Gen. Taylor - The War - Slavery

During the winter, Mr. BORTS published an address to the Whigs of Virginia, advocating the nomination of Mr. CLAY, instead of Gen. Taylor. Four of his colleagues in Congress replied to this address. Mr. BORTS rejoined in an address to the whole Whig party of the United States, dated March 30, 1848.

Extracts from the Whig Press before Gen. Taylor's Annunciation

The Taylor editors are using the just pretty freely upon the Whigs, and their name is legion who refuse to bow the knee to the Philadelphia monarch, as the dictation of the slaveholder's expediency, in popularly doing, at Washington, whose interests secured his position.

APPELLING CONFLAGRATION.

500 BUILDINGS BURNED!! $3,000,000 PROPERTY LOST!! - The fire, though a good servant, is indeed a fearful master. In Andover, Ind. this had a magnificent display. Our city is desolate.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP

THE "REBELLION" - It is positively stated that Mr. S. O'Brien's army, accompanied by some French gentlemen of great military knowledge, sailed last week for Limerick in Limerick on Sunday last, to take leave of Mrs. S. O'Brien.

THE SOUTH FOR TAYLOR, AND WHY.

MESSAGE OF THE PRESIDENT ON THE OREGON BILL.

We give below the Message of President Polk, communicating to Congress his views upon the bill to organize the government of the Territory of Oregon, in connection with the Anti-Slavery Provision attached:

bring them to the conclusion that the cetera wisdom is to follow the example of those who have gone before us, and settle this dangerous question upon the Missouri compromise, or some other equitable compromise, which would respect the rights of all, and prove satisfactory to the different portions of the Union.

The Debate in the Senate. We invite the attention of every Freeman, to whatever party he may be inclined, to the debate which we publish to-day. It is pregnant with meaning, as indicating the state of feelings at the South. Over and over again it is announced by the various speakers, that the South will not forego the privilege of taking their slaves to New-Mexico and California, and there hold them as property; that they will not submit to the "degradation," as they call it, of being placed on an equality with the Freemen of the North, and be compelled to work with their own hands or purchase voluntary labor.

Taylor's Last Letter. This precious production is "genuine," just as we expected. There is no mistake about it. The Philadelphia Ledger has seen the letter, and vouches for its authenticity. And now are not the 'ancient Whigs' in a pretty predicament? Gen. Taylor says plainly, "I AM NOT A PARTY CANDIDATE." Is that sufficiently explicit to suit honest men, who have long cherished a regard for Whig principles? If anybody has hitherto believed Gen. Taylor to be a Whig—ever a moderate Whig, as the party sense of that term, this letter must effectually remove that delusion. Gen. Taylor is simply a Southern man—much nearer a States Rights Democrat in his notions, than he is a Whig, whatever designation he may see fit to assume. And we never have doubted that if elected Gen. Taylor's course would suit much better than the Whigs proper.

Annual Episcopal Convention of Western New-York. GENEVA, August 16, 1848. The Annual Session of the Episcopal Convention of the Diocese of Western New-York, commenced its session in Trinity Church in this village, this morning at 10 o'clock. The attendance of the Clergy is remarkably large, while that of the lay members is much larger than is generally found at these annual convocations.

Suspension Bridge Question. Some little excitement was created on Monday, in consequence of the Directors wishing to get possession of their property. I am hardly apprised of the facts, but as far as I have been able to get hold of them, they are these:

From some demands of Mr. Elzer, (the companies Engineer) and his declining to act under their instructions, or to give them satisfactory replies to calls for an exhibit of his disbursements, as well as his persisting in retaining in his hands, and for his own use, the revenues of the Bridge, the Directors finally cited him to attend a meeting of the Board, to which he paying no attention, they unanimously resolved upon his dismissal, which was carried, and the Assistant Engineer then in charge, and acknowledging the right of the Directors to possession, issued notices to the toll collectors, that thereafter they must consider themselves accountable to, and under the pay of the Board of Directors; thus the company came, or was in possession. But it seems Mr. Elzer, then in Philadelphia, telegraphed to the head blacksmith, and master carpenter to take possession, by force if necessary. These men regarding the authority of Mr. E. as sufficient for them, went on to the Bridge and forcibly dispossessed the men in charge, and took possession themselves, in which they remained until the 14th inst., when the authorities on the Canada side put the Directors in possession, though resisted by a brother of Mr. Elzer, who had the same hour arrived from Philadelphia and in this, with hatchet in hand has laid open to the summary laws of her majesty, being the sheriff. He was instantly fined a hundred dollars, as was also Mr. Baldwin, master carpenter, for the same offence, and sent to jail.

Why, then, should our institutions be endangered because it is proposed to submit to the people of the West a newly acquired territory lying south of thirty-six degrees thirty minutes, embracing less than four degrees of latitude, the question whether, in the language of the Texas compromise, they shall be admitted (as a State) into the Union with or without slavery? Is it a question to be pushed to such extremes by excited partisans on the one side or the other, in regard to our newly acquired distant possessions on the Pacific, as to endanger the union of thirty glorious States which constitute our confederacy? I have an abiding confidence that the sober reflection and sound patriotism of the people of all the States will
