; I'll have your room all ready When the Yanks begins to fight,

"For the boys in khaki will get you, I have nothing more to tell; Hang up the 'phone and get your hat And meet me here in hell."

AIRSCOUTS ARE GUESTS OF GLASER AT THEATER PARTY

Through the courtesy of Vaughan Glaser and Manager J. H. Finn of the Temple Theater, the complete personnel of Temple Theater, the complete personner of the school were invited to attend the play, "Romance," by the Vaughan Glaser Stock Company on Monday evening, June 3. The presence of some 300 men in uniform gave the house a most impressive appearance, and the show, which was very well per-formed and enjoyable, was only superseded in importance by the "soldier songs" be-tween the acts, lead by our good old lead-ers, Messrs. Wells and Newman of the "Y", K. C. hat "Y."-K. C. hut.

a God-given instinct, and without censure or fault-finding, I say to you that we people of Rochester, generous and hospitable as we are, haven't risen to cur opportunities to give the soldiers who are in our midst the proper home influences and the chances to meet our young women and form the right sort of relationships."

Thus did Rev. C. Waldo Cherry, speaking from the pulpit of Central Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, June 9, place much of the responsibility for whatever is not wholesome in the acquaintanceships formed between soldiers and young women upon the shoulders of Rochester men and women. His sermon topic, "The Soldier and the Girl," developed a frank and vigorous discussion of one of the real problems of the day.

the United States, and one who is always in the public eye. You are conspicuous by your uniform. Do not disgrace it. It is your badge of honor.

We should receive them con-servatively and carefully, remember-ing always that we are living under circumstances and conditions which tend to promote exaggeration. "In the last few weeks I have tried to make a careful investigation of the situation in Rochester, and I believe I am right when I say that this city is less cursed with places of vice such as are permitted to exist in other cities, and therefore less open to condemnation so far as the authorities are concerned. I have observed very few incidents that were capable of being interpreted in a suspicious way, and I am convinced that the great majority of the soldiers here have been and are conducting themselves like gentlemen, and are a credit to the service.

Mr. R. S. Hubbard, representing the War Department Commission on Training Camp Activities in War Camp Community Service, called at the hut last Monday and was quite pleased with what has been accomplished by the joint Y. M. C. A.-K. of C. committee. Mr. Hubbard expressed the opinion that there was no need of stirring up a civic interest in the welfare of the Rochester soldiers, judging from what he had seen and heard.

The joint committee are anxious and willing to furnish free of charge all the stationary needed for your use and all that they ask you in return is not to waste same. The secretaries have counted over fifty sheets spoiled with notes or used to wipe pens and for other wasteful purposes all in one day. Take only what you will need from the counter and return there whatever you do not use.

Mr. Daum, the popular assistant Y. M. C. A. secretary at Madison Barracks, called at the hut last week and paid his respects to the local secretaries. Mr. Daum also brought us the first copy of The Barbed Wire, published weekly by the Soldier's Y. M. C. A. Committee on Activities at Madison Barracks, N. Y. The soldiers who have been at the barracks gave Mr. Daum have been at the barracks gave Mr. Daum have been at the barracks gave Mr. Daum a real welcome and we hope to have him a real weacond with us soon again.

Plans are in the making for a hostess house to be located between the hut and the garage. It is proposed to have facili ties for the entertainment of the friends and relatives of the soldiers at the school. We feel assured that such a place will be a great comfort and the source of much pleasure to the men. We will all do our bit to make it the success it deserves.

"To the citizenship of all: It is the duty of every Christian man and at the hut.

It being a dull period, it was two days before a sitting came. A fellow with a small poodle arrived and said he would like a few pictures of the mut. So the young man made six plates, half cabinet size. Then he shot six 5 by 8 plates at the dog. Then the customer said he would like a few 8 by 10 pictures of the Stone 506

School Messenger First To Suggest Cent a Mile Fare on Railroads for Soldiers and Sailors of Uncle Sam

Sam's railroad cars, take off your hat to ing.

First of all, he thought of the ministers Messenger Fred Millener! Or, to be more accurate, when next you buy a ticket to ride on one of the trains of the United States Railroad, say a silent prayer of thanks to Messenger Millener. For, be it proclaimed from one end of this mighty land to the other coast, Messenger Millener first suggested the reduced fare for Uncle Sam's soldiers.

Not many years ago Messenger Millener was agent, stationary representative, station master and bäggage smasher for one of the country's biggest railroads passing through Squiter Holler. And between the morning and evening milk trains, Mesof the Gospel, who every New Years Day used to line up in front of his window and get a pass, which entitled them to ride for half fare. Then he thought of the railroad employes, who rode on their "face" without even contributing the penny for gum at the station slot.

So, when Uncle Sam took over the railroads, Messenger Millener evolved the bright idea. Surely now the soldiers and sailors were employes of the country's railreads. Why shouldn't they, too, ride for nothing? The answer was that Millener wrote to McAdoo and Bill McAdoo wrote to Millener, and before long the "boys" were riding for a cent a mile.

MRS. RAE POTTER ROBERTS.

For instance, there was Mrs. Rae Pot ter Roberts, dramatic soprano. The boys have heard many singers, but it's a safe bet that none was more roundly applauded than Mrs. Roberts. Mrs. William Cary Sutherland proved an entertaining planist, and little Miss Hazel Smith played her way to the hearts of the boys on her violin. Miss Hazel Gruppe acted as accompanist during the evening. Not of minor importance were the readings given by Mrs. Bertha Pendexter Eldridge, who proved a favorite with the audience.

C. hut, did all in their power to give the boys a good time and to make their contones as light as possible. sentence as light as possible.

All kinds of games were played and track meets held every day between the different teams. Each company's sergeant picked out a baseball team, and a series of games was played that surpassed any world's series that has yet been staged.

Sergt. Morris' Pick.

Acting Sergeant Morris, of Company Six, the best "chap" in school, as all the boys of his company used to say, picked out a of his company used to say, picked out a bunch of athletic young men that showed their heels to all the other companies. Private M. Grundwald was chosen as captain and that speed demon from the city of the Great White Way set the pace and the rest of the team followed him to the best of their ability.

legged race, snake race, rooster fight, tug-o-war, mile relay race, and defeated every company at baseball.

By the looks of some of the scores. 'Angel" sure must have been busy sewing new covers on all the baseballs that Company Six spoiled. The only regret that the boys have is that Instructor Shaw, who originally belonged in Company Six and who loves to take pictures that designate speed, was not allowed to take a few snap-

Even the Instructors Have a Sense of Humor, as May Be Seen from the Following Letter to the Snapshot

To the Editor:
H. Xantippe Cohen says that the second piece of pie always tates better than the first. True, H. However, it's an ill wind, etc.—because "Vio-let" Kattelmann, who claims to be the champion rhubarb swallower of Washington, D. C., is not bothered by the sleuths of the eat shop when rhubarb is on the bill. It's a gift.

"Pyro A" Tulpan, our demon chemist, says he has a new step for our dance owls to try. He calls it the "Hypo Hop" and cultivated it from some crossed wires in his left foot. The X-Ray said it was a misplaced bone, but Tulp says he can make it spring—and who ever heard of a bone expineing?

Hiram "Haveachew" Imig, of the washum and dryum room, advocates a model army, such as one which goes to the hay at 10 p. m. sharp, rises and shines at

To Men of the Aerial School

In the dusk of early morning, Clouds hanging gray and low; They floated upon my vision, And set my heart aglow.

For, like a gleam of sunshine, Athwart a cloudy sky; A band of gay young soldiers, Went gayly marching by.

The cheer of song and whistle, Made glad the morning air; At once the street before me, Seemed brighter and more fair.

Airscouts Attend Dance.

Close to 250 soldiers from the S. A. R. and Draft Barracks at Mechanics In-stitute attended a dancing party in the parish hall of Episcopal Church of the Epiphany on Saturday evening, June 15. Unlike most affairs of its kind, there was plenty of "pep" in the party and every soldier present found enough girls ready to dance with him. Re-freshments were served in generous portions, too. Some party, say we!

Interesting Letter from Enlisted Man Puts Quartermaster Corps of School in Snapshot's Focal Range

Work is Important.

Our work is very important, and it behooves us, each and all, to do it in the very best fashion, with military precision and expediteness. Quartermaster Sergeant Thomas Hilliard is the lad who has charge of the clothing room, and, although he is as good natured as most anyone can be, he often seems cross because of the fact that he is confronted with foolish and useless questions. He is about the most cussed and abused man in camp, with the exception, possibly, of the mess sergeant. Sergeant, First Class McGowan is doing clerical work in the office of the

To date the equipment of the corps includes three small drums, a bass drum, four bugles and four fifes—which is some showing for the school. BEING POSTMASTER AT S. A. P. NO EASY JOB

M-a-u-r-i-c-e is the way he spells it. And his last name is Young. That he hails from Kansas City is of little importance here, but 'tis true that Postmaster Young has some job.

Folks back home surely are keeping the home fires burning, according to Postmaster Young. Every day something like a thousand postcards, letters or packages arrive for the boys. The record daily mail, in Postmaster Young's memory, was 2,600 individual parcels. All of which must be carefully sorted, for a letter lost in transit to a S. A. P. boy is another feather in the Kaiser's cap.

Probably Will Have To Conduct One Man Party

Ever since he came to the school, Sergt. of the Guard E. B. Hallpike has been searching for men from his home town, Kansas City. He has plans of a little party and already has extended invitations to the home boys at least a dozen times.

But thus far the "gang" has not been able to arrange their "dates" so as to gather 'round the festive board. And Sergt. Hallpike is threatening to withdraw his invitations-and ask himself to dinner.

MORE NEWS, PLEASE,

More news-and then some-that is the urgent and pressing need of The being handed in by the soldiers. If the paper is to continue, the boys of the S. A. P. must write, write, write.

The Snapshot should be issued on Saturday. Last Friday there was not enough approved news in type to fill the edition. Two columns more was needed so that the fourth issue of The Snapshot might be printed.

Thus far the boys have written more news for each issue of the paper. But, even with that encouraging showing, the total has not been enough to warrant the continuance of The Snapshot. It must be remembered that no news composition can be procured after Wednesday. All "copy", too, must be censored. Therefore, it behooves all the men to get their items into the contribution boxes-either in the "Y" -K. C. hut, or at the school postoffice -early in the week.

Again, the soldier-students are urged to patronize the advertisers, to boost the paper wherever possible, and to make it uncomfortable for the man who knocks.

Again We Rise To Remark That We're Sure "It"

Modest and demure as a sunflower, we rise once more from our copy desk to rerise once more from our copy desk to remark that the fame of The Snapshot sure is spreading. Last week we took occasion to note the fact that a woman "down Canandaigua way" wanted to subscribe to The Snapshot. FRENCH HAVE DIFFERENT WAYS

And Yanks Must Soon Learn Them, Says Army Officer.

What Rochester soldiers may expect to see, what they will be obliged to do, and how they will be compelled to act when they arrive "over there," is told in a convincing, as well as entertaining manner in an address which Lieutenant Picardy, a French officer, delivered before the soldiers at Camp John Wise at San Antonio, Tex., on May 20.

"It is wise to remember, first, when you land in France that France has been already fighting three and a half years," said Lieutenant Picardy in opening his address to the soldiers. "The men you will meet over there—the men of the French Army—will have on the sleeves of their uniforms, stripes, similar in shape to the stripes of your sergeants. You men should know that the wearing of these stripes on the left sleeve stands for the length of time spent in the trenches. When they are on the right sleeve they stand for the number of wounds, and these men, having been in the trenches two, three and three and one-half years, have been wounded, most of them once, some of them twice, some of them three or more times, and you will realize that they are still on the job and very much so.

To Be French Women's Sons.

To Be French Women's Sons.

To Be French Women's Sons.

"You will also, at the back of the line, more especially when you will be at rest, meet the mothers of these men. You will speak with them and will go into their homes, and you will see there the photographs of all the men in the family—all these men in uniforms, and you will realize that these women, too, have been at war three and a half years, in a war which is very much harder on the women than it is on the men.

'I am glad that I have been asked by our mothers in France to tell you boys in their names that you are going

Good Both in America and France.

Good Both in America and France.

"In America they are good—in France they are good too, but they are not the same. For instance, all of you, I hope, will have dinner some day in some French home, and some of you might meet very charming young ladies. Now, if you wish to call on this young lady again, which is a perfectly nice thing, you will find out mighty quick that in France you will have to call on the mother first. All I want you to remember, boys, is this—remember each and every one of our women in France, the old ones and the young ones, too, each and every one of them, has a man in the trenches fighting for them, and you men remember that each and every one of you has a woman—a mother, a sister, member that each and every one of you has a woman—a mother, a sister, a sweetheart you are going to fight for, and remembering this, I know that you will behave with our women of France as you would like the boys here in America to behave with your women."

Yanks Have Too Much Money!

From that point, Lieutenant Picardy branched off into the various vices which may tempt the boys in France. The danger of German spies in skirts, the booze question and others which have made necessary the organization of military police "over there" were discussed frankly. Continuing, the French army man said: "The main trouble with you, very frankly, and as a good friend—the main trouble with a good friend—the main trouble with you boys is that as a whole you have too much money." That brought forth a good sized laugh from most of the boys, and the lieutenant continued: "I am glad to see that you agree with me. But it is not that I would mind if you had two hundred dollars a day, if you only knew what to do with it. But you don't. You will not need much money in France. One dollar there, boys, buys as much as three dollars here. And anyway, you don't need here. And anyway, you don't need to, you are not going to want to buy so very much.

"Now, men, you need discipline badly, if you will allow me to say it, and discipline goes all the way from knowing how to do one's job on order, automatically, to wearing one's hat in the proper way and saluting well and snappy. I can judge of the value of a snappy. I can judge of the value of a soldier by the way that soldier salutes. When I come across a fellow in a town and when he meets an officer starts by thumbing his nose and does not know what to do, I know he is a rotten soldier. When I come across a fellow dier. When I come across a fellow who, because he is going to see a girl, wears his hat so, I know he is a rotten soldier. And then, boys, next to the drill, next to discipline, you need the smile. Whatever happens to you, keep on smiling.

me. Your place is a back number, and when the time comes we will move in and take possession—if we thing it worth while. It is not usual for Prussians to give warning or apology. We usually do things and leave it to the world to explain, but I am telling you because I realize that you can do nothing to forestall or prevent our can do nothing to forestall or prevent our action. Abdicate in my favor? Why, you poor old stiff, you have nothing to abdicate. You couldn't float a bond issue in your plant in a million years. In the commercial market it would be called junk. You have a bunch of ancient floorwalkers like Judas, Nero, Ananias, Caligula, Richard and Cost, Kidd and the present of the control of th ard 3rd and Capt. Kidd, and they are really driving business away from the place. Talk about the Huns! Why, I wouldn't let Attile bring my shaving water.

"If you had a few scouts like Von Tripitz or Von Hindenburg you might talk on a basis of equality. They are the boys who bring home the bacon, and they are filling our hell with talkent of their own creation our helf with talkent of their own creation and development. But while they are finished performers, of course, I am still the boss of the whole works. It is my genius and inspiration that has made our new hell piossible. Hell without me would be merely a word. I have made it a torrid reality. You may as well understand first as last that you cannot run a hell without some of that you cannot run a hell without some of our Prussian efficiency. In a competitive race with us you would probably bring up as a second rate cold storage plant.

"By reason of our former friendship, however, I am willing to recognize your motheaten throne as one with which diplomatic relations may be maintained. I am sending Count Bernstorff as my Ambassa-dor with authorities to make treaties compatible with our mutual interests. Under certain circumstances it might be possible to negotiate a union between our crown prince and your messalina. They might make a good team. He may also take on Lucretia Borgia and make it a double-header. How would it do for me to hook up with one of your Catherines—this Medici person, for instance? Of course, Medici person, for instance? Of course, this would only be for the campaign and subject to cancellation at my will. Count Bernstoff is permitted to talk of these, as well as other matters, and has himself hinted to me the advisability of an exchange of transfers. This, however, would be with the idea of the gradual absorption be with the idea of the gradual absorption of your hell by my own. I am to be perfectly frank with you. You must realize, my own dear Lucifer, that you are getting old. You are not up to our modern methods and when you wander around with your spiked tail, people only smile in a good-natured way, and murmur, "Who the Hell is he," or "I wonder what mis-chief Satan is up to now?"

"You are all right for running a kinder-"You are all right for running a kindergarten, but as the boss of a real, bloodred, ripsnorting, concert-pitch hell you are most rabbit. You are altogether too easy. Why, I understand you even shy at cooking children in their own grease. You ought to have seen the way I cleaned them up in Belgium. Women first? Well, I guess. Any old way. We turned it into a patch of Bottomless Prussia overnight.

That ancient party who ran wicks through That ancient party who ran wicks through Christians and used them to light up his grounds was a poor ash at thinking up things. We could show him a few things that would make him green with envy. He never poisoned a whole regiment with gas bombs and he never sank and blew up a shipload of women and children from a submarine.

"You mean well, Lucifer, but are a slow performer. Take a week off and come over to a real hell. We will show you the time of your life and you can see what you are up against. You can discover why your up against. You can discover was proposition to abdicate in my favor doesn't interest me. However, I am a real sport and I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll play you have not be not be see whether you aba game of pitch to see whether you abdicate me or I throw you out. In either case you are welcome to a permanent home with me and I'll show you a hell of a time. There's no use in old friends quarreling, is there, Lucy? "Fraternally yours,

It's not quantity, but quality that counts, and the Famous Third is there with the latter. Though composed of two squads, two guides, two file closers and one sergeant, it ocupies an important part in the troubles of Sergeant Major Murphy.

The Third is famous in many ways. It has the grandest bunch of "excuse club" members in the school. The most prominent members of said club are Privates Reed, Adams, and Gallzio. The best they can offer after missing a formation is "I had a date."

HATS OFF TO THE FOURTH!

When the call came for 100 men to be sent down here, 100 men were selected, and it was a selection in the broadest sense. Yes, the cream of Madison Barracks was put together and sent to the S. A. P., and that cream is just as sweet as it ever was.

that cream is just as sweet as it ever was. Every time the Fourth went by Captain Gehris, that stalwart soldier couldn't help but remark: "The finest lot of men I've ever met—everyone of them." FIGURING OUT WHO GETS THE "DOUGH"

The Personell of the Office of the Quartermaster is very busy at the present time trying to figure out the simeoleons that are due the boys this month. When the various deductions for family allotments Liberty Bonds, War Risk Insurance and Post Exchange dues are collected from some of the fellows, the thirty bucks per look exceedingly small.

Some one has said that the American soldier has too much of the United States Treasury's dough, but we doubt it very much. We are willing at any and all times to receive far more than the Quartermaster is willing to pay.

we heard Corporal Corlett say that the roads between the school and Baker's Farm are getting worse every day, and that unless the mudholes and rocks cispose of themselves some place else, he wants some kind hearted friend to denate a couple of soft sofa pillows to rest his weary bones on while he is making the weary bones on while he is making the daily trip out there with the grub for the hungry boys at the farm. Sergeant Forbush is not being seen nor heard so much since he has been banished from our midst in the village. We do not know if he is working or stalling, but we do miss the lad very much lad very much.

Second Lieutenant Gildersleeve, Q. M. C.
N. A., assistant to the quartermaster, has bought himself a Red Devil, it is a Pathfinder, and looks as if it can take the lieutenant through the crowded thoroughfares far swifter than we care to travel. We are hoping tha the lieutenant will take us out for a sightseeing tour in his wagon in the near future.

BOYS "UP THE RIVER" SEND IN FOR "SUNDRIES"

Sergeant of the Guard Linderman wishes some one would give a bugle to the farm "up the river." Everyone longs to hear again the sweet call of the bugle. Maybe the ccws will answer the summons. We have the man, so someone please furnish the bugle.

Sargeant Clark has everything running Sergeant Clark has everything running as smoothly as clockwork. Lieutenant Koster is well pleased with the snappy way the fellows jumped into the work. Alligator Bill, from Florida, has received a small alligator from his home, which will be mascot for the company. He says that he is going to raise little gators down on the farm.

Night owls are plentiful around the farm. Not the kind that you find in the city, though. Private Petersen says they are of the vampire specie. One attracted him when he was in line of duty.

When the Y. M. C. A. and K. of C. send us the canoes they promised us, we are go-ing to have tilting battles.

To the auto owners—We would like to to church. We are nearly five miles from Rochester. The roads are dusty for walking. Please don't forget us!

KEEP WRITING There was a noticeable variety in the news items submitted for the fourth edition of The Snapshot. And it's not bragging to say that the paper "went over" better than any before it.

The reason was this. More fellows contributed items to last week's Snapshot. Those items concerned countless soldier-students of the S. A. P. There was something in the paper to interest everybody.

That sounds encouraging, and the standard must be improved rather than let fall. There should be a corthe school. Each and every week that man should see that The Snapshot gets a news letter concerning men in his company. Those letters should be in the contribution boxes by Wednesday night at the very latest to insure publication in the following issue of the paper.

In addition, the instructors should see to it that there is a news letter representing them in every Snapshot. Last week there was an exceptionally good one contributed. Others should follow. There was a fine letter from the Quartermaster boys at the school in the last issue. Others are wel-

A superintendent of a big foundry was showing a minister through his place one day and they came to the room where the smelter furnaces were. So the sup-erintendent and the minister got into a

AIRSCOUTS INVITED TO EXPOSITION PARK REST ROOM

The Municipal Museum Rest and Recreation Room, opened on Wednesday, June 5, primarily to provide facilities for the Depot Supply Trains quartered at Exposition Park, has been thrown open to the boys of the S. A. P. Unfortunately, the day after the room was opened a majority of Supply Troop 306, 81st Division, was ordered to the coast with a convoy of trucks, leaving only a small guard at the post. Realizing that Kodak Park was not far off, the curator of the museum offered the use of the room to the S. A. P. boys. There is a piano and a Victrola in the room, as well as various books and periodicals and writing facilities.

SNAPPY SCHOOL SONG AND COMPANY COMPETITIVE "SINGFESTS" NEXT ON PROGRAMME OF S. A. P. WARBLERS

It has long been evident that the riem-ers of this photographic division are or abut July 4. In the meantime, song leaders for the various companies will be bers of this photographic division are great songsters, and plans are now on foot whereby those powers are going to be utilized to the greatest advantage. It is the purpose of those interested to show some real live singing and some rip snort-some real live singing and some rip shorting good times while we are sojourning in this fair city. Now lend your ear to a few of the ideas.

We know that there are a number of excellent compders in the school whose talents are just "raring" to air themselves.
Through the assistance of our Always-Through the assistance of our Always-On-The-Job Angelo, we are able to fur-nish some real lucrative returns for such talents. For the best school song-words only-we will give a prize of five real American dollars. For the best composi-tion of music we will also add another prize of five semolions. The men of the command will be the judges of the entries. Now, you birds, get busy for this contest is only open for a limited time. We want a good snappy school song and some snappy music to go with it. No one is barred, so all have a crack at this.

KHAKI. Before our active participation in the war, the sight of a khuki uniform meant little to us. It aroused slight interest. Few people knew the difference between a big Boy Scout and a real soldier.

To-day the uniform of khaki brings a thrill to our hearts and words of praise to our lips. The boys in khaki have been given a man-size job to perform. With the wearing of khaki goes a tremendous responsibility. The realization of this responsibility is a miracle worker. Clumsy, never seen such a strong fire. So the sup-erintendent and the minister got into a discussion on which was the hottest fire— the one in the furnace or hell. So after arguing awhile, they called Pat over to settle the argument and they asked him what he thought. So he said: "Why, gin-tlemen, if you fell out of hell's fire into Dispatches from the front, with their ever present casualty lists, place before our mind's eye the inspiring vision of our Sammies, khaki clad, fighting "somewhere in France" that we may continue to enjoy the liberties of freemen.

Every day we see the boy on his way to join his comrades over there, home for a brief time to bid farewell to his loved ones. To-morrow be may be on his way across. A month or two more he may be mentioned in the dispatches—maybe a glorious deed, perhaps a glorious death.

Columns like the foregoing have been and will be written again, and justly so. However, here we say it as a prelude to a newer thought ment this uniform of khaki.

for Editorial To us the deeds our men are performing in France have made the Sammy's uniform a symbol of heroism and unselfish accepted. This uniform deserves, and should receive, the utmost respect. It should be worn only by those was are willing and able to bring added glory to it.

Just as it is forlidden to desecrate the flag by using it for advertising purposes, so we believe the use of the khaki uniform should be reserved for real soldiers. The reverence we hear the flag is akin to the reverence we bear the uniform.

Therefore we believe that the uniform of khaki should be worn only by such men as, being of the proper age, are willing and able to be real soldiers. Men whose only purpose in rearing the imitation soldier suits is to woke the adulation of their female acquaintance or permit them to assume some slight authority should be forced to adort some other style of be forced to adopt some other style of dress that in no way resembles the garb of our heroes.

There are men whi couldn't fight against an invasion of infants (not infantry) strutting around in these near-khaki soldier suits, trying their best to look heroic and deceiving no one but themselves.

We believe the careless use of the United Stats uniform, or imitations of it. an insult to the real men who are rightly wearing khaki. A law prohibiting the prostitution of the uniform would not be amiss. A law and its enforcement to pro-hibit the desecration of the United States army uniform are just as imperative as the law which prohibits the use of the flag for any but its real purpose.

When we see a real man in khaki, the impulse to extend the right hand of fellowship and wish him godspeed is strong. When we see a near-man strutting about in a near-khaki sult, the impulse to use the right hand for a more warlike purpose is stronger.

Men in the real United States army uniforms, we salute you! You fellows burlesque this uniform, we (crossed out by the censor).

Rochester, N. Y. To Buffalo They Went and Found A Royal Welcome

One recent Saturday afternoon 25 boys from the S. A. P. went to Buffalo to take the thirty-second degree of Scottish Rite Masonry. They got there at 6.30 o'clock and found an elaborate supper awaiting them.

That night they took their degrees, after which they sat down to a banquet, and, from last reports, they did full justice to it. About 150 went through that night, and they were all men in the servieve, from naval officers to generals in the army.

The boys from Rochester received special care at the hands of Commander in Chief Staples, and they were his guests at the different hotels. On Sunday most of them had to see whether the water was at the different hotels. On Sunday most of them had to see whether the water was still going over the Falls, and when they returned they said that they had spent one of the most enjoyable week-ends since they had been in the army.

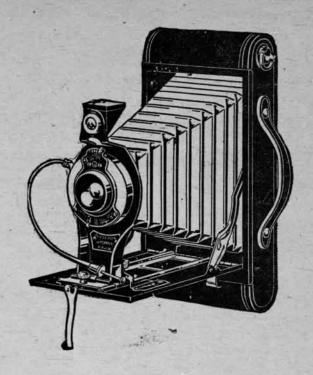

Private Winzig of the Fourth Company arranged that all were taken care of, and now he hears that they are anxious to get into the Shrine, and it is supposed he will see that they get in alright.

The machine in question is none other than the handsomely appointed, if not altogether modern, equipage belonging to the so-called Senior Instructor Jay Beerfont Morgan of the Lantern-slide Department. In persuance of the little social duties in-cumbent on an instructor, Mr. Morgan had coaxed his Rolls-Jolts to wheez its weary

The efforts of the police were as usual quite fruitless and Mr. Morgan spent many hours in nerve racking anxiety which reduced him to little more than a skeleton. And then came McGargle. "We were at dinner, one of those cosy little lunches for two, and I had left Hortence (that's my car) out in the thoroughfare. Doubtless, it was carelessness on my part that I neglected to throw out the part that I neglected to throw out the hitching weight on docking, but in spite of that words fail to express my emotions when I stepped out into the dark and stormy night and discovered that Hortence was gone. Vainly I searched executions was gone. Vainly I searched, questioning passersby, and prying into every nook and cranny, but to no avail. But the thought occurred to me that Instructor Imig had been in search of a print-drying machine and this idea grew upon me until I de-cided to take drastic action along that line. Sure enough a peep into Imig's locker re-stored the missing Hortence to its owner and furnished evidence which I believe will be most convincing when the matter comes to trial."

As yet no action has been taken on the matter and as Mr. Morgan shows no malice toward the culprit, Hortence having been returned in the best of health and spirits, it is doubtful whether any further atten-

Need Long Overlooked.

To Mrs. Fred Jensen of 81 Plymouth Avenue South and Mrs. C. L. Wilson of 105 East Avenue is due all credit for the Guest

The Guest House proper, that is, without the spacious porches, was purchased "somewhere in Rochester." It was then lismantled and carted to the school grounds, where it was again erected. The house is approximately 21x27 feet in dimensions, one story in height and has a pleasant bay window. To it has been added a porch 10 feet wide on all sides.

With the framework already up and the roof nearly finished, the Guest House, the latest acquisition of the S. A. P., is rapidly nearing completion. By next Sunday, it is expected, it will be ready for the use of the airscouts and their friends.

The Guest House is situated between the garage and the "Y"-K. C. Recreation Hut, on the opposite side of Lake Avenue Boulevard from the school barrack. It is to be regretted that the garage, instead of the Guest House, faces the boulevard, but arrangements are contemplated wherely the former may be moved.

Need Long Overlooked.

The house will be daintily decorated and furnished with rattan furniture and neat rugs. Dotted Swiss curtains will be placed at the windows, and a few choice pictures added to carry out the restful appearance of the interior. The porches also will be furnished, and hanging tables and shelves will make possible the serving of refreshments there.

To Serve Refreshments.

Both in the Guest House and on the porch, airscouts and their friends may procure dainty sandwiches, lemonade and other soft drinks, and possibly ice cream and eaker. There will be a plane installed.

other soft drinks, and possibly ice cream and cake. There will be a plano installed in the house, so that entertainment of a musical nature may be provided.

As an annex to the Guest House, Mrs.
Wilson has leased the entire property and fixtures of the Maplewood Inn, a large, commodious and well known hostelry at the corner of Lake Avenue Boulevard and Hanford Avenue. There wives, mothers and sisters of the airscouts will be able to procure lodging and meals at a nominal sum while visiting their soldier boys. The hotel now is being remodeled in anticipation of its new and more patriotic use.

Have Only Praise for the S. A. P.

That the S. A. P. is some school is shown by the following from the Barracks Observer, printed for the men of Madison Barracks, Sacketts Harbor:

"Nothing but praise for conditions at the Aerial Photography School at Rochester is contained in letters received from former Madison Barracks men stationed there, despite the fact that they are unanimous in saying that they are busier than they

"Everyone here is simply wild over the place. Yeu couldn't drag them away. We have all kinds of privileges. Don't have to get back at night until 1 o'clock. No

"'We certainly have a fine lieutenant. He is going to get us two canoes, a piano and a phonograph. You can see we going to have plenty of entertainment.'

"'Shorty' Fisher, also one of the guard detail recently transerred, also likes Roch-

"But it's not all play and no work by any means. A little idea of the hard work the men actually in the school have to do so successfully complete the course is given in a letter from Harry ('Murphy') Hirtzberg.

"'You must keep alert here in order to get through,' he says. 'It's a pretty stiff course, but a man can get by all right if he settles down and studies. You've got to be on the job, though.'

"John E. Brown also vouches for the hard work. 'Never worked harder in col-lege,' he writes.

"Ice cream, cake, fruit and many other delicacies are included in the menues at Rochester, other letters declare, and everyone says the meals are the best they ever

WHAT HAVE YOU DONE?

What have YOU done to keep The Snapshot snapping? What news have YOU contributed to put the school paper "over the top"? How many items that YOU wrote have been printed in The Snapshot?

Stop and think it over. Each week since The Snapshot first made its appearance, YOU have received a copy of the school paper. It has cost YOU nothing and, doubtless, YOU have read at least one or more items that interested YOU. Perhaps YOU have items under the soldier's pay or the number and personnel of his family. The new system, put into effect with the approval of the War and Navy Departments, will simplify the administration of all letments and allowances both by the been able to obtain an extra copy of The Snapshot. That YOU have sent to the folks back home, so that they, too, might read it and enjoy its many humorous items.

school paper? How many items have YOU contributed?

There are many airscouts who have done little writing for The Snapshot. In fact, every week there has been a deficiency of news pertaining directly to the S. A. P. That space has been filled with "outside" stuff, and there have been a few who have complained because of its appearance in The Snapshot.

Last week we had a fine issue. Most everybody agreed that it was the best yet. Nearly every company was represented by an interesting bunch of items. The Band, the Switchboard, the Personnel Office and numerous other departments of the S. A. P. were represented in the issue. Everybody saw something to interest him in The Snapshot last week.

But what then? Everybody proceeded to "lie down." Not one of the many correspondents of the previous week volunteered to contribute to the next issue. Worse than that, there was little or no news items contributed. Up to Saturday, when The Snapshot was scheduled to make its next appearance, there was barely half enough censored news in type to fill the issue.

If The Snapshot is to be issued regularly, that practice must be stopped. There is no reason why every company, every department and every dormitory should not have an interesting collection of news items in EVERY issue of the school paper. Company men should select their correspondent-one who can be depended upon to see that the command is represented in every issue of The Snapshot. When duly authorized, the names of those correspondents will be included in the editorial staff of the school paper and recognition will be given them .-

Put The Snapshot on a permanent basis. Consider what YOU have done, what YOU could have done, and what YOU should do-and then go ahead and do it!

Change in Method of Handling War Insurance Allowances.

SLIDING SCALE ABOLISHED

Every Enlisted Man Must Allot Wife and Children at Deast $15 Per Month.

A radical change in the method of handling allotments and family allowances, which will speed up the delivery of government checks to the dependents of soldiers and sailors, went into effect on July 1, according to a notice received by local draft boards at headquarters in the City Hall recently. The notice, in the form of a pamphlet, was forwarded by the Treasury Department at Washington.

Numerous amendments to the war risk insurance act, recently approved by President Wilson, made possible the change in procedure. After July 1 every enlisted man in military service or naval service, regardless of rank or pay, must make the same compul-sory allotment to his wife and children

-$15 a month.

To that allotment the government will add a monthly allowance ranging from $5 a month for a motherless child and $15 for a wife without chilchild and $15 for a wife without children up to a maximum of $50.

In addition the enlisted man, if he desires government allowance for his dependent parents, grandparents, grandchildren, brothers, sisters or others, may make voluntary allotments to them, fixed by the new amendments at $5 a month where an allotment is made to a wife and children and $15 where no such allotment is made. is made.

lotments and allowances both by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance and in the field. Henceforth the Bureau of War Risk Insurance will handle allotments of only two amounts $1.5 lotments of only two amounts, $15 or $20. The amounts of family allowances support the family allowances, and then only in the amounts required by law to support such allowances. The excess allotments and allotments to persons not entitled to allowances will be handled by the War Department, the Navy Department, the Marine Corps and the Coast Guard. The change in administrative procedure will increase considerably the bureau's efficiency in handling its allotments. efficiency in handling its allotment and allowance problem.

"The airplanes or 'ships' as we call them are as thick around here as flies are in Rochester in the summertime. It is a wonder that more men are not killed; only two have been knocked off since I arrived here. One of them was since I arrived here. One of them was the best flier on the field. I had my first ride a few days ago and, believe me, it feels like the first trip across the ocean when the pilot of the machine does the 'tail spin.' The ship points to earth from a height of about 5,000 feet and spins like a top, then within 500 or 1,000 feet from the earth it rights itself.

"It is even more difficult and puzzling than the 'loop the loop.' The first trip is always the worst, so I guess the next time I won't have such a queer feeling as at first. Rich Field is located about two and a half miles from Waco and is two and a half miles from Waco and is within a stone's throw of Camp Mc-Arthur. In all there are about 40,000 men in both camps; they are twelve miles in length with a large field artillery range. We all like the life here and are getting along splendidly. Other Rochester fellows seem to like things pretty well and it's a cinch that if one of us does not get 'Berlin Bill' some other fellow will."

At 4 o'clock a bugler sounded "atten-tion." Instantly a loud cheer burst from the 774 throats of Rochester's draftees. This was the beginning of army life in real earnest.

After several months of real, intensive military training, it takes a newspaper like the Democrat and Chronicle to tell us what "real attention" is. It sounds more like "reel attention."

Our little Italian Fellow reported all clothed in a splendid military suit. It was of the best serge, and fitted him perfectly. Sergeant Corkin of the Sixth Company says he has a "corkin" good company.

They Say:

That the only time Victor Lober takes a bath is when he gets caught in the rain, and he even tries to get out of that.

That Private George of the Fourth Company is improving every day. The way he had his tray filled up the other noon made one think he had a furlough for a week. He is some eater, so they say.

That there was a misunderstanding when Victor Lober enlisted. He trade tested as a shoe maker and they made a photographer out of him. But Lober is very well satisfied. He is eating three times a day.

That when Uncle Sam called for strong men he sure did get one in Victor Lober. He has been upholding his reputation ever since he enlisted.

That Victor Lober of the Fourth Company feels pretty downhearted ever since the new orders were put up for every man to take a bath. He is afraid he might get

"The Line of Flight"

Robert Connor, observer, were instantly killed this afternoon when a wing on the airplane in which they were riding about 500 feet above the flying field collasped. The machine catapulted to the ground and both men were crushed beneath it.

Paris, June 11.—Eleven German machines were destroyed by the French yesterday. Eighteen tons of bombs were dropped by French fliers ou German troop convoys and concentrations. A great explosion was caused at Roye. Three German machines were brought down by anti-aircraft fire, the War Office says.

London, June 11.—Thirteen German ma chines were brought down by the British yesterday and five British machines were lost, the War Office announced to-night. Despite cloudy weather, British fliers yesterday co-operated actively with the French aviators in impeding the German advance on the Montdidier-Noyon front, and harassing German movements behind the front. Eight tons of bombs were dropped on various targets.

With the American Army in France, June 12.—Artillery fire and aerial activity on both sides increased to-day on the Toul front. There were two patrol clashes, our men emerging without loss. The Luneville men emerging sector was quiet.

London, June 20.—A British reconnais-sance squadron north of the Heligoland Bight on June 19 was attacked by German seaplanes. One of the hostile machines was brought down. The British planes suffered no loss.

Paris, June 12.—Arthur Blumenthal of Wilmington, N. C.; Harold Y. Saxon of Washington and Allan Nichols of Palo Alto, Cal., all members of the LaFayette Escadrille, are missing after a bombing raid over the enemy lines. Captain Charles Biddle of Andalusia, Pa., who was recently wounded and brought down in No Man's Land on the British front, has recovered and has resumed fighting covered and has resumed fighting.

With the American Army in France, June 14.—An American aviation cadet, charged with attempting to send uncen-sored matter to the United States by a civilian attached to the army, will be tried shortly before a general court martial. The civilian has been arrested at a base port. He carried photographs given him by the cadet and reported to be of an extremely indiscreet nature.

With the American Army in France, June 14.—The destruction of two German planes on the Toul front yesterday is officially confirmed. We probably forced another German plane down behind the enemy lines. The Germans are more active on the Toul front. Our patrols are encountering stronger resistance.

London, June 18 .- Twenty-eight German airplances and one balloon were brought down by the British yesterday. Twenty-nine tons of bombs were dropped on vari-ous targets. Five British machines are

London, June 20.—A British reconnais-sance squadron north of the Heligoland Bight on June 19 was attacked by German seaplanes. One of the hostile machines was brought down. The British planes suffered no lose.

Paris, June 20.-Saturday.-Paris was attacked by German bombing planes early this morning. Cannonading of the most violent character was in full swing for twenty minutes.

Bombs were dropped, but so far no vic-tims have been reported.

With the American Army in France, June 29.—Lieutenant E. W. Mayner of Birmingham, Ala., and an observer were killed on Wednesday when their machine fell to earth just after ascending. Captain E. P. Nines of Niagara Falls, N. Y., was killed in the same manner on the same killed in the same manner on the same

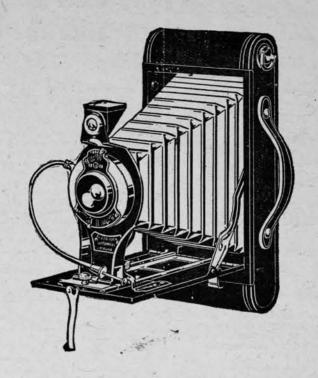

London, June 29.—The famous Badische factory at Mannheim, Germany, was bombed by British fliers early to-day with good success, the Admiralty announces. German machines ascended to scare the British raiders off, but the latter success fully engaged them, bringing down three fully engaged them, bringing down three of the German machines, the British suffering no losses.

London, July 1.—A great exodus from the Rhine towns is under way as a result of the frequent bombing raids by allied flyers, the Geneva correspondent of the Daily Express reports. The rents in those towns have fallen 35 per cent, and all advices from Germany agree that the air re-prisals are striking the people harder than any other weapons. A Hungarian diplomat, according to the correspondent, made the public statement in Geneva that the allies are "striking at the very heart of Germany, namely the Rhine district."

London, July 3.—British bombing planes this morning raided the German cities of Coblenz on the Rhine and Saarbrucken, the air ministry announced to-day. In an engagement over Saarbrucken two German machines were brought down. The raiders machines were suffered no losses.

Paris, July 5.—Lieutenant William D. Robbens, and Sub-lieutenant Wilford were burned to death when their machine crashed to earth to-day while they were flying over Sainte Colombe. Fire from an unknown origin suddenly broke out on the Sergt. Murphy has found a Geiser. No, not one of those faithful geysers but a man just as faithful. Boys, just give him the once over. You wouldn't was with us since the 10th of April and never bobbed up until the band was in the hole.

Then it was that Murphy focused on our old friend, Big Bill Geiser. It isn't necessary to strain your ears to ear what is being played by the Drum Corps when Big Bill begins to fife 'The Girl I Left Behind Me."

Bill says he used to ride an old gray mare is the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, and has had many hard falls.

The big squad tents have arrived at last. No more sleeping "half in and half out" of the pup tents.

We are still waiting and longing for the canoes the "Y"-K. C. promised us.

When a new company comes in from the school, the original guards smile, for who wants to walk a dark and spooky post all alone?

We now have a dandy baseball field, plenty of equipment and some mighty fine players. We expect to have some very interesting games. With other athletics, we intend to make the farm a regular place.

With the baseball equipment, there were 100 bathing suits and lots of fishing tackle. A hint: Bathing suits are to bathe in, not a new kind of underwear.

Privates Hanson and Weller went Along came two pretty maidens in a canoe. The fishing was fine, and the boys didn't return until late that night.

BOYS "UP THE RIVER" ARE ENTERTAINED BY COTTAGERS

From the boys "up the river" come all sorts of reports, rumors and odd stories of camp life in the country. But the best one yet, at least the most pleasant to those who anticipate a trip to Baker Farm, is that of the manner in which the cottagers entertain the Take, for instance, the Fourth of July. That day there was a regular series of house parties, dances, canoe trips, etc., for the boys. At the cot-tages of Mrs. George Ainsworth, Mrs. Ray Sparnum and Mrs. Walter Gargan, there was a "regular" time for half a dozen S. A. P. boys and as many girls. There was a continued programme of fun from early in the afternoon until late at night, a big supper at 7 o'clock and dancing by the light of Japanese lanterns and the moon being features. A Victrola furnished the jazz music.

Congratulations!

Airscout Glenn E. Heveron of the S. A. P. and Miss Mabel G. Niegelson of Exmore Club, Highland Park, Ill., were married recently by Rev. Louis B. Chaloux, pastor of Grace Methodist Church.

HARMONY FOUR OF S. A. P. PROVE TO BE REAL SINGERS

While passing through the corridors you may hear a beautifully harmonious strain. We pause, glance around, and, behold, there is the S. A. P. Harmody Comedy Four at their old tricks, trying to gargle a few minor chords.

And we hear our old friend, Big Bill, with his big bass voice. Instructor Carpenter breaking into print with some Caruso tenor stuff. Friend Tolpin can be heard with the sweetest baritone you ever listened to. Some say he put the tone in baritone. Now we hear Murphy. Some singer!

deplorable. It is worse than insanity or idiocy or curvature of the spine. There are millions of acres of land in pitals or canteens—we don't see how Europe occupied by nothing but a sense of inherited superiority; there are millions of hands and intellects in Europe occupied by nothing but a ahead of them, people who merely drift sense of superiority, while billions of wealth have been diverted to its service and embellishment.

There are two kinds of sense in men Common and Preferred - plain and fancy. The Common has become the great asset of mankind; the Preferred its great liability. Our forefathers had large holdings of the Common; certain kings and their favorites of the Preferred. The Preferred represented an immense bulk of inherited superiority and an alleged pipe-line leading from the king's throne to Paradise, and connected with the fount of every blessing by the best religious plumb-

It always drew dividends, whether the Common got anything or not. The Preferred holders ran the plant and insisted that they held a first mortgage on it. When they tried to foreclose with military power to back them, some of our forefathers got out.

We, their sons, are now crossing the seas to take up that ancient issue between sense, Common and Preferred, and to determine the rights of each. We are fighting for the foundations of democracy-the dictates of Common Sense. Let our answer be more decisive, more effective, more lasting, so that in generations to come the same issue dare not be raised.

"UPLIFTERS" NOT WANTED

Real Workers Are the Only Americans Wanted in France at the Present Time.

History relates that:

There was a young fellow named Hyde,

Who once at a funeral was spied.
When asked who was dead
He just nodded and said:
"I don't know; I just came for the ride."

What they are doing over here is be-yond us. They speak vaguely of "uplift," of "investigation," of "co-ordinating branches," and some even more brazenly speak of "getting atmos-phere"; nothing more. Some—we will let the reader guess the gender—are as naive as to exclaim: "Why, didn't you know that France is all the rage this year? Everybody's coming over."

If that "everybody" referred to the millions of the National Army, all would be well, but we rather imagine that the young lady—you guessed it— who employed the word had reference to "everybody worth while" or "everybody in our set." Now, while "everybo, inherited superiority is the most body worth while," or "everybody in our set" have their uses when in khaki Itoting a gun or an automatic, or (in case of the ladies) working in the hosthey can be so very useful if they approach the war in that spirit. who come over to France without definite, concrete, telling work planned out over here because "it's the thing to are really hindering the cause more than they are helping it.

We are cheerfully foregoing a lot of expected parcels from home because we are told that they take up too much room in ships destined to bring men steel, beef and the other rock bottom essentials of war over to us. It doesn't add to our cheerfulness to see our forfeited ship space taken up by a lot of folk who "just came for the ride."

Did you happen to notice how many of the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Squads discovered a latent singing talent one Monday evening? Of course, they would have preferred to have been on guard, but chose the way of much work instead of guard duty. Those brothers who took their places extend a very cordial thanks to them for making an opening in the guard for them

One of the many things we want to know is why some of the bunch can sleep through the harmonious discords of reveille as she is played just outside Dormitory 3.

"GET WISE," BOYS!

Isn't it about time that some of the boys "got wise" to themselves?

When the U.S. A.S. A. P. was first established, citizens of the city of Rochester opened their arms and received the student soldiers. Amusements, dinners and hospitalities of all descriptions were showered upon them by the patriotic inhabitants. The Y. M. C. A. and Knights of Columbus representatives worked diligently to promote a spirit of friendship between citizens and soldiers, and how well they succeeded is demostrated by the number of entertainments that have been produced at the Hut.

That was done with the aid of patriotic men and women of Rochester. It is still being done, but where is the audience?

To My Son

Do you know that your soul is of my soul such part-

That you seem to be fibre and core

None other can pain me as you, son, can do;

None other can please me or praise as you do.

Remember the world will be quick with its blame

If shadow or stain ever darken your name.

Like mother, like son, is a saying so true, world will - judge largely of mother by you.

Be this, then your task, if task it shall be,

To force this proud world to do homage to me;

Be sure it will say, when its verdict you've won, "She reaps as she sowed; this man is her son!"

A Letter from Home.

What bringes most joy to a soldier lad, Who in far-away Texas is khakiclad?

One who has given his all to be Trained to fight for peace and liberty? It's a letter from home.

In every camp, be it far or near, This soldier lad needs good cheer. It doesn't matter how many smokes you send, He is always waiting for news from a friend,

Or a letter from home.

Some times his camp is restricted, or in quarantine,

He has no place to go, but the Y. M. or canteen. They do they best to make him glad, But the thing that is his best fad,

Is a letter from home. He drills for hours in the Texas sun, Or works in some dark rooms where no cold water runs. in the cavalry, infantry or photography,

The thing that makes him happy at retreat or reveille, Is a letter from home.

The soldier lad, be he big or small. Who answers each day to the bugle

Is waiting for mail from his friends to SOLDIERS AT BAKER

He expects good news and plenty of fun,

GREAT FAIRPORT MYSTERY SOLVED

Real Culprits Apprehended and the Undestructable Hortense, Alias "Petey Dink," Is Returned Unscratched to Its Alleged Owner, Sergt. Morgan.

Through the sleepless efforts of Detective Sherlock Holmes McGarrigle and the local Police Department, the deep and clouded mystery surrounding rapid disappearence of Sergeant Morgan's famous flivvering Ford buzz wagon, Hortense, known in civil life as "Petey Dink," has been solved.

At first, as was correctly stated in a recent issue of The Alrscout's Snapshot, all circumstantial evidence pointed to Manager Imig of the the Washem and Durnem Department, in that he was very much in need of some motive power to run his new print wringer, but investigation showed that he much preferred to use hot air, rather than gas. The wise McGarrigle then consulted the criminal records which made stratling revelations, shifting the north point of orientation and throwing the shadow of suspicion upon the pair of Curio Profs, from the Alibi Department.

The record revealed that only about a week before these two ambitious and willing aircraft scouts, anxious to put some of their own pet theory of flight to a practical test, had attempted to 'borrow" late at night, a pushcart belonging to a prominent resident of Fairport. They were detected in the act, however, and while there were no arrests made the particular quality of language that emitted from an upper story window would have made Sergeant Tulpan green with envy. The fact was also revealed that Villers and Ingraham, anxious to preserve the unstained (Pyra stain) reputation of the Alibi Department, spend most of their time (while off duty) In the City of Fairport. Their success in getting away with the push cart added confidence to their endeavors to get away with things, consequently the next time they hunted for bigger troubles and made their designs on a Ford.

The story, as told to a reporter for The Airscout's Snapshot by the residents of Fairlawn Avenue, the scene of the buzz wagon tragedy, is that on the night of the attempted abduction, an empty wagon drove up alongside the unfortunate flivver and Ville and Ingraham got out. They immediately proceeded to make their get-away, but not being upon the Ford's Theory of Flight, they failed to make it go under its own power.

Undaunted by this singular fallure, they sprang to the rear and began to bring pressure to bear in that quarter. After having attracted the curious attention of the residents and passersby, and finally the local police, they came to a wise and swift conclusion that their Theory of Flight was all wrong and immediately resorted to the only means of rapid transit that nature had provided them.

It is needless to say that their Line of Flight was straight for the country, and naturally, with Villere in the lead with uncertain cadence there being "snow" on the ground at the time, and their finger prints on record in the archives of the army, the victims of this tragic story were soon about faced and are now doing time at hard labor under strict military discipline at the

It was hard to determine whether he was more interested in the knitting or the instructor. Anyway, he did learn how to unwind the thread while the young lady was knitting.

The Thing We Fight

This is the thing we fight: A cry of terror in the night, A ship on work of mercy bent,

A carrier of the sick and maimed Beneath the cruel waters sent, And those that did it, unashamed woman who had tried to fill

A mother's place, had nursed the ill And soothed the troubled brows of pain

And earned the dying's grateful prayers

Before a wall by soldiers slain! And such a poor pretext was their! Old women pierced by bayonets grim And babies slaughtered for a whim. Cathedrals made the sport of shells,

No mercy, even for a child, As though the imps of all the hells Were crazed with drink and running

All this we fight. That some day when Good sense shall come again to men Our children's children may not read This age's history thus defamed And find we served a selfish creed And ever be of us ashamed.

airmen will be able to turn the tide in favor of the allies, is Lieutenant Robert F. Purcell of 170 Spruce Avenue, who is assistant commandant of cadets studying to be flying officers at the Dallas, Tex., concentration camp. He has been passing a few days at his home in this city.

Of course military secrets do not find their way to the public press, and so the number of trained aviators turned out from the big camp is not made known, but Lieutenant Purcell says that they turn out a lot of 'em. One of the surprising features of that branch of the service is the quickness with which American young men take to the flying game, he says. Most of the men in camp come right out of civil life, some never having seen an airplane before. He says that the students are anxious to learn so that they may be sent across and be pre-pared for the big push toward Berlin when it begins.

In the aviation camps are young men from all walks of life, says Lieu-tenant Purcell. In one of the squads under his direction were five millionaires, all of whom buckled down to army life quickly, taking their turn at cleaning out the barracks with the

Airscouts from Carlstrom Field Are Appreciative

A message of thanks from one of the boys, now at Carlstrom Field, Florida, to a patriotic Rochester family, has been received by The Snapshot, and is as follows:

A Soldier Boy's Thanks.

There lives in Rochester a Luther family, But their real name is "Hospitality." When a soldier's away from home and feeling blue Leave it to them, they know just what

They make a soldier's life worth while, With a welcome hand shake and a friendly smile.

They treat you as one of their own And make a fellow feel right at home.

First they take you for a ride in their car Then J. W. Luther will hand you a cigar.

He shows you the sights and all there is To tell you the truth, it was a real jubilee.

An invitation to dine is always extended And to refuse they would feel offended. They give a feed as good as can be From Father's steaks to Mother's jelly.

The Luthers surely did treat me right
They are the kind for which I want to fight.
In this great war they are doing their part
I have love for them in the bottom of my heart heart. Their kindness I'll remember 'till my very last day,

And in closing this much I want to say I wish them good health and life full of joy,
To Father and Mother, and the two little boys.

Those Rochester folks to whom a song and light festival appeals because of its beauty, and those others to whom it means a comfortable place to gossip and chatter, invaded Seneca Park recently in numbers that swamped the street car company and nearly dis mayed the officials of the Department of Parks. It was the first song and light festival of the summer, and it seemed as though all Western New York had marked the date on the calendar, closed up house for the evening and decamped to the side of Trout Lake, where the Rochester Park Band, the Festival Chorus, 800 soldiers of the United States Army Aerial School of Photography and festoons of lanterns and electric lights were alternately the center of admiration.

The 800 aerial school soldiers marched The 800 aerial school soldiers marched from Kodak Park to the scene and occupied reserved seats. Their long tramp, coupled with the refusal of the sun to disappear under the daylight saving scheme, made it shortly after 9 o'clock before the Park Band played "America" to open the concert. Perhaps half an hour later the clusters of colored lights with which the bandstand was outlined sprang into life, as well as the softly tinted Venetian lights here and there among the trees.

KING OF KITCHEN POLICE GIVES SOUND ADVICE TO "OUR BOYS" IN UNIFORM

A soldier who deliberately marries a good, pure, wholesome woman, knowing in his heart that he is not worthy or otherwise fit to be the father of those innocent souls he is about to bring into the world, is unworthy of the name of man, unworthy to be in uniform. He actually commits the worst crime known to the uniform. He abuses the love of Our Flag and confidence of the woman he pretends to love and who confides in him and places her future in his hands.

It is the progeny of just such beasts that are filling our jails and our asy-lums. Don't do it, boys! Have respect for your uniform and Our Flag. Think before you leap. Always have respect for all the women you may meet, no matter where you are. Let's show ourselves decent, and have the public know that there are such good men in the army sometimes. You will hear some of your tentmates complain about the army. It's not the army that makes things hard for you. It is the way you make it for yourself. Take a tip from one who knows,

Some of the Reasons Why the Picnic Given by the Automobile Club at Baker Field Was a Success

ROCHESTER, N. Y.,

BAKER'S FIELD BOYS HAVE FUN

Automobile Club Picnic Success from Very Start.

BOYS MEET YOUNG WOMEN

Go Through Stunts To Win Prizes and Eat Lunch after Strenuous Afternoon's Enjoyment.

Ernie Pierrepont's Automobile Club of Rochester outing for the soldiers from Baker's Field, conducted at Genesee Valley Park Saturday afternoon was a "peach." At least the 150 boys who were there say so, and they use the same word (in its plural form) describing the 150 young women to whom they were introduced and with whom they ate lunch along about 6.30 o'clock, all under the watchful eyes of fifteen chaperons provided by Mrs. Dr. Frederick R. Smith.

It was a real picnic. The Park Band, at least a part of it, was there and played to the satisfaction of all. played to the satisfaction of all. There were the scheduled sports, including a ball game; Dr. Frederick R. Smith, president of the club, made a speech; William S. Riley, Rochester Park Commissioner, was on the job all the time; the soldier boys staged an exhibition drill, and not to be outdone, about fifty of the young women also drilled, to the intense pleasure of the boys. In the awarding of prizes, regular speeches of presentation were regular speeches of presentation were made.

The day was hot—no, not hot—hottest; the sun was bright, and the colored costumes of the many women, on the background of the green of the park meadows, with the khaki of the soldiers, presented a beautiful picture. A large gallery of visitors was on hand to watch the fun, and for identification purposes, every young woman connected with the outing was properly tagged.

An eleventh hour departure of men from Baker's Field almost spoiled the picnic, as to numbers present, but a detail of 100 from Kodak Park branch of the School of Aerial Photography, was summoned and arrived about 4 cyclock.

The S. A. P. won its first ball game recently from the Eastman Kodaks by the score of 9 to 1, Ahearn, pitching for the soldiers, was invincible allow.

Perhaps the biggest feature of the afternoon, from the standpoint of the Automobile Club, outside of the work of Ernie Pierrepont, was the magnifi-cent manner in which Sam Parry made the announcements. He revealed made the announcements. He revealed histrionic powers entirely unsuspected by the club. By means of his megaphone and enticing voice, he had the boys and young women paired off ten minutes after the fun began, and he allowed no khaki-clad lad to linger without a partner of the opposite sex. As the boys at the picnic were eating their luncheon, Ernie Pierrepont loaded up his automobile with eats, including watermelon, and took it to the detail left on guard at the Baker Farm. He received a big hand from the boys for that act.

The following is the summary of the various events staged in the after-

Soda water race—Box cigars, won by A. Smith, safety razor, won by Sergeant obert Clark; money belt, won by J. C.

Three-legged race—Two boxes cigars, won by C. S. Ferris and R. C. Green; two boxes cigars, won by J. M. Gorham and A. Scholl.

Wheelbarrow race—Carton cigarettes, won by O. C. Woodward and C. H. Spurlin; carton cigarettes, won by L. H. Burdette and R. E. Heffer.

Military rescue race—Six pairs socks, won by F. Jackson and M. Barase; box of toilet articles, won by F. E. Whipple and T. M. Nichols.

Gymkhana race—Army kit, won by T. M. Nichols; fountain pen, won by V. Hufel; pipe, won by C. N. Crapo.

Baker field nightingale contest—Bathing sait, won by J. M. Gorham; silk tie, won by M. Halper.

Silver slipper race—Army searchlight, won by H. Rehm; ten packages cigarettes, won by C. H. Spurlin.

Sack race—Army kit, won by O. C. Woodward; jack knife. won by A. D. Hurst.

Silver Slipper Race Interesting.

The silver slipper race was the most interesting. Each young woman took off a slipper and laid it in the center of the field. The boys lined up and ran to the pile, picking out a shoe. Whoever failed to get a shoe was disquallified. Then the search for the owner began. The young women sat on the covered feet, and only the stocking feet protruded.

All the prizes given were donated by various local concerns.

Lieatenant H. B. Koster from Baker Field and Dr. Smith were the referees. Sam Parry did the announcing. A. H. Neisner guarded the prizes. Augustine B. Hone, official A. A. A. representative, was starter. Bill Hibbard, Bill Kohlmetz, Harry Strong and Bill Riley were judges.

Gus Hone and Ed Creed umpired the ball game. Creed was escorted from the field in the first inning, to save his life.

Ernic Pierrepont's committee consisted of hhaself, John R. Taylor, A. H. Neisner William S. Riley, J. Stewart Burns, Clarence Wheeler, Arthur Stern and Eugene J. Dwyer. All were present.

FIRST BALL GAME OF AIRSCOUTS IS S. A. P. VICTORY for the soldiers, was invincible, allowing only four hits. The fielding of the airscouts was also "air-tight," not an error being made.

Schoen pitched good ball for the Eastman crowd. but poor fielding cost him several runs. Many times what should have been easy "outs" went for two or three bases.

The airscouts present a strong hitting club and a bunch of fast fielders. Their lineup contains many semo-pros and one or two who have tasted of big league baseball. They are anxious to schedule games with the semi-pros of the city. Any teams desiring a game with them should call T. R. Hill, at the "Y"-K. C. hut.

"AIR RAIDS" ON DEPARTMENT

Bang! Zip! Crash! Bang! And the echoes crashed down the long hall and corridors of Department 1. Coming in the midst of sweet, peaceful dreams of a life of lassitude in the army, the shock was all the more startling.

As it is very firmly impressed upon the minds of S. A. P. boys that the war cannot be won without the assistance of Department 1, and that they are expected to be under frequent bombardment from enemy planes, no form of surprise was to be expected.

Therefore, at the first sound of the Noise, which may as well have indicated an air raid as anything else, it was but natural for the recipients of the important information acquired from Department 1 to suspect that the Huns were at their heels. Also that it was of prime necessity to preserve that information. It spoke highly of their sense of duty when, as quick as a flash, everyone had ducked and was out of sight before the echo had time to return the charge.

After ten minutes of painful suspense, waiting for a second attack, a few heads bobbed up here and there, and inquiries were flashed around as to the cause of the upheaval. Having been urged to extreme caution in disclosing information, it was not before several minutes that the reason for the excitement was discovered.

And when the "Kat" was let out of the bag, there never was a more humiliating situation, for the shock was nothing more than one of our most peaceful citizens, rudely disturbed in his peaceful slumbers o'ertoppling the back of a chair, meeting the floor sooner than he expected—and none other than gentle "Violet" Kattleman.

LYCEUM PLAYER GIVES READINGS TO SOLDIERS AT PHOTOGRAPHY SCHOOL

Miss Betty Ross Clarke, a member of the Manhattan Players, who have been playing at the Lyceum throughout the summer, gave a number of readings before soldiers of the United States Army School of Aerial Photog-raphy recently at the "Y."-K. C. hut at Kodak Park. The readings were exceptionally well received, although the audience was small. Miss Clarke was introduced by Lieutenant Raymond J.

PRAISE FROM THE ENEMY.

Seldem does it happen that opponents praise the morale or fighting ability of those against whom they are pitched in battle. Yet that same thing happened in the case of a German intelligence officer's report to headquarters, a liberal abstract of which was printed recently in The Official Bulletin by the Committee on Public Information.

Lieutenant von Berg was the inteltigence officer. The extracts printed in The Official Bulletin are from a German document captured by the Yanks. They are from the formal report of Von Berg, attached to the Seventh German Army headquarters.

After reviewing the methods of attack, size of divisions and their equipclassified as a very good division, perhaps even as assault troops. The various attacks of both regiments on dash and recklessness. The moral ef- school fect of our fireams did not materially check the advance of the infantsy. The nerves of the Americans are still unshaken."

Passing to the value of the individual Americans, Von Berg says: "The individual soliders are very good They are healthy, vigorous and physically well-developed men of ages ranging from 18 to 28, who at present tack only necessary training to make them redoubtable opponents. The roops are fresh and full of straightforward confidence. A remark of one of the prisoners is indicative of their sprit: 'We kill or get killed.' "

Congratulations!

Lewis Frederick Bartels of Kodak Park, and Miss Katherine Augusta Roeder of 7 Seneca Park Circle.

Clyde F. Seeley of Kodak Park and Miss Cora A. Meade of 57 South Wash ington Street.

HOT WEATHER IS NO HARDSHIP FOR BAKER FIELD BOYS

The hot weather is on. We all sympathize with the people that have to live in the hot, stuffy city. There is nothing like the cool, invigorating breezes that we enjoy here. The beautiful Genesee River, with its tree-covered and grassy banks, is the rendezvous of many a canoe party. It is an ideal spot to dodge the hot city.

The fellows are looking forward to the big time that the Automobile Club of Rochester is going to give them on the polo grounds.

The boys from Baker's Farm will appreciate it if their friends will not ask them questions pertaining to what they are doing on the farm. We are under strict orders not to give out any information.

Most of the work is done in the morning, so we can have the part of the evening for athletics.

The bathing suits are in continual use—not as a new kind of underwear, but as the real thing. "Come on in; the water's fine!"

Private Salter wants to know if a soldier should salute an officer when he is flying over us. For, as we all know, he looks down on us.

Private Stephens asked a young lady if he could take her canoeing. "Can you swim?" she asked.

"Can an alligator swim?" he asked. He "made" the date.

If anyone doesn't believe that Fatty Fisher is ambitious, come out and listen to him blow the bugle. Assemble call is his favorite, and it is used for all occasions.

Quite a few of the fellows from the old famous Second Detachment are here. Among them is Private Schwartz. ment, the officer speaks of the fighting His first night sleeping in his little pup value of the Yanks as follows: 'The second American Division may be knees, as it is impossible to get his big BLASTS FROM THE body all in at once.

The original guards are beginning to puzzle over where they will get their photographic schooling.

Who did Commander of the Guard Charles Langer meet at the River Bend Inn? We ask: "Who?" Whoever she was, she sure did make an impression on him. W. L. S.

NEWS FROM THE SECOND COMPANY

We think that Lloyd was affected by the extreme heat when he said: "I dreamed last night that I was awake. and sure enough I was."

Some day we will have to leave ochester. "C'set la guerre."

Sergeant Courtney and Corporal Arnold took dinner at the Country Club last Saturday evening.

About two-thirds of the company enjoyed a plunge at the beach on Saturday afternoon.

The Second Company thawed out their pipes and won the company singing contest on Wednesday morning.

And they still hold the reputation of being the well-drilled company. We've got the "esprit de corps."

Sergeant Tompin received a box of cigars last week. Many of the boys enjoyed one on him.

Our old friend, Jack Burke, took unto himself a wife last week. We wish you luck, Jack, and may your troubles be "little ones."

One often hears of new men who enter the school to knock the in-structors. Here is the opinion of one of the first men to enter the school of the instructors: "A fine crowd of good fellows, ready to help when the occasion arrives."

Frank Prochasha says that in the near future he is going to be among the "married men" of the school.

Come on, all you Headquarters Company fellows, give me a lift. I am doing my best to keep you in the limelight, but if I don't soon receive some help, this Madison Barracks crowd will have us smothered under.

Drummer Ames is now an instructor. He says he "ames" to be a good one,

"Big Bill" Geiser is now commanderin-chief of the band and makes the statement that he will lead the band on to glory-or something else.

The band presents a new, shiny appearance with its new fifes. Murphy says: "You've got 'em now-blow 'em." He is never satisfied.

Rockwell's the baby of the band, but he is learning rapidly. Sh! He doesn't pad. His shape is all his own.

We saw Nugent the other night and he wasn't alone. We envy him, but we all can't be lucky.

FIVE TIMES 'CROSS COUNTRY GOES 2ND COMPANY

To the people of Rochester is due the pleasure and recreation enjoyed by members of the Second Company. The boys have motored more than 16 .-000 miles in four weeks. And in that time they also have been invited to 235 homes for dinners.

The statements of the men in the Second Company show that they have been enjoying some delightful automobile rides, thanks to the people of Rochester. The total distance is over five times the "line of flight" from New York City to San Francisco. The men wish to take this method of expressing their appreciation, for, after a hard day's work at the school, the fresh air obtained on these trips has given then more than can be bought with dollars and cents.

No matter where they go, or how long they stay, the boys of the Second Company will always have a warm place in their hearts for the people of Rochester.

The Second Company, Albert W. Adkisson, (Acting) 1st Sergeant.

GOOD-BYE, GOOD LUCK,

I love the words. Perhaps because, when I was leaving Mother, standing at last in solemn pause, we looked at one another. And I-I saw in Mother's eyes the love she could not tell me. A love eternal as the skies, whatever fate befell me.

She put her arms around my neck and soothed the pain of leaving. And, AIRSCOUTS' BAND though her heart was like to break, she spoke no word of grieving. She let no tear bedim her eye for fear she might distress me. But, kissing me, she said, "Good-bye, Good luck-God bless Thee!"

The Flying Machine.

Like humming-bird of monstrous size You flit about in azure skies— Now but a speck—now swooping near, Your graceful lines are visioned clear; Then circling up and up the blue, In heaven's dome you melt from view Awhile, and then, in spiral glide, You reappear in circles wide; Then plunging headlong (thrill of thrills) Until the master helmsman wills Your cou. Death, course to change-and cheating

He noses upward in a breath, And skimming lightly to the earth Stops just before your hangar birth.

O shade of Wright, who blazed the trail On man-made wings that did not fall, From your elysian home on high, See you your miracle of the sky?— See you beyond what man can see Into the Future when shall be Far greater flights of mind and man Than anything this age can plan?-When high and low and far and In numbers e'en the sun to hide, Vast ships of air, from shore to shore, Shall sail the whole world planet o'er?— When nations linked by aerial ties, To unknown, glorious heights shall rise, And peoples all as one shall be In federation of the free?

Popular Priest Gets Commission as Army Chaplain

REV. FRANCIS MASON, for four year assistant pastor of Sacred Heart Church, who yesterday received his commission as a first lieutenant (chaplain) in the New National Army (chaplain) in the New National Army MOOSE PICNIC FOR received his commission by wire some time ago. He will leave this city on Wednesday and go to Canandalgua to visit his relatives before embarkation. Father Mason is the son of Thomas Mason of Canandaigua. He is a graduate of St. Bernard's Seminary of this city, in the Class of June, 1914. He at once procured the assignment as assistant to Rev. George V. Burns, pastor of Sacred Heart Church.

Ever since the institution has been located in Rochester, Father Mason has taken an active interest in the Catholle boys stationed at the U. S. A. School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park. Before the "Y"-K. C. Recreation Hut was erected, Father Mason made frequent calls at the school and provided writing facilities for the boys.

The words of that illustrious writer should sink in deeply with every man at Kodak Park. Our commandant has been gifted with a foresight and can picture us some day "over there," just about all in.

Remember, it is not the quality of your voice, but the spirit in which you do it, that is going to pull you through with flying colors. The morale of the German army is breaking down. They don't sing. They lack pep. Let's show the world that we are a nation of sing-ers; that we have an army second to none, and a snatch of good peppy music will do more in aiding us to reach that goal. Snap into it now!

ARMY AND NAVY MEN WILL BE AUGUST 17

August 17 will be the date of the monster picnic and outing of every soldier and sailor in Rochester, set recently by the war activities committee of Rochester Lodge 113, Loyal Order of Moose. Every soldier in camp or barracks here, and every soldier or sailor on furlough is invited to Moose Park on that date. Transportation, entertainment and "chow" will be furnished free. Athletic events, vaudeville, boxing and dancing will be the indoor and outdoor sports indulged in, and fully 1,200 guests are to be provided for. At last night's meeting of the committee, the following chairmen of subcommittees were appointed:

WAR IS ON AND AIRSCOUTS WIN

The war is on. That stalwart bunch Kodak Park, known as the Baryta Crew, swooped down on the ball diamond last Tuesday evening to show the boys from the S. A. P. how to play indoor baseball in the Twi-light League. Manager G. W. Whitney was on the job to accept the invita-says Whit.

"All right," says Hill. "Now give us half a dozen good hitters from this crowd and we will trim any team in Rochester."

A few feet from the grandstand stood our new "Y" secretary, Gilbert Cox, better known as "Gibby." He was soon drafted to take part in the fray.
"Gibby" has a "rep" of being champion home run hitter of Rochester, and to verify that, he stepped into the game and made two home runs. It was time for "Gibby" to go then, because, you know, "Gibby" has a good many social engagements to get caught up on since he came back to his home town.

After the smoke of battle had cleared away, it was found that the Barytas had been trimmed to the tune of 28 to 5. Whit pitched a fine game, allowing only five hits and securing four hits himself at the bat. Hill caught a beautiful game and displayed that same old pep at the bat that he does when he is putting the boys of the school through some of their famous yells. Hilly also got four hits. Comingore did fine on first base, and the rest of the team responded nobly when called upon to act.

Next Tuesday the boys play the Out-laws of Kodak Park, indoor champs for three years. But Manager Whitney says he is not worrying, as he has pitched against these boys many times before joining the colors. with the help of Hilly and "Gibby," that his team will put across a victory. Girls Give Picnic for miniature Red Cross nurse stood guard to assist Mr. Jewell of the Medical Department in case anyone were taken

A hush fell over the crowd while everyone "fell to" to do his bit in making away with salads, sandwiches, etc., even to Billy Everett, who, in spite of the fact that he was minus two teeth, managed to consume his (?) share, while Private Pyle patiently poured lemonade to the "thirsty party." The shy little Quaker "BIRD" did his utmost to get a piece of cake for each of his many brothers, but Privates Wilson, Mulye and Claypole took matters into their own hands and immediately joined the Quaker Birds, thus leaving this once happy Bird sadly chirping over the crumbs of one lone piece.

After supper games were played, and between mouthfuls of ice cream cones, the boys heartily sang their favorite camp songs. On the way to the car one of the girls discovered that there was more pie, and Private Lyons bravely rushed to the rescue.

It was necessary to wait for a few nutes for the car which y us back to Rochester, but the time was passed pleasantly, for Mrs. Bisgrove and a number of the girls told short stories, while the boys again sang the popular "Katy" song and a number of others, and Instructor Youngberg told some very interesting facts about his beautiful home town.

As all good times must come to an end sooner or later, so this party followed suit, and at the Four Corners We all wish to thank Instructor Kamrass for his co-operation and aid in making the party a success -The Picnickers.

SOLDIERS WIN IN SECOND OF LEAGUE GAMES

Soldiers of the U.S.A.S.A.P played the second game of the Indoor Baseball League schedule last Tuesday night, when they defeated the Outlaws by a score of 7 to 2. The game was won in the first inning, while the Outlaws' pitcher was working his way into the battle, but when he warmed up he had them all hitting to the infield. "Gibby" Cox pitched a great game for the soldiers, and had his opponents swinging through space when he de-livered his famous "invisible" ball. It is sort of a "spiritual ball" and has an uncertain and tantalizing "line of flight." You only think you see it. The Outlaws were not up to war strength, but we hope that the next time we meet them they will have their best, for they are considered one of the fastest and best teams in the league.

"Baldy" McKenzie arrived from Madison Barracks last Saturday and played in the left lot, where he misjudged the ball in one inning, thinking he was playing football. But he made up for that by knocking the pillow ball over the fence for a complete circuit.

"Baldy" says: "It is a fine game, but I think a fellow ought to have a box to catch the ball in. It is too big for my hands." Lake agrees with him, and adds that the bat is too small.

Anxious to do their "bit" toward making the Kodak Park soldiers' stay in Rochester a little more pleasant, a number of girls from Cornhill Methodist Church, accompanied by their pastor and his wife, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Bisgrove, held a party at Maplewood Grove, East Avenue Boulevard, on Tuesday evening, July 23.

Twenty-five jolly pienickers sat down to a table which was loaded with homemade goodies. Over each plate a miniature Red Cross nurse stood guard to assist Mr. Jewell of the Medical Devenues and they left that place.

grove began to ring with shouts that might have been heard in Toronto, it was too much for bird ears and bird nerves, and they left that place.

The soldiers, from Kodak Park, Exposition Park, Baker Field, and Mechanics Institute, with stray soldiers and sailors in the city, were taken to the park in automobiles commandeered by George Wagner and his transportation committee. The picnic was staged in co-operation with the Rochester Soldier Recreation Committee, recently formed.

It didn't take the boys more than five minutes to get used to Durand-Eastman Park and its denizens. Soldiers who have been in the service for a time don't need to have anyone break the ice for them. With one immense, spontaneous whoop, they let everybody within a mile radius know how the perfect day, the pure air and the beautiful surroundings affected them.

Airscout Dies Here Following Brief Illness

PRIVATE PETER SCANDONE of the Third Company, whose death occurred on Friday evening in the Rochester Homeopathic Hospital.

Airscouts of the United States Army School of Aerial Photography were called upon last week to mourn the death of the third student-soldier who has passed away since the school was instituted here. Following a brief illness, Private Peter Scandone of the Third Company died at 8 o'clock on Friday night in the Rochester Homeo-pathic Hospital. Already arrangements have been made for the removal of the soldier's body to his home in New Haven, Conn. A guard of honor has been picked to accompany the remains to New Haven, and floral offerings will be sent by the boys of the S. A. P.

Though he had been a student at the Though he had been a south. Private S. A. P. for barely a month, Private Peter Scandone was one of the most likeable chaps in the school, "The Scrapping Kid" and "Shorty the Ninth" were some of the sobriquets attached to him. At Madison Barracks he proved a popular entertainer, putting on boxing matches with George Mandelkern of New York City, his boxing partner, friend and bunkmate. The two boys also had entertained boys of Company Three with their bouts since coming to the Kodak Park school. Private Scandone was noted for his genial temperament and happy disposition. His death, coming as it did after only a brief illness, came as a distinct shock to all the S. A. P. soldiers.

Take Ducking with Ducks.

This canoe-tilting contest was only one of many aquatic sports. It was won by Sergeants Clark and Howard of Baker Field. The greatest fun of the day, except for two of the participants, was the duck chasing contest. Two ducks were the exceptions.

Frantic squawkings and frantic splashings by both sides were features of the duck chase, and the web-footed squawkers were captured by Privates F. E. Whipple and C. O. Allen of Kodak Park only after an outlay of mighty hard work.

Another novelty, although not of an aquatic nature, was for every soldier at the park to nick out a women on the street of the park to nick out a women on the shift buttons.

Another novelty, although not of an aquatic nature, was for every soldier at the park to pick out a woman or girl and say to her, "Do you know Edwin P. Crocker?" Mr. Crocker is president of the Ad Club. Private F. W. Babey of Kodak Park struck the right one and was awarded a fat prize. This does not mean, however, it was announced last night, that only one woman on the grounds knew Mr. Crocker.

The nearest thing to a drill was race where the soldiers ran a certain distance, executed a right about face, distance, executed a right about face, saluted three times, did another right about and ran for the finish tape. There was a backward race. There was, instead of the time-honored three-legged race, a tandem race in which three men ran with their legs tied, and there was a ball-passing contest which was won over the soldiers by the women reverts. women guests.

Keep your company, your dormitory, your squad in the focal range of The Snapshot.

Remember that The Snapshot is the official paper of the United States Army School of Aerial Photography, and that it goes into nearly every state in the country, as well as "over there." Keep The Snapshot snapping, for it is a true reflection of the men at the S. A. P.

There are few regular correspondents to The Snapshot. Baker Field is being represented regularly now, as are also the S. A. P. Band and a few of the companies. Others should fall in line-and stay there every week.

GO IF YOU SAY SO!

Sixty-seven student soldiers of the U. S. A. S. A. P. signed to attend a dance at the Windsor Beach Hotel last Tuesday night.

Thirty-seven appeared.

Citizens of Rochester went to a lot of inconvenience and not a little expense to make the affair a success, and they succeeded, but not until after a lot of recruiting had been done around the Hut.

The Airscout Snapshot has called attention to the fact that men at this post repeatedly ignore invitations to various entertainments and amusements arranged for them by the citizens of Rochester. Soldiers agree to attend those functions and then at the last minute find they have something more "important" on hand.

When a man signifies his intention of attending one of those entertainments, he does so with pen and ink. His name appears on a list in black and white. His word is given. The word of a soldier wearing the uniform of the United States should be his bond,

J. GILBERT COX, a Rochester boy, who has taken the place of John A. Wells as Y. M. C. A. secretary at the "Y"-K. C. Hut.

S. A. P. BAND SHOT TO PIECES?

It looks as though the S. A. P. Band were being shot to pieces. Four of our men were sent away last week. They were Nugent, Wilson, Dolan and Merchant. We miss 'em all.

Geiser says he is rehearing a new stunt. He is going to toot the fife, whistle and sing at the same time. He admits he can do it if anyone can.

We've got a new chief now. We change commanders as often as a woman changes her mind. Price, the leader of the band at Madison Barracks, is the lucky (?) man. Welcome, Price, to our city.

We are going to have some more fifers if we can induce them to shed their cloak of modesty and join our happy family. Come on, fellows.

Did you ever see a fife and drum corps without drums? For once you could hear what the fifers were trying to play.

Comingore sure knows how to hold a fife. He plays silently.

Did you ever see Spicer hold his fife correctly? No one else ever has, either. He likes to have the notes roll out the open end of the fife. We are referring to the lad with the sleepy

Our mascot, "Rex," has seen the boys chase the "chickens" so often that he jumps into the lake and chases the swans.

Don't knock the band too blooming much, but give it a little boost, if possible. We can't have Sousa's Band with us. Make the best of what we

From elevator boy to mail clerk is quite a promotion, but we know of two birds that made it. Names furnished on request.

This is some band, and we cannot refrain from blowing our own horns. We have quite a variety of characters Our latest addition is one Price from Madison Barracks Band. The base drum has a new face behind it in one Schofield. We also still have Old Faithful Geyser with us, the Gold Dust Twins, Bowman and Rockwell. "Red" Estes still punishes the snare drum. Menohir and Spicer are still on the job with the fifes. But the best of all, the last word in camouflage, one that not even the camera can pierce, is Comingore playing the fife.

IS DOING VERY NICELY, THANK YOU

The Fifth Company has given Mosaic maps, contours, contour lines, etc., the double O, and is at present lingering in the dark room.

Sunday was a busy day for the Fifth men. Everybody was busy writing everybody what a glorious place Rochester is.

Many men were made happy when they received many letters at one time -due to the delay in the new comnany's mail.

"Don" Ewing and "Washington, D. C.," Allen are busy birds with the ladies these days. Probably it's the delightful singing of Ewing.

Ask Goldstein just what instruction he would give a pilot before leaving on a photographic mission.

Sergt Kohl has broken out with an epidemic of "extra duty"—look out for

The mark on Raymond's forehead is to show the end of his face-that's all.

Sergt. Phyle has introduced a numper of new commands, among them being: "Left right dress," "Come with me," "Follow me" and others worthy of the attention of the I. D. R. editors.

Dillon and Morris are two seemingly quiet individuals, but you should see them entertain the fair sex-OH, BOY!!!

Klaver and Erickson can be found any evening at Ontario Beach Park, instructing several shapely girls in the fascinating art of swimming.

The Prince discovered he was in the army the other day, when he was obliged to do guard duty.

English and Koch, the well known Baker Fielders, are back in civilization once more with us.

Grossman is lucky-he is going to Columbia. Good luck!

THIRD MOURNS PRIVATE SCANDONE

The sudden death of Private Scandone was received with much depression by all who knew him here at Madison Barracks. Private Scandone surely contributed his share to make Company Three a success.

Sergt. Casperson was right when he said that Rochester was the best city he had ever been stationed in. All of the company agrees with him. The people of Rochester have been exceedingly generous in their hospitality toward the boys. Surely Rochester will not be forgotten when we leave

"W. L. S." STILL WRITING FOR THE BAKER FIELD BOYS

Sergeant Major Clark, better known as "Dizzy," is not very dizzy unless he is with Lizzy in his little "dizzyizy" canoe upon the Beautiful Genesee.

Private Frank A. Potter, formerly of the Second Detachment, Madison Barracks, writes from Columbia University: "The chow is a dream-cafeteria style. No. K. The mess line has grown until it re-sembles a huge snake. The fellows near the end usually wait half an hour or more. They sing: "There's a long, long line awaiting that leads to the mess shack, where the pork and beans are burning and a mess sergeant scowls-etc.

Private Coolage is doing K. P. work at the field. Quite a change from photographing wild animals of Africa!

We wish to thank the Automobile Club of Rochester for the outing it gave up. From the talk, everyone had a great time. The Guard Detachment of Baker's Field brought home the bacon, having won more of the events than any other company.

What happens quite often at formation: Acting First Sergt. Carson (Very harshly, as the frog is still there) "Attention to the roll call." After a moment: "Count off."

Then again, after deep thought—"Right dress."

Then, with head bowed, he gives his entire attention to calling the roll. A private, hiding behind the tents, ten minutes late, falls in, unseen by the eagle eye of the sergeant.

"Is there anyone I have missed?" he asks after calling the roll.

A private in the ranks holds up his hand. "What's your name?" Carson asks harshly.

"Georgia," answers the private.
"Georgia, how are you?" he asks in that "pleasing" frog voice.

"Column of Squads"

Airscouts found a ready welcome at the dance given in honor of Jewish draftees, as well as soldiers in Rochester, at the Jewish Young Men's Association Building on Saturday evening. Many of the men from Kodak Park and Baker Field were present.

Instructor Earl A. House, who is dramatic editor of The Airscout's Snapshot, plays the part of one of the offi-cers in "Lilac Time," being presented this week by the Vaughan Glaser Stock Company at the Temple Theater.

KIWANIS CLUB MILITARY FIELD DAY AUGUST 24

When Bert Wilson was appointed head of the Rochester Soldier Recreation Committee, one of the first organization to offer co-operation in entertaining the soldiers was the Kiwanis Club. ASK LOAN OF INSTRUMENTS FOR STUDENTS OF SCHOOL OF AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHY

After counting noses at the Kodak Park School of Aerial Photography, it was found that there are enough musicians to make up a complete band among the students. All that is miss-ing are the instruments.

I was brought up in the country And was always called a fool, For you see I never had a chance Of going much to school.

But I can read a little And I think a whole lot more, And one day I got a paper And found out there was a war.

The more I read that paper The madder I became,
And I said, "By heck, I am going To join and try to shoot a Hun."

I bid good-by to dad and mam And I went right to the office And said, "Just mark me down."

They laughed and looked me over, And they said, "I guess you'll do, And we know you will be wiser Before this war is through." ne clothes to me, The best I ever had, And when I dressed up in them I felt bigger than my dad.

I started in determined
That before the war was done
That I'd never be contented
Until I killed a Hun.

But now they got me so darned mad, And I guess I have got wiser. By heck, I won't be satisfied Until I get the Kaiser.

The soldiers of the United States Army are extremely well fed, and it is a function that the army takes great pride in. We all remember what Napoleon said: 'An army travels on its belly.' There is no necessity for the folks at home to worry about the boys getting the proper food. It is admitted that sweatmeats and rich pas-tries are cut out. The reason is ob-vious. When an athlete is in training his food does not consist of pies and cakes, but he eats the proper food that will give him nourishment for his strenuous races that he participates in.

If it were feasible to have the entire human race throughout the world live on the components as outlined by Washington, there undoubtedly would be more healthy races and more contentment. Speaking of experiences in the field, I have yet to find the first camp where proper food has not been furnished. It is, of course, understood that there are many times when meals may be irregular, but the food has not been at fault.

Airscouts from Kodak Park Given Unusual Time on Rochester's Birthday-Some of the Stunts.

"K-k-Katy, Beautiful Katy-(Key of high C).

Along Main Street came a troop bus at 12.01 a. m. on the morning of July 25, and the promenaders on that busy thoroughfare stopped to look and listen. It had been one great night— so the spectators heard—and it wasn't quite over yet-so they were con-

What was it all about? Because one of the best friends we have made in Rochester had a birthday. It was Mr. I. Friedlich's 57th, and there were that many varieties of entertainment and surprises furnished throughout the evening. As to what happened, we must quote from the Wise Old Owl, who saith:

The more he saw, the less he spoke; The less he spoke, the more he heard.

Not having passed the censor, we must be discreet regarding information concerning the occasion, for it was a military affair-all for the soldiersbut as there has been a leak some-where, and some incidents have been divulged, it will not be amiss to hereby record an authentic account of some wild rumors that have been grapevining into the discussions around

Why it should have started to pour just as the boys sat down to the first episode—the lawn party—was not as mysterious as our Jonah seemed to make it, for what could be more natural than that nature should fall into harmony with their spirit when some-one broke out with "Hail, hail! The gang's all here"?

However, as was remarked by the hostess, the ardor was not dampened one bit, and between drops they managed to get everything under cover. The retreat was very successful, not a man being lost nor a drop of precious fluid spilled. Omitting diplomatic negotiations, unrestricted warfare began when the boys fell to, and they went "over the top" in the same spirit that the Sammies tackle the Hun hordes.

When the contest of pinning the flag to Berlin was on, it was only natural for "Violet" to walk backward, for, he being left handed, couldn't be expected to do all things right. Which, it might be mentioned, makes us uneasy as to what he would do if given the com-mand to retreat. Experience leads us to believe he would make a bee line for Berlin.

At the dancing party the boys really outdid themselves. They said it was in the air, but how that accounts for the nimbleness of their feet remains a mystery. The trip back was full of spirits, but none was overcome, that being impossible in the present world-wide situation.

There are parties that go and parties that come, but this one will linger in the memory of all who were fortunate enough to have been there, for a long

FREE TO SOLDIERS

TWO HUNDRED SOLDIERS, GUESTS OF ROTARY CLUB, MAKE "HOT DOGS" RUN FOR COVER AT OLD BASEBALL PARK

a "rip-snorting" good time, is what 200 soldiers from Kodak Park, Baker Field, Mechanics Institute and Exposition Park received as guests of the Rotary Club at Baseball Park Saturday afternoon.

Figure it up! That's forty cigarettes apiece, ten bottles of soft drinks for each man, seven and a half "hots" per mouth and a pound of peanuts for each soldier boy!

How did they do it? They did, that's all! And there wasn't so much as a crust of bread from one of the sandwiches or a solitary peanut left uneaten. And the soft drinks! The committee had to send out a rush order for twenty additional cases to keep the bunch supplied during the second ball game.

And in between the soldiers found

And in between the soldiers found time to express their gratitude by cheering like wild men for the home team (which may have had something to do with Rochester winning both games), and singing all the songs they ever knew, frontwards and backwards.

FIRST COMPANY DOES "COME BACK" FROM BAKER FARM

Here we are, the old Guard Detachment of Baker Field; known now as Company 1 of Kodak Park. Our last night at the farm was a rousing sendoff-arousing because we were aroused from our deep and peaceful slumber at 3 o'clock in the morning by a general fire alarm, given by the commander of the post, Lieutenant Koster. The fellows answered the call snappy. They looked like regular fellows, standing formation in B. V. D's-and the night was chilly.

To Lieutenants Koster, Parker and Holland we owe our sendoff. Lieutenant Koster stated that he was sorry to see the boys leaving and appreciated the military manner in which they assisted him in opening the post.

The guard detachment sends best regards to Lieutenants Koster, Miller, Ellis, Parker and Holland. We appreciate the many things they did for us. We can only, in return, wish them luck.

We remember the day when we arrived there and always will remem-ber the day we left. Especially the last night-thanks to the lieutenants.

Private Herfel of the waterwagon; Private Shorty Fisher of the bugle; Private Gatsckene, the color sergeant; Private Petro-Sapolio, the fireman; Private Ferris, the mail orderly; Private Stephens, the windmill private, and Private Cook, the lieutenant's orderly, all are mourning over the loss of their Sergeant Lindemann is in charge of the company at the park, and is certainly having a real, sure-enough job whipping them into shape.

We certainly do miss Sergeant Carson's frog voice, "Count Off" and Dizzy. I really don't see how we are going to do without him.

In the lecture room, when the perspiration began to trail down our cheeks and ooze out of our bodies, we began to realize what a paradise Baker Field is, or was. We long for the cooling bank of the Genesee near

The Baker Field boys brought home the bacon again at Durand-Eastman Park at the outing given by the Ad Club. Dizzy (Sergeant Clark) participated in most of the events.

Peterson-Question-What must one do when he gets his dates mixed and two different girls meet him at the same place?

Answer-Get excited and look wild. Ask Sergeant Lindemann.

Again in the hot lecture room, as the perspiration trickles down our backs, and we feel like killing the kaiser, sweet memories bring us back to Baker Field; the shady trees, swimming in the river, and nice, delightful canoe trips on the river.

"Rave on-why a little hot weather like this don't worry a good photographer," says Alligator.

What's the difference between a dormitory at Kodak Park and a squad tent at Baker Field-"Rave on."

The heat is affecting some of the boys at Kodak Park other ways besides physically. If you don't believe me, be in the mess hall some day when ice creamis served.

O! A soldier's life is the life I love.

The Kaiser sat perturbed one day, His face was drawn in deep dismay. "I vunder vy dot all I see Cannot at vunce belong to me?" His thoughts from toward the Baltic cold Mused back to Andras' shiring gold. "Aha!" he cried; jumped to his feet! "Untie the war dogs! Loose the fleet! Mit me und Got—Vell, vell! Vell, vell! Vy iss it not to make some hell?"

Then, trampling 'cross each peaceful border
Drove Prussians all to due disorder,
And little, suckling babies dragged
Away from mothers. Those who begged,
Struck silent! Until fairest France
Quivered 'neath each Hun advance.

And poppies blossomed, none so red As over Flanders' myriad dead. Then up arose great Satan's face, His cunning eyes each wasted place Surveyed. And, lo, the Kaiser toward him strode, Along the darkened, pitted road.

And Satan spoke, "'Tis plain to see,
Destruction's medal goes to thee!
Why Kaiser Bill! You son-of-a-gun!
'Tis a great deal better than I could have done.
Could earth and sea give up their treasure,

Not one of your tragedies could measure Ah, Murdering Kaiser! Hated Hun! A shame to thee; Much less I'd done,"

FIFTH COMPANY PROVES STRONG ON GUARD DUTY

If it wasn't for the Fifth Company, the U. S. A. S. A. P., would have little protecion week-ends. The Fifth has been on guard every Sunday night since it arrived here four weeks ago, and also has furnished club-bearers on several week nights.

One of the Fifth's drill sergeants spent some time impressing upon Goldstein that he was No. 4 man in the rear rank, for "Goldy" had a habit of falling in in a different place every formation. Apparently "Goldy" finally learned his place, for that night when he came in late the following conversation was heard:

Guard-"Halt! Who's there?"
"Goldy"-"Number 4 in the rear rank, sir!"

"Song Bird" Myrick spends half the night keeping everyone in Dormitory 16 awake and the other half bawling them out for keeping him awake.

Several bets have been placed as to whether the Watertown girl or New Jersey girl will be the future Mrs. Heddon. Just at present, being closer, the Watertown girl has the advantage, for absence makes the heart grow fonder-for someone else. But wait 'till Heddon gets that furlough (?) and goes home! There may be a different story then.

Myrick and Isham are trying to organize a quartette. The only trouble is that Myrick, being single, wants a double quartette, and Isham, being married, wants a single quartette.

Sergeant Allen of the Camera Despair Club is having a hard life. girls worry him a lot, and he probably soon will have to hire an office force to attend to his correspondence, phone calls, etc.

S. A. P. PUTS UP EXCELLENT RECORD AS "CLEAN" SCHOOL

That the United States Army School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park has set up a fine record as a "clean" school was proved by Captain Charles F. Betz, late commandant, in a talk given in Rochester theaters when "Fit to Fight," an educational motion picture, was shown under the direction of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

In his work in Rochester, Captain Betz handled 2,500 men, and not one case of venereal disease was reported at the school. Last March 250 boys were received at the school, with not a single case reported.

"Rochester is 15 per cent better than any city of its size or bigger. She must not only live up to her reputation, but she must do better. The old standards are passing and these foul diseases."

standards are passing and these foul diseases we now know are due only to lack of education. We are trying to make a 100 per cent army in khaki and out—in the home as well as in the line," said Captain Betz.

"I once heard a British officer tell of one of his men who made a nightly prayer that went like this: 'God, make me fit to do the things I have been sent here to do.' You men who are behind us in the munition plants and in the foundries must say the same thing, but you must protect yourself. in the foundries must say the same thing, but you must protect yourself, too. We inculcate in the soldier the doctrine, 'Respect thy neighbor as thyself.' You men in civilian life are with me and a part of me. You have put relatives on the altar of sacrifice and you must not desert them. And if you criminally fail in health, you do desert them. Venereal diseases must be stamped out."

It is with pride that airscouts refer to the fact that, up to August 1, no sol-dier-student of the school was reported as afflicted with any such disease.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.,

Boxing Bouts Chief Attraction at Military Field Day for Soldiers Given by Rochester Lodge of Moose

Moose Park, eat largely (gratis), drink pop immensely (free) and see five lively boxing matches (no admission), they can scarcely be expected to agree with General Sherman. If the general had been there Saturday afternoon and evening he would have told the world:

"I was a piker when I went through Georgia. All I left was food for the birds, but these here soldiers didn't even ovrelook the birds." Civilians remarked on it in about the same words, considering the most extraordinary thing to be the way in which a soldier could eat so much food and at the same time be everywhere but at the mess table.

No Main Go Hree.

Naturally, interest among the khakiclad guests of the Loyal Order of Moose turned to the sparring exhibi-tions. They were staged on a regulation ring platform, set under the trees near the bay. For once, there was no "main go," the soldier being left to yell his head off for anybody he saw with gloves on, without danger of displaying poor judgment. The Herald takes a chance and picks the bout between Kid Kravetz and Frankie May, in which the Kid made Frankie realize his mistake in coming to Glen Haven by stopping him in the second round of a scheduled four-round go.

Kravetz is vitually an unknown, so far as Rochester's gone-but-not-forgotten ring history is concerned, but he made such a showing that other promoters besides the famous Mike Donovan, who was master of ceremonies, might clock the Kid in his paces It was his succession of stiff rights and lefts to the head that encouraged May to call it a day in the middle of the second.

see the last bout go on." An extraordinary affair was the go between two gentlmen of color with championship surnames-Lewis Johnson of Mumford and Isaac Johnson of the United States. Lewis had a kick in his right that would not have menaced seriously the health of a quito, but he caressed Isaac sufficiently to take the Glen Haven colored title. Once Isaac Johnson became enraged and slapped Lewis quite hard with the palm of his glove.

Demon Motorman Again.

Billy Clark, the Demon Motorman, came into his own at the expense of Kid Casey, for he fought the Kid to a draw, somewhat to his own astonish-Billy's wind isn't what it was, and he cheered the sound of the gong after four innings.

Red Guyney got the verdict in the fourth round of his battle with Jimmie when Referee Daley shooed them to their corners. Daley is a private at the United States Army School of Aerial Photography here. In New York he was known to ring fans as Young Daley.

MARTIN SCHAFFER.

"My ambilion is to be the photographer who shall photograph the Kaiser when he is captured," says Martin Schaffer, known from coast to coast as a motion picture photographer and equally well known in army camps as the "king of the K. Schaffer recently was bidding goodbye to his Rochester friends, selling his motor car, wiping off the lens of his camera and doing other little things in preparation for an early start for the Kaiser's address.

Although Private Schaffer claims Detroit as his home, Rochester is his first choice as a city in which to live. and he has scores of friends here. For several years he was head photogra-pher for the Lubin and Pathe motion picture companies, for the latter of which he toured from coast to coast in a motor dark room taking news photographs. Boys, let us not give our minds over entirely to thinking of the attitude of the civilians take toward the soldiers, or the attitude they should Instead, let us be a little more careful of the attitude we take toward the civilians. Let us not forget that the home line of defense must be held, as well as the front line in the field. And with that in mind, let us feel that others sacrifice, although they are not labeled with the khaki and the blue.

Three rousing cheers for the civilians, boys!

That was a happy thought that occurred to the airscout who wrote the "Remember When" series for The Snapshot last week. This week we are glad to publish the second chapter. There should be material for many more of them, and the "Out of Focus" column should contain other chapters reflecting back o'er the early days of the S. A. P.

More news from company correspondents is needed. Several of them FAMOUS FIRST have not responded this week. The spondents is needed. Several of them Famous First and Furious Fourth are the only companies represented in this issue, due to carelessness or forgetfulness on the part of correspondents. The Band, as usual, has a good string of items, but where is Baker Field? It's been a long time since the B. F. boys were not included among The Snapshot news. The Instructors have not been represented in some weeks, and as we stagger to press we wonder if interest in The Snapshot is waning.

Remember the two news receiving depots: At the Postoffice and the "Y"-K. C. Hut. Drop an item in the box for next week and put The Snapshot over the top!

Evidently He Comes from a Military Family

Mencher, our fifer, probably has more relatives in the army than any other man at the S. A. P. He has an uncle, Major General C. T. Henoher of the Rainbow Division in France, and four cousins, who are commissioned officers, a colonel, two captains and one first lieutenant.

He also has two cousins who are privates, one in the Medical Corps and one in the Aviation Section, and one cousin in the Navy. And he's here at the S. A. P., a mere buck private!

There are several hundred people who will remember with a thrill for a long time the opening performance of "Lilac Time" at the Temple Theater on Monday evening. There is one mother who will remember it all her life, and the six stalwart sons of that mother will find their collars too shug when they read the tribute they are monosciously won for "Mother" from a big audience of good people. Presentious books have been filled with far less interesting stories than the one which inscribed so dramatic a chapter that night in one woman's life.

And the "bully little Red Cross nurse" didn't forget. Arrived in New York, she wrote the anxious mother all she so longed to hear, and Mother Crider wrote right back: "Won't you come to our big, quiet farm and rest as long as you can?" And the little Red Cross nurse replied, "Thank you, and I will"—and she did.

To keep the home fires burning, Martha Crider, a sister of the "Soak 'Em Six," came to work in Rochester. A few days ago Mother Crider and the Red Cross nurse (17 pounds more of her than landed in New York City six weeks before) ran up from New-ark to pass the week-end with Martha. who will remember with a thrill for a long time the opening performance of "Lilac Time" at the Temple Theaof "Lilac Time" at the Temple Theater on Monday evening. There is one mother who will remember it all her life, and the six stalwart sons of that mother will find their collars too snug when they read the tribute they unconsciously won for "Mother" from a big audience of good people. Pretentious books have been filled with far less interesting stories than the one which inscribed so dramatic a chapter that night in one woman's life.

This story began more than thirty This story began more than thirty years ago when Mrs. H. A. Crider of Newark, N. Y., began to inculcate in her boys the sterling Americanism that now makes her proud of her teaching. They were a healthy, boisterous, manly sextette, and when the big fight went on, every one of the six answered the call. Among the first to volunteer, five of the Crider boys are now in France—Harry S. in the artillery, Ward H. and Fred Earl in the infantry, Clarence V. in the aviation and Floyd M. with the engineers. With the connivance of the box office man, who gave them box seats, and a friendly conspiration with Cheer Leader Thomas R. Hill of the Aerial School "boys," Mother Crider was presented a glorious service flag with six stars—right out before folks.

She was too stunned by the waves of reverberating cheers and the unexpectedness of it all to move, so a kindly officer in the adjoining box pinned the flag to the drapery of the box directly behind her chair, where it hung until the play began again and the house was quiet. Then in the friendly darkness she rose and took it down, her hands moving over each it down, her hands moving over each star as caressingly as ever they smoothed towsled heads.—Contributed to The Airscout's Snapshot by Miss Constance Kenyon of the Vaughan

R—ehbaum. Information. Listen to TRIBUTE TO Y. M. C. A. BY GENERAL PERSHING

Lieutenant Colonel E. S. Wheeler, in a letter to General Pershing, said:

"There is no one factor contributing more to the morale of the American army in France than the Y. M. C. A. The value of this organization cannot be overestimated. When I come to the Y. M. C. A. huts and see our men night after night and one day after another in their spare moments enjoying the privileges created by a corps of self-sacrificing Red Triangle workers, I know that they are better men and better fighters for so doing. Give me nine hundred men who have a Y. M. C. A. rather than one thousand who have none, and I will have better fighters every time."

General Pershing directed that Colonel Wheeler's letter be sent to the Y. M. C. A. officials, and himself added this comment: "The conclusions and opinions of Lieutenant Colonel Wheeler are con-curred in by these headquarters."

But heroes bled for it,
Faced steel and lead for it, Precious blood shed for it, Bathing it red.

Here's to the White of it— Thrilled by the sight of it— Who knows the right of it But feel the might of it Through day and night? Womanhood's care for it Made manhood dare for it;

Purity's prayer for it Kept it so white.

DANCE FOR SOLDIERS AT SOCIAL ROOMS OF TEMPLE BERITH KODESH

A dance for soldiers and their wives and sweethearts has been arranged for next Thursday evening at the social rooms of Temple Berith Kodesh. Rabbi Horace J. Wolf recently returned from visiting military camps and stimulating Jewish welfare work among soldiers. He is an en-thusiastic Fosdick Commission man, hav-ing observed the work being done for the soldiers in a number of cities. All men in uniform will be welcomed free of charge. The use of the social rooms at the Temple has been offered by Rabbi Wolf to the War Camp Community Service for the social and recreational welfare of enlisted men. The soldiers who are on leave next Thursday evening will be entertained under the direction of the congregation. Young women of the Temple and other churches will be invited to attend. There will be the best of music, and refreshments

SAUSAGE ROAST ON RIVER BANK FOR SOLDIER BOYS

Something like three dozen soldierboys and girls, the khaki-clads from Baker Field, enjoyed a sausage roast on the bank of the Genesee River on Saturday evening, August 10. Mrs. Charles Frank and Mrs. William Nicholson were the hostesses and chaperones.

There was a big "feed," after which a brush pile was set afire and a good old bonfire party enjoyed. Games were played, songs sung and stories told. The grounds were tastefully decorated with Japanese lanterns.

AT BAKER FIELD IS DROWNED IN RIVER

Private Alfred Meng, a soldier sta-tioned at Baker Field, was drowned in the Genesce River just before noon Monday. Meng and another soldier, whose name was not learned, were in a canoe. Coroner Frederick R. Smith, who investigated, stated last night that the canoe was allowed to drift near to the point where the Barge Canal crosses the river, and that the strong current instantly overturned the

The coroner said after an investiga-tion that the manner in which Meng lost his life was purely accidental, and that an inquest would not be held. He will issue a certificate of accidenta.

Morgue Attendant Abraham went to the spot in Genesee Valley Park where the soldier disappeared, and recovered the body in a short time. Private Meng was not a Rochester man, it was said

Officers and men of the United States military forces are forbidden to correspond with strangers by order of General March, chief of staff. Efforts have been constantly made by strangers to find soldiers with whom they may correspond, and in most cases such correspondence has been innocent in character. The dangers of inadver-tently communicating important mili-tary information and of allowing open-ings for wholesale propaganda in the army by well organized groups of enemy sympathizers, are given as the cause of the order. Soldiers are for-bidden to correspond with persons with whom they are unacquainted in answer to advertisements or other in-vitations, or to insert such advertisevitations, or to insert such advertise-ments or letters in any publication.

That Uncle Sam is getting ready for the war in the skies at a terrific rate and that he will be prepared soon to begin operations on a scale hitherto unsuspected, is the cheering message which comes to Rochester in a letter to Manager John J. Farren of the Victoria Theater from his brother, Lieutenant Philip Harry Farren, now stationed at the Wright Aeroplane Manufacturing Company plant in Dayton, Ohio. Lieutenant Farren was stationed OPTOMETRISTS | first as a cadet at Princeton, N. J., and later was sent to the United States School of Aeronautics at Park Field, Memphis, Tenn.; thence to Camp Dick,

Memphis, Tenn.; thence to Camp Dick, Dallas, Texas; to Payne Field, West Point, Miss., and to Dayton.

In his letter to Manager Farren, the leutenant refers to aeroplanes as "ships." He says in part:

Have arrived in Dayton all O. K. and reported to my new job, which is at the Dayton Wright Aeroplane Company. There are four of us here now, and it looks as though we will be here for some time, as when we were ordered here we were to return to our proper station upon completion of our work. But that has been changed, and we are here indefinitely.

But that has been changed, and we are here indefinitely.

It is altogether different from our old job. We are living in town and report about 8 o'clock in the morning, and all we do is test ships. All the ships that are made here are tested before being sent across. Our commanding officer is a first lieutenant, but not a flier, and that is all our gang, so you see it is nothing like real army life after all, and we have a chance of a lifetime to learn about the manufacture of ships, as everything is made right before our eyes, and then we take them out and fly them. fly them.

Complete Even to Guns.

Complete Even to Guns.

Will have to learn all over again, as these ships frighten you when you see them first. One thinks he is at the front, as these are sent there from here and are all equipped when we get them, guns, bombs and everything used over there. Also using our new Liberty Motor, which is the first I saw of it, and it is the most powerful motor ever built. And say! I thought flying our Curtiss ships was fast at seventy miles an hour, but if you could double their speed you could not catch me in one of these. Just think of what that means—the fastest ship in the world! Figure it out and see how fast we travel. Had a ride yesterday in the observer's seat, as we have to get the "feel" of the ship before we can go up alone, and as there is no way of teaching us, as there are controls in one seat only. Was up to 10,200 feet and made it in less than ten minutes, and that is not half the height we could have made; but it is the height we are going to test them at.

Well, Jack, that is about all for the present, and you can feel we are making the fastest fighter and turning out more every day and soon will smother the Germans under. Don't worry about the U.S. not having any aeroplanes and good ones, and the Liberty Motor beats everything on earth, and I am not bragging.

COMPANY PRIDE, FUN AND "GRUB" STAND OUT AS FEATURES OF FIELD DAY GIVEN SOLDIERS BY KIWANIS

Lean, tanned, hard, and agile as monkeys, more than 600 soldiers quartered here, Saturday afternoon staged an exhibition at the University of Rochester Athletic Field of the manner in which they are trained to administer a proper licking to Emstage and the state of the soft drinks, to say nothing of immense states of chewing sum and candy. It manner in which they are trained to administer a proper licking to Em-peror Wilhelm's cutthroat army. Every hot, bottle of soft drinks, every stick of gum and every piece of candy was demolished with astounding ease—astounding to all except the officers present, who smile and said, "We told you so."

tine of company contests that forms the basis of camp athletic work everywhere in the country and in France.

Company pride—the spirit that makes the morale of America's army the highest of any in the war—stood out as the highlight of the entire field day. Individual honors and "playing for the grandstand" were no more to be thought of than the skinned noses and bruised shins acquired in their vigorous tussels.

It was difficult to see who was having the best time yesterday—the guests of the Kiwanis Club who fought and struggled for the supremacy of their units or those who saw them fight and struggle. Screams of feminine laughter and roars of masculine appreciation went up from the grandstand at every sally. Officers and members of the Kiwanis Club were everywhere, determined that the boys in khaki should lack nothing that made for an uproariously good time.

Ah! He Catches Moon Eyes!

Honorary chairman and guests at the field day were Mayor Hiram H. Edgerton, Major James Barnes, commandant of the United States Army School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park; William S. Riley, commissioner of parks, and his guest, H. W. Hart of Chicago. Lieutenant Robert A. Bernhard, formerly superintendent of play-grounds and recreation, who is now in the flying service, arrived in time to take part in a race for officers.

In charge of the entire field was General Chairman James J. Carmichael, president of the Kiwanis Club. Herman J. Norton, who recently succeeded Lieutenant Bernhard, was in charge of the field events. Under his direction the contests were run off with a snap that was one of the most pleasing phases of the outing. There were no waits between events. On the completion of each the musicians played "Assembly," and the men lined up for the next contest. the next contest.

PRESENT COLORS TO AIRSCOUTS AT BIG EXPOSITION

The Rochester Chamber of Commerce will have a conspicuous part in the Rochester Industrial Exposition, which will be held from September 2 until 7. The Chamber's part is the presentation of the colors to the United States Army School of Aerial Photography, stationed in this city at Kodak Park and Genesee Valley Park.

That flag presentation had been planned for a long time by the military affairs committee of the Chamber, Alvin H. Dewey, chairman, with the consent of the officers of the Chamber and the hearty approval of Captain Charles F. Betz, former commandant, and Major James Barnes, his successor. When the desire of the Mayor, Secretary Edgar F. Edwards and the management of the Rochester Industrial Exposition to make the Exposition as strong in military features as possible became known, Chairman Dewey found heartiest approval of his suggestion that the presentation of the colors be

"Corking Good Time" for Soldier Boys at Mechanics Institute

"Mmm, some class, b'lieve muh," and the stalwart soldier took a Goliath-sized bite from a big apple. On all sides of him were khaki-clad comrades, all attacking the fruit with eager relish.

That was only one kind of fun at the vaudeville night for soldiers in the industrial arts training course a Mechanics Institute one night. Aes thetic dancing by young women, vocal solo, and both singing and monologue numbers in Scottish dialect all served numbers in Scottish dialect all served to give some 250 men a good time.

And it was a good time in the most real sense of the word. At various climaxes of the programme the good time grew to hilarious proportions, and singing and whistling broke out, intermingled with "Oh, boy!" "Kith muh quick, Samantha!" and similar ejaculations expressive of high good humor.

Angelo Newman, round and happy, was on hand with his smiling visage and warm handshake, helping everyone to forget homesickness and that the "best girl" was in another town. The programme was in charge of Harry King.

So Say We All. Although only 17, he had come to "join up" and was in the recruiting office answering the sergeant's ques-

"Look here, my man," said the sergeant, "are you willing to die for your country?"

"No, sir," he replied, "I'm joining up to make a German die for his.

Over the high, concrete-topped wall of wanted to, they did, and it took fifteen over the high, concrete-topped wall of the grandstand they swarmed, amid the hysterical screams of gaily clad girls, and not a woman escaped. Every one was accosted, and not a one could deny that she was Moon Eyes, because only George C. Donahue, chairman of the starting point.

Winners of Events.

Handsome red, white and blue ban-publicity, knew the answer.

Finally a brown faced little chap Finally a brown faced little chap touched a pretty girl in a pretty pink and white sweater and white dress, and the charm was broken. She was Lucille McQuone of 310 Plymouth Avenue. Private A. J. Ritz of Kodak Park, who captured her, decided not to relinguish the honor of escorting her immediately, so on his arm she promenaded down on the field, where the couple was surrounded by crowds the couple was surrounded by crowds of whooping soldiers, and their picture was snapped. Then Private Ritz eswas snapped. Then Private Ritz escorted her back to the grandstand while the Park Band played "Here Comes the Bride." He seated her with a flourish, whereupon the band struck up "K-K-K-Katie." His good luck brought Private Ritz a pair of military amber glasses, donated by the Clinton Optical Company.

Real Excitement Here.

It is safe to say that the tug of war, run off in three heats, was the popular event with the soldiers; but the specevent with the soldiers; but the spectators unquestionably found the most enjoyment in the shoe race. If any public spirited citizen or citizeness finds a pair of military shoes under his or her front porch to-day, it will be because a husky, khaki-clad arm threw them there from the athletic field. From the huge pile where the shoes were placed they salled in all directions. If a soldier couldn't find his own shoes, he grabbed somebody's else and "heaved 'em a mile." Some sailed over the fence and a number of sailed over the fence and a number of pairs went into the grandstand.

For real excitement the tugs of war and the obstacle race took the palm. Yells that would have put the aboriginal war whoops to shame cleft the air around Main Street East and Cul-

A NEW FEATURE!

Who's who in the S. A. P.? Who "makes" the school, the officers or the men?

We believe the latter.

In other words, it's the Buck Private that does the real work. It's the Buck Private who keeps the wheels of the S. A. P. going 'round, and but for him the officers would count lit-

This week The Snapshot starts a new feature to be known as the Airscout's Who's Who column. Therein from week to week will be printed portraits and stories concerning Buck Privates, who have seen and done things, who have traveled far or who have built up names for themselves in civil life, only to lay all things aside and "Buck Private" their way into Uncle Sam's service.

Who's Who will not be a column for personal or other press agents. The man who runs to the editor with his picture and story about himself hours of the Q. M. Storage Room. Somebody please advise, so we can will not find his name in The Airscout's Who's Who. Rather, we want to hear of the diffident man, the man who does much and says little. He is the man who has an interesting story, and it is for other Airscouts to ferret him out and report him to The Snapshot. We'll take care of the rest.

As has been mentioned, officers need not apply for recognition in the Who's Who. If we find sufficient of them to warrant it, we'll start a "Why's Why?" column later. But just at present, let's hear from the Buck Privates and "Acting Colonels"!

Chapter 111 of "Remember When" appears in this issue of The Snapshot. If anything, it's just a little better than Chapters 1 or 11. We hope to have another chapter of S. A. P. reminiscenses soon.

How many Airscouts have been married since coming to the S. A. P.? Already we've printed pictures of a couple happy couples, and there's room for more in other issues. If a sufficient number is submitted, we'll print an Airscout's Newlywed Column each week. Let's hear from some of the bashful ones now!

Airscouts about to leave the S. A. P. may have The Snapshot forwarded to them by leaving the postage at the "Y"-K. C. Hut. A dime left behind will persuade The Snapshot to follow you for ten weeks.

GOLD BRICKS

Riddle-When do you address a lieutenant as "Doc"?

Ask Ball. He knows the answer. We'd like to know the working (?) answer inquiries intelligently.

"What goes up must come down" is an old saw, but still true. Witness Sherman and Radtke wrestling with the Paco Print Dryer which they had the misfortune to set up originally.

They say we used to "gold brick" to mess, but we claim the roads are unsafe. The boys who smashed up that flivver last week can testify to

AS TO ACTING NON-COMS.

An acting non-com is more to be pitied than blamed. If he doesn't get things done, his officers give him h-1. And if he does get them done, the men who have to do them hate him in measures accordingly.

The sure-enough non-coms can't associate with him, because he is only a camouflaged private, and he must be very careful in order to avoid making enemies of the privates who are his friends. He is in much the same position as the crow who tried to pose

All men who feel they are rising rapidly in this army should keep their eyes on Instructor Ames. When he first joined up, he was made acting corporal. That imendiately upon reaching Madison Barreks.

Coming to Rochester, he was made acting musician, beating the drum, although we wonder whether he didn't volunteer in order to beat K. P. and other fatigue. However, be that as it may, Ames had a lip that was shaped correctly for drumming-ask the girls. He soon rose to those dizzy heights traveled by instructors and at first had a hard time letting go the drum, but by persistent effort, finally made it. And now he has risen again. Dame Rumor has it that, while at Baker Field, he flew (this time literally) rising about 1 kilometer. (They won't speak of it in god old U. S. A. terms and call it 3,000 feet in the Formula Department) which is some rising, we

Private Earl G. Carr, one of the "first to come" boys at the S. A. P., was in town last week, visiting associates at the school. He was en route to Madison Barracks from Scott Field, Bellville, Ill. Carr came to the S. A. P. on March 8 and was a member of the original First Company. He is a lyric tenor, and while here entertained both the Ad Club and Dental Society with various selections. His home is in Michigan City.

At the Moose picnic Sergt. Mellman represented the school pretty well. He also won both dashes at the Printers' Union picnic. And at the Kiwanis Club doings last Saturday-OH, BOY!

KLUTE CLUB ENTERTAINS SOLDIERS AT LAKESIDE

Various clubs and organizations of Rochester have performed wonders in Field, but three or four weeks on that the way of providing entertainment for new drum of his will (we hope) put the airscouts, and most of those clubs have received liberal praise for their patriotic efforts. There is one organization, however, which is little heard of, but which is second to none in its efforts to make the stay of the aerial photographers in Rochester pleasant.

This is the Klute Club. It is a small organization, composed of prominent young Rochester business men. Its name is derived from an ancient term. meaning "good fellowship" and the club certainly lives up to its name.

Its little clubhouse stands down on the shore of Lake Ontario, and every weekend a number of airscouts are invited there. In proof of the royal manner in which they are entertained, one need only question some of the men who have been the club's guests.

No Advance Demanded.

A rookie approached the guard one night and was halted in the customary manner.

"Halt, who's there?" sharply shouted the guard.

"A friend," answered the rookie.
"Advance, friend, and be recognized," commanded the guard.

"No use to advance; you wouldn't know me anyway, I just got here to-day," answered the rookie.

MESSAGE OF MYSTERY FROM FIFTH COMPANY

S-s-sh! Did you hear about the absorbing mystery that is worrying our company leaders? During one of our many trips along the guard duty route a short time ago a heavy shower broke over the locality and one of the guard porrowed an umbrella from a neighboring house and forgot to return it.

We would excuse his forgetfulness, but—and here's the absorbing part of the mystery. What soldier had nerve enough to do guard duty with an umbrella? The "top" is promising dire things for the culprit if he is caught.

Speaking of lengthy names, we lay claim to the champion jaw-breaker of the school. Can you beat this? Nick Panaguotopulous.

Guards on Post 5 are setting the clock nights according to the appearance of Grossman's shining countenance, coming up the stairs. He rarely ever misses showing up one minute to eleven, and that brings up the question-"Who is she?"

Talk about heart breakers. anybody ever notice our invincible trio from the Sunny South: Dixon, Penny and Brady, as they make their through the admiring throng along the beach at Charlotte? They sure do get more than their share of languishing glances.

Another mystery: Who gave one of the members of the Noisy Eighth the price of a haircut?

One of our group of "gold bricks" is the proud possessor of some brand of new artillery. You should see him 'knocking 'em cold" along Lake Avenue during the day.

Myers has taken to dieting to reduce his weight. Somebody nearly precipitated a riot the other night by suggesting that he try rolling four times around the parade grounds every night.

Erickson's manly notice Didst form as he gently steers her, through the traffic at the Four Corners Saturday night? Sir Walter never had a thing on that boy Erickson!

We cant' keep Goldstein from getting his name in some paper, so we mention him here. Ask him how he got even with Sergeant Phyfe last week. Judging from the extent of his correspondence, Calder must have about half of the girls between here and Watertown on his staff.

Arline walks backwards so much on his way to mess that he has become afflicted with hallucinations. He is in constant fear that he will run into himself coming back.

Some little blond told Abe the other night that he was cute, and he has been so worried about it since that his appetite is falling off:

PERSHING SENDS WORD OF PRAISE OF WORK DONE BY KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, last Monday received the following cablegram from General Pershing:

461 4th Avenue, New York City.
I wish on behalf of the troops under my command to thank your organiza-tion, not only for its generous and in-spiring message but for the substan-tial service it is rendering for the army in France.

PERSHING.
The cablegram, which is highly pleasing to the Knights of Columbus, is a reply to one sent General Pershing on August 6, when the Knights opened their Victory Convention in the Waldorf-Astoria. That message conveyed the good wishes of the organization and the assurance that every member of the order, some 420,-000, were behind the American forces to a man, and were pledged without qualification to back the American forces to the limit, both as an organization and as individuals.

The cablegram is, in a measure, but s reiteration of the expression of confidence and admiration voiced by the general to K. of C. representatives personally at Chateau-Thierry re-

Military Ceremony and Photographic Speed in Expo's Evening Features

Rochester paid its tribute to the sol- with the admonition that they be diers of the United States Army School of Aerial Photography at Exposition Park last evening, when the Chamber of Commerce presented the school battalion a stand of National Colors. The ceremony accompanying the presentation was impressive and in-spiring and the demonstration of field work in photography that followed was remarkable.

The colors were presented by President Granger A. Hollister of the Cham-ber of Commerce and were accepted by Major James Barnes, commandant of the school. Mayor Hiram H. Edgerton introduced President Hollister in the presence of President William W. Hibbard of the Exposition and Chairman Alvin H. Dewey of the Chamber's committee on military af-

Before the officials took their positions before the grandstand at Exposition Park the battalion of soldiers had marched from Gibbs Street to the park and into the Horse Show ring headed by the Rochester Park Band. The battalion was drawn up at attention, and the color guard left the ranks to form a hollow square for the recep-tion of the colors.

Mayor Edgerton expressed in a few words the cordial relations that exist between Rochester and the men of the photography school, and Mr. Hollister turned over the colors to Major Barnes

Not that I want to fun your paper or tell you how to run it, but, why in H— don't you see that each field that has graduates of the SCHOOL receive a copy regularly of the Snapshot? It would be a God-send down here where the papers print the Honor Roll and neglect to include the name of any one NORTH of the M&D.

I gladly give you my permission to print this if you care so to defile the otherwise impeccable appearance of the sheets.

The entire gang (24) join me in wishing you a little tough luck, such as losing about 400 lbs from about the belt.

Now don't rush the game but take it easy and probably by the time there is another issue going to press we can have thought of something real funny that will show that we are not entirely 'Out of Focus.'

PRIVATE ALFRED MENG, son of Mrs. Anna Meng of 491 Church Street, New Britain, Conn.

New Britain, Aug. 21.—The funeral of Private Alfred Meng, only son of Mrs. Anna Meng of 491 Church Street, this city, who was drowned in the Genesee River near Rochester, N. Y., on Monday evening, was held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the People's Church, Rev. M. Steinhoff, pastor of the church, officiating. Many sorrowing friends and relatives were present to pay their tributes of respect to the young private, as well as to his bereaved mother, whose husband passed away only a few months before.

The remains were accompanied to this city by Private Glen W. Jones, son of Mrs. A. L. Jones of 70 Lenox Place, arriving here last night at midnight. Private Meng was a member of the photographic section of the areo service. Previous to his enlistment he was employed as a draughtsman by the Berlin Construction Co.

Burial took place in the family plot in Fairview Cemetery. Private Jones was included among the pallbearers.

Too Darn Helpless.

The commanding officer was impressed with the appearance of a new recruit, who stood about six feet four in his stockings, and had him de-tailed as one of his orderlies. The recruit had had little training in military. The first day of his assignment he was called hundreds of times to deliver messages and orders, and the last time the general called him the recruit said: "Now what do you want? You need more waiting on than any man in camp." On account of his inexperience he got off with a reprimand, but was given some intensive training in mili-

ELROY H. MILLER.

Announcement is made of the ap-Miller, a well known Rochester young man, as assistant secretary for the Knights of Columbus at the Y. M. C. A.-K. of C. Recreation Hut at the United States Army School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park.

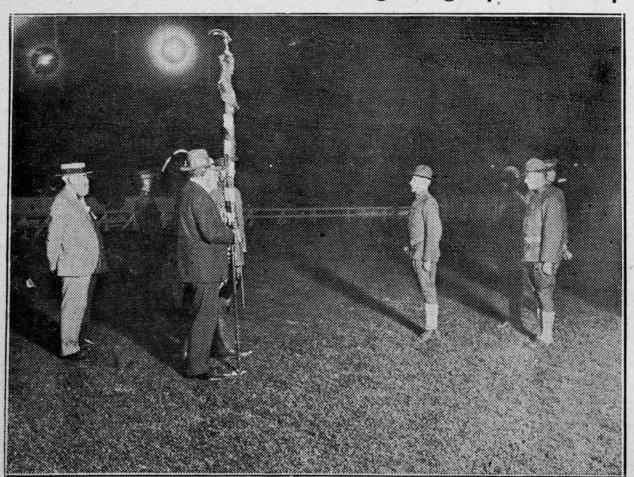

Angelo Newman has been K. of C. secretary at the hut since its establishment; but his many duties rapidly have assumed proportions necessitating an assistant. The secretaries at the hut also have supervision of social and recreation activities at the Mechanics Institute Draft Detachment Barracks, the Motor Truck Convoy Depot at Exposition park (now temporarily housed in Convention Hall) and Baker Aviation Field in Genesee Valley Park.

Mr. Miller is well equipped for the position, having been active in athletics and theatricals for some time. He is a prominent member of the Clute Club at Summerville, Kodak Park Athletic Association and Rochester Council 178, Knights of Columbus. He is a successful professional entertainer and has given freely of his talent to amuse the men in service at nearby cantonments.

Let's Watch Our Step!

Say, fellows, can't you watch your step on the girl question a bit better? Then you won't lay yourselves liable to insult from civilians and others not so

We're all in this big war for the same purpose, and if any of Rochester's "preservers of order" think they can help more to win the war by insulting you and your lady friends, then just grin and whisper to yourself: 'Well, I'm taking it whence it comes.' Show them that you are more of a gentleman than they, for gentlemanliness is one of the prime attributes of a good soldier.

Recently of a night, about time for taps, two airscouts and their ladies were accosted by a bluecoat. During the wrangle that ensued, the copper made the remark that "no respectable girl would be seen walking with a sol-dier after 11 o'clock at night," or words to that effect.

It's a 20 to 1 shot that the aforementioned officer never raised any boys so they could be soldiers, or if he did, then he got them nice, patriotic jobs in some arsenal or doing some other munitions work. However, as we said before, whence came the remark. By making that remark, he was simply forgetting that he was calling his own flesh and blood and his own dear friends who are more patriotic than he, unworthy or unclean.

As above, let's grin and bear it, but let's be enough more careful in the fu-ture, so that none will have the least foundation for such a "most unkindest cut." I would fight like hell if anyone said I wasn't respectable. Wouldn't

Major Barnes Takes Airscouts On Trip Through Darkest Africa and Tells Them of Big Hunting Journey

Written for The Snapshot by L. M. K. | as interesting as the show itself, es-

It is very seldom that a cinema exhibition is as absorbingly interesting both to the general public and to scientists at the same time, as was Major Barnes' pictures describing his experiences through Central Africa, part of which had never seen a white man or cinema before. A large portion of the exhibition showed many types of local animals in their natural haunts, obtained with the aid of camouflage. This was successfully accomplished by constructing a little bit of "nature" near an oasis, setting up the automatic cameras, which were run by com-pressed air, and releasing them when the innocent victims came to partake of their periodic water supply. It's very simple. Now that we know how to do it, photographic excursions to wild and woolly Africa ought to become very popular after the war.

The show did not lack in thrills, for one portion, a rather close-up scrimmage, football fashion, with a lion, in which the beast would carry several of his opponents over the line at one charge. When the animal was finally speared, a humorous touch was added to the picture by the number of "gold bricks" who flocked in to share the honors.

Those who were not acquainted with the mannerisms of ants were treated to an exhibition of organization and discipline among the lower animals that was startling. Soldiers unacquainted with the I. P. R. could pick up a few pointers.

The stories that Major Barnes gave as accompaniment to the pictures were ber 12.

pecially the one about the huge ele-phant which he listed among the casualties in the cannibal country. One of the beast's tusks, we understand, was nine feet seven inches long-quite a contribution to the world's supply of ivory. "But," Sergeant S., Formula Department, would say, "why go to Africa for ivory?"

It was interesting to note the dif-ference in the various types of natives, ranging from the most primitive cannibals, who performed some sort of a St. Vitus dance, much to the amusement of the audience, to the Africans on the west coast in the slave trade ports, who began to show signs of civilization. The devastation of many native colonies caused by the disease called "sleeping sickness," which has been raging through Central Africa since Stanley explored it in 1890, impressed one with the fact that there was a good deal of work to be done on this old earth yet.

What opened a good many eyes was the stereoscopic effect on the screen of the shores of the Congo River, which effect was due to the motion of the boat moving down stream. The psychological effect of seeing the landscape on shore in relief transported the audience into Africa itself. The pictures were very unusual, to say the least, and those who did not see them missed a real treat, and will go out of their way if the opportunity of seeing them is ever presented again.

Major Barnes will repeat his lecture for the benefit of the Red Star Society in the Genesee Valley Club on Septem-

THREE CHEERS FOR THEATER PARTY AND EVENING LUNCHEON

"Three cheers for the Shriners and Neil O'Brien's minstrels," declared Robert J. Graham of the marines from the stage at the matinee performance of the show Saturday, and the 600 soldier guests of the Shriners responded with shouts that shook the house. The approval of the men who attended the entertainment was shown quickly in the applause. En-cores were freely given by the performers who appeared exceptionally anxious to satisfy the Buddies.

The theater party wasn't all that the Shriners had prepared for the soldier boys, for at the end of the performance all the men were taken to Damascus Temple, where a mess that beat anything the kitchen police could approach was served. Every Shriner was a host, and the boys were loud in their praise of the type of affair that had been arranged. There wasn't a man at the show without a seat

"You tell everybody that a show once in a while with a feed to top it off is the best thing they can give us," declared one of the Kodak Park boys as he beamed his approval of the theater party and the extra lunch he was carefully absorbing. "It was great, and the day was made to order for that kind of fun."

Ernest C. Pierrepont was chairman of the committee that took care of the day's events, and associated with him were. Dr. Frederick R. Smith, Her-man Dossenbach, A. H. Neisner, W. Dewey Crittenden, John R. Taylor, Simon N. Stein and Edward C. Way.

HOME TALENT ENTERTAINS AIR SCOUTS AT KODAK PARK

Airscouts or the U.S. A. School of Aerial Photography furnished their own entertainment last Monday . evening to the men of the school. A Jazz orchestra, composed of Bob Meier, plane, Joe Barrett and W. H. Price, violinists, H. Reibe, cornet, W. R. Young, flute, H. F. McFerson, drums, and A. N. Patterson, trombone, gave several numbers during the evening. R. F. Klucken gave a song and dance. Mr. Klucken is of the former well known vaudeville team, Klucken and Klein. Frank Shelby of the Five Shelbys, also of vaudeville fame, gave an acrobatic act. This was followed by a piano duet by Private and Mrs. Randall. Instructor Earl House, a former member of the Washington Square players and recently seen with Vaughan Glaser, read some Kipling selections.

Pete Bowman, who comes from a long line of variety performers, gave a sketch called "A Colored Recruit," and Miss Margaret Heveron, soprano, and Miss Blanche Drury sang a group of songs, assisted by Harry Sullivan, pianist. Much special talent was unearthed among the Airscouts.

This column is devoted to buck privates and "acting colonels" only. Officers are referred to the "Why's Why?" Column.

HAROLD L. HOOPER, instructor in the washing and drying department, has been in the service eight months. He came to the S. A. P. on March 1, having previously been stationed at Fort Slocum and Cornell University.

Hooper was a professional photographer for eight years prior to enter-ing service. That is, he was a photographer in summer, and in the winter he followed the trail—or made new ones—through the Maine woods.

Hooper's home is in Ellsworth, Me., where he left a wife and two young sters to join the service. He is of direct Indian descent, a high school graduate, and for three years studied law in the office of Attorney G. B. Stuart at Ellsworth. He left the law study to take up photography.

Every winter Hooper closed up his photographic shop, hitched up his quartette of huskies and "beat it" for the woods. He is an expert shot with either rifle or revolver and an experienced woodsman. He operated a 16mile circuit of traps each winter, setting for muskrat or bear and all the fur-bearing animals included in that In addition, he acted as surveyor of hard timber while in the

But what are we going to do with it? First of all, we're going to ask Major Barnes to lock it in the S. A. P.'s safest safe and put an added guard on the barracks office. Then we're going to ask the Airscouts what THEY want done with it. Until September 15 at the head of Egypt Stream and from there started on his 16-mile circuit of traps early every Monday morning. Half way 'round the circuit he had erected an "over night" camp, where the end of the first day's trapping found him. The next morning he would start on the second half of the circuit, planning to arrive at his sporting camp that evening, laden with skins and furs of various descriptions.

Accompanied only by his faithful huskies, Hooper led an interesting, yet far from lonely, life in the Maine woods each winter. Two years ago this winter he entered the woods on October 6 and did not return to his camp until March 17. During that time he penetrated 45 miles into the woods and did not see another human

When in school, Hooper was well known as a football player, taking the positions of guard or fullback. He played on the Ellsworth town team as fullback for two years, and in 1912 played seventeen games, winning sixteen and tying the other. In his hunting he uses a .303 Savage rifle or .38 or .40 Army Special Colt.

Hooper has had quite an experience in photographing wild New England birds and animals in their native haunts. He has a collection of 1,000 prints from 4 by 5 and 5 by 7 plates.

At one time Hooper made a trip in a canoe, equipped with sail, from Ellsworth, Maine, to Outer Lunts, Long Island, Maine, some forty odd miles on salt water. The canoe was but seven-teen feet long, weighed but 110 pounds, so one man could carry it on his back at portages when traveling on rivers, etc. The canoe was built by Hooper.

Illustrative of evening in the Maine woods, Hooper has written the following poem for The Snapshot:

EVENING

As the golden sun sinks down to rest at the close of summer's day And the twilight comes a-stealing o'er

Gone are the sounds that the noon-time sun in the glare of day gave birth And a light that's soft and mellow now floods the quiet earth, And the shifting shadows blending make a play of light and shade To paint a picture far more true than any artist made.

A feathery breeze comes wafting down from the distant mountain's crest, Bearing alon—the lone loon's call from the silent river's breast, Where the pool makes in at the neck of woods by the side of the sunken ledge,

And the night is still and dark and weird by the placid water's edge.

Or the sough of the pines by the mouth of the creek at the edge of the lonely moor,

Where the bittern sits on her lonely nest in the rushes tall and rank,

And the drooping alders touch the stream at the edge of either bank.

There's a ghostly shape and a dark-ened blur against the fading light As the blg horned owl wheels far away into the velvet night, With not a sound of his gliding wing.

and you strain your eye to see,
As he leaves his perch from the tiptop branch of a nearby dry kie tree.

Just a swiftly fleeting shadow and he's lost from out your view
In the misty haze of the quarter moon that rides in Heaven's blue.
And the bat swoops down to the purpling shade that lies at the forest's edge, And the fireflies' glint like a will-owisp goes flitting through the hedge.

From leafy aisles on the wooded hill, where gold green shadows play,
Comes the liquid notes of the whippoor-will as he sings his plaintive lay,
While he swings and dips on the wild rose branch that's kissed by evening's dew, 'Neath the towering pines that touch the clouds at the edge of the dusky blue.

A French Date!

I have a date that I must keep In far off France across the deep, When the last snow of winter's fell And birds fly north again this year I have my date with some hun shell.

I shall be there that fatal day So help me God I'll lead the way When apple blossoms fill the air, And mother earth her beauty lends I have my date and will be there.

I will be there to meet you-steel And with my blood, I shall help seal The freedom of the world; in spring When all is fresh and nature smiles Oh death! Oh, death! Where is thy sting

"Great Red Dawn."

Parody on "When the Great Red Dawn is Shining." Composed by Francis X. Murphy, of Elizabeth, N J., now a guest in Rochester.

"When the stars and stripes are flying. O'er the palace on the Rhine, When the badge of freedom's waving Aloft from her sacred shrine: Then we'll come to the land of sunshine

To the land that gave us birth. Where the stars and stripes are flying O'er the best little town on earth. . . .

Kamerad!

Tremble, mighty race of Huns; Tremble, all yet Teuton sons; Tremble and think not to flee From an angry fate's decree. Right is right and strength is strength; Wrong shall meet defeat at length. By that idol ye have made, By him have ye been betrayed. Cry, then, to your Hunnish god; Cry for mercy, "Kamerad!"

Tremble! Aye, the victors come. Hear the nations' throbbing drum; Hear their just and holy wrath Thunder o'er your bloody path. Fear, then, for your Kultur creed; Shudder for each bloody deed. Cry, O cry, thou Hunnish clod; Beg for mercy, "Kamerad!"

Tremble; for your judges just View your bloody deeds of lust-Wounds of Belgium, tears of France, Victims of your evil lance. Outraged world, no longer dumb. Rise! Yea, rise! The victors come. Pray, then Prussians, Turks and Huns, Pray, then Kultur's braggart sons. Pray, then to your Hunnish god; Pray for mercy; "Kamerad!" T. M. G. O. S.

The above poem appeared in the first issue of the "Pauillac Gironde Pilot" a paper published at Pauillac, France, OPTOMETRISTS, by the men of the U. S. N. A. S.

In the Good Old U. S. A.

No more ham and eggs or grapefruit, When the bugle blows for chow; No more apple pie or dumplings, For we're in the army now.

No more fizzes, beers or highballs, When you have an awful thirst; If you are thinking of enlisting, Learn to use the water first.

No more shirts, silk or linens, And the drilling makes us warm; And you can't cool off with liquor, Because you're in the uniform.

Nor more shirts, silk or linens, We all wear the O. D. stuff; No more nightshirts or pajamas, For our pants are good enough.

No more feather ticks or pillows. But we're glad to thank the Lord That we have a cot and blankets When we might just have a board.

They feed us beans for breakfast. And at noon we get them too; But at night they fill our tummies, With a good old army stew.

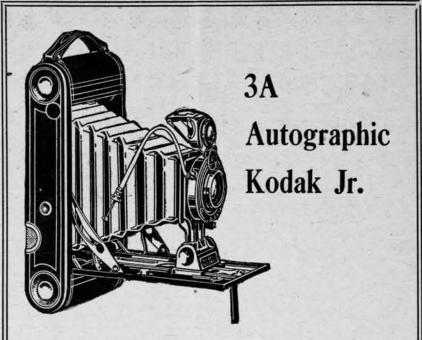

It's cook police Monday morning, Guard duty all next day; There is always something doing, In the good old U. S. A.

But b'gosh we'll lick the kaiser, When our captains teach us how; For we all know it's his fault, That we're in the army now.

And when the war is over, And we get our final pay; We will come across the waters, To the good old U. S. A.

"Entrance Examination to the Highest Branches of Photographic Service."

The following questions were given to the more advanced men in the Photographic Service and, after wading through them for some time, they put the matter up to the consulting chemist. of the S. A. P., who, after an hour's attempt at elucidation, left us as much in the air as before the excitement began.

Look over these questions and if your answers do not agree with those appended, we will appreciate your contribution:

Question 1—Name the four sub-stances usually present in an expert developer.

Answer-Ivory, vacuum, hot air, bromo seltzer. Question 2—Describe the appearance of an unexposed plate.

Answer—Black, if you can see it. Question 3—What does the alkali do the reducer where the exposed grains of silver bromide are devel-

Answer-Hangs around in a dazed

Question 4-When does an excess of bromide in a developer produce positive images?

Answer-When there is an absence of negatives.

Question 5-Could an ordinary orthochromatic and a panchromatic plate be developed together in the same tray? How?

Answer-Yes, if you drop them in gently, side by side.

Question 6—Why is dichroic fog more pronounced on negatives made through deep yellow filters?

"Don't Mourn," Just "Keep the Show Going," Writes Flyer to Dad

The following is an extract from a letter to Bert Levy from his son, Alwayn Gordon Levy, who died in London on April 25, 1918, while in the service of the British Royal Flying Corps. It was written four days before his death, and should prove an inspiration to the home folks and to all soldiers, those in the flying service

"I am training on the fast scout ma-chines which are to give us superiority in the air. It is risky work; lots of my brother fliers have crossed the 'Great Divide' in attempting to master it, and now, dad, if the news ever reaches you, which sooner or later reaches many fliers' parents, don't

'We Royal Flying Corps men don't think of death. The only thing we think of is the effect our passing may have on our dear ones. So if I go the usual way, don't let mumsey cry and wear black. In the vernacular of your profession—'Keep the show going.' Don't let there by any waits. Smileand carry on, for I will be standing right by watching you both, though I will not be visible.

"If you don't smile, I might feel just like David Warfield in 'Peter Grim,' struggling to ask you to do so, but unable to put my message over."

Soldier Travels from Kodak Park to Albany on Four Cents; Plumber Holds Usual Position of Power

One of the soldiers at Kodak Park, tary are curious. A few nights ago he hose home is in Albany, recently worked late at the hut and passed the rest of the night there on a cot in his whose home is in Albany, recently was seized with a desire to take a trip home. He succeeded in getting three days' leave, and four cents in his pocket, he started merrily forth. Here is how he completed the trip: First he went to Angelo Newman, one of the secretaries at the K. of C.- one of the secretaries at the K. of C.-Y. M. C. A. Hut at the school, and borrowed a cent. That gave him a working capital of a nickel which took him to the headquarters of the Automobile Club of Rochester. Then, with the connivance of Secretary George C. the connivance of Secretary George C. Donohue, he waited only a few minutes for a tourist to come in, who wanted to be routed through to Albany. No patriotic motorist could refuse a soldier's request for a lift, and so it came about that the soldier got a ride all the way home, a distance of more than 200 miles, for four cents. He says: "There ain't anything in this yelp the people are putting up about the high cost of transportation."

Motorists Can Help.

Many of the boys would like to go to Niagara Falls; but on $30 a month, with $15 deducted for allotment, $7 for insurance and another amount for Liberty Bonds, there isn't much left for traveling. With the immortal precedent of the man who lived in Albany in mind, many of the boys are starting for the resort on foot; but starting for the resort on foot; but Secretary Newman says motorists who need a little ballast for their cars when bound west, can get plenty at Kodak Park. Soldiers can't get the one cent a mile rate on the railroads unless they have a three days' pass.

Experiences of the K. of C. Secre-

office. He was awakened at 5 o'clock in the morning by a home-sick soldier, who crept in to play "The Baby's Prayer at Twilight" on the phonograph. Mr. Newman didn't make his presence known. At 6 o'clock the same morning a fatigue squad came in voluntarily to clean up the place. First, they deposited the Secretary, cot and all, in the outer lounging room (in itself no mean lift), then proceeded to give the entire place a thorough cleaning up.

In the squad was a famous organist from a great Chicago church, an actor office. He was awakened at 5 o'clock

In the squad was a ramous organise from a great Chicago church, an actor formerly with John Drew, a Spaniard, a Hawaiian, an Indian from Maine, and the son of a well known financier, all driven hard by a little Irish corporal, who was once the son of a plumber. And as they worked they sang, "You're in the Army Now."

First Aid Appreciated.

One night each week two women, who don't want their names mentioned, but who are going to have, just the same—Mrs. McMasters and Mrs. Nugent—go to the hut to sew on buttons for the boys. There's always plenty for them to do, too. Another woman who believes in doing patricts work quietly is Miss Adeline B. Zachert of the Rochester Public Library, who acts as caretaker of the books at the hut, and with her assistance, Mrs. Nugent, does a lot to get the books requested are of a very diverse character, as about one out of every two of the soldiers at the Park is a two of the soldiers at the Park is a

NEW MILITARY OVERCOAT DEVISED BY SOL NEVINS

Sol T. Nevins has devised a new military overcoat with a detachable fur collar and helmet, which is now being shown at the Nevins Shop at 1664 Lake Avenue and is attracting very favorable attention and comment from military men.

The coat is made of 30-ounce melton in olive drab. The collar can be buttoned up close under the chin, or the lapels may be turned back, opening with a V front.

Then, when needed, a raccoon or opossum fur collar can be attached, which can be turned up, making a muffler to protect the ears and neck. Another nevel attachment is a helmet made of the same cloth as the overcoat, which will afford complete protection from storm and wind.

The coat is supplied also with a detachable belt. It may be worn in five different styles to adapt itself to all sorts of use. Mr. Nevins, through his attorney, Bert T. Baker, is applying Rudolph Schmidt & Co. for a copyright for the name of his "Nevins Military Combination Overcoat."-Adv.

COMPANY ONE HAS VISIONS OF B. F. FURLOUGH

As our last week here at Kodak Park slips by, we have visions of Baker Field. The good times we have had there upon the banks of the beautiful Genesee we recall with anticipation now. There are prospects of the cottagers nearby entertaining us at a corn roast, if we get there soon enough.

It was a welcome suprise to have Captain Gahris lead us in the march on Labor Day. He was welcomed loudly with cheers from the whole company. He brought back to us memories of real soldier life at Madison Barracks.

"Don't do it, it crowds your lungs." Some aerial photographic bird probably thought the Captain gave him his raincoat for a souvenir. Well, he

The First Company kept a good for-mation all through the marching, although it was hard sometimes to keep step when three bands were playing different cadence and pretty girls lined the sidewalks, cheering as we went by It is hard for a soldier to march eyes front when he knows his girl is in the crowd.

Private Neiflinger-Is it good luck for a pretty girl to kiss you when play-

When is a tomato not a tomato? Ask Neiflinger, he knows.

Private Gorham would make a good valet-also he can dance-but his greatest fault is hugging.

Private Woodie has a beautiful little Charlie Chaplin moustache. Come and see him trim it.

Petro-Sapolio couldn't navigate after the Labor Day march. Just think, he missed a meal. Note-to prevent soreness, wash feet thoroughly-and regularly.

We have now discovered another Gold Bricker, in Dorm. 17 like Goldstein. Remember what happened to

Why is Alligator smiling so much

Heard along the line of march on Labor Day:

"I bet I can make one smile." "There's Petie! There's Petie!"

Sergeant Langer, stepping high chest expanded, head very much erect—comments from the firing line—"There goes my little wonder."

Private Stephens has a step all his own. A springy step. Watch him and laugh. It will do you good.

"Eyes front and march at attention." Good-but it can't be done when lovely girls cheer from the walks. Consequently, some of the fellows have developed crossed eyes.

Private Herfel says: "It can't be done in time of war."

Private Salter at each examination gives the instructors an examination in asking questions. He could write a book upon each question.

We hear that the First Company Is seeing visions of Baker Field. Just wait until Sergeant Carson scares them out of their dreams when he says 'Count off!" Then they will begin to learn that Baker Field is no place for dreamers.

Although we left Sergeant Hayward and his little stick at the farm and the Sergeant seems to be enjoying himself very much, we don't guess that we will see the Sergeant soon, for he has

A great many of the boys here have been transferred of late to different places to join the army.

In the daily routine: "Roll Out, You Hypo Hounds," "Fall In," "Snap It Up," "What's Your Name," "Sleep At Nights," "Put Him on Report," "Count Off" and "Smissed," COMPANY THREE.

FIFTH COMPANY DID ITS PART IN LABOR DAY PARADE

Well, boys, I guess you know the Fifth Company did its part in the Labor Day parade.

Now that Grossman is gone, I guess I shall have to write about myself.

Have you ever noticed the way Morris hangs around the mail clerk,

That's what Mabel said when the looking for letters?

-Myrich. Reese is certainly some lady killer.

Keep your eye on him, and maybe you will be a bit wiser.

Ask O'Connell how he likes leading a platoon. I declare, if he had gotten much straighter, he would have fallen over backward!

Died-One day last week, the once mighty Fifth Company. Funeral arrangements will be made later, and friends are requested to omit flowers. Burial will probably be made in Baker Field.

Two or three old-timers, left behind, recall the happy days of long ago, when the Fifth was in its prime and many a tear is brushed aside when those memories arise. Never again will we hear Sergt. Phyfe's beautiful tenor voice as he softly calls: "Fall in, Fifth Company," then in a still softer tone: "Right dress."

And our famous group of handsome file closers—Klaver, Kohl, Price, Raymond and O'Connell—all are gone, but not forgotten. Many were the feminine hearts that beat a trifle quicker when that group of file closers passed in stately array down Lake Avenue.

No more will the lean and hungry looking form of Arrants head the line on pay day, nor Hank Koch and his pocket hymn book lead the company in singing.

No longer will the husky voices of Goldstein and Ragatsky be heard passing the buck or the bull (guess which) up and down the company line.

Ewing, Maurston, English, Grossman -all of that once famous group of muck slingers and bull shooters have passed into oblivion and will be heard from no more.

And our grief is still more intense when we recall the assembling of that famous trio of prize beauties-Penny, Duxon and Brady. Truly the land south of the Mason and Dixon line should be proud of such men as those. Certainly the girls of Rochester will never forget them. All gone-forever

The death of the company occurred shortly after the amputation of the noisy Eighth Squad. Expert opinion differs, however, as to whether this or some less evident reason was responsible for the calamity. It had been expected for some time, though, and therefore did not come as a complete ENGLISH, surprise. Fifth Company.

he or Bartling is "Chief Trumpeter."

The busiest man in camp just now is Sergeant Hoak. When he goes back to civilian life he will have to have some ne page him all day long just happy.

When Sergeant Cox isn't on his bunk in Tent 20 which isn't very often, it is occupied by his mascot, a Charlotte Teddy Bear. The Sergeant has named him "Slacker" because he is yellow and hasn't any backbone.

Can you ever forget:-

When we did guard duty with clubs? When Tollin entertained the prison-

When Sergeants Clark and Carson were the only Sergeants here? When we only got one dish of los cream at mess?

When Co. Clerk Vincent hadn't a thing to do? When a bugler didn't have to guard duty?

When Sergeant Flo was commanded of the guard?

When we all wore black ties? When Grant and Sherman were in the same company

When we spent half the night writing When we hadn't a publicity expert in the camp? Eh!!!! What?????

A number of representatives were in the cloak room of the house last week. Said one of them: "Why do all these young ordnance officers in Washington wear spurs?" Uncle Joe Cannon, who had just come in, rolled his cigar to the other side of his mouth and said: "That's to keep their heels from slipping off the desk."

"Column of Squads"

Griffen and Bailey have donated a new piano for the boys at Baker Field. The new upright takes the place of the old square piano which gave the boys enjoyment for some time.

The Horse Show and Exposition proved the main attraction for many Airscouts last week. The dancing in the plaza proved the high light of the evening's programme.

Then, too, the smokes and gum at the K. of C. booth were welcome. "Angel" was there with his expansive smile and hearty handshake.

The work of the Y. M. C. A. "over there" was shown in a series of excellent photographs on display in the Y. M. C. A. booth. "Gibby" was there to explain the pictures and answer questions. John "Agreeable" Wells, he of Airscout fame, also greeted many of his old friends, the while securing ap-plications for overseas "Y." work.

Home-made apple pie, doughnuts and coffee were only a part of the offering at the Salvation Army war work booth. A piano placed there was the cause of many a "singfest" in which the Airscouts played a prominent part. Major Barnes was one of the visitors at the three war work booths and stopped at the Salvation Army stand long enough to taste of the ple and doughnuts. He spoke appre-ciatively to the attendants of the work the Salvation Army is doing for the boys in the trenches "over there."

Last Wednesday evening a group of Airscouts visited the U.S.A. Training School at Mechanics Institute and put on a "stunt night" programme. Earl A. House, dramatic editor of The Snap-shot, and Roy Miller, assistant K. C. secretary, were in charge of the programme and among the entertainers were R. F. Klucken, Instructor Addison, and Pete Bowman.

Last Friday night Wagner's Merry Revue entertained the boys at the Mechanic Institute School, playing a return engagement.

The historic significance of the ground upon which the Kodak Park school is situated was explained in an interesting manner last Sunday even-ing when Alvin H. Dewey, chairman of the military committee of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce and president of the Lewis H. Morgan Chapter -- ew York State Archaeological Society, was the speaker at the programme for soldiers and sailors at the Chapter House of Irondequoit Chap-ter, D. A. R. The usual big "feed" was another feature of the evening. Close to fifty Airscouts usually attend these Sunday evening entertainments.

In return for the entertainment which the Airscouts presented at their auditorium last Wednesday night, boys from U. S. A. Training School at Mechanics Institute came down to Kodak Park Monday night and put on a programme in the "Y"-K. C. Hut.

Employes of the Kodak Park works of the Eastman Kodak Company were guests last evening of the Airscouts. A "stunt night" programme was put on by the soldier entertainers, and the Kodak Park Band played a patriotic concert.

Few flights were prettier than that of the Airscouts who threw red, white and blue asters to the mothers of service men at Exposition Park last Wednesday. And in many a family Bible those asters will be pressed for years to come, as a reminder of the day up-on which Rochester paid tribute to those who were brave enough to stay home and let their beloved ones go to the front.

Hurrah for Sergeant Murphy! He is back again, and in the right place. Baker's Field is no place for a man like

Says a contributor-"Have you ever noticed how the speed has to be cut to ten miles per hour by a guard in front of the "Y"-K. C. hut? Yes, if you ever have tried to go faster in your car down Lake Avenue. Now it would seem as if the drivers of the cars, and especially the motorcycles of the army should at least use a little common sense in traveling on the city streets. But they can go at 60 to 70 of civilians, and nothing is said about it." miles per hour and endanger the lives

MARK the following paragraphs when you send home this issue of the Airscout's Snapshot and remind the folks that they can get good pictures with a Kodak from the very start.

> W. Frank Persons, director . general of the Bureau of Civilian Relief, is just home from France and has a word to say about letters from home.

"It is very important," he says, "to keep the American home a Living Reality to those boys over there. Write your letters regularly and frequently, giving complete news.

"This serial story of home life should be illustrated with plenty of snapshots and pictures. News and frequent pictures of children are peculiarly important. Those at home see the children daily; but from a distance of 3,000 miles, and in a war environment, it is difficult to imagine a satisfactory picture of how a child who was left wearing curls really looks after his first hair cut, or how he looks with his little fists pushed down in the pockets of his first pair of pants."-From an interview published in the Lake Division News of the American Red Cross.

WAR INSURANCE RULES ISSUED

Government Splits Payments Made to Soldiers' Dependents.

The following information regarding War Risk Insurance and the payment of allotments is published in the Army and Navy Journal for the benefit of soldiers' relatives who have been confused by recent changes in the insurance policy that have been ordered:

The announcement noted in our issue of July 6, page 1713, that "all allotments heretofore paid by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, on which no family allowance is paid, will be discontinued autoance is paid, will be discontinued automatically on June 30, and that enlisted men, if they desire to centinue such allotments, should execute and forward to the Quartermaster General Form 38, effective July 1, was an exact statement of what enlisted men must do to continue the provision they had been making for their dependents if the amounts vary from those provided by the war risk insurance bureau.

rision they had been making for their dependents if the amounts vary from those provided by the war risk insurance bureau.

The war risk insurance law, as originally enacted, required every enlisted man with dependents to make application for an allotment of a part of his pay to his dependents, whether they were entitled or not to an allowance from the government. Thereupon the war risk insurance bureau assumed the responsibility of paying the soldier's allotment along with the allowance if it was due the dependents. Manyenlisted men, however, had dependents to whom the law gave no allowance; for example, where the dependents had sufficient means of support, or where the soldier had not been contributing to the support of the beneficiary. Recent amendments to the war risk insurance law provided that the war risk bureau should pay only allowances corresponding to the allotments made by the enlisted men; that is, where the law required the payment of an allowance of $15 to dependents in class A, and $5 more to class B, it would add to the allowance the soldier's allotment, which was a prerequisite to the family allowance. Under the former regulation many soldiers were allotting more than the $15 or $20 out of their pay for the support of their dependents. Under the new regulations, in order to give their families this additional amount from their pay, they must do it through the War Department instead of through the Treasury Department, and on Form No. $8, of the War Department, The result for the families will be the same, only they will receive the amount due them in two checks instead of in one check. While this course seems to add complication, in reality it greatly relieves the war risk bureau and adds little additional detail to the pay of the War Department.

How Insurance Is Paid.

How Insurance Is Paid.

Numerous inquiries have been received by the Finance Division of the Quartermaster Corps from relatives of enlisted men as to the method of payment of insurance benefits to the beneficiaries of those men who have become insured under the provision of the War Risk Insurance Act. Under the provisions of the act the beneficiary named does not secure the amount in a lump sum on the death of the insured, but receives a monthly payment from the government as proceeds from the Insurance. The payments cover a period of twenty years or 240 months. For an insurance of $1,000 the beneficiary would receive a monthly payment fo $5.75 for twenty years. For the maximum insurance of $10,000 the beneficiary would receive a payment of $57.50 per month for twenty years. Insurance may be had in any

INSTRUCTORS' BANQUET MEMORABLE OCCASION

"Old Gang" Has One Last Fling Before Getting Lost in the Shuffle of "Big Job."

One day, not so very long ago, Instructor Suits and "Pop" Griesemer got to chatting about the Old Red Barn at Langley Field, where Lieutenant Briton achieved one of the historical feats of the war when he got rid of the crows who camouflaged the inmates' blankets, and remarked, "What a fine thing it would be to get the old boys thing it would be to get the old boys together for an evening now that some are commissioned and before they break up too fast." They never dreamed that their germ of an idea would spread with the aid of the present S. A. P. staff, into the huge success it turned out to be.

As calls for active service were beginning to thin out the ranks of the

As calls for active service were be-ginning to thin out the ranks of the instructing staff, it had been deemed advisable not to delay the portended "get-together" any longer. The present staff has lived together like a happy family, and has worked together for one common purpose—to give the best they had of their variested experiences. they had of their variegated experiences and knowledge to the men going through school.

This spirit was organized for the occasion and manifested itself in the general good will and genuine fellowship that was shown to exist between the that was shown to exist between the men and the attitude of the officers to-wards the "bucks." Lieutenant Poynter voiced the popular sentiment when he told of how anxious he was to get back to "the boys" when he was away on furlough—in fact cut his vacation short and hurried back to Kodak Park.

Angelo Does His "Bit."

Instructor Carl H. Kattleman, who was in charge of arrangements, left no stone unturned to make the affairs an auspicious one in the annals of the Photo Section. He was ably assisted by Sergeants Sladek, Morris and Griesehim on the long 22-mile hikes carrying the same pack we did. Not because he had to—for he didn't—but because he never thought of doing less than we did. Instinctively, it seemed, he shared with us all our little troubles and hardships.

"It was never too much to walk up to the post hospital with something for you when you were sick. He was always willing to get That Pass when you meeded it, and officer enough to put you in the guard house if you expected."

By Sergeants Sladek, Morris and Griesemer, and the perpetually going silent partner, Angelo Newman of the Y. M. K. C. Hut, who was instrumental in producing the beautiful trench mirrors donated by the Defiance Check Writing Corporation, the cigars furnished by the K, of C., the vaudeville act from Fay's Theater and several other things we haven't found out yet. It's the same old story: "Get Angelo behind it and you will have a great time."

The efforts of the committee to reunite the recently commissioned in-

The efforts of the committee to re-unite the recently commissioned in-structors were very successful and a delegation came up from Ithaca, in-cluding Lieutenants Jacoby, Poynter, Beaven, Landy, Gardner, Turnald and Private Fisher, who told of the inter-esting time awaiting one at Garden City previous to going overseas. Each one of the officers had something im-portant to say regarding their feelings one of the officers had something important to say regarding their feelings since they took a new lease of life. Interesting talks were given by Major Barnes, Captain Wilsdon and Lieutenant Furness, who fired the spirits and zeal of the men, whose ambitions showed evident signs of relaxing, with the fact that even though advancement moves slowly, it is coming as places are found to be filled.

Fight for Toastmastership.

The entertainment started almost in a tragedy when ceremonies were about to begin, in a fight for toastmaster-the course of the evening, among which

Oh-o, Say Can You Sing?

One of the amusing things at the Atlantic City convention of Baptists recently was the fol-lowing parody on the "Star-spangled Banner," which Rev. Dr. Clarence A. Barbour of Rochester quoted in his address on the first day of the sessions of the war commission:

Oh, say can you sing, from the start to the end,

What so proudly you stand for when orchestras play it; When orchestras play it;
When the whole congregation, in voices then blend,
Strike up the grand tune, then torture and slay it?

How valiant they shout when they're first starting out; But the dawn's early light finds them floundering about, the "Star-spangled Banner" they're trying to sing, 'Tis

But they don't know the words of the previous, brave thing. Hark, the twilight's last gleaming has some of them stopped,

But the valiant survivors press forward serenely To the ramparts we watched, when some others are dropped, And the loss of the leaders is manifest keenly.

"The rocket's red glare" gives the gravest a scare, And there's few left to face the "bombs bursting in air"; Tis a thin line of heroes that manage to save The last of the verse, and "the home of the brave."

He Looked Familiar.

Two soldiers lay side by side in an evacuation hospital. One was a browned, red headed doughboy, with a broken arm. The other's head and face were bandaged so that only his mouth and chin were visible.

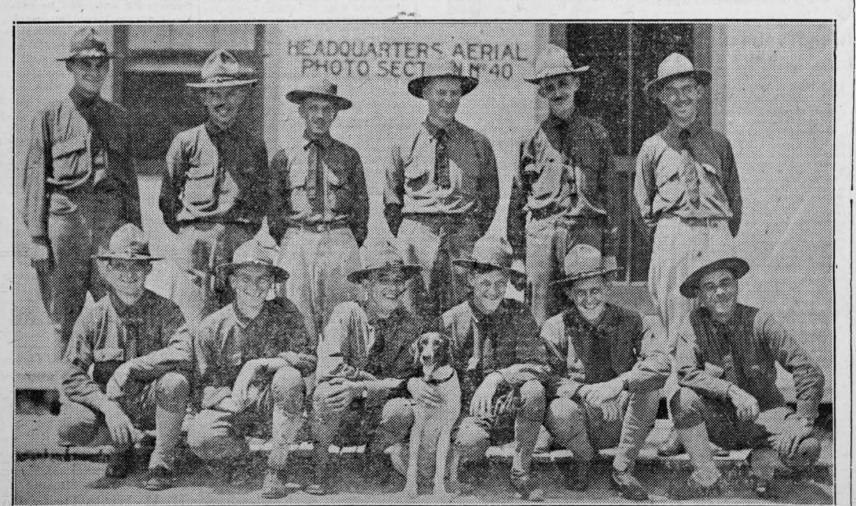

The doughboy raised on his pillow and surveyed his neighbor.

"Say, what outfit are you out of, buddy?" he asked. "Your mug looks kind of familiar and I've been trying to place you."

"Company I-Infantry," said he of the bandaged head.

"So am I. Who the deuce are you?" "I," said the other, "am the captain." -Stars and Stripes.

APPRECIATION!

Did you ever really stop to think, fellows, how we do not appreciate half enough all that the people of Rochester and, in fact, people from all over the country are doing for us? We fellows of the aerial photography branch are mighty lucky as soldiers' luck goes. What's more, we should not be backward in coming forward to let the people here know just how greatly we appreciate it.

When one stops to think of it, we aren't the ones who are owed, but are the ones who owe; and a whole lot, too! How's that, you say, when we are offering our all? Well, then, here's how: Haven't those who have gone before us undergone hardships and deprived themselves of luxuries we now enjoy, yes, and even bled and died for our future welfare and freedom? Yes, you bet they have!

Now we are enjoying the manifold blessings which their hard work and sufferings made possible for us. To see and appreciate it all, one has but to look across the submarine-haunted seas to Germany, or even to desolate Belgium. Then can you say that we do not owe it to our country and to those who are to come after us? Surely we must do all that we possibly can to prevent the recurrence of any such horrors as have been taking place during the past four years. Then, and only then, will we have partially redeemed our obligations to the good old Stars and Stripes.

Now that we have decided that the people of Rochester and others do not to thank you. Just realize that we

But, fellows, here's a tip: Haven't you noticed how good it makes you feel when someone notices some little favor you do? Of course you have. Then the natural conclusion is that if we are a bit more thoughtful and really show our appreciation more often, we will win on both ends. How

Added to the exchange list of The Snapshot this week is The Wright Idea, the official publication of Wilbur Wright Field, at Dayton, Ohio. Copies of the eighth and ninth editions, received here, show The Wright Idea to be one of the most progressive camp papers on the exchange list.

The foregoing ditty has nothing to do with the story to be told here, except that Mary, in addition to buying War Savings Stamps, saved enough, money to send $2 to the Airscouts last week. That $2 now reposes in the school safe, where it will be closely guarded until the S. A. P. boys decide what to do with it.

It's a good, wholesome letter of pa-triotism and whole-hearted enthusiasm for the cause of democracy that Mary sent to The Snapshot this week. In it she expresses her appreciation of the Yank and gives some sound advice for those who remain back home.

I only wish I could do more for them. But as I don't get very high wages, and have myself to look after, and also am buying War Savings Stamps in order to help our boys at the front, still I am willing to do all I can for our brave boys. For they sure do deserve all the help For they sure do deserve all the help that the folks back home can give them, and I think that all good, true American people should feel the same

The idea already has become popular in the Southern camps and bids fair to spread throughout the camps covered by Trench and Camp editions. Thus The Snapshot blazed the trail now followed by countless soldier papers en route home.

MUCH ADO AT "Y."-K. C. HUT

Tuesday night at the hut was known as "Kodak Night" when the employes of the Eastman Kodak Company stationed at the Park were entertained. An audience that filled the hut thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment presented by our own coterie of clever entertainers.

After a few words of welcome to the visitors by Secretaries Cox and Newman, and the presentation of a purse to the new assistant Knights of Columbus Secretary, Elroy H. Miller, from his former associates in Building 2 at Kodak Park, the following numbers were given: Selection by the Kodak Park Band, under the direction of Professor Fred Remington; then the Smith Brothers Cough Drop Quartette, composed of the officers of the Gold Brick clan of the U.S. A. School of Aerial Photography, Privates Geiser, Kieley, Spicer, and Wenke presented several selections in a highly creditable manner. This quartette has possibilities and we hope to hear from them again.

Private R. Klucken was in his usual! good form with a monologue, song and dance. Klucken has lost none of his cleverness demonstrated in the Madison Barracks Signal Corps Frolics show. A newcomer to this post, Carl B. Thompson, former vaudevillian and cartoonist for the Cleveland Press and other papers, was the next entertainer. Thompson demonstrated his unusual ability as a cartoonist and was very well received by the audience.

"CAPT." GARRET BAKER.

Sergeant Slavin of the Mechanics Draft Barracks then introduced the Mechanics boys' mascot Garret Baker. The sergeant put the youthful captain through a drill and the youngster's snappy salute and clever performance will be long remembered. He was attired in regulation captain's uniform from head to toe. This uniform was purchased and presented to him by the soldiers at the Mechanics Barracks.

"Happy" Melliman, former star of the Signal Corps Frolics, was next on the bill with his usual run of stories, songs, and particular brand of fun. Judging from the applause received he made a real hit with his audience. Knights of Columbus Secretary Miller was then introduced officially to the audience and the manner in which he presented his number aroused the admiration of all present. Mr. Miller is an exceptional entertainer. We ought to hear more of him in the future.

Previous to the program the Kodak Park Band played out on the grandstand during a ball game on the drill field between our own team of ball tossers and the Outlaw team of the received his full share.

Happy smiles soon vanished when they were lined up and the entire comwas put on guard duty and kitchen police. I must say that is a nice way to welcome us back!

No Gold Bricker as yet, but the fellows are doing some tall thinking along that line.

Sergt. Carson took charge of the company as soon as it arrived. He demonstrated with a short drill what was in store for us. We are all glad to see that he is regaining his voice.

I am quite sure "Dizzy" (Sergt. Major Clark) will look after his old gang that opened the field with him.

ROCKWELL AND BOWMAN PART: TEARS ARE SHED

Rockwell and Bowman, the two 'Gold Dust" twins, both arrived at Madison Barracks on the same day. Almost immediately they struck up a friendship which has continued for some time. Bowman was shipped to Rochester and there were many tears shed at the parting. Here at S. A. P., Bowman wandered around like a lost sheep for two weeks, when Rockwell came down, and once more tears were shed, this time tears of joy. When the S. A. P. band was organized they both joined. But there was one drawback; after quite a bit of shifting around in the dormitories, they came together, and now occupy bunks alongside of each other. They both went to see Another novel attachment is a helmet the same two girls and attended the burlesque shows together.

But now some cloud must have come between them, for instead of having cots as close together as usual, they Kodak Park league. The game was called in the fifth inning on account of darkness with a tie score.

Motion pictures of the school and its surroundings made under the direction of Sergeant Murphy were shown following the vaudeville numbers and a five reel feature film showing Olive Tell in the "Girl and the Judge" closed one of the happiest evenings in the history of the hut.

We are particularly grateful to Mr. Weber of the Eastman Company for arranging the Kodak end of this delightful event and hope to have the Kodak Park folks with us again before the school is finally closed.

On Wednesday evening at the hut, the soldiers devoured 600 ears of corn furnished us through the generosity of Mrs. J. M. Garson and Mrs. A. J. Katz. That they were thoroughly enjoyed goes without saying.

The boys wants to acknowledge publicly their gratitude to these ladies for this timely and thoughtful service.

Mess Sergeant Edevine steamed the corn at the Mess Hall and brought it over steaming to the hut in the motor truck and with the assistance of a few voluntary K. P.'s. Everybody present

NEW MILITARY OVERCOAT DEVISED BY SOL NEVINS

Sol T. Nevins has devised a new military overcoat with a detachable fur collar and helmet, which is now being shown at the Nevins Shop at 1664 Lake Avenue and is attracting very favorable attention and comment from military men.

The coat is made of 30-ounce melton in olive drab. The collar can be buttoned up close under the chin, or the lapels may be turned back, opening with a V front.

Then, when needed, a raccoon or opossum fur collar can be attached, which can be turned up, making a , made of the same cloth as the overcoat, which will afford complete pro-

The coat is supplied also with a detachable belt. It may be worn in five different styles to adapt itself to all sorts of use. Mr. Nevins, through his attorney, Bert T. Baker, is applying for a copyright for the name of his overcoat, "Nevins Military Combination Overcoat."—Adv.

Private Hugh C. Trower of the First Company, who, before enlisting in the Photographic Division, saw previous service with the army. He saw part of the Mexican trouble in 1916, having been with the 12th Division, commanded by Colonel McCloskey, former commandant at Fort Meyer. Before that time he served for three years with the First Virginia Field Artiilery, which is now overseas.

Upon the declaration of war last year, Trower enlisted in the Ordnance Department and was assigned to Washington. Desirous of seeing more vigorous service, he applied for and received in March a transfer to Aviaracks he was acting sergeant in the First Company. Before donning the khaki, Trower was a hotel manager, being particularly successful in his connections with large resort hotels at various places. His home is in Nor-

SAYS "BIRD" LIFE

In a letter received by Chief Clerk 'Eddie" Widman of City Engineer C. Arthur Poole's office recently from Arthur Poole's office recently from Southern Field Aviation Training Camp at Americus, Ga., Cadet W. Montgomery Diamond, describes the flying life as being the most "wonderful sensation what is." Cadet Diamond, who was formerly an employe of the City Engineer's office, made his first flight in an aeroplane one week ago Tuesday. He wrote:

"You start off bumping over the ground to beat h—l and as she picks up her speed, you ease the stick back up her speed, you ease the stick back a little, the bumps are fewer and all a little, the bumps are fewer and all of a sudden it's smooth sailing—you know you're in the air. You climb up, up and up, until it is time for you to make your first turn, then you level off. It's dangerous to climb on turns. That over, you climb some more, until you're up about 500 feet, then you continue around the course until it is time to make a landing.

Cadet Diamond cited an instance where the licutenant in charge of the men at the flying field went up in a "boat" with him and started to do

A girl who can swim, ride and dance, and sew the buttons on my pants; hunt, play golf, cook and knit: in fact, be willing to do her "bit." As I belong to the S. A. P., she would have to be willing to follow me, to California, New York or France (perhaps I would lead her a merry dance). I don't want to prolong this spiel, but she must have an automobile; a Ford, a Saxon or a Chevrolet (for I couldn't use it during the day). The Yank Who Got a Colone

Copyright, 1918, by Edgar A. Guest. I wish I could have seen him trudging rearward with his prize, Seen the grin upon his visage and the twinkle in his eyes.
I wish I could have heard him in that din of war infernal Shouting: ,"See the bird I captured! Take a look! I got a colonel!"

Oh, I fancied when I read it I could aloh, I fancied when I read it I could almost hear him chuckle
As he grabbed that haughty Prussian and then calmly made him knuckle;
And I'd like to see his picture printed here in every journal,
Proudly coming in from battle shouting!
"Hey! I got a colonel!"

I don't know where he hails from, and I didn't get his name,
But I hold that Yank's entitled to a goodly share of fame;

It would be an inspiration to our boys through time eternal Just to read about that dough boy who went out and bagged a colonel.

NEW SPECIAL OIL FOR AIRPLANES

The Department of Military Aeronautics has announced the specifications for a new aircraft engine oil, known as Liberty aero oil, developed while the lubrication part of the equipment division of the Signal Corps. The new oil is a min-eral oil and will be used in the Liberty engine, as well as all stationary cylinder aircraft engines both here and abroad by the army and navy.

Its development is due to the energy and skill of a staff of men who have worked exclusively on the problem for upward of twelve months. One officer so exhausted himself by his devotion to the subject that he became ill and died. The name of this officer was Captain O. J. May.

WILL ENTERTAIN SOLDIERS FROM KODAK PARK SCHOOL

On Friday evening, September 20, the first dance of the season will take place at Kodak Park. An invitation has been extended to the students of the United States Army School Aerial Photography, stationed at Kodak Park, who will attend 500 strong. The proceeds of the dance will be devoted to the purchase of yarn for the use of the Kodak Park knitters, whose practice it is to present each one of the employes leaving for military service a sweater and socks.

Plans are under way at present to furnish an interesting feature in connection with the dance, the nature of which will be announced on that night. From the advance sale of tickets, it is expected that an exceptional crowd will be present.

STOP! READ THE EDITORIAL!

MARK the following paragraphs when you send home this issue of the Airscout's Snapshot and remind the folks that they can get good pictures with a Kodak from the very start.

> W. Frank Persons, director general of the Bureau of Civilian Relief, is just home from France and has a word to say about letters from home.

> "It is very important," he says, "to keep the American home a Living Reality to those boys over there. Write your letters regularly and frequently, giving complete news.

> "This serial story of home life should be illustrated with plenty of snapshots and pictures. News and frequent pictures of children are peculiarly important. Those at home see the children daily; but from a distance of 3,000 miles, and in a war environment, it is difficult to imagine a satisfactory picture of how a child who was left wearing curls really looks after his first hair cut, or how he looks with his little fists pushed down in the pockets of his first pair of pants."—From an interview published in the Lake Division News of the American Red Cross.

Mechanics "Over the Top?" Nay, Nay, Pauline!

1 NO. 17

It was a cold windy night. Rain was falling in a fine drizzle. The only comfortable place in camp was around the big fireplace in the Farm House. A circle of rugged faced soldiers-aerial photographers and mechanicssat facing the cheerful blaze. It was a famous place for camp gossip. Guards just relieved from their dreary post came in, water dripping from their raincoats. Although space was at a premium, room was made for them. After removing their raincoats, they sat warming their hands. The fire illuminated the weather-lined, rugged, determined features of their faces to the outline of their army hardened body. A big gun strapped to their sides showed plainly, reminding us somewhat of the real thing to

"I would like to see the mechanics go over the top," said Private Bene-

"It can't be done," declared Private Connor. "There are not enough side arms, stilsons, hacksaw, blades, drills and other very essential things in their 'over the top' maneouvers."

5 A. M., one morning. "Count Off" just after getting in.
"Well, I guess I will have to call the boys out for drill. They need lots of pep."

There and then he got the name of "Rise and Shine."

It has been raining every day. A little sunshine sure would look good The Hypo hounds are wading around in mud inches deep.

Something new and very interesting -come out and hear some Hawalian music played by Private Henson with his nose guitar and Frivate St. Jean with his harmonica.

We are glad to see that Sergeant Irwin, one of the old timers of Baker's Field, is in harness as Sergeant Major.

A question-What will happen to Sergeant Lindemann when he comes to the field Saturday? "Count Off" has an eagle eye.

Several of the boys from the South have learned to dance since sojourning in the North amongst friends they have made. They will never forget the good times they have had.

Sergeant Pederson was transferred to the band at Kodak Park—a real gold brick position. He is looking for a man's job, so after a hard fight he is back again at Baker's Field.

Owing to his previous experience, Instructor Norris was the only one who went up during the week, and the shots were all swell.

SOLDIERS AT KODAK PARK SCHOOL PLAN TO ISSUE SOUVENIR BOOK

Soldiers of the United States Army School of Aerial Photography will issue a souvenir book in celebration of the Fourth Liberty Loan about October 1. It will be profusely illustrated and contain nearly 100 pages. The editor is Irwin Grossman, a soldier at the park, who formerly was engaged in newspaper work in Philadelphia. While at Madison Barracks, Mr. Grossman got out a sixty page paper of "Barbed Wire," the post paper, in four days and also acted as chairman of the publicity committee of the barracks.

Associated with the editor will be Judson Wilhoit, formerly an advertising man of New York City. The artists will include Edward F. Goslin and Leslie Williams, both of whom have illustrated for well known papers. Major James Barnes, commandant of ay, inquiring about Reveille oil, hich Kellert sent him for.

Gahris are helping to make the publication a success. The name of the book has not yet been decided on.

STUFF OUR MEN ARE MADE OF.

This communication was received from the office of the Commandant, and is the kind of communication that! we are glad to get:

First-hand news of our troops abroad is always more satisfactory to those of us who have not yet gone over than what we can get through the papers. For this reason we quote two passages from letters written by American officers in France-the first a lieutenant colonel who has been long in the regular army, the second a captain.

1. The big show at Chateau Thierry has been on all this past week, and we are all on tiptoe watching the changes in the map as fast as the bulletins come in. Most of us come from some division, and whenever one of us sees that his division is in the fight, he goes off damning his luck, because he's not with his outfit. Oh, you don't know what a difference it has made in the morale of everyone! I think they were all disappointed at our slowness in getting over, at the appearance and training and equipment of our men. But now that we have so many here and so many more coming, and they have either seen or been told how wonderfully our men fight, why, they are just beside themselves with joy. The whole attitude of the officers of our allies has changed toward us. We are now the thing. No more suggestion that we are newcomers and green at the game. No condescension. They listen and defer to our opinion; they adopt our views-the people, the papers-both British and French; they now love us and believe in us, and we are all in perfect accord and sym. pathy. We are the new oracle, the inspiration of the moment, the big brother, the unbeatable, the grand, the "magnifique"-for we have put our men in, lots of them, raw and untried, but big, strong, enthusiastic and resourceful young America-full of confidence in himself and his country, with faith that right is on his side, with faith in his neighbor by his side, full of force and 'pride-he went in with his teeth set, and a determination not merely to stop the Boche, but to lick him, to beat him at his own game or to die in the attempt. And he did it. It is done. No matter what I have talked to lots of them, temporarily disabled, but you can see the future in their eyes. It is the same from all of them. "Never you mind me. They fixed me, but it's all right. We can lick him, man for man. We've got his goat; he won't face our men. He's licked, and he knows it." That is what those say who have been in the fight. I can feel exactly the American soldier's state of morale. It's physical and mental. He sees ahead. He sees big. He compares I could only lilac that."

temporary reverses may come, the

"Column of Squads"

Postmaster Smalter has returned on the job after spending a furlough at his home in Menominee, Mich.

Roy D. Demirjean, former cartoonist for The Snapshot, at present is illustrating The Wright Idea, published by men at Wilbur Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

And at last reports, Lord, erstwhile Snapshot artist, still was drawing for the Madison Barracks Barbed Wire.

Walter Hunter is the new Snapshot cartoonist. He needs no introduction to S. A. P., as he already has supplied cartoons for this paper.

Harold L. Hooper, former instruc-tor at the S. A. P., left on Saturday for Langley Field, Va. He returned recently from a furlough spent in his camp in the woods in Northern Maine.

More news of Airscouts' activities on furloughs is wanted for the "Column of Squads" column. Monday, Thursday and Saturday are the days news is collected from the contribution boxes at the Postoffice, or 'Y"-K. C. Hut and on those days arrangements may be made for personal interviews with prospective 'Who's Who'' men and other airscouts who have news items in mind, which they prefer to have written for them.

everything over here with his own country and gives himself the best of it. His country has more money, more factories, more resources, more men, more modern methods and appliances.

Does he credit the German with being a better soldier? "Hell, no!" he says. "We can learn all them squareheads know in one fight, think of twelve things to beat it, and invent new tricks that he never dreamed of. Why, just you fellows wait till we get our army over here and in one bunch together on the line. Why, say, you won't see them Boche for the dust."

There is no discipline over here that compares with ours. Our men have absorbed it. They heard so many lectures in the States about the wonderful discipline over here. They arrived, took one look and started in with characteristic American spirit to beat itand they have. They are self-disciplined. They are cleaner than anyone else, they salute better, they work harder at learning the various ways of fighting. They are doing it voluntarily and they have passed their instructors.

2. We came back from French headquarters thrilled by the stories we had heard of what the Americans did in the last offensive. It is still quite unbelievable to me. "The Americans saved Paris. It was the American divisions who stood against Germany's best. The American divisions are the best on either side of the line, the heat in the world." Such stuff said by French officers is astounding. Soldiers who have seen say that there is no army like ours, no such fanatical fighting men anywhere—that an almost religious passion is all through our troops and that the Boche has had his morale badly shaken.

There can be no doubt that a surprising rise in French morale has resulted from the communiques of July 4 and July 14. "Now we cannot lose" is their talk.

Sentry's Orders.

SOLDIERS WON'T RETURN TO EXPOSITION PARK; NEW ARMY SCHOOL CONSIDERED

Soldiers of the 113th Supply Train now quartered at Convention Hall Annex will not be moved back to their old quarters at Exposition Park, the Mayor said Sunday. At present there is only one company of 87 men-Company A-quartered at the Annex, and it expects to move early in the week with a number of trucks for a port of embarkation; but its place probably will be filled by returning companies. It is probable that the soldiers will continue to be quartered at Convention Hall.

Hall.

Although the matter of a new government school at Exposition Park still hangs fire, and no contract has been signed, it seems likely that definite action will be taken soon. A representative of the War Department was in town last week conferring with the Board of Education and the Mayor's office; but the form the new school is to take seems to be the chief difficulty. It is probable that it will be either a shop school, somewhat after the form of Mechanics Institute, or a truck drivers' instruction camp, in which case few alterations would be necessary. The number of men will not be decided until the contract is signed.

"Kamerad !"

Somewhere in France at a point where American troops are holding a section of the trenches a German soldier was seen nearing the front lines. He was alone, and when discovered he held up his hands, yelling "Kamerad!" But the soldiers were suspicious of him and made him keep his hands up until they surrounded aim. They found that he was loaded down with hand grenades. He tried to escape but Instructor Connelly stood Reveille that morning? Possibly he was just getting in and couldn't pass the guard.

Rex was hit with a hammer, and how acting Sergeant Sherer wanted to put a tick tack on the enemy's window at midnight that night?

"Abe" Alderman, the congenial Baker Field culinore artist, is fast learning to prepare appetizing army stews and hash. It is reported that a local beauty is responsible for his newly acquired methods and recipes. This very same young lady threatens to "drop" him unless he decorates his upper lip with a tooth brush, and it said upon good authority that if "Abe" complies with her request, his remains will be mailed home by parcel post by his comrades in arms. "Abe" would make a valuable asset to any submarine crew as he can hold his breath for hours at a time. Ask his girl!

We would all like to know who the sergeant is that always carries an umbrella and wears rubber shoes when it rains. Ask Sergeant Nait, Personnel Office. He knows.

Speaking of Gold Bricks, why not include the names of Private Donald B. Whitlock, and Private Leonard Coburn, both of the School Office?

'Last week's Snapshot made some trong claims about Private Klucken's pipe, but the boys in Dorm. 3 claim that one of their number has an OLD cannon that has it beat. We refer to the one that Menoher smokes. "Nuff Sed."

According to official figures, the soldiers in the American Expeditionary Force in France are consuming close to 1,000,000 pounds of chocolate every month. This does not include several hundred thousand pounds of other kinds of candy on sale in the canteens in France.

S. A. P. BAND GETS INSTRUMENTS FROM LAKE POST

No longer are the musicians who came to the United States Army School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park without instruments; for their belongings, which they were forced to leave behind them when they left Madison Barracks for this city, have arrived.

While they were stationed at Madison Barracks the soldiers enjoyed much popularity within a radius of many miles around the camp on account of their concerts, and they played a big part in the War Savings Stamp drives and Liberty Loan campaigns at Watertown. Due to government restrictions in moving property from one post to another, they were a sad lot when they were forced to leave their band instruments behind them. Fortunately, Captain Leroy E. Gahris, who before joining the air service was with the 22d Infantry, U. S. Regulars, was in charge of the men at Madison Barracks and when he was transferred to Kodak Park, he proceeded to try to get possession of the instruments for the men and was suc-

Captain Gahris is popular with the men; for it was he who transformed them from civilians into soldiers in remarkably short time. As post commander he took great interest in their welfare and always tried his best to make army life interesting for them. How well he succeeded, is evident from the fact that out of the many men sent here from Madison Barracks, not once has any pupil of his been charged with conduct unbecom-

At last we have a real band. Did you hear them in the grandstand the other day?

Notice how the fatiguers keep time, wielding the brooms, picks and shovels while the band plays?

Would not the "Guest House" make a good place for the band to practice?

Storer certainly is glad to get back to the S. A. P. He says it is a long way to Ridge Road from Baker's Field.

Baker blew Taps the other night and Rex accompanied him with his melodious voice. Wonder why he never accompanied Lawrence.

Did you notice how handsome Geiser and Menoher looked marching with the Park Band the other night in the parade?

Patterson certainly can make a lot of noise for a little fellow on the slide trombone.

Geiser went to bed before 11 p. m. one night last week. No wonder it rained so steadily.

Roher is here again with the smile that won't come off.

Heard on the elevator: Lieut.—"What is all that noise?"
Priv.—"That's our new band."
Lieut.—'Horrors!"

The "Star Spangled Banner" sounds much better with the full band than it did with just four cornets.

Comingoe is back from a furlough.

Going West.

In memory of "Old Santa Claus" I'd like to add a verse. I wish to say that "just because" Is why he needs a nurse.

I know behind this camouflage His heart is large and tender. He's fond of Betty's, Jane's and Esthers. Be they fat, or plump, or slender.

His "rain-dears" need no chimney tops.

Nor does HE need a sled.

He drives about in motor cars

With a giddy "yellow-head."

The country all around he knows,

As if he made the map. He's even seen Niagara Falls— And Ontario's water-gap.

Old Santa in a uniform

Old Santa in a uniform
Of O. D. neat and trim
Would put to shame the S. A. P.
If they would look at him.
His form's a '19 model.
He is no ancient type.
His eyes are blue and sunny.
His smile—a ray of light.
His voice is sweetest music,
Hie heart in cadence beats. His heart in cadence beats.
Warm breezes from the Sunny South Paint roses on his cheeks.

He never, never should have been A soldier in the ranks.

He could not stop a bullet,
He couldn't ride the tanks.

When this gigantic task is o'er,
The army null and vold,
He'll take a train to Jacksonville
And be just plain—John Lloyd.

Jack's yellow-haired friend is some poet, and this is too good to waste, so we took the liberty of swiping it from him and handing it out to the public for inspection. As "Rank Verse" this takes a high rank. Sorry we can't find the "Santa Claus" poem which came

High Tide.

I know in joy there is a full high tide; For such a tugging at heart strings, And rush of ecstasy it brings, When safe in harbor rests, at last, A little bark with anchor cast; Ah, this is surely rapture unsur-passed!

I know so well, there's nothing else on earth

on earth
Can match this joy of mine, it sings,
And notes of lyric sweetness flings
In clear, high strains; all, all, for me;
I never dreamed that there could be Such joy, my son, as thy nativity.

"Somewhere in France," his letter reads, to-day;
And suddenly, that same sweet strain Runs riot in my heart again;
Not quite the old high tide for me,
For I have grown, as well as he,
Since those dear days I held him on my knee.

My joy to-day is in his brave deeds done; My ecstasy is that he stands

For freedom here, and in all lands;
For homes, and motherhood to be.
For all that makes our country free,
And this, my son, o'erflows high tide for me.

A Training Camp Ballad (with apologies to Bill Leonard)

Oh, Kitchen Police is the duty that creases
A lot of new lines in your brow,
It keeps a guy hustling when detailed for rustling, The daily allowance of chow;

mind reeling,
I've done seven billion and three,
When I get away from this job I'll be gray from
K. P.

But there's no escaping from scrub-ing and scraping, The pans and the pots and the plates, And bringing in fuel and ladling out gruei,

And paring the onions by crates;
My nerves are all shaken from smelling the bacon,

The coffee, the beans, and the tea,
My hunger's departed; who was it that started
K. P.

I thought I'd be fighting the Germans, and righting The wrongs that the papers por-trayed,

And here I am wearing an apron, and bearing
The task of a scullery maid;

Why, drilling is easy compared to the greasy,
Hard labor they've handed to me,
This cleaning of fishes and juggling of dishes,
K. P.!

Say, when by a drive at the Boche, we arrive at

The widely known town of Berlin,
And cheerfully—rather!—we reach out and gather
The Kaiser and Hindenburg in,
I've got a suggestion to settle the question
Of what we shall do with 'em: Geel

Of what we shall do with 'em; Gee!
I'd thrill to be viewing the pair of them doing,

> W. Frank Persons, director general of the Bureau of Civilian Relief, is just home from France and has a word to say about letters from home.

"It is very important," he says, "to keep the American home a Living Reality to those boys over there. Write your letters regularly and frequently, giving complete news.

"This serial story of home life should be illustrated with plenty of snapshots and pictures. News and frequent pictures of children are peculiarly important. Those at home see the children daily; but from a distance of 3,000 miles, and in a war environment, it is difficult to imagine a satisfactory picture of how a child who was left wearing curls really looks after his first hair cut, or how he looks with his little fists pushed down in the pockets of his first pair of pants."-From an interview published in the Lake Division News of the American Red Cross.

Something was said in The Snapshot a few weeks ago about a certain "acting colonel" connected with the Headquarters Company parading up and down Lake Avenue with youthful members of the opposite sex. As he is very much married, someone sent a copy of that issue of our influential paper to his wife.

Last Sunday he received a telegram, stating that wife was coming up from below the Mason and Dixie Line to visit our "acting colonel." And just now our esteemed friend greatly desired to go to New York and head her off in order to square things up before he arrives in Rochester.

More news is needed for The Snap shot. How often has that been repeated in these columns? Seems almost a shame to beg for items for The Snapshot. We believe the paper to be one of the best published in any camp in the country, and certainly the best for a post of this size. Yet every week more news could be used. The Snapshot could be made snappier!

New units coming to the school should appoint a correspondent and see that he keeps his comrades in The Snapshot's focus every week while they are at the school. There is no need for lengthy stories-short, pithy notes of interest about "the other fellow" are read most eagerly.

There are two contribution boxes for items for The Snapshot. One is at the Postoffice in the barracks; the other at the "Y"-K. C. Hut. The news is collected every Thursday, Saturday and Monday, the paper being printed on Tuesday and circulated on Wednes-

S. A. P. NOW HAS FIRE LADS For the parents of the soldiers are the ones who pay the price.

It all started one gray morning when the school was young and the in-structors were all new. Three of the members of the new Fire Company came in in the wee, small hours. Sergt. Oppromallo asked for the reason. The 'stay-out-lates" thought and thought for an excuse, when one of them re-membered somebody on the car coming home had mentioned that there was a fire at the Chamber of Commerce Building.

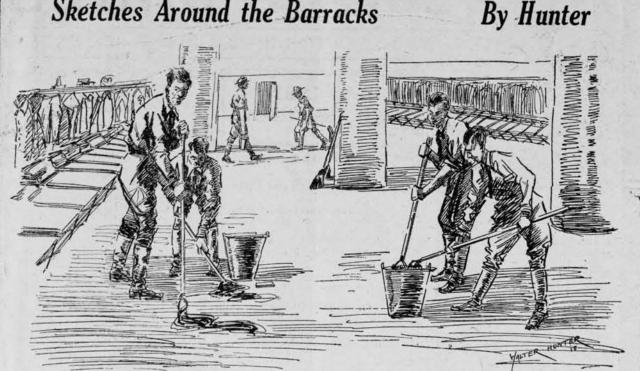

So they told the sergeant they had been pressed into service to help extinguish the flames. The sergeant doubted the story, and then and there the Fire Department started. It has grown now to several members, com-posed of Commissioners, Marshals, Chiefs, Captains and just plain Hosemen. Last, but not least, must be mentioned the Chief of Supply Wagons. That is all for this time. We'll let The Snapshot readers "in" on more doings of the Fire Department later.

True Enough.

The Parents of the Soldiers.

Copyright, 1918, by Edgar A. Guest. There's a common bond between them; they have seen their sons depart, They've felt the self-same aching in the region of the heart; ve seen the self-same visions, and they've worshipped at a shrine Where a boy has talked of duty in a language that was fine, And they understand the meaning of the Flag and all the strife, For they're parents of a soldier who is offering his life.

The fathers and the mothers of the boys who've marched away Are a little nearer Flanders than the rest of us, to-day; They are closer to the cannons and the guns that loudly roar, And they neighbor with each other as they never did before.

And, as parents of the soldiers, more of war they've come to know Than the loyal men and women who have had no son to go.

You can feel it when you're with them, feel they know far more than you— What it means to live for service, and to dle for what is true.

From the boys that they were proud of, they have caught a vision rare And have seen the real meaning of the struggle over there.

And they know the hurt of absence and the pain of sacrifice;

They are standing on the hill tops as the tide of battle runs;

Night and day they watch the struggle for it's there they've sent their sons. Though it's our joy when they conquer, and our sorrow when they fall, They know more of grief and gladness, for they're closer to it all.

They are closer to the glory and they're closer to the woe

And I think we're missing something who have had no sons to go.

The Yanks

Copyright, 1918, by Edgar A. Guest. They're not there to follow custom; They've gone overseas to bust 'em.
They've set out to lick the kaiser,
And to overthrow the Hun.
They've no time for long debating,
And they chafe at idle waiting.
It's a big task they have tackled,
But they went to get it done It's a big task they have tackled, But they want to get it done. They are quick to move, and fiery, They're resourceful and they're wiry, They're a thinking bunch of fighters And courageous to a man. Tell 'em what you want! They'll do it! In their own way they'll go to it—If it can't be done in one way, They will find a way it can.

There's no place that you can thrust

There's no place that you can thrus 'em'
That it isn't safe to trust em;
Death alone has power to stop 'em,
Once they've started under way;
They are there to keep on going
And already they are showing
In the job they've undertaken
They've no wish to waste a day.
They go into battle grinning,
Hearts and minds intent on winning;
Belleau Wood and Chateau Thierry,
Plainly tell the Yankee story—
Where they made the Prussians run,
To their honor and their glory,
Never once their thin line halted
Till their given task was done.

They've no time for doubtful speaking; It's results that they are seeking. There's no failure in their gospel; "We can do it," is their creed.
They've a faith that's never shaken. If you want a village taken Send the Yankees out to get it And they'll die or do the deed. They don't ask for snaps and cinches, They want service in the pinches, They grow restless out of action; They're in France to fight the Hun. Turn them loose—don't keep them It's a big job they have tackled, But they know that they can do it, shackled; And they want to get it done.

Facing the terrors of No Man's Land.

Over the top and out on the field—
To conquer or die, but never to yield,

REMEMBER WHEN: Chapter VII.

The original Third Company was the best drilled outfit of the first class?

We took a hike every morning?

Some Airscouts were called "tin saints"?

There were only two N. C. O.'s?

We held our first retreat and "to the colors" was blown before retreat?

Lieut. Cooper was the adjutant?

We were in quarantine?

The girls and boys lined Lake Avenue clear to Ridge Road?

Somebody called somebody else an 'army slacker"?

Hammer was postmaster?

A fellow sat on his bunk in his bathrobe after a bath, combing his hair and eating chocolates?

Sergt Murphy was sick and one of the boys served him his breakfast in

Our first parade was held?

Yourell says it's a hell of a post that hasn't got a Champ Gold Brickthat's why he didn't go overseas.

And now Yourell has another Gold Brick job-motorcycle demon. How DOES he do it?

Located in Dormitory 3. A man of unlimited importance!

Our friend, Herman Murray, must have been a great lover of flowers in civil life, judging from the odor of violets which is constantly present when he is around.

A liberal reward is offered for the apprehension of the Airscout who stepped on John Blush's horn and then added insult to injury by plugging it with newspapers.

ANOTHER VERSION!

K-k-k-K. P.

Dutiful K. P. You're the only j-j-j-job that I abhor. And when the m-moon shines o'er the Mess Shack, I'll be scrubbing up the kitty-k-kitchen floor.

-By Nancy Cleary.

Why does Irwin Grossman tell his blonde friend that his days in Rochester are numbered?

Answer—Because she stays out until Reveille in fear she won't see him for Reveille in fear she along time.

P. S.—But she's "wise" to him now, and sends him home before 2 a. m. If Grossman went to half the cities he's told C. K. he was going to he'd be some trans-continental tourist.

Billy O'Neil will miss his old pal, Lieberwort. Billy will have to team up with Lavadore now. Let call 'em Bill Lieberworts for short.

Dizzy Coane, the guard that goes around like has anchored in Dorm. 26 permanently.

Sergeant Johnson must have his beauty sleep, regardless of cost. He sometimes has to throw Private Lieberwort or O'Neil's shoes out to get it. But what does he care when Lieberwort or O'Neil here to pick them up? wort or O'Neil have to pick them up?

The pride of the guard, "Murry," hopes that they give him bars of silver. You might get bars of soal, Billy -who can tell?

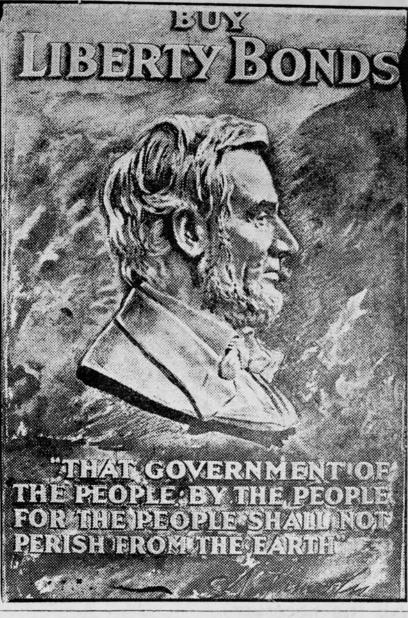

WONDER HOW MUCH HE PAID FOR THIS!

For the few of us left, it certainly makes us feel full of pep to see our old pal and sergeant, Sergt. Murphy, back on the field. He is the one sergeant in the school that all the boys like and will do anything for.

Wry? No one knows, only that he is a good fellow and knows his business and DOES his work well. We hope to see you with us overseas, sergeant, as an officer.

Out o' Luck

Copyright, 1918, by Edgar A. Guest. f you've tried to jump the traces, an'

If you've tried to jump the traces, an' have sought the cheery places
An' have reckoned you could fix it so you never would be missed.
But you find out in the morning that they got you without warning
An' they've put your name an' number on the extra duty list,
Do your added bit o' slaving, without whining much or raving,
Take the medicine they give you an' don't even try t' buck.
Play the game an' keep on grinning, an' then make a fresh beginning;
It's the price that you are paying just for being out o' luck.

It's-a queer game, this o' fightin', an'
it's gospel truth I'm writin'.
Men will go for weeks through dangers an' will never feel a hurt
While their stock o' luck is lastin', all the shells the Huns are castin'
Will be powerless to get 'em as they're scatterin' the dirt.
Then one day when war is nappin' an'
there's nothing due to happen
An' the sector's fine an' quiet by a sniper one is struck,
An' he dies right at his station, an' the only explanation
Is the answer of his comrades when they whisper "Out o' luck!"

So it's no use frettin', sighin', when the shrapnel high is flyin';
There's no way o' dodgin' bullets.
They will hit you or they won't:
An' whene'er the line advances, every soldier runs his chances,
Those with luck get back to billets, an' the ones without it, don't.
Play the game an' keep on goin' through the fields that death is mowin'

Follow orders to the letter an' don't ever lose your pluck, in mind when shells

there are some that they are missing
So just pray to God above you that you won't run out o' luck.

Parody on Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching.

While the years go fleeting by, We still hear the battle cry Emperor William, Germany's Kaiser.

If he ever gets a chance he will have his throne in France,

Then for England it's good-bye Johnny Bull.

Dear old mother, do not weep, when you lay you down to sleep, Do not worry for the dear one in the fight,

For you know our cause is just, our motto is "In God We Trust,"

And the boy you love will come back home all right.

When this cruel war is o'er and our boys come home once more There will be a time in towns to beat the band,

Every sailor and soldier brave that helped to free a tyrant's slave, Will be welcomed with our flag in Free-

Do your part and they'll do their's to give this world a treat

By meting our justice to the Kaiser.

If we refuse to do our part and cause our boys to fail,
Who of us would want to live to hear the shameful tale,
Of mothers weeping for their sons, hear the awful wail. We failed to help our boys to get the Kaiser.

We'd rather be within our graves than have our boys to say,
We failed to wake up soon enough to help them win the day,

Defeat and Victory.

Copyright, 1918, by Edgar A. Guest. Defeat and victory are kin, And one must know them both to win; He has not proved his worth at all Who has not suffered from a fall. The victor's part man cannot choose; Who, seeks to win, must learn to lose.

Man in his failures looks the best: Tis there he meets life's real test. In every form of strife there lies A richer treasure than the prize, And he who places victory first Has set his standard with the worst.

Who will not rather choose defeat Than stoop to conquer by deceit-Who counts an honest effort less Than viciously attained success— Has failed in life's supremest test, Whatever medals deck his breast.

The brighter glories sometimes fall To him that men a failure call.
The goal he misses is his pride;
For when his soul was being tried
He chose to lose the victor's fame
Than wiu by any trick of shame.

Better it is to miss the goal Than stain the splendor of the soul; And when at last the race is done And known are all we've lost and won, Our failures then may brighter glow Than all the victories we show.

A Terrible Disease

A corporal was stricken with a severe case of tonsilitis and one morning the ambulanec stopped to take him to the base hospital.

As he entered the ambulance one soldier said, "Has he got the measles?" A second said. "No, he's a corporal." The first one answered with a groan, Good Lord, that's just as bad!"

It Happened In Arkansas.

"Uncle John," said a young soldier to an old Confederate veteran a few days ago. "What do you think of the war by now?"

"Well, son," said the old man, "you see, I ain't been readin' much of late but I'm still of the same opinion I al-ways was. I don't think General Lee had oughtto have ever surrendered."

"Over the top!"

Yes, and still going strong!

That's the way things are always done at the United States School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park. And the Airscouts' participation in the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign was not an exception to the rule.

Never was a more loyal, more patriotic bunch of fellows gathered together than those at the S. A. P. In addition to going through the school course, the Airscouts have taken part in every patriotic meeting or campaign in Rochester since the school opened.

"Wow! Lookahere boys!" yelled one soldier, "here's one for $10,000."

One of the boys dashed down to Liberty Loan headquarters, not believing his eyesight and fearing that someone might have been trying to perpetrate a hoax, The signature was verified by Mr. Swanton, and the deal was closed. The subscriber was the Stein-Snyder Corporation of 14 Mart Place. In addition, at least $5,000 more was raised during the day.

Whether called upon for companies to parade, men to act as ushers, a band to enliven a meeting, a demonstration of military tactics or an aeroplane flight, the S. A. P. boys have always been "there." On Bastille Day, when Rochester, in unison with all America, celebrated the French national holiday, the Airscouts paraded, gave a flag raising demonstration at the big Convention Hall meeting, sang and enter-tained with Fife and Drum Corps selections. In addition, a military aeroplane followed the paraders, hovering low o'er the city and giving an excel-lent opportunity for Rochesterians to see just what their machine looks like.

Big Exposition Demonstration.

At the Rochester Exposition the boys took Rochesterians further into their confidence and demonstrated, with their cameras, motor lorrie and other apparatus, just how pictures are taken, developed and printed at the front "over there." Even the motor-cycle messenger service was included in the ceremony, which followed the presentation of the colors to the school by the Rochester Chamber of Com-

To every Liberty Loan floated since the school was established, the Air-scouts have contributed liberally. Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates have been purchased by the A. P. boys in goodly numbers and sent to the "folks back home" as gifts. But it was the Fourth Liberty Loan that called forth the climax of patriotism at the U.S.A.S.A.P. The opening morning of the country-wide campaign found all the Airscouts gathered in the "Y"-K. C. Recreation Hut, where patriotic appeals were heard. Then it was that the "big push" began and Airscout after Airscout AIRSCOUTS' BAND AS IT APPEARED IN MANY OF THE BIG LIBERTY LOAN PROCESSIONS IN ROCHESTER.

Banker Loses Big Subscription to Kodak Park Boys

"Curses, what luck! I had 'em lined up on my list!" said Thomas J. Swanton, banker, when he found yesterday afternoon that the boys, from the United States School of Aerial Photography at Kodak, Park had "beaten him" to a $10,000 subscription for the Fourth Liberty Loan.

The "Over the Top" trench in front of the Eastwood store in Main Street East was manned yesterday afternoon by a squad including Privates Kieley, Kilmartin, Knoble, Turner and Goldstein. Then they had a performance by two instrumentalists who would have graced a high class vaudeville stage. The performers were Carl B. Thompson of Indiana, who played a Hawaiian taropatch, and Arthur Marsh of Boston, who was a violinist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

"A bond and you can go over the top!" was the cry of the soldiers, and the subscribers came thick and fast. Finally a man stepped forward and said:

STILL WITH US!

It is with a mingled feeling of sadness and exultation that we record the passing of Angelo J. Newman, Knights of Columbus secretary at the S. A. P., who "went west" Monday noon.

Angelo was one of the first to come to the school. He inaugurated the work at the S. A. P., and put his heart and soul into it. His time, his means and his heart were the property of any Airscout who could be benefited thereby. No task was too small for him to undertake, and he was daunted by the size of none.

Hours counted little to Angelo. From early morning until late at night he labored for the welfare of the Airscouts. He cared nothing for the creed, rank or position of those who needed his help. Whether it was a small loan, a friendly chat, a letter home to straighten out difficulties or a pat on the back and a word of encouragement, Angelo always was equal to the task.

His personality and sunny disposition permeated the "Y"-K. C. Hut and spread o'er every gathering which he attended. Many an Airscout has been kept on the straight road, many a man has been set going right, and many owe to Angelo their success in the

The livestock on the farm must have had a big scare that night, or thought the millennium had come, for the 145 youngsters who were there simply let loose. The crowd overflowed the big home, which is made from materials from fourteen different houses, resulting in a re-markable combination of antique and modern architecture, modeled after that of the English poet, Clarence Steadman.

The revelry kept up to its normal pitch for the greater part of the evening, and it was a brilliant affair, re-minding one of the "Eve Before Waterloo." An innovation which back from all lines of transportation does not affect the popularity of "Pop's" treats, and the boys would be glad to walk many more miles to get there, if necessary; in fact, they always receive a ready welcome when stopping in during a hike along that part of the country.

He served at the hut with distinguished success until the time of distinguished success until the time of his last illness. Much of his work at Kodak Park was of a quiet, personal nature, the details of which never will be known to more than a few persons. Through his big-hearted interest in his "boys" he banishsed many a serious case of homesickness and discouragement and smoothed over numerous little troubles which otherwise might little troubles which otherwise might have wrecked the military and student careers of the individual soldiers who came under his care.

Besides his mother, Mrs. Theresa M. Newman, he leaves a sister, Miss Eleanor A. Newman, and a brother, Leon Newman. Miss Newman is ill of the same disease which proved fatal to her brother. He was a member of Rochester Council 178, Knights of Columbus, and of the Fourth Degree Assembly; Musa Caravan, Order of Alhambra; Catholic Actors Guild, and Flower City Council 203, Order of United Commercial Travelers.

The funeral will take place on Thursday morning at 9.30 o'clock from the home and at 10 o'clock from St. Monica's Church. Angelo J. Newman, one of the best Cemetery.

Immortal Youth.

In the last issue of The Snapshot, private. a little space was devoted to our own Angelo Newman. It was all that could be done, but it was less than the hearts of his old friends hold. If love could only be crystallized into words, what violets of eulogy would blossom o'er his grave!

The life of Angelo Newman was a success. His holdings in affection and friendship were beyond measure. These are the only things of value a man may possess.

Now that we seek and find him not, we miss him all the time. We cannot match the music of his laughter. Our songs halt without his ringing lead The way seems empty without his joyous hail.

Out of the unknown he came into our world to bring cheer. Quickly he passed his splendid June, scattering the red flowers of love with free hand; and, like June, he has vanished with the smile of springtime on his lips.

He was the eternal boy, and now he has inherited the immortal youthfulness of the early dead, whose "memo-ries hold in death's unyielding fee, the youth that thrilled them to their fin-

No one ever exemplified better than did he those words of Robert Louis Stevenson: "When he entered a room, it was as though another candle had been lighted."

Angelo Newman's candle of cheer was kept lighted for his friend; it sparkled for festivity; it lighted up dull corners, and the memory of its burning will shine long in many lives. He is not dead, this friend, not dead, But in the path we mortals tread Has got some trifling steps ahead,

And near to the end.

He's turned the road beyond the stile
That marks the first glad heavenly

And, somewhere, in a little while,
His whistle shall resound.

Write That Letter to Mother.

Write that letter home to Mother Do not neglect it! Let your Mother have first place in everything. You owe your life to her; pay for your life with love. "If your Mother be spared to you, then are you bound to make her a first charge on your life, as you desire a peaceful, conscience as you shall answer before the judgment-seat of God.'

Realize that your Mother is growing old. When you entered the service and left home, remember how tenderly and wistfully her eyes followed you; think how her heart is aching for your safe return. When you do return, there is bound to come a day when you will walk about the old home with hushed footsteps. Into her room you will steal to bid goodbye to the dear old face, so strangely white. Then, it may be your heart may grow sick with remorse over some neglect of yours, which might have been easily avoided. With that in mind, write a letter to Mother to-day! And just say you love her! It will do a world of good, and you will feel better for it.

The only way we can comprehend the infinite love of God is in terms of Mother. In the dedication of "The Light That Failed," Kipling has celebrated the fiving power of mother-

If I were hanged on the highest hill, Mother o' mine, O mother o' mine! I know whose life would follow me still, Mother o' mine, O mother o' mine!

If I were drowned in the deepest sea, Mother o' mine, O mother o' mine! I know whose tears would come down to me, Mother o' mine, O mother o' mine!

If I were damned of body and soul,

I know whose prayers would make me whole.

Mother o' mine, O mother o' mine!

"Dog it, and you'll take the count. Be game and they'll never get you. Keep busy. Idleness is as great a curse as liquor and indolence is worse than idleness. I hate to see a quitter and the man who quits to his own self is the rankest quitter of all. Step lively, be on the go, and you'll keep out of the way of the knock-out punch. The real Knock-outs of life are not delivered by the fist."

A lazy man is as good as a dead man but he takes up more room.

There's a good bunch of live news from the Airscouts this week. We | sleeps a long way from the window. hope to keep it up.

The quarantine gives the Airscouts more time to write. Hence we expect more copy for next week.

"High Lights and Shadows" promises to appear in the next issue. Watch for it.

Then, too, the "Remember When" series is batting strong this week. But the "Can You Imagine" could use more imagination.

We wonder if the Airscouts will ever completely fill The Snapshot.

Rumors are that, with the arrival of the Third Company, Private Hicks, the vocalist and once comedian, had a Spanish Ameringo from Jersey City wire him that she would come Monday. "Flue" came Monday and now we are tied down tighter than a barber on Saturday night.

The Headquarters Company, not being satisfied with having "Flue" with us, entertain in her honor and put on a two-act hit, entitled "Oh Flue, You Dirty Devil." The cast of The cast of characters, although direct descendants of Kansas City and Indiana, took the role and did it justice. Senor Motschenbacher as Juliet, the belle of Jim Duffy's bar, garbed in her khaki robe and tan shoe polish complexion, sang from the balcony on the table to her lover, Bull Fighting Douglass, as he sweetly played his guitar on the piazza beneath. Throughout the songs a touching of swearing was noticeable. The play, stage setting. etc., was credited to Prof. Mazdon. Influenza Claims Soldier-Fiddler from "Over the Top"

Private Arthur Marsh of the U. S. A. School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park, who has done valiant work for the Fourth Liberty Loan, is a victim of the Spanish influenza, and was taken in an ambulance Sunday from the Whitcomb House to the In-fants' Summer Hospital at the lake-side, there to be treated with others from Kodak Park suffering from the same disease.

when the soldiers at Kodak Park were placed in quarantine, Private Carl B. Thompson and Private Marsh were in charge of the "Over the Top" stunt on Main Street East, and they obtained special dispensation through the efforts of the Liberty Lean Comthe efforts of the Liberty Loan Com-mittee to remain out of barracks. They stopped at the Whitcomb House.

On Saturday March complained of a cold and was put to bed. Yestera cold and was put to bed. Airscout's Who's Who!

INSTRUCTOR HERBERT F. LANG of the Copying Department joined the air service on March 22, 1918. He was born in Cambridge, Mass., March 21, 1896, where he made his home since childhood.

During the time he was attending high school and the years following his graduation he has spent in the phoins graduation he has specific the photographic profession. Due to his competency, Lang was appointed official photographer to the Egyptian expeditions conducted by the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, Mass.; University of Pennsylvania and Harvard University, under Professor Clarence S. Fisher, who was in charge of the scientific and historical research work in Egyptology.

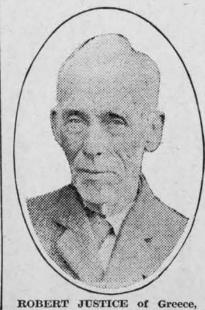

Due to the fact that war broke out in 1914, Lang was unable to join the expedition, then operating in the vicinity of the Great Pyramids and the Sphinx in the Nile country, but in-stead devoted his time to the study of Egyptology in the Museum of Fine Arts at Boston.

For the past two years Instructor Lang has been associated with the Bachrach Studios, operating in all the large cities of the East.

Although he has been very successful in the photographic game, he says that one of these days he may surprise his friends when he branches out as a full-fleaged la he has been studying law on the q. t. EDW. SPUCK, Prop. for some time.

DORM. 5---"SOME" DORM.

Someone unearthed a piece of brass pipe at one time and for a while, throwing this around on the floor of a morning, awakened all the tired "soldiers" in the dorm. But we have become so used to its musical notes that they don't bother us at all, at all! So roll is now called each morning by the Acting Room Sergeant and occasionally this brings forth a sleepy response. We wonder who wakes the A. R. S. Must be the last one in, from the hours most of them keep.

We have with us Auers, the exdrummer; Musgrave, the mail orderly, and Simpson and Myers, just plain instructors without a reputation. They, possibly, are the best sleepers in the entire school, both Simpson and Auers having been known to sleep an entire day without eating, which is going some. However, when night drew down the shades, we noticed they both stirred uneasily, arose and went forth. Which reminds us that Auers goes out before mess in the evening quite frequently and causes us to winder if she feeds him because she loves him, or whether she charges board. Myers sleeps so well that he spent one night with his hand resting on the hot radiator and wondered what had caused the burn. And Musgrave had to be held up in bed one morning while the med-ico sprayed his nose as he (Musgrave)

Those of us who do awaken, however, enjoy greatly Shortly Hancock's antics as he slowly comes to life and sits on his bunk scratching himself. If he hasn't "cooties" now, possibly this scratching is done in the way of a little practice. Who knows? He'll have to do his scratching before he arises, however, if this cool weather lasts. Another source of merriment for the Owls in the dorm is to hear Freher howl when he is appointed room orderly. And if anyone does not believe these boys are Owls, walk into the dorm some morning at 2 a. m. and note the gobs of emptiness.

Sparling wants to know who painted the word "Hot" in front of Air Service on his foot locker, and wonders whether anyone was attempting to insinuate that it was applicable in his

We also have the only Acting Room Sergeant who was broken and remade all in one day. The latter because no one wanted the job in this particular dorm on account of the high percentage of Gold Bricks.

Who can suggest some method whereby Smalke can be persuaded to sweep under his bunk?

Where was Barktowitz one Saturday night, and what did he do that he was sick all day Sunday and Monday?

Bradley, Sorenson, Fulton and the A. R. S. seem to be the only well behaved men in the dorm, even though Fulton does sleep with his knees drawn up and has to be awakened at down.

We thank you for the space.

You're welcome. Come again and often!-Ed. Snapshot.

sad-Rochester has the "Fleuzie"-they've shut up everything in town (except the gossips "they say there's over 200 per cent of them soldiers sick at the Infants Summer Hospital,' 'etc.) the S. A. P. Yank has nowhere to go except the "Y-K. C."

Too bad-well, here's the movies over at the Hut. Let's go.

Any old day, Bo, they tell you there's nothing stirring. What's the noise? Wow, it's the Jazz Band that's fit to play. Lookit that guy slide over them keys! An' a saxaphone, a fiddle and a cornet. We'll have to have it reblocked at the hatters before it'll hold any more contribs.

Four hours, you say? Yessir, they've been having a musical mara-thon and as soon as one man wants a smoke, some body else takes his job. And the rest sing and whittle and

Roy Miller can certainly shake his feet, can't he? But he's got competi--there's some classy bunch o' buck and wing boys here. Say, didja know we had anything like this at the school? Neither did I. That boy's got anything at the Gaiety skinned a Funny thing, when the movie was a going, did you see those two doughboys playing "midnight pool"? There was just enough light from the counter to show up the balls and b'gosh they played two games.

The Volunteer "Y" Man. First Night On the Job.

The hardest thing for any man to keep on believing is that folks about the same all over the civilized world. We all know it, but we have to keep finding it out.

Put a bunch of boys into uniforms and they may look different from the outside, but they're just the same kind of folks as the rest of us.

In five minutes behind the counter, I got over the feeling of strangeness and was memorizing prices and the places where the goods were kept so that I shouldn't give too little or tell someone we didn't have soemthing if we did. And then it was a case of hustle. A normal man has a grand appetite for candy! This evening the cash register recorded 329 transac-I believe a fair sized department store would result if we had everything called for.

My deepest impression is the uniform courtesy and friendliness of the boys in uniform. I believe the same number of men in civilian clothes would have had a lot of grousing to do, that they would have been short and curt, but our boys buy with a smile and share everything with the Sensational items in the daily news-papers seem to indicate that certain Rochester policemen and other officers are trying to gain a reputation for efficiency by stirring up charges of immorality around Kodak Park. A cleaner, better set of boys than we have here in the S. A. P. cannot be found anywhere. They are better, as a group, than the average college community. It certainly is an honor to be associated with them. They have contributed much to the life of Rochester; giving material assistance to the latest Liberty Loan of upwards thirty thousand dollars, and sending representatives into the local campaign to give it vigor and military color. The soldiers of Kodak Park have been seen often in parades and their band has added to many a patriotic occasion. The citizens of Rochester are properly proud of our Kodak men and will be slow to believe any reports against them.

CAMP SCANDAL

The Rochester authorities better devote their energies to cleaning up civilian offenders. Our soldiers are perfectly able to control themselves. Much of what has been said about the woman question involving Kodak Park is absurdly false, and the rest is greatly exaggerated.

To many who will pass along Main Street East to-day the familiar faces of the Kodak Park soldiers who had charge of the "Over the Top" bond selling feature in front of the Hyde Drug Company's store will be greatly missed. Probably no single phase of the campaign appealed more to the popular interest than did this and the "Through the Trenches" novelty on "Through the Trenches" novelty on the south side of Main Street East, directly opposite "Over the Top." No small amount of real talent was put forth by the Kodak Park boys in Many times have we submitted it! In fact, we proclaim it from the "Over the Counter" column on Page One to the last of the "Rank Verses" that may or may not grace the bottom of the news column on Page Four.

Once we rose to remark that the Trench and Camp at Camp Travis, San Antonio, Texas, thought well of our "Weekly Letter Home" featureand cribbed it!

Now we proclaim to all Airscouts that The Snapshot again has been the trail blazer, this time opening the path of Trench and Camp of Carlstrome Field, Arcadia, Fla., through the Everglades of the Southern state to the soldier boys' homes. Barbers Now Ready To Snip Off Bond Coupons

Private Le Roy Musgrave, the well known Mail Orderly of U. S. A. S. A. P., boldly walked into the barber shop at the Aerial School on October 16 and, after using but little of his usual smooth line of persuasion, departed with more than $1,000 in real American money.

Beside working the prescribed number of hours each day on the mail force and getting not more than the alloted amount of bunk fatigue, Private Musgrave has been a whirlwind, both in the vicinity of the school and downtown in selling Liberty Bonds.

The popular barber in the Airscout Barracks was no exception to the wiles of Musgrave, who first approached him in terms of a $500 subscription, although he knew full well that Mr. Basher had already purchased two $100 bonds. Wishing to test the metal of Mr. Basher, Musgrave egged him on to the tune of 800, 900, and finally displayed the Dey're going to call me Sammy. limit of his nerve, saying, "Make it My God! What have I did? an even thousand and we'll call it square," which Mr. Basher did without a tremor. Not satisfied with this, Musgrave turned on Mr. Basher's assistant tonsorial artist and when Mr. Gardener came up for air he also was the proud possessor of a bond at a handsome price.

Musgrave says it's a great drive and that our barbers sure went "over the spot cash and not a whimper. Attention, you bloated plutocrats, who take the crooked path around the Liberty Trench on Main Street!

Call Me Yank.

My God! What have I did? Why don't they make it "Cutie Dear?" Or "Ferdinand" or "Kid"?

I wonder for dat handle Just who I got to t'ank? Why don't dey cut dat Sammy stuff And stick to good old "Yank":

dere's a name I fall for; It's big and strong and frank. Bo, deres' a name dat's got some pep-A good, loud bellowed "Yank."

I'll bet some sewing circle Or some newspaper crank Wished dat dere "Sammy" on me. Hell!

Why don't dey call me "Yank"? -From Stars and Stripes

As every issue of The Snapshot harps on the band, more or less, our contribution may not be out of place. As the band leads the way to so many occasions, we deem it a privilege to put them at the top of the column, unless this looks like Chinese ciphering to The Editor. Due credit must be given to the gas blowers for their successful performance when the Airscouts marched over Tuesday morning to pay their respects to Major Barnes, who was ill at the time, and, as usual, the unexpected happened.

Instead of the anticipated flying out of the window, we were greeted with a most gracious smile. But "Birdie" couldn't voice his objections strong enough against the trombone, which reminded him of a cow. He is going to suggest getting one, for a cow gives milk besides!

Why was Red "red?" Some ruddy complexions come from outdoor life, others from the pharmacists, and still others from the mainstay of the brushpushers' art—shoe polish. But Red Nugent's, no doubt, came from more or less continued blushing. The other day when a fair young damsel—they're all fair—told Red his fortune -and, by the way, that is coming to be the modern excuse for holding hands-he must have thought he was facing a firing squad, for she told him a lot of unpleasant things, the truth not always being agreeable. Red tried to make himself scarce, but he couldn't even get his feet under the What happened after that is more than we can tell, but an observer came through with flying colors.

Why did the 'plane refuse to plane when Mazdon went up? Perhaps Pop wasn't destined to go in that direction, eventually, but then again, two hundred and eighty-five (285) pounds is quite a lift and "Com'on, Skinnay" says that the fat men ought to go to the Devil. We would suggest a more pretentious plane, with wings, having a spread of an acre or so, and a power house as motive power.

Hancock and Bradley went out to take some pictures along the hillside with an axe and broom and camera, (of course). Why the heavy artillery to assist them in shooting was not evident at first, but from a number of tree stumps and clean paths that remained, we should have guessed that they would not let such things as trees and leaf-strewn paths interfere with good compositions.

They tell us that Camp is concoting what he calls a Hash Solution for combined developing, fixing, toning, wash'em and dry'em, all in one process. Sergeant Slitter has one better. Says he: "Why all that mess? Expose through a Type X on Solio Paper and come down with a finished print. The vibration of the plane will accelerate the action.

Wonder where Sergeant Sladek is those days! Hunting up and exterminating the "flu," some one informs us. you'll be wantin the fireside, George, and wonderin' what is the matter with the old chimney.

It pays to advertise! No matter how -just get it across. Is that why T. B. X. spends so much time in the You Guard House? Not that he likes it, but it sort of helps the cause along.

> Sergeant McKinney, M. P. Member of Parliament) is doing his bit in holding down this epidemic. He almost caught a roadlouse on a rampage the other night. Wonder whose Rainy weather does not seem to dampen the spirits of the Jazz Impromptus a bit. In fact, it almost inspires them to murder.

Who was Mark Twain thinking of when he said: "To be good is to be noble, but to teach others to be good is nobler and no trouble?"

Never saw so much indignation as was aroused last Friday evening over an item in the Times-Union. It was as dastardly an attack as was ever published in a newspaper. The person responsible will, no doubt, hear more about it. It is such statements that give insiduous propaganda an opportunity to degrade the American Army.

The "Y"-K. C. secretaries are doing a good deal to make the hardships of quarantine more pleasant, and yet, it is difficult for the older men to realize that Angelo has "gone west."

It is rumored that Sergeant Keyes and Instructor Addison have everything in readiness for the opening of their Bible class next Sunday. It is not yet decided who will deliver the sermon or address, but judging by the way Keyes is applying himself to the Good Book these days, it would cause little surprise amongst us if he would have the honor. Services in Latrine "A," 10 a. m. "Suffer, Ye Gold Bricks, and Come Unto Me."

We are glad to have Sister Simpson back with us again. We trust it won't be long 'ere the bloom of youth will be restored to your cheeks.

Now Haberman always breaks in a pipe by the English method. Have you tried it out yet, Bradley.

Johnson, now laid up in the hospital, nearly suffered a collapse last Thursday when he read The Snapshot. He "For the love of Mike, fellers, don't send a Snapshot to my wife. If she ever knew I was out with two brunettes, she'd-well, anyhow, she don't trust brunettes. Gee! just 'cause a guy's married, that doesn't prevent him from having a good time once in a while, does it?" (Chicago papers don't please copy.)

FIRST AIRSCOUTS TO DIE OF SPANISH INFLUENZA

Ray G. Teetshorn of Houston, Texas, a private at the United States Army School of Aerial Photography, died last Monday in the Infants Summer Hospital. He contracted influenza only a few days before, and the disease rapidly developed into pneumonia. His death was the first at the Infants Summer Hospital.

Mr. Teetshorn was 29 years old and a popular young business man in his home city, having been secretary and treasurer of the Teetshorn Company. He was of athetic build, weighing more than 200 pounds, and had been very active in all student affairs since coming to the school. He was an experience of the school. very active in all student affairs since coming to the school. He was an expert photographer, and for that reason chose that branch of the service when enlisting some months ago. M. E. Teetshorn, the young man's father, arrived in Rochester a few hours after his death. He returned to Houston with his son's body.

Frank J. Shelvey.

Private Frank J. Shelvey, aged 26 years, a student at the United States Army School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park, died on Sunday evening at the Infants Summer Hospital at Charlotte of influenza. He had been ill about a week rivate Shelvey had c in the school and was detailed as a member of the U. S. A. S. A. P. Band, in which he played the cymbals. He also was a member of the Madison Barracks Band, as well as the Frolics. His home was in Waterbury, Conn., where his mother now resides. Private Shelvey was well known throughout the country as a contortionist, being a member of the "big time" vaude-ville team known as The Three Shelveys. As such he often had been booked here. Besides his mother, Private Shelvey leaves his two brothers, both of whom are an service. One is in France, the other in a training camp in this country.

Walter W. Welz.

Private Walter W. Welz, aged 26 years, a member of Company 1 of the United States Army School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park, died Monday in the Infants Summer Hospital of Spanish influenza. His home was in Warsaw.

James R. Cartwright.

Private James R. Cartwright, aged 25 years, enlisted in Company 2 of the United States Army School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park, died Monday of Spanish influenza in the Infants Summer Hospital. His home was in Trenton, N. J.

His Concern.

"Now, Rastus," asked the captain,

"don't you want to make your will before you go over?"

"Will, nuthin', suh! De only will I'se worryin' about is will I come back?"

Oversea Examination.

A rookie was getting ready for his oversea examination. The captain him. He replied: "No, sir; I have two packages of Camel and one package of Omar cigarettes over in my blouse."

Attention! Don't hold the phone too long. Someone else is waiting to use it. Be considerate.

Did any one notice mail orderly Musgrave's new wrist watch? Some girl, Roy! You certainly have had it soft since you have been here, with an auto all summer. Well, some people are lucky, so let the good work ontinue, for we'll say she must love you, as the watch is a beauty, even with a compass attached.

Cited for Good Fellowship-

To cite for good fellowship all deserving men at Kodak Park S. A. P. would include practically the entire rooster. However, certain men have freely given their services at the hut to entertain their fellows. These deserve special mention, the piano player, the trap drummer, counter men, singers, movie operators, bandsmen, dancers, and all who add to the fun, helping to drive dull care away.

We acknowledge assistance from the following: Joseph Chester Clark, E. T. Baldridge, Sidney C. Baker, Clyde L. Cook, Sergeant Denham, Robert J. Duggin, Charles Davidyen, Privates Dey and Douglas, Connie Hicks, Sam Harrison, Harry Murphy, H. A. Riebe, Forest Spinney, Harold Wilkins, K. F. Sincox and Frank Prochaska.

Kodak Park Benedicts-

Quite a number of our brave men have committed matrimony of late. Far be it from us to join the pert paragraphers who speak lightly of the married state. Some mean philospher has said: "Marriage separates a bachelor from a lot of illusions.' Therefore to marry implies courage. Hats off to the Benedicts!

Neither team had rehearsed enough for the rehearsal to call itself a team, although the individual luminaries were many. The Varsity far out-weighed the S. A. P. boys, who, with half their original lineup shot away through injuries, put up as game a fight as the marines at Chateau-Thierry. The loss of Lieutenant Ray (Beany) Brown, whose ribs were slightly bent in the second quarter, and M. B. Weidenthal, one of whose ribs was broken in the same chapter, failed to take the heart out of the Airscouts. Beany Brown put up the same sort of game against his old college mates that he did when he wore the yellow back in '10, '11 and '12. was necessary to rush Weidenthal away in the S. A. Put Out in First Play.

Bell, one of the fifty or sixty substitutes put in for the Varsity by "Doc" Edwin Fauver, was the main casualty for the students. In the first play he entered he tackled Messegee, throwing him for a loss, and was carried from the field in a dazed con-

Mostly because of lack of practice, the Airscouts failed to make a single first down in the game. The first touchdown for the Varsity was put over by Red Adams after only five minutes of play. The Kodak Park boys toppled on the ball after Varminutes of play. The Kodak Park boys toppled on the ball after Varsity fumbled time after time, but always were held or thrown back, and Nugent's boot was relied on to put them out of danger. Then Adams, the two Hummells and Sullivan mixed in Fullback.

The grandstand was fairly well filled with members of the Student Army Training Corps and the Kodak Park boys, with a few of their feminine friends. Between the halves the old snake line of the U. of R. wriggled across the field, with the Kodak Park band playing from one grandstand.

It was announced at the game that more football uniforms are needed by the Kodak Park boys. They appeared Saturday in the scarlet and white jerseys and moleskins of the Jeffersons.

In Behalf of the Soldiers,

Editor, Times-Union: A few days ago there was an article in the papers about the police of Rochester cleaning up at Kodak Park Photo School. I think that if the police would get busy and clean up the city and vicinity of the pro-Germans that were low enough to put such an article in the papers about our soldiers they would be serving the country best.

The soldiers pass my house six times a day when they go back and forth to mess and I have met a good many of them. They have called at my house and I never met a finer lot of boys. They proved they were gentlemen by their behavior in the presence of my wife and daughter. I think they always prove they are the same when in the presence of any respectable people, and that some of our young civilians that stand on street corners and make remarks at young ladies as they pass by, or take their girls and run up and down the street and get in front of your house and holler and yell or come poking around at 2.3 o'clock in the morning and wake you up do not prove themselves half the gentlemen that the soldiers are.

The Editor's idea of a gold brick is the bird who waits until Sunday night to write his news for The Snapshot and then expects the printers to work overtime setting it up for the next issue.

Or, the bird who gets a copy of The Snapshot every week and doesn't even take the time to suggest an "Out of Focus" item.

FROM THE MAILBAG!

October 25, 1918.

Dear Mr. Editor:

In your last edition you said the dope was running low, and for fear you haven't enough to fill out the sheet, I'm going to write you about the boys.

You ain't seen our football team, have you, editor Well, boy, we're going to have Some Team! Never in my life saw a bunch of rooks get rounded into shape as quickly as the We're for them, too, and will back 'em to the limit. In order to keep them in A-1 condition, we give them Class 4-A Exemption, which allows them a few minor privileges, such as no Reveille, no Drill, No Frog Squat Exercises, no Guard Duty, etc. Outside of that, they are worked to death. Come up and see them some time.

Two of our privates looped the loop this week and, in other words, now have $14 more every month to squan-Weidenthal, the inventor, instructor and demonstrator of every kind of a camera from an Ingersoll to an Eastman L type, is now the possessor of three stripes and a company. His first opportunity to use the stripes was to put Battling Urguard and Skinner, Jack Nesbit under arrest for demonstrating the Pug Stuff coming home from chow.

John J. Smalter, pilot of the Post Office crew and a resident of Menominee, Mich., was presented a Christmas present for his services, due to his ability to pacify the angry mob when they don't get their mail, and his remarkable choice in picking assistants to help run the mail wagon. Mr. Editor, it is a fact that a guy's mail is more important than the beans we so often encounter at chow, and Sergeant John is the boy who sees that they get it. Still they say that Michigan boys ain't got no style! Someone hung a crepe on the motorcycle crew to-day when a fifteen minute an hour effect went through Parliament. Course there wasn't any sense to it, but it seems that the Chief of Police thought he was losing too many cops, and pedestrians were all running for a pole when thew saw one again brought to life. through which resulted in the men with the instructors as drill masters. For Squads Right the command is Pyro A, Squads Left is Pyro B, and Dismissed is Hpyo.

Say, Editor, did you ever get out of bed so quickly to get to work that you forgot to fix your worldly possessions in a military fashion? Let me tip you off, in case you have a Class 1-A Questionnaire, and that is, when you get in the army, keep your bed made up. The writer was sentenced to hard labor for this fault, and was seen on the parade ground with a sack gathering waste papers, bottles, yesterday's cigarettes,

Jack Miller, the King of the Garage, hauled Flu around so long he liked it well enough to go to the hospital for a furlough. The boys say if he stays a month he won't catch up the sleep he lost the past few weeks. He's a good guy, though, Ed and we're hoping he gets back soon. Yourell has gone down to keep him company, but both boys are doing fine.

We had Valentine come down to the "Y" and take the wrinkles out of the piano, and he sure made some music. Come again, Val.

The quarantine still sticks around the place, and is about as welcome as Reveille. Something is always taking the joy out of life. Well, Ed., guess this cleans up most of the stuff. If you ain't got no room to put this stuff in next week, it won't make much difference, but save the paper.

Sincerely,

Field.

Now we have with us four "Military Science Instructors" - Hyer, Ames, Fulton and Haberman. How do they

First day, Haberman furnished quite a little amusement for the birds in the Headquarters Company trying to do About Face. Lang tried to show him how, but somehow neither could prove to the satisfaction of Referee Hunter

WAR CAMP COMMUNITY SERVICE NOW FULLY ORGANIZED IN CITY

Announcement is made of the appointment by Joseph Lee of Washington, president of the National War Camp Community Service of the Fosdick Commission on Training Camp activities, of the following Rochester people to act as an executive committee for the work of the War Camp Community Service in this locality: Bertram E. Wilson, president; Elmer E. Fairchild, Henry D. Shedd, William F. Smith, J. Warrant Castleman, Rev. Dr. Horace J. Wolf, and Miss Edith Horace J. Wolf, and Miss Edith James J. Carmichael of Rochester, recently elected president of the Ki-wanis Club, has resigned that office and given up his business to become executive secretary of the War Camp Community Service in the Rochester district, succeeding George E. Mayer district, succeeding George E. Mayer of Brooklyn, who organized the work here about two months ago. Backing Mr. Carmichael, in addition to the executive committee named above, is a central committee of 45, representing all of the various philanthropic and social welfare organizations of the city, with the Mayor as honorary president.

JAMES J. CARMICHAEL

Offices of the War Camp Community Service are at 127 East Avenue, where Mr. Carmichael makes his headquarters. One of the first activities engaged in by the new executive secretary was the furnishing of uniforms and other equipment for the facther selection. football eleven composed of soldier-students from the United States Army School of Aerial Photography, which played its first game yesterday with the University S. A. T. C. team. Some of the uniforms were loaned by the Jefferson football team.

Jefferson football team.

Mr. Wilson, president of the executive committee, will immediately appoint a number of working committees to assist Mr. Carmichael in the work here. Herman J. Norton, supervisor of recreation and physical education in the public schools, has been made chairman of the committee on athletics and recreation.

The big event of the week was the football team's scrimmage practice with the University of Rochester eleven. It had all the earmarks of a real game. The players went up there wrapped in smiles, and they were torn up so that they didn't even wear that on the return home. As individuals, the starry firmament was congested, but the question comes to mind: "Did any of the team retrospectively inquire before the game: 'Am I my brother's keeper'?" There didn't seem to be any joints or hinges in the line, though the advance guard made an attempt to put up a stiff game. A little more scrimmage practice may make some bones more pliable, if they don't break.

"Squads East! Squads West!" Once more, dear drill, I with rap-tures behold thee • •

The parade ground is once again being flattened down by systematic foot-work, and the I. D. R.'s are being dusted off. It's an ill wind that blows nobody good, and Airscouts are learning a lot of things they had forgotten. We have been admonished never to hesitate at the execution. Why murder a good thing?

Freher has a pretty new step on the moving pivot that is somewhat difficult to describe. It is somewhat like the beginning of a chorus girl's kick mixed with a little goose step.

When "Major" Minor came rushing in the other evening cuffless, or rather leggingless, or both. he took us by surprise. Where was he that he left so suddenly as to forget his leggings and what had happened? All were be-wildered until Minor caught his breath and explained that he had forgotten to put them on, and only got as far as the doorway!

ROCHESTER, N. Y.,

The boys "over there" are now writing from "Somewhere in France;" pretty soon it'll be "Somewhere in Germany."

One of our boys leaned up against the counter, lighted a cigarette, inhaled deeply, and remarked in a drawling voice: "They say the Kaiser's name is pronounced 'Wil-hel-m.' Yes, indeed, we will-HELL-'im."

The Scotchman's definition of efficiency is fairly accurate: "It's nae rememberin' so mooch; it's thinking

Peter Preaches.

If you like dogs, our hut must please you, because the place is fairly carpeted with dogs.

You can learn a great deal from a dog if you will observe his ways. They all have their faults, but, in common they possess certain virtues which men lack. I have an airedale named Peter. He has never occupied a pulpit, so far as I know, and yet he is capable of preaching the best of sermons in his own peculiar doggish way. He reminds me of the young man who, on being examined for the ministry, was asked: "Under whose preaching were you converted?"

"No one's preaching," was the prompt answer. "I was converted under my mother's practicing."

That is the way with Peter's preaching. He doesn't bark about it once a week for a slight consideration, but he just lives loyalty and love and happiness, and a kind of dumb ecstacy of good-fellowship and devotion all the time. When I go away, he raises his face to high heaven in wailing protest. He will leave his food any time to see me safely started on my journey. When I come back I am certain of that quick rush with its choking cry of welcome. The moods and conventions of society are unknown to Peter. The meannesses of men are not in his make-up. As the standing committee on hospitality he requires no admonition to "welcome the coming, speed the parting guest." He is always on the job. He continues to leap to my breast with cries of joy whenever care to come, no matter what the world says of me, or what I have ever done, even to him. His love is changeless, frank, entire. He never explains, he never apologizes. He is never insincere.

A dog's constant sermon is EX-PRESSION. They teach you to keep your enthusiasms and dare to show them; frankly to tell your friends you love them while they live, and now wait to whisper eulogies in their dead ears; to be loyal without regard to consequences; to let love rule; to be trusting as a puppy; to run in circles for the sherer joy of being alive and running; and in all things to show the vigor and spontaniety of youth.

Three Cheers for Elroy!

My Y. M. C. A. hat is off to K. of C. Secretary Elroy Miller. Yea-Bo! As an announcer, a dancer and singer, an actor, a motion picture manager, and a genuine hustler in every way. Miller should have rows of medals across his manly breast. The roaring chorus that greets him from our gang when he appears on the platform at night to announce events shows his heart rating. Van Arsdale just flashed in from the hospital on his way to East Orange, N. J., on a two weeks fiver. Glad to see you back, Van, and there is room left for your bunk.

Prongay is back again as sassy as ever, and as we need Privates on Saturday and Wednesday mornings-good boy-"Parley Voo, Prongay." Sergeant George Sladick, with his quiet little smile, also is on the list. Same old George, in the same old way. We miss the Jazz leader, also a favorite expression of his. I don't know how the Formula Department can do without him-we can.

We also miss the rattling of the clogs. Hurry back, Sergeant Slat. Many inquiries on the phone call for Muchie. Oh. Juliet, where art thou? Romeo is pining.

Every morning-"Come on, Maz. Going to sleep all day?"

Six A. M.—any day—"Wake up, Carp. Come and get sprayed." Usual reply—"Nothing doing, I always go down later."

DORM. 5 IS WITH US AGAIN

Long doesn't drill or march in any of the formations any more, says he "Nitral Stenosis." A name to call that thing under his nose. And we can't decide whether the N. S. makes his voice hoarse or whether "the growth" is the cause of the hoarseness Brother Ex-Drummer Ames is back -resigned from the Medical Corps. Glad to have you back, Paul.

Stracke, late of Baker Field, is with us, too. Trust you'll like the treatment mited out to you and stay. Habens is back from a furlough; looks fine and evidently feels so, too-He denies that he is married; therefor, we wonder why he called for help two or three times during the night and on a Saturday night, too. Dreaming about anyone in particular?

From what we have seen as an in-structor in "Military Science," Hyer should make a good Hod Carrier.

What do you mean Sparling, "in executing squads right remember one man faces to the left in marching?"

Johnson is still nervous for fear friend wife may get hold of a "Snapshot." Really, fellows, you shouldn't have mailed that last one to her-the one that mentioned the two brunettes.

Doc Sparling is now playing football. When Mazdon heard that he decided there was still hopes for him. However, that's neither here nor there; the point is that Sparling needs a maid to help him lace his suit up. He says he used to wear it eight years ago and it looked as though he had gained about a hundred pounds since. In fact, it fits him about like an orange skin would fit a pumpkin. But to compensate for that he wears a wonderful pair of red socks. class!

Now that Ames and Mevers are back we are enjoying the usual morning indoor sport of trying to wake them up. This is rather a long process. It almost seems as if they went to bed and died during the night and we have to resurrect them in the morning.

Sorenson awoke the other morning with a foot so sore that he could not walk on it. Someone unkindly suggested that every time he opened his mouth he put his foot in it and that possibly this had occurred during the night and then thought Assly shut his mouth.

Every time Barkowitz talks he sprays us with 2633x39 germs. Looks like an army serial number, doesn't it?

We are all glad that Hancock and not one of us picked Bradley for a friend for when ever there is any slicking up to be done in the dorm, Hancock has to do it.

Freher put up his usual kick when he was made room orderly.

Signs of spring-Inst. Bradley has received the seed catalogue he sent for last week.

Inst. Fulton made quite a record the other night by holding his breath for five minutes. Was she red-headed? "Timekeeper" Freher will vouch for the above mentioned record.

Doc Ames is back with us again. Doc, as you remember, has but two bad habits; one is a constant desire to lose himself in a couple of blankets Everything must run like peaches and | and slumber, and the other is—oh, why pick on him?

Inst. Johnson has consumed four novels in the last two days. (Local Anybody expecting a warrant (for arrest or otherwise) may procure some stripes quite reasonable by applying to Dorm 5. Also trench leggings.

Deacon Addison of Dewberry Corners has returned to the institute after a few weeks sickness. We look forward to Sister Keyes making a few visits soon to discuss the problem of compiling a pocket compendium of "church-parlor tricks."

Cheer Leader Lang is conducting extensive experiments on that cute little thing on his upper lip these days. He has used vaseline, cold cream, gasoline, castor oil, nux vomica, eaugasoline, castor oil, nux vomica, eaude-cologne and, lastly, hair tonic, but none seems to suit his purpose, he none seems to suit his purpose, he says. We wonder why Johnson is says. We wonder why Johnson is drinking so much coffee these days. If we thought Lang was responsible, we would remove him from the table.

Airscout's Who's Who!

INSTRUCTOR R. E. SUITS is one of the young "old men" who journeyed up from Langley Field to help put the Rochester School of Aerial Photography on its feet. Most of the old crowd who slept in the immortal Red Barn at Langley are spread all over the globe.

Where Suits expects to land we can hardly surmise but will not be surprised if it is Siberia-with the rebellious spirits. It has not been considered a disgrace to have served in that wild country for many great minds have been sent into oblivion there. Having been on his way to France for so long, Suits has given up hope of ever getting there, and the beautiful anticipations have dissolved into a

"R. E." is not quite six feet (not by a long ways) but he has a big smile and cute too (so the ladies say) and Suits knows how to take advantage of a good thing. Perhaps the fact that he was brought up in the Hoosier State in Indianapolis (a beautiful city) has something to do with his kindly demeanor.

We would miss Suits' lively smile greatly so that is why he is kept here, for a cheerful look is as good as a meal sometimes. Hope he wears more than that before the war is over.

In the collapse of Germany the prophecy has been fulfilled: "God will scatter the peoples who delight in war." The gospel message remains pure and undefiled. Carlyle said: When the oak tree is felled, the whole forest echoes with it; but a hundred acorns are planted silently by some unnoticed breeze. Battles and war tumults, which for the time din every ear, and with joy or terror intoxicate every heart, pass away like tavern brawls." The laws of God are written on the tablets of eternity.

Christ lives and love will yet rule in the hearts of men.

Ancestry and Morals.

When he was president of the University of Rochester, Dr. David Jayne Hill once said to the senior class:

"Your lineage may be the most distinguished. SENECAS BEAT AIRSCOUTS IN CLOSE BATTLE BY 6-0 SCORE

Once more the Airscouts as the soldiers from the U. S. A. School of Sunday's game: Aerial Photography at Kodak Park R. & L. SENECA are known, played a sterling game of football when they met the B. and L. Senecas Sunday afternoon at Busch Field, and once more they lost by a score of 6 to 0. The scoring was made in the first quarter, and after that the ball seesawed back and forth on the field, with either team having any decided advantage over the other.

The Airscouts lost one beautiful chance to score when they fumbled on the three-yard line, and another time one of the soldiers failed to notice that the ball was on-side and waited for an opponent to touch it, when he could have grabbed it up and made a touchdown through an entirely clear field. One more chance the Soldiers lost was on a forward pass. Messegee was entirely free and uncovered, but Suits threw it directly over the scrimmage line and the ball was lost.

JOYS OF QUARANTINE.

Not wishing anybody any tough luck, we would rise to remark that, only during quarantine does The Snapshot get enough copy to fill its weekly editions. Last week we had some "left over." In fact, quite a bit of it.

But this week we had room for it -and more. Early copy is the most pleasant surprise imaginable. Yet only during the quarantine was it experienced.

The Snapshot is printed in the Job Department of The Rochester Herald. Monday is given the Airscouts for all news composition. Therefore, copy for the following issue must be in the hands of the printers by Monday morning.

Copy is collected from the Postoffice and "Y"-K. C. Hut three times a week, the last trip being made on Monday mornings to collect the stranglers' copy. But that never can be assured space in the current issue

FROM THE MAILBAG!

Editor of the Snapshot.

I wish it to become known that I, George X. Stracke, have returned to the old post after spending several months at Baker Field.

I cannot understand why I was not tendered some sort of a reception by the men of the school together with the S. A. P. Band as I alighted from the Charlotte car last Saturday afternoon! Do you know that I pictured in my mind all the boys lined up at attention in front of the flagpole and the old band tearing off some such piece as "The Conquering Hero Comes," but alas, I failed to see my hopes materi-

I sauntered up the four flights whistling "Fling Wide the Portals." As I did so I tried to imagine myself mounting the stairs to a speaker's platform with a vast throng of people surging about me something like the scene where the high-diver climbs a long ladder to a little platform 760 feet above a tank of mortar into which he proposes to jump.

As I arrived at the head of the stairs I made a bee-line for Dorm 5. I en-tered rather dramatically thinking it would lend color to the scene but instead sir, I suffered one of the most humiliating moments of my life. Instead of the occupants umping up to the tune of 'Tention, some of the men yelled something about gas masks and respirators.

Now, a fellow of my caliber should not be subjected to such scurrilous remarks, sir. Between you and me, I don't believe the fellows here realize who and what I am. Why, I never doubted for a moment that I was by far the most popular cadet at the school. I always aim to be sociable in fact, I even go so far as to inquire into all matters either personal or otherwise, among the men here. I offered to run the band, I like to meet the other fellow's girls and tell them who I am, it has always been my one endeavor to make suggestions to the commandant. I never lose a chance to remind the professors at the school how things should be run Now, sir, I believe you should offer me a seat on the editorial staff of this paper. I make the last suggestion to you because I am of such a considerate and broad-minded nature.

I did not care to ask my captain once if I could wear stripes—I was too considerate so I helped myself and when the supply of cherrons got low I handed mine over to others who needed them more. The captain so approved of this he rewarded me with a little vacation. I didn't even have to dress up or salute, either-just wore my fatigue uniform all the time.

I trust you will give this letter all you print it on the first page under a big headline. I am,

Yours for publicity, GEORGE X. STRACKE.

P. S .- I have ordered ten thousand photos of myself to be given away with each copy of next week's "Snapshot."

> West Bloomfield, N. Y., October 28, 1918.

Mr. Fremont Chester. Dear Sir:

I received your paper to-day and in it saw an article on camp scandal and wish to say a few words in that line. As I have four cousins in this world war, I think I have a perfect right to defend them and other soldier boys as well, and must say that those Rochester policemen and other officers can't have very much to do when they are making such false reports and I for one, don't believe one word of it. I lived in Buffalo the summer that we had that trouble with Mexico and so, of course, saw lots of soldiers and will say I never saw a nicer lot of men in my life ad they always acted as any gentleman should and hope our boys in Rochester will do the same thing. I think it is a rotten shame to get such scandal about and not be anything to

When we realize what our boys are doing for us even giving up their very lives, and also think everybody in this world has enough to do if they mind their own business and let other people alone. Maybe I am making this pretty strong but I just can't help it. When I read that article I thought it was pretty near time someone stepped in and had something to say on the matter as that is not the only one 9. Last, but not least, I leave to I've read. I am ready to defend our Dr. Cook, Perry or Sir Shackelton the what may.

I am sending a couple of poems as they are both good. I will now close am as ever, a true friend of our soldier boys.

Things To Worry About. You can't freeze a cootie.

Editor, The Airscout's Snapshot.

On October 30 I became involved in the cash drawer at the canteen, and am pleased to say that at the finish it am pleased to say that at the finish it registered more than was in the drawer. This was my last impression as a first nighter, when I tumbled into Louis Ford's Knapp and was whisked away to the club.

The weather was rather disagreeable; in fact, it was raining one of those rains that don't even hesitate at rubber. But once inside, one forgot all about the weather and entered into the spirit of the occasion with the reflection that he was really at the fact. flection that he was glad to be of some

Some hut! It puts one in mind of the lumber camps that you read about in stories, the only difference being the sprinkling of the fair sex, which, I should say, made it much more enjoyable. And what a lot of ink is spread on paper! Fellows writing sisters—of other fellows. And talent! Why the Jazz and vaudeville which followed the movie would make a termination. followed the movie would make a lot of Temple shows turn green with envy.

I used to wonder why the fellows who went down to the hut to render their little assistance were so enthusiastic. Now I know, Each one of these huts is a world in itself. As our friend Roy says, if you would travel from the Sunny South to the Frozen North; from the land-locked harbors of the Pacific to the sand-swept capes of Virginia and enjoy it where it is always comfortable within, even though it is raining without the where it is always comfortable within, even though it is raining without, the hut is the place to go. Then on top of all this add the report of Foreman and Statt that the cash is over—why! fellows you can't even tie it, let alone beat it!!!!

I am, fully impressed,

DER KAISER'S LAST WILL AND HIS TESTAMENT!

Fictitious Document That Indicates The Handwriting on the Wall for His Teutonic Majesty.

From the fast decaying body of a Hun youth, found entangled in a mess of barbed wire in that portion of Northern France formerly chalked on military maps as "No Man's Land," was found, in pamphlet form, the last will and testament of Wilhelm Hohen-To the last, the youth had carried the document, presented him for a stroke of valor early in the war. He had died for what he believed his country represented and believed in. and the little pamphlet was one of his choicest possessions.

How he had been deceived, may be gathered from a hasty survey of his Kaiser's will. In the opening paragraph of the document the Kaiser, 'Will-Hell-Em" is said to realize that he is soon going to "cash in his checks" and that, as his "sole executhe publicity you can. I suggest that | for and hangman," he appoints that bonehead, "the Emperor of Austria."

We cannot say authentically whether the final wishes of the Kaiser have been recorded or not-we can only give the provisions of the alleged will:

1. I give and donate to France the province of Alsace and Lorraine. I nell." do not own it, therefore, I am returning stolen property. I do not deserve any compensation for it, and it's a any compensation for it, and it's a Soldiers' Wives for it, either.

2. Servia may have Austria. Russia may have Turkey for the Czar's Christmas dinner.

4. To Belgium I would like to present all the swelled ears, black eyes, crooked noses that she handed me for illegally trespassing on her soil.

5. The United States may have all my entire fleet, consisting of dreadnaughts, torpedo boats, destroyers, submarines and the rest of the bunkers in general-whatever is left afloat. He will take them, anyway, so this is only a foresight, dear Unkel Sam.

6. To England, better known as Johnny Bull, I surrender my army— that is, all that is left of it. General Haig seems so persistent in converting my soldiers into balogna sausage

7. And the University of Science and Museum of National History, I donate to you the world's famous "must-in-touch-it" of "Coat hanger." Ach, to Louise, I mean mein mustache, the greatest freak of nature in the world, or any other to come.

8. Not forgetting Mrs. Pankhurst, and the other nervy women, I present my mailed fist. They will find it very handy when they wish to force an entrance by their tactics of militant

North Pole. I've been forced to climb it so many times that it seems as though it's my second nature. And all the gates of Heaven are closed against me.

This incident started me thinking of my own Airedale, Peter the Great. As dogs go, my mutt is a good one. He is intelligent and possesses other attributes supposed to constitute excel-lence in dogdom. When he was a pup, having no disposition to loaf on the job, he put in his regular nine or ten hours a day every day, including Sundayls. In cold weather half of these hours was spent dashing madly from the front to the back windows, and about five hours were devoted to chasing his tail-of which analysis shows only a chemical trace.

Who's Who!

Copyright, 1918, by Edgar A. Guest

They'll be laughin' in the future, They'll be laughin' in the future,
They'll be rompin' in the street,
They'll be growin' plump an' rosy
On the food they'll have to eat;
They shall lick their sticky candy,
All contented in the sun,
An' the world shall be their playground
When we've finished with the Hun.

They shall come to joy an' gladness, Each shall have a dog or cat. Little checks shall bronze in summer, Little cheeks shall bronze in summer,
Little legs grow strong an' fat.
There shall be no sad-eyed mothers
Watching starving babes grow thin,
An' no children robbed of childhood
When this bitter war we win.

Oh, we'll make this whole world over
For the little girls and boys.
Then no gray-garbed brutes shall venture
To deprive them of their joys.
They shall play their games unhindered,
They shall race about and run
In a world that's fit for children
When we've finished with the Hyp.

When we've finished with the Hun

He always furnished a concrete example of motion without progress, and much effort with little accomplishment. For he never found what he was looking for outside the windows, and he never yet captured his tail, and he never will. During spring and summer he runs in endless circles, bites holes in the sod and falls over his own feet; he watches the birds and when they alight in the trees he tries to climb up after them. As a climber his work leaves much to be desired. The birds never know he started; yet he persists in furnishing bark for the

The Soldier's One Enjoyment.

The "New King Arthur," called "an opera without music," opens with the following Song of the Troops:

And we think that our employment Should be rid of more annoyment, Since the soldier's one enjoyment Is escaping with his life.

When the battle-axe is crashing

And the cavalry are dashing
And the mighty swords are flashing
And the deadly arrow shoots, We remember with dejection (Though it smells of insurrection)
That we're simply a collection

Of compulsory recruits. When the chances look most narrow, 'Tis a memory to harrow That our grave may be a barrow Far away from child and wife.

And we feel without aspersion, After every new exertion, That the soldier's one diversion Is escaping with his life!

most of his time writing letters to admiring maidens. The rest he spends working on his course of lectures in supply work. When will you have a class, Herman?

S. O. L. Toomey has been graduated from night school and is now a fullfledged stenographer with a type-writer all her own. Isn't she the sweet young thing? Look out, Larry, or you'll be losing her!

If you want to make Kunz mad, ask him if he can distinguish a good L. S. Cover Glass from a cracked one.

Assistant Electrician Gulna c is a busy boy these mornings, getting up before breakfast to oil the motors so they won't disturb the sleeping G. B.'s with unwarranted squeakings.

Wish that band wouldn't practice before breakfast. They do say it dis-turbs the beauty sleep of Supply Private Jimmie Ball.

Why can't they call the roll Tuesdays and Fridays and let us answer from our bunks? Don't see the use of getting dressed just to answer "here" and then go back to bed again. It breaks up team work.
Wonder why Rendenbach had the phones moved to his desk? Most of the calls are for "Herman" or "Milton"-maybe he wants to hear what they find to talk about so long.

When you going to get your stripes, Jimmie?

"Waste Products" Toomey is collecting old hypo, glass, etc., etc. Bring on your rags, bones, bottles, and junk, boys!

I don't know whether it was Pluto or Archimedes that made the statement that some men, when advanced in rank, grow, while others merely swell; but, never-the-less, the gazzabo knew how to pull the philosophy stuff.

You don't need a pair of Navy Binoculars to see that.

Some fellows can take a dose of stripes or shoulder a pair of babypins just as easily as a giraffe could contract a severe case of sort throat. On the other hand some birds feel themselves so far up in the air that breathing comes hard and their heads swell up like a dried apple from the moisture up there. It makes no difference whether

No one would even hesitate a moment if they were called upon to donate to the merry tingle in order to buy an arch-support for his eyerbrows.

Ten minutes of two looks better than twenty to four, fellers. Remember that when you are plotting your own map-your outer countenance.

In the army it makes no difference who you are; it is what you are that counts.

So, fellers, be not so good to yourself as to others. Some day your chance may come and when it does, take it without a whimper. Be your self-don't change-remain yourself be one of us.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION FOR AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHERS IN ROCHESTER TRAINING SCHOOL

Arrangements under Discussion for Formation of Organization of All S. A. P. Graduates, Instructors and Officers for Purely Social Purpose---Annual Reunion in Flower City Among Plans of Originators of Idea.

armies receding into Germany and rapidly being demobilized, with peace in sight and the time when Airscouts of the United States Army School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park will be allowed to return to civil life not far off, thoughts of many in the school are turning to the time when the institution will be nothing but a

Shall that memory be kept fresh, or shall the years to come find a fast fleeting recollection of the days when the German hordes were fast marching on Paris, and Uncle Sam began to teach civilians, here in Rochester, how to fly o'er the enemy lines and reveal, by the aid of the camera, his weak

Since the S. A. P. was organized here, several thousand young men have been graduated. They have come from all parts of the country from the Frozen North to the Sunny South and from the beyond the Rockies to the eastern shores. The course has held them in Rochester for better than a month. While here they have been treated royally, feted by civilians, and made to feel at home. Rochester has done as much, if not more, than any city of its size in the country for the boys in Khaki training

Then Why Forget?

Then, why should they forget the Flower City? Why should they cast aside all memories of the school— without a question the biggest and most modern institution of its kind in the world?

Rochester always will be remembered with pleasure by the Airscouts. Many warm friends have been made here, and in numerous instances Airscouts have courted and married Rochester girls. In the Flower City many an Airscout has seen a chance to re-established himself in civil and business life. Rochester will be the future home of countless young men who have come here because of the us? School of Aerial Photography.

Before it is too late, then-before the last farewells are said—it is urged by those considering the proposition, than an alumni organization of Airscouts be formed. For a nucleus, it is proposed, graduates of the school who are still stationed here might get together and elect officers. Those going through the school now could be initiated upon the successful completion of their course.

Instructors and officers, no doubt, will take kindly to the idea of per-petuating the associations of the S. A. P. Airscouts who have left Kodak

Park and now are in various camps in the country, as well as in France, undoubtedly will want to talk over old times in years to come.

With that in view, it is proposed to hold reunions of the association every year. Before the school is closed, it is hoped that a definite organization can be perfected, and a tentative date set for the first reunion.

Thousand Would Return.

Of the many graduates of the school, it is probable that close to, if not more than 1,000 Airscouts could be persuaded to attend the reunions. A convention of that size undoubtedly would attract considerable attention, and the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations would see that the visiting Airscouts received the same courtesies and attention they have enjoyed in the last six months.

But so much for the future! For the present the task is to secure a permanent organization here in Rochester before the school closes. can be done now as well as later-the sooner, the better.

AIRSCOUTS TAKE SECOND DEFEAT AT HANDS OF. S. A. T. C. OF UNIVERSITY OF ROCHESTER

Toward the end of the game between the University of Rochester S. A. T. C. football eleven and the team ing the U. S. A. Aerial Photography at University Field Saturday afternoon, the Airscouts put in a substitute player named Comstock. A past master at the game of football, long and rugged, with ability on both the offensive and defensive, that player soon made his presence felt, but the game was lost when he entered, and the University boys rung up another victory, the score being 17 to 0.

Had Comstock been in the game from the start, the score might have ben different. But he was not started because of injuries received in practice, and his participation at all was merely one last chance that the Kodak Park soldiers might score.

The Meaning of the May Flower

Copyright, 1918, by Edgar A. Guest. Looking back, it seems to me, God knew war was going to be-Knew in ages past and gone That the day was coming on When the troops of hate and lust, Tramping honor in the dust, Would set out to overthrow All that's noble, here below; So against such a danger, He Sent the Mayflower out to sea.

Little did the pilgrims know, When they knelt upon the snow, Thanking God in humble prayer For deliverance, then and there In their breasts was sowed the seed That should serve a mighty need; That in time should be unfurled One flag in a troubled world That should fly on land and sea Symbolizing liberty.

Now to-day our work we find. That is what God had in mind When the Mayflower took to sea; Here America should be Strong of limb and clean of heart. Trained in every human art, Cherishing the seeds of truth, Ready with its finest youth To defend, in danger's hour, Freedom from the tyrant's power.

Now we see behind God's plan. When America began. Here the fires of freedom burned, Here succeeding ages learned Truth's great lessons; here to-day, Putting selfish thoughts away, Millions march from field and hill, God's great mission to fulfill. 'Twas to set the whole world free That the Mayflower put to sea.

The spectacle of Germans yelling to America for food while their hands are yet dripping with our blood, reminds us of the man convicted of murdering his father and mother, who asked mercy of the court on the ground that "he was a poor orphan"!

How to be Happy.

Perhaps you are a sore soldier because you have never reached France, and the big push is over. Well, if you don't get what you like, you must like what you get. Having every-thing you like won't make you happy, but liking everything you have, will.

Don't Spread Your Tail.

When you go back to civilian life don't be too chesty and put it all over the boys who missed the chance to get in. It is dangerous to spread your tail in this country, for the proud peacock of to-day may be only a feather duster to-morrow.

Out Flew Enza.

Like the comic opera joke, "We had a little bird and its name was Enza; we opened the door and Influenza." After weeks of trouble it is past, and this week willingly we open the hospital doors as Out-flew-Enza. Our convelescent invalids will all be back on the job in a few days, and "flu" scare then will be ancient the history. Along with the rest of the country the S. A. P. had a bad experience with the plague, but the enemy now is routed.

Life, which used to be a brave flight between heaven and hell, has come to a long and anxious tiptoing between the microbe and the antiseptic. In old times the chief question was, "Is it right or wrong?" The chief question to-day is, "Is it sterilized?"

Champion Joseph C. Clark.

Right down here at the little old S. A. P., we have a real pool champion. Joseph Cester Clark is his handle and he will meet and defeat any man in the U.S. A. uniform, soldier or sailor, for blood, money or marbles. On Thursday night, Nov. 14, he met Jerome R. Keough in a match played at our hut. Keough is past champion of the world having won the title five time against all comers. He chalrun one hundred while Clark made forty. It was a great game, Clark won by clicking off forty, while Keough was only eighteen. Later they ran to one hundred and finished, Keough, 100 and Clark, 67. Keough had two runs of 28 and thirty. Mr. Keough, who is not only a wonderful player, but a fine judge of the game, said that Clark had world championship material in him if handled prop-

We are all very proud of Joseph Chester Clark. His trophy, an iron cross, is displayed on our outer walks, and our "defi" is up before the whole country. We dare any soldier or sailor t o tackle him, under any old rules, 'all shots, one foot on the floor," or 'one foot in the building."

Eliminate the Non-Conductor. In the American Army the great effort has been to develop the spirit of the hive-each for all and all for each. The result has been a something in the air, an atmosphere, a tradition, a grip, a pressure, an urgency, an uplift, a quickening of the will, an enthusiasm, an esprit de corps. Now that the war is over we are in great danger of losing much of this. Youth is liable to cool off quickly, and more genuine courage is needed now to keep up the mark than was necessary to face fighting. It would be a great accomplishment of every branch of the wonderful American Army could go back to civil life with a post-war record as good as its war record. Morale must be maintained to the last, in order to make a "garrison finish."

Our own group at the S. A. P. is characteristic. There is a feeling of let-down and devil-may-care with the coming of peace. Our thoughts have suddenly turned back to the affairs of civil life and all are restive to get back home. Nevertheless, we have a majority of men who are always alert and alive. Their individual enthusiasm can fuse into a collective enthsuiasm which will carry us all through to the end with flying colors if we eliminate the non-conductors. In every group there are always a considerable number of men who are nonconductors, that break the circuit, that insulate the real live wires, and so prevent the emergency of a mental current. Hence to eliminate onc who is inert may be of more avail than to acquire several who are awake. When good fellows get together, one false note mars the whole melody. Looked at in this light our chief need is to eliminate these nonlenged Joe Clark, offering a handicap conductors. They must not be al-of sixty points, that is Keough was to lowed to contaminate their neighbors know its one or the other."

with the virus of listlessness; we must concentrate on them and charge them with so much current that they will become live wires. Let us all determine a strong finish for the school, marching on to the end full of pep, and shoulder to shoulder. Eliminate the non-conductors.

Sit Down, You're Rocking the Boat. A word to the army critic. If you don't like the way your government and your officers are working for you, fire them all, and reorganize by doing all the work yourself. Otherwise, SIT STILL IN THE BOAT.

Congratulations!

Thursday evening at 7 o'clock, Mr. James Morris Connolly of the U.S. A. School of Aerial Photography at Kodak Park and Miss Emma Elizabeth Hoffmeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Hoffmeier, 24 Avis Street, were united in marriage by Rev. Addison H. Groff in the parsonage of the Dewey Avenue Reformed Church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jessie Hoffmeier, and Mr. Joseph Chester Clark, also of the Aerial School, was groomsman. The double ring ceremony was used.

AERIAL STUDENTS GIVE LOVING CUP TO D. A. R.

Soldier students of the United States School of Aerial Photography showed their appreciation of the hospitality that Irondequoit Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has shown them ever since the establishment of the school by presenting the chapter a handsome loving cup Saturday evening at the weekly dinner for the boys at the D. A. R. Chapter House in Spring Street. Sergeant Mandon made the presentation and Mrs. Frank F. Dow, regent of the chapter, accepted the cup.

Irondequoit Chapter has kept open house to boys of the aerial school from the first week of its existence. It has entertained 10,000 students all told, giving three dinners a week for them, with the indorsement of the War Camp Community Council. At the dinner last night, at which 200 soldiers were present, all the entertainment was provided by the men themselves, including music and stunts. After the dinner adjournment was taken to The Homestead in South Fitzhugh Street for dancing. boys will meet again this evening at the Chapter House, when the women of Immaculate Conception Church will have charge of the programme, and it is expected that Rev. A Word in Passing.

The armistice has been signed. Before many moons the peace treaty will have been satisfactorily adjusted, and thousands of young men will return to civil life.

By that time, if not sooner, the United States School of Aerial Photography undoubtedly will be discontinued and the Airscouts once more will take up civil and business life where they left it when called into service.

But a word in passing! This week Airscouts receive the 25th issue of The Snapshot. Since early in June the official paper of the S. A. P. has appeared regularly. Just how long it will continue is problematical-yet it it conceded that ere long it must stop.

The Snapshot has not been a money making proposition in the usual sense of that phrase. It was not intended so. But the paper has paid expenses and a trifle over. It has been given to Airscouts free of charge each week. Everyone has been able to procure a copy each week, and many get several copies to send home.

For all that, credit is due Rochester business men, who have subscribed to advertising space in The Snapshot. Many did so with little thought of remuneration, and many have advertised regularly with no other motive than to help maintain the paper for the S. A. P. boys.

Ere we part, let's give credit where it belongs. Let's patronize The Snapshot advertisers and let them know that we appresiate their aid.

It was sizzling—his Foot, but the Windows were open And there were No ill effects. Karger raved peacefully In his sleep about The girl he was out With that night. Just then Addison Came in, full of Good resolutions and Just then he stumbled Over Sparling's foot And the air was Rent with-but why Speak about it? 'Twould only hurt His tender feelings. He woke up Simpson, Who flung a shoe And hit Freher On the nose. But he awakened not. Amos stirred uneasily, Then all was Peaceful again. There was nobody Else in bed. Yea, verily, I Say unto you, It all happened In Dormitory Five.

But never again will they flaunt their name For they have made it a badge of shame. They've stripped it bare of its outward

And shown the greed and the lust inside And men will shudder whene'er they see Hell's label red: "Made in Germany." Before their eyes, dead men will float Who were left to die in an open boat. To the end of time, will pictures rise Of demons high in the summer skies Seeking the haunts where the wounded

And the innocent dead, with their faces fair,

Bombed by the cowards high in air, Will rise long after the war shall cease To shame the Hun in the years of peace. Made in Germany! men will start As they see that badge of the German heart On whatever that stamp of shame is seen, There will be the curse of a thing unclean. They have fouled, with sin, what was once their pride,

The Dance of Death.

Upon seeing Partride's famous car-toon in Punch, reproduced in Literary "The Kaiser—'Stop! Stop! I'm tired.'"
"Death—'I began at your bidding; I stop when I will!'"

You called for the dance on the fields of France, The Demon dance of Death; And Death accepted your boastful word,

While a million flends awoke and heard,
And huzza'd with their hell-hot breath!

You called for the dance, and you diced with Chance
As Belgium you did rape;
But your sons now bear the brand of Cain

And crosses shadow each hill and plain— While your doors are black with crepe!

You called the dance and laughed at As you dreamed you were God's first mate;

Ay, you dreamed you would dance a sickening hour,
And scourge the world with your damning power, While you stacked the cards of fate!

You called for the dance, and you mocked God's chance
But the cards have built your tomb;
Your hands are numb, and your brain doth ache And your pounding heart at last shall As you stare at your coming doom.

So you now beg Death with your gasping breath

The demon waltz to stop; But a madder music Death jeering plies, While the whirligig faster and faster flies Till the tortured world in agony cries, And maniacs writhing drop!

You dared Death's dance; now pay for

Ay, pay the frightful toll—
Where every train is a hated hearse
And every laugh is an orphan's

Ay, pay with thy blackened soul!

My Questionnaire. With all proper acknowledgments By W. E. NESOM

The hours I've spent o'er thee, fell chart. Have seen my whole career laid bare, My life dissected part by part My questionnaire, my questionnaire! Each blank filled up, each yes or no Put down, unqualified, unmixed, And, half a hundred times or so,

My signature affixed: ow much I owe, how much I've spent, v old I am, what weight, how

What sum I monthly pay for rent— I've told it all, God wot, I've told it all!

My middle name, long time forgot, My creed, the color of my hair, My crimes—thou hast them, hast thou not,

My questionnaire, my question-naire? What hours of bitter mental toil, What delvings into dead events, What burnings of the midnight oil

Thy column represents!
The annals of a well-spent life, My trifling faults, my virtues rare, he very age of my dear wife— They're written there, gadzooks, they're written there, gadzooks,

I rest in the old-time fashion;

Sergeant Diehl, one of the Big Ten who went to Cornell for a special session, is the only one who seems to have been fortunate to visit us. He says it's a great place and worth while looking forward to, but boys will be boys and they wanna come back. They are getting good treatment and don't have to turn in until 8 p. m., except Wednesday and Fridays, when they are allowed out until 10 o'clock. Ain't it grand?

Was it Suits who found a nice looking telephone number in his pigeon hole, with the information that there was a box left at that number for him? Perfectly delighted and ticked at the idea that he had not been entirely forgotten, Suits called up and asked for the package. It was a rude shock when the gruff voice at the other end said that there was no box left there for him, but he could readily have one made. "What do you mean?" says Suits. "Why, this is the undertakers," says the voice apologet-

If you have any ambition, get ac-quainted with Instructor Hirshburg right away. He has a little bookwe forgot the name of it—but it guarantees one who knows it from cover to cover, to become a captain, or at least a colonel in three weeks. Tells all about how and where to wear medals, like the V. C., D. S., I. C., U. C., B. V. D., etc. If you get past the ever-changing insignias, you are doing well, for few of us have.

There was nothing too good that could be said about Bakers Farm during the summer, but why are they strolling back like a lot of refugees now with the approach of the healthy fall season? It would be fine weather, all right, if there wasn't so much of it, and they say they would enjoy it better if someone would not forget to turn the steam on in those tents on cold mornings, and not worry them when breakfast time comes around.

Did you ever notice that when you get "paged" in the army, you fall under a strain of mixed feelings? And on top of it all emerges the idea that you are to look for trouble.

Some time ago Hildgen was looking up a time table. This was before Peace Day, so that, no doubt he had a hunch. It was a clever maneuver to get down to the Metropolis on the Big Day. Don't ask for any more information. Just watch for the occasion when Hil is looking up Baldecker's Guide to Excursions Up the Rhine.

Klinker Whiskers hasn't done anything wrong since the last time, but has had the courage to make a downright, frank confession and told us why he is in the aviation service. fortune teller once reminded him that he was no good on earth and as this was an opportunity to get as near to heaven as he will ever get, it was truly a godsend.

As it was in a former day. "Taps" is consigned to quiet;

Its echoes are dead and gone. It sleeps with the Dirge of Diet And the Herald of the Dawn. The sergeant's face has vanished, And every voice is still.
"Fatigue" and "guard" are banished.
Leashless, I rest at will.

General, prince or colonel. A buck or a Bonaparte Crowned with laurels vernal— Sleeping, are one at heart. So out with the candle's sputter; The gift of the gods I'd reap. From the depths of my bunk I mutter.

"When a bit of sunshine hits you after passing of a cloud, When a bit of laughter gets you, and your spine is feeling proud, Don't forget to fling it at a soul that's feeling blue,

For the minute that you fling it, its a boomerang for you."

No Women Angels.

Our boy, Abe Douglas is a philosopher. He told me that he had it all doped out that there were no women angels, because artists always pictured angels as flat-chested men.

"Well, Doug," I inquired, "why then don't angels wear whiskers?" The answer was. "Because all men get into Heaven by a close shave."

M. A. MESSEGGEE.

Good soldiering comes from long and disciplinary drilling as the game of football is in many ways similar to the game of war, good football is a result of steady and proper coaching under an efficient master. Messeggee is a disciple of one of the best football strategists in the country, Gilmore Doble, who has coached the Washington University team to victory and for-stalled any defeat during the past three years. On the coast, Dobie's name is synonomous with champion football teams and there has been more than one occasion when under his direction, Washington University has been led to pile up scores of over 100 points—making scores as fast as they could be made.

Such was the man from whom Messeggee learned the game of football. A team scraped together at a camp where there is no official supervision is, at best, a hazardous undertaking; but Messeggee, undaunted, jumped at the opportunity of welding together a working organization and under his management there has been a finely developed team, worthy to represent the airscouts. In the face of many discouragements, the team is "there" with the right spirit and after sufncient practice, should show us a well-drilled organization soldiers should accomplish in sports.

Y. M. "Over the Counter" With the Secretaries

At parting we propose this toast:

"Our Commandant, Major James Barnes!"

Soldier, scholar, friend and every inch a man. First in our respect and first in our hearts' best love.

Drink the bumper to the last red drop and shatter the glass, for we'll never meet his peer. Wherever he goes may prosperity smile upon him and happiness bless.

When the major rides away it's three times three and hats in the air, while this ringing shout goes after: "Call us again when you will and we'll follow you to the ends of the earth!"

Into the Port of Dreams.

Thanksgiving Night I went up idly into the movie loft in search of a tool and, turning in the darkness to descend, suddenly I was confronted by the picture of the hut spread out below, and my heart was gripped with unexpected emotion at the realization that soon it would all be only a

The room was flooded with light. The big stoves glowed with friendly In the far corner, to piano accompaniment, Hal Clark was drawing a sure, sweet bow over his beloved violin, filling the air with tonal beauty. Soldier boys were writing letters home at the side shelves. Some were playing checkers and chess. Groups of players bent over the two pool tables. Men were chatting and laughing about the stoves or moving in the room. An impromptu quartette was humming near the counter. Roy Miller was perched on the high stool by the cash register, radiating good cheer to all comers and chaffing the pool players as they made or missed their shots. Dick Trupin was there, grinning at his champion, Joe Clark. Harold Wilkins was fussing over his trap drums, getting ready for the next concert. Jack Miller was hugging the two dogs. Duke and Colonel, while old Rex was stretched out twice his length over the floor under foot. Abe Douglas with his banjo was sitting on the counter. Carl Thompson, surrounded by an admiring group, was drawing cartoons for the closing vaudeville show. "Pop" Mazdon was offering sarcastic com-ment, and Sergeant Ingraham was chuckling over the show. Everywhere about the room were men I had come to know and love. From my elevated position in the darkness I seemed like one in a dream, looking into a lost room, and my eyes knew tears as I groped toward the vanishing picture.

So it is out and away, into the port of dreams. School, hut, the lights, the good fellowship—these friends, the music of the laughing lip, the luster of the eye, all fade into the days gone

Bow-wow and Kiyoodle.

No true history of S. A. P. can ever be written which leaves out our dogs. The best parade appearance the boys make is when they are marching to and from mess with old Rex proudly leading on. And every day, and all the time, in the hut we have had an assortment of bow-wows and kiyoodles sleeping, eating, fighting, barking or joyfully submitting to general teasing on the part of all the soldiers. sides Rex there are the regular boarders, Duke, and Colonel, and Bingo, and Peter the Airedale, Nigger, Brownie and Bull, and transients galore. At night they sleep in the hut under the long counter or near the stoves. We have furnished lodging and board, and the price is three cooties per night. Jack Miller brings in breakfast of choice scraps from the mess hall, and the pack is ever happy.

What will become of our dog family when the school is ended? Rex and some of the others have run away from perfectly good homes to attach themselves with complete devotion to the soldiers. They fawn on any man wearing a uniform, but growl with suspicion at civilians. Their hearts will be broken when they lose their gods of S. A. P. Doubtless they will haunt the deserted hut, waiting for the boys who never return. They cannot understand what it all means, and their world will be at an end. Like the dogs of Belgium, they will howl out their lives over the ruins of their lost home. breaking their hearts for the pals who come no more.

Good-by, dogs, take care of yourselves!

hand a bouquet of genuine appreciation to Fremont Chester, the founder, editor and publisher of The Snapshot. If nobody loves a fat man, even less, it seems, ordinarily does anybody love an editor. He plans and he hustles and he produces good stuff, but usually fails to get sympathetic reaction. The editor of one of our leading dailies once told me he had written for more than thirty years and was convinced that no one had ever read a line. His sense of failure was based on the fact that the editor of a city paper necessarily has many more readers than he can ever meet, and therefore cannot judge results of his writings. With The Airscout's Snapshot it is different.

The paper has been given away to soldiers at the counter. There the secretaries meet the readers and the news contributors, so we know positively how the paper stands with the boys We are not guessing when we say to Editor Chester: "Your paper has been a grand success." Every issue has been awaited eagerly, discussed and laughed over and passed on to homes and other camps. The Y. M. C. The Snapshot has been made possible through the generosity of Rochester advertisers. It has been published at minimum cost to the merchants, and has been supplied to the Airscouts without cost, and in sufficient numbers to give every soldier a chance, not only to read the paper, but also to send a copy home.

All advertising contracts were made for a period of six months, the time given by Captain Betz, former commandant, as the probable duration of the school. Therefore it has been necessary to discontinue the publication to demobilization.

However, if at any time there arises a need for the reappearance of The Snapshot, whether as a souvenir for future annual reunions or to keep alive interest in and memories of the U. S. A. S. A. P., the publishers will gladly co-operate with the Airscouts in like Mark possesses. their efforts.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM DORMITORY

Owing to the fact that the walls in Dorm. 5 are being pushed out, the bunch formally in that Dorm. had to scatter to the other halls of bedlam. As a result, Diamond Specialist Simpson is now one of our bunk mates. It was this celebrity who elected the style of wearing his instructors button on his pajamas and also this same party spent nearly a month arranging a lecture which was given recently, entitled "How To Select a Diamond for Your Best Girl."

JOHN T. CASPERSON

First class sergeant, entered the army September 22, 1917, at Great Falls, Mont. Why he chose Great Falls is more than we can understand. From there he was sent to Camp Lewis, Washington, and warranted corporal of the 316th Motor Supply Train. Here he was acting assistant truck master and bayonet instructor.

In April Madison Barracks was in need of a company commander and John filled the bill.

In July he was again transferred to U. S. A. S. A. P. at Rochester and chose the camera repair course and received his warrant as provost sergeant in August.

November 25 he was made sergeant, first class, of the school, which duties he now performs. No, girls, he's not married,

IN ARMY A WEEK AND FEEL LIKE A VETERAN

Special Correspondence of Jim and Mary Released for Exclusive Use of The Airscout's Snapshot.

Dere Mary You bet I aint no slacker. I ben in the servis a week now and I feal like a vetran, I got my soljer soot the furst day but I had to pay a tayler $1.75 to fix it so I could wear it to a party. You see Mary this here U. S. A. S. P., which means some are photographers. has a wuartermaster place where they fit you with your soljer soot, but your friends have a fit when they see you. That scotch fello in there throwed a soot at me, and said beet it kid, so I took a slant at my new ready to wear, someone up and yells, attension! loud like that, and all jumped from their bunks and stands in line like a stature, and a big fello with whiskers comes in and looks around like he lost something, I stood there like a dummie, not knowing what was going on, when this fellow passed me he looked straight at me, and stopped. He said how long you been in the servis? I said two days, how long you been in. He didn't even seem interested in my question, but shoved out his arm and said see that, and pointed to some black cord swed on his sleeve, and then pointed to his sholder and there was a thing like a gold oak leaf, he then pointed to his soot and said see that, I said hel, you got nothing on me, look at this and I showed him my soot. He seemed discusted and went out. I later found out he was the Mazor doing inspection, it being Saturday. They want everything sanitarie for Sunday, the rest of the weak it don't matter much. Well Mary, this here school is rite in Rochester, and we can go to the citie after retreat. Thats when they take the flag down for the nite, they take it down because someone might steel it in the dark, and that would be a clamity. We stay out till 11,00 on weak days, except Saturday when we can stay out all nite. At 11.00 the bugler blows tatoo. They call it tatoo because the bugler don't feel very good all the time and he leaves sort of a impression on you, that the first thing you hear in the a. m., will be him still blowing, but on a different tune called reveile. Som day he will be sorrie for such non-sence as we have to get up when he changes to reveile, and I am scared some tough bird will try to chook him.

Well Mary Im glad i joyned the armey before the Kiser dedicated his throne or else your brohter John mite of sed sumthin mean about me. aint scart of him any more cause I got lots of mussle, an I kno I can lick him. That guy on the draft bord who sent me hear toled me the wurtermasters would give me any kind of a job. He said I could have my pick, but they gave me a shovel insted.

want to the classifikashum office the next day I come here. A Sargent looked me over and asks me a lot of questions. He wanted to kno what kind of bizness I was in befor I got in the armey, and I toled him it was a hell of a bizness cause I had to get up at 4 o'clock in the morin to milk the

My Captain, a sweed, toled me the Kodak Kitchen, it aint hard work and I get lots to eat, so you dont see me putting up a kick. I peeled pertaters, till my hands got chaped and then peeled onions till my eyes watered, and then dished up goulish for them bums til my arms aked. They eat like they never eat before. You should see the fine chiny dishes they eat off of. I had to wash em.

They sent me to Bakers Field too days ago, thats where they keep the airplanes. First thing I went on guard duty. That means I had to walk a It wasnt no post either. When I got to one end I had to turn round and walk to the other. I done that over and over till the gun on my sholder begin to hurt. It got so heavy I had to lay it down on the ground. I picked it up though every time a secont lieut, came long, cause you got to sloot them fellos. I sleep in a tent there, with 7 others fellos, that is I tried to sleep, the guy on the right side gets my goat, everytime I wake up I heard him snoring, the guy on my left talks in his sleep about a motor tic Ocean. I wish that boat had been about it he is going to have a bomb dropt on him, the size of my fist doubled up. Then it raines every day and the winds howl at night, and the tent keeps flappin me in the mug. cant sleep scared the tent will blow away into the river. Thats where we do our ablutions, and shaving and swimmin, and get our drinking water from. Nothin like havin a river handy to throw things in. We dont hav pillos in the army, you mite askt your mother to send me one. Of course I dont need any, but I could sell it to hank Perkins, that would give me enuf monie to buy some cigerets. I guess a fello has to smoke in the armey to be soshable.

I had lots of fun at that party Mary

I went to the other nite. We can take a lectric car rite in front of the school but it has a trolley on it. Its not one of them gasoline things, the M. T. C. guys have a monopoly on all gas eatmachines. Thier organication is perfect, if you have government bizness into the citie which requires a machine, you first have to fine a T. C., clerk, and he is usualy doing bunk fatique, then he looks up his Lieut. who says whether or not you can ride, and give you a slip of paper, you take this paper to the garrage, but you can't find a gas hound about and you spend a half hour looking thru the Y. and the barrax, and finaly discover one sound asleep, you hate to wake him, but this government bizness comes before sleep, and when you finaly get the hound woke up, he says why pick on me. Then he spends about half an hour fixing his car and puting gas into it, and in about an hour you, are ready to start. brains of their works is called Windy, but it takes a long time for the wind get into motion. After you get started, you go 15 miles an hour, but the thing which recrods the speed tells some awful lies, because it is always near 30 to 35. I forgot about the party, it was at a church and we had some ice cream and played some gaims. It make me thin of the church fair last winter whe Deakon Harrisons wife skooped out he cream, but this time we didnt ha 2 to fork over any dime. You ought to see the peach of a girl I met. Of course, Mary she wasn't as nice as you cause I alwaz wuz parshul to red hair. talkin bout everything and she sez what do you all do in school. and then she said I reckon youll be goin over soon. I said over where and she sed why to France of course. I sed plenty time, they didnt need me there cause I couldnt talk French nohow. I ought to stay where English is spoke. She was a suthern girl and talkd queer like. She sed she wuz a war worker but I toled her she-didnt have to work any harder than I did. Course you got to make lowances fer educashup to travel so fur. Still thur looks makes up for that.

I went to a show last Monday, of course I didnt have to pay nuthin' the girl I met at the party took me. I wanted to shoe my apprecisshum so I bought a bag of peanuts on the way there for a treet. Thats my disposishum Mary. Generous all over. found our seats were in the balconie, furst row, next to me was a kernel and he got mad when I dropt peanut shucks on the floor under his feet. tryed to make beleaf that girl with me was you Mary so we held hands when the lites went out in the the-Dont you tell yer muther Mary or she wont send me that can of jam she promised me.

Well the show was so good I forgot to eat all my peanuts. It started like a minstrel show and I had to laff all the time. One fello sang strolling round the camp with Mary and it maye me thing of you. Their was wun peace called It May be Wrong, coes, feed the hogs and do the chores I kno it wuz wrong cause the fellos in but there wasnt no horn to wake me up.

I kno it wuz wrong cause the fellos in the orkestry thought they wuz on the stage and they begin to dance, just as ef they wuz crazy. O I forgot to say next day I was to do K. P. at the ther wuz a song on the programum called Father Is Going to be with us soon, it is a humdinger Mary. yer father would throw 57 fits if he herd it. They had Sofie Tucker in an act, and it was reel good, she had a stunnin dress on, and she had a orkestra, and rite in the middle of the act she kised every one of her orkestra, and they acted like they had been gased. Wished I could play a harp of somthin I would join her orkestra, not that your kises are not sweet enugh Mary, but this Sofle knos how to do it rite from sperience, it takes practice

And say Mary I forgot to tell about our thanksgiving dinner at Podak. It wuz grate, we had everything from soup to nuts, with musix and speeches throwed in. It wuz so good that the officers ate with us, guess they know when we have a good meal Mary. They had a coarse dinner Mary, that a foreign term, so you wont understand it, they named the diferent dishes after the diferent officers in the school, the namin wasnt so bad til they got to nuts, of course some officer had to be the goat. privates had a tough day of it, they always do. It was a grate day Mary and I am very thankful because the Mazor, of whom I spoke before said we would all be home soon, and everybody cheered. But I bet they wont get meals like that at home and dont have to pay a cent for it. Its wonderful when you think of it Mary.

Well Mary, the Captain called me into the office and said I had been promoted to fire guard, that means I got to keep the hot air goin around the garrage to keep the machines from frezin. Well good by Mary I got to use the cole shovel.

Yours til my hart gits cold.

JIM. P. S .- You wont care Mary if I go to see that girl I met at the show tonight it gets lomsome to have nothin but a cole shovel to look at. J. From Sgt. W. J. Schluter, Q. M. C.

From the Mailbag

Rockland, Me., November 23, 1918. Dear Editor of Snapshot:

To the boys of the old "Fighting Fourth" from Madison Barracks and the "Frolicsome Fifth" at the S. A. P., who remember "Goldie Tyler" (nee Priv. R. W. Tyler), who was dis-charged for a faulty heart in June, the following may be of interest:

Twin sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. R. Waldo Tyler at Silsby Hospital, Rockland, Me., Sunday, November 17, at 7 p. m. The first son was named Ralph Betz Tyler, the second Charles Sumner. The mother is doing nicely.

Sincerely yours, R. W. TYLER.

SYNCOPATED NOTES FROM'S. A. P. BAND

Ask the Band boys what wakes them up in the morning.

Answer-Riebe, the human cyclone. Nuff sed! Lazelle, our genial, although playful companion, complains that he will surely be ruined if he stays in the army much longer. Why the belligerant attitude, Ribert?

Say, fellows, did you notice Ostrom 'pipe off" those diving nymphs last veek at the Victoria?

Oh, Boy! I'll bet he knows every one of them by their first name by

We heard Newbury say the other ay: "Oh, Burgh, OUR girl wants

YOU to call her up."
Poor Newbury—The girls certainly treat you rough, don't they?
I wonder where Charlie Hancock stays 'till 2 a. m., every morning? Baker, the bugler, says, "Well, I blow them in sweet, even if they do come out a little sour.

Our Band will challenge any outfit in the command to a coal shoveling contest. And yet they call us Gold Swan, you ought to write a book on c ncentrated farming. You will make more money selling the idea than you will practicing it.

Patterson is going to start a class in early morning gymnastics. He al-

The only real pep old Charlie Hancock ever shows is when we are playing "Lasses Trombone." Charlie says,

"Tis great stuff." Ostrom would like to arrange an engagement for the Band to play at the burlesque show. That would make a fine excuse to get there, wouldn't it, Carl? But we are wise now, you Letteri, our solo piccolo artist, spends much time and most of his money commuting to Buffalo. can guess the reason? Will we all get an invitation to the big affair, Dominick?

I say, Babey, isn't it too bad that there isn't more evenings in a week?

I'm afraid you never will be able to keep up with your calling list under I'll say that McPheeters can also sympathize with you. He is in the same fix.

Somebody asked yesterday when is the Band going to get their warrants? Bill Young doesn't drink coffee and Spawn says that is the reason he has able to stay out till 4 a. m. every night.

Sister Eva says, "Bring on your men and I will take care of six, but I won't guarantee how they will look afterwards, because I scratch, bite and

But on musical comedy, "she" is the "best yet." I don't think. One night when Eva failed to return home we became uneasy and called the city jail but she was not there.

No answer from our drummer as to his nervousness on Main Street. We mean the big drummer.

Riebe is getting real "hard boiled." By the time he has this same bunch six months longer he will be capable of handling Eva and the rest of the Brugh is like the owl. He sleeps in daytime and wakes at night. But unlike the owl he gets his dates all mixed up. "By Cripes! I won't stand for that!" So says Spawn.

Charles F. Hancock intends to go South on the first train when he is mustered out. Hey, Charley, me, too! Although Patterson is from Georgia, you can't freeze him. He is just like a polar bear. The more air the better he likes it. Wonder why "Pap" gets up quick when you mention sweeping Who said Rohrer couldn't dance? Just watch him at the farewell dance. The scheme "Old Dad" Williams tried to work, so he could be home for Thanksgiving, was found out, so he will eat dinner with the rest of us. Lazelle is now a real member of our His initiation having been finished last week

So also with Baker. The checker championship is undecided as yet. Will advise later as to who wins.

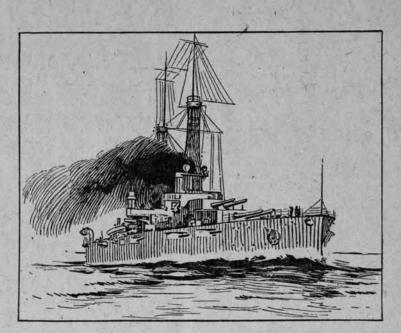

Said a medical man the other day when he wanted someone to take down screens at hospital

When I want some work done quickly, I go to the band, because four band men are as good as a dozen ordinary men." Which we consider quite a compliment.

We thank Roy Miller for his treat of cigarettes some days ago. Come

AT THE PEACE CONFERENCE-'Judge," said the man at the bar. 'There's no use of trying to square this thing up. My wife and I fight just so often and just so long, and we can't help it. So there you are."
"And about how long do you keep it up?" asked the judge.

"About two weeks, Judge."
"All right, I'll give you fifteen days in jail-in other words, you are in- L. THOS. HINTON terned for the duration of the war."
