VOLUME V.

PENFIELD, N. Y. JANUARY 1st, 1866.

NUMBER 1.

NOT A GOLDEN WEDDING.—Last Thursday a German lad of sixteen years of age, was arrested by our poor master through the instigation of a buxum dutch lass, between thirty and forty years of age, and to settle the matter, the child in bitter tears, was obliged to marry the old lady, to get his liberty from the authority and not be obliged to go to Jail. We understand that some who induced the child to marry, after the second sober thought think it much like the parable of the boys and the frogs. It was worth to them, but death to the child. And we predict that enlightened people will look upon this as a barbarous transaction. As a matter of course the boy will never live with the old "fall" as man and wife; consequently nothing has been gained to save cost and expense to the town.

The Cheapest and Best.

Just what everybody wants. Enclosed 25 cents for one package, or 40 cents for two packages of the Magic Copying Paper; each package containing five large sheets of beautiful colors, Black, Blue, Red, Green and Yellow. No ink is required to write 'love letters' or no pencil to copy engravings, letters, patterns, &c., sent post paid, on receipt of price. Address N. B. Lucia, Bridport, Vermont.

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS.—At Woodward and Hundel's, 126 State St., Rochester. Don't fail to call and see the splendid stock of Albums varying in price from 30 cents to $80. Prices 30 per cent lower than last year.

THE AMERICAN FARMER.

We are in the receipt of the first number of volume first, of this new Agricultural work, which is to take the place of the Genesee Farmer on and after the first day of January 1866. The new volume will contain 384 double column pages of useful and interesting reading matter together with numerous designs and illustrations, printed on new type and furnished to clubs at the low price of 75 cents a year. Single copies $1.00—Postage only 12 cents a year, either in the States or the British Provinces. Any person, in any part of the Union can have a copy of the Farmer gratuitously, but will act as agent in getting up a club. Subscription money if put up by Post Masters may be sent at the risk of the Publisher. For further particulars. Address JOHN TURNER, Rochester, N. Y.

ALL PLEASED.—I say Tommy, do you not regret leaving Penfield? No, sir, a bit of it. But off to Michigan next week. I am certainly glad if you are pleased in going; as I believe every body is pleased to have you go.

We are pleased, but would be doubly pleased if Tommy had have remember us before he left. We think that if Michigan is represented from many towns the came that they are from Penfield, it will soon be an interesting state to live in.

CHRISTMAS.—We had a pleasant day for Christmas, the thermometer stood up at nearly 60. It was supposed on Saturday that sleighing would be good for holiday's, but on Sunday we saw that we were to be disappointed, as the thermometer kept gradually rising.

A NEW VOLUME. THE ILLUSTRATED PNEUMOLOGICAL JOURNAL commences its 484 Vol. with the present January Number—which contains Rufus Choate, John Marshall, Sir Matthew Hale, John Bright, Flat headed Indians, etc., with Portraits. OUR YOUNG FOLKS.—The January number of this popular work has been received, and we would say to all those who intend getting up clubs for the best magazine for children that is published, to be sure and commence with the January number of Our Young Folks Illustrated Magazine. Club Terms $1.50. Single copies 50c.—Single numbers 20 cents each. Address TICKNOR & FIELDS, 124 Tremont Street, Boston.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY.—The January number of this "Excelsior" and highly appreciated work has been received. Please see card elsewhere in this paper and also the prospectus of a new literary journal to be published by Messrs. TICKNOR & FIELDS, and is to be called Every Saturday. Read it carefully and then tell your friends about it.

Star Spangled Banner.

This is the title of a sprightly little monthly published by Hunter & Co., Hinsdale N. H. at the low price of twenty-five cents a year, or five copies to one address for $1.00. The Banner has recently been enlarged to double of its former size, which is now about double the size of this paper. A specimen copy is all that will be required, to have its value appreciated, which any person can have, by sending us a two cent stamp to pay postage, or address Star Spangled Banner, Hinsdale, N. H.

DR. D'ARNO'S DIAPHYNO CHRYSTALS—are a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Catarrh and Asthma, and in very many cases have been known to cure what has been pronounced Consumption by some of the most eminent Physicians. Prepared and sold by N. H. Gardner, Rochester, N. Y.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.—In this volume of our paper, we shall publish the simple announcement of all marriages and deaths gratis when ever they come to our knowledge, without their being handed us in a proper way, and in this case we shall claim the privilege of making any comment in case that we choose to do so, but in case that marriages and deaths are handed in by friends in a proper manner, we will insert them as required, on reasonable terms. Now heed what we say and not try to cheat our readers out of the knowledge of your marriage, because we shall publish it as soon as we hear of it; if not until six months afterwards.

ON SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1866, Messrs. TICKNOR and FIELDS will begin the publication of a weekly journal entitled,

EVERY SATURDAY.

A Journal of Choice Reading.
SELECTED FROM FOREIGN CURRENT LITERATURE. Much of the best literature of the day is found in the English and Continental magazines, and periodicals; and it is the design of the Publishers of this new journal to reproduce the choicest selections from those for American readers, in a form at once attractive and expensive. The Publishers believe that such a journal, conducted upon the plan that they propose, will be not only entertaining and instructive in itself, but interesting and valuable as a reflex of the better class.

EVERY SATURDAY is intended for Town and Country, for the Fireside, the Bedside, the Hallway, and the Steamboat. Its plan embraces incidents of Travel and Adventure, Essays Critical and Descriptive, Serial Tales, Short Stories, Panned Biographies, Literary Intelligence, etc., in connection with judicious selections from the admirable popular paper in science which are constantly appearing in foreign periodicals. The value of these paper arises from the fact that scientific subjects, however harsh and dry in themselves, are here treated in so graphic and picturesque a style as to claim the reader while instructing him.

It will be, in short, the aim of the Publishers that EVERY SATURDAY shall commend itself by its freshness and variety to all classes of intelligent and cultivated readers.

EVERY SATURDAY will contain each week thirty to large octavo pages, handsomely printed in double columns, with an engraved title.

TERMS.

Single Number, 10 cents.
Subscription Price, $5.00 per year, in advance.
Monthly Parts will be issued, containing 125 pages each, handsomely bound in an attractive cover, price 60 cents. Subscription price, $5.00 per year, in advance.
Clubbing Arrangement.—Subscribers to any of the other Periodicals published by Ticknor and Fields will receive EVERY SATURDAY for $4.00 per year in advance. TICKNOR & FIELDS, Publishers, 124 Tremont Street, Boston.

The Staten Island Journal says: That a young lady recently from Saratoga, says she has given many a young man the intermittent fever. What a cruel lass.

The Seneca Observer says: That we have but two of the old Revolutionary pensioners left. Never mind the books will soon be filled with new ones.

At North Wales, on Wednesday Nov. 29th, 1865, by the Rev. P. S. Rightmeyer, Mr. John Kramer, to Miss Elizabeth C. Snyder, both of Buckville, Bucks Co., Pa.

P. S. Those sending marriages for publication, should send them while they are yet news, and should always sign their names to any article that they wish published, and also write all names plainly.

The Penfield Extra.

PENFIELD, JAN. 1st, 1865.

A New Volume.

With this issue we introduce to our little readers the first number of volume fifth of our little paper. We commenced our first volume in regular order in the first week of January 1862, although we published our first paper on the 4th day of May 1861, but being prohibited the privilege of the mails for some time, and with other inconveniences, we did not commence a regular issue until the following January, since which time we have published as regular as most country journals, and during the last four years our paper has found its way into ever State and Territory in this Union, and at the present time we have subscribers in most of the States and all of the Territories. It will be seen that our last number was only numbered 40, as we have sent the Literary Companion in the place of the Extra every month the past year, which did not increase the number of the Extra. We believe that we have only omitted sending our papers to subscribers two weeks for the past year, although we stated at the commencement of volume four, that it would contain only 48 numbers, and this will be the case with the new volume, as we shall make calculations to use four weeks in this year for recreation.

The present year 1866, the interest of the Extra and Companion will be as distinct from each other as the Herald and Tribune are, and communications calculated for one should not be addressed to the other. The reason why the Companion has been sent in the place of the Extra was to introduce it, but now as its monthly circulation is out-numbering that of the weekly circulation of the Extra, we have concluded to allow it to "paddle its own canoe," which it is destined to do, under the low subscription price.

In conclusion please allow us to return our sincere thanks to our Patrons and the Press, their small favors when added together, have been large favors to us, and we feel yet to solicit their kind patronage and favors. Our Advertising and Club Agents are included in the above. It may be possible that we shall have a new head to our paper next Spring, if so, the name may be somewhat changed, we have been offered a new head as a present, and we shall not throw the offer over our shoulder.

Photographicion, is the name of a new Parlor Ornament for showing card Photographs. They hold 100 Pictures, are highly ornamented and are sold at Woodward & Rundel's, 129 State street, Rochester, N. Y.

Next week we shall omit our Adventures one issue, and give our readers some very illustrative tables.

On a cold frosty day an Ant was dragging out some of the corn which he had laid up in the summer time, to dry it. A Grasshopper, half-perished with hunger, besought the Ant to give him a morsel of it to preserve his life. "What were you doing, said the Ant, 'this last summer?'" "Oh," said the Grasshopper, "I was not idle. I kept singing all the summer long." Said the Ant, laughing and shutting up his granary. "Since you could sing all summer, you may dance all winter."

Winter finds out what Summer lays by.

The young lady to her Waterfall, says; "False one, I love thee still!"

The Mercantile Journal of Dec 27th thinks that the price of Merchandise may advance a trifle after Holidays, and quotes gold at 145 3/4.

They are trying to find a young man in Chicago who is heir to $100,000. Several young ladies in this city are looking for one just like him.—Hudson Gazette.

Adventures on the Border; No. 5
Charmed by a Rattlesnake!

BY G. B. L.

Reader, from my childhood up to the present day, I have always had an antipathy against the serpent tribe. I cannot bear to see the scaly reptile crawling and winding through the grass, ever and anon darting forth that forked tongue; and the poor harmless milk snake, who never committed no greater crime than the frightening of timid children, is by me magnified into a venomous revengeful foe, and meets with a cruel death at my hands. For a justification of my implacable enmity toward the serpent tribe, I beg the reader to peruse the following incident, which happened several years ago, and though never before made public, is true in every particular.

We were encamped on the Sweetwater, McClure, Doty and myself. It was in the month of September, although the weather partook more of the nature of August, except the nights, which were just cool enough to allow a mountaineer to sleep comfortable under a pair of blankets. We had built a hunter's cabin, near a splendid cold water spring and were congratulating ourselves on having a profitable season. There were but two drawbacks to prevent our taking solid comfort and these were Indians and rattlesnakes. The reader will doubtless think these were sufficient; perhaps they were so, but the former generally kept at a respectable distance, confining themselves to vain attempts to steal our pack mules and horses, and the latter we generally managed to avoid.

Now, not one Western man in a dozen cares for the bite of a rattlesnake. He has a score of remedies at hand, and it is a chance bite indeed that proves fatal. But then, there is a dread and terror connected with the name of the venomous rattler, and but few men there are who will not give his snake-ship a wide berth, rather than feel those sharp poisonous fangs enter his flesh. One evening, about 9 o'clock I took out our cans and set them with fresh water at the spring. On returning, just before reaching the cabin, I heard the warning rattle of the common enemy, and sprang back just in time to avoid being bitten. Calling to my comrades, a light was procured, and in a few moments we discovered the reptile, close up under the logs of the cabin, and quickly dispatched him. This little incident furnished a subject for an hours' conversation during which my two companions related some of the most astounding snake stories on record, and then McClure took up his rifle, it being his turn to stand sentry, and left the cabin, while Doty and myself wrapped our blankets around us, and were soon unconscious of savages, rattlesnake, or aught else that has a tendency to lessen the gloom of a hunter's life. I cannot tell how long I had slept, though after events proved that it was a long time, when I fell into a singular dream. I was on a broad and expansive prairie, and the earth seemed literally beaming with wild flowers. But a heavy weight was on my breast, making respiration difficult and laborious. Try as I would, I could not shake off that heavy pressing load. At length I saw a fairer flower than any I had yet beheld, and stooped down to break it from the stem. While in the act, the broad head of an enormous rattlesnake suddenly reared itself beside it, and fixed its glittering eyes on mine. I could no longer move; speech, too had fled, and the reptile commenced gently swaying his head to and fro, coming nearer each instant, his forked tongue darting like a flash of fire from his mouth, while those fiery eyes seemed to be piercing my brain!

But the heavy weight on my breast had become intolerable and with a mighty effort I awoke. Merciful God! My dream was a dread reality, for coiled upon my chest, with head erect, and swaying from side to side was a monster rattle snake! Although my dream was broken, I could not move; nay, I had not the power to turn my eyes from those glittering orbs, which were fastened on mine. Nearer and nearer came those deathly fangs; to and fro swayed that broad erected head, until not a foot separated it from my face. And yet I could not realize my danger. It seemed that I was suspended in mid-air, that I was gently moved by the warm balmy breeze, and I thought I could be contented to thus pass away the remaining day yet left me. Still I could hear the song of the early morning bird, and the cheerful chirping of the wood cricket, outside the cabin, and realized that another sun had risen.

Nearer and nearer came that horrid head, and when but a fingers length lay between me and death, I heard the quick step of some one outside. The snake heard it also, and quickly withdrew his head, and swiftly glided from my breast in the direction of the far end of the cabin. The instant he withdrew his head the charm was broken and I sprang to my feet, casting my blankets ten feet away, and staggered into Doty's arms, who at that moment entered the cabin. After a delay of several moments, I managed to give him an explanation, and the reptile was soon found and killed. He was one of the largest of his species, and on examination was found to have a tail ornamented with twenty three rattles.

Stereoscopes, and Stereoscopic views, a splendid new low just received at Woodward & Rundel's 126 State St., Rochester, N. Y.

The Catskill Recorder suggests that Secretary McCullough be requested to call in the entire issue of shipplaster currency since there is sufficient of the counterfeit article afloat to meet all the demands of trade! Every body takes it, and it wont, have to be redeemed.

Congress has made it lawful for the Director of the Mint to place this motto, "In God we trust," on every coin hereafter to be issued.

EXTRA COPIES.—We have had calls for hundreds of EXTRA COPIES, containing the marriage notices and the Obituary Notice of Eld Hasdel, and would say to all who wish a copy, that those two items will be republished in the Literary Companion about the 25th of January, therefore leave your orders for all that you may wish.

A VALUABLE COW.—We understand that a Mr. Roe of the north part of this town, sold on contract to a city milk dealer the past season, from one cow 2640 quarts of milk at four cents a quart, which would amount to $145.40 Now suppose one third water was added to this milk, we have 4854 quarts; then suppose this 4854 quarts were sold to the good people of Rochester at 10 cents a quart, we have the nice little sum of $485.40 which we realize from one cow, and the "variations." We find by calculation, that we only require 20 quarts of milk a day for six months to make the above quantity, therefore we do not doubt the story except in one particular, we think that one third water, would make the milk look rather blue.

All clubs that did not get their papers last week, will have their time extended. We were short two or three hundred.

One of our advertisers a few weeks ago found some fault because we omitted publication one week; he will please notice that we fill Holiday week, when people will have more time to read advertisements.

The Wolverine Citizen says: The King of Greece is P. E. Trioulas.

SOLDIERS MONUMENT.—We understand that Mr. Merrick of Palmyra furnished a soldiers Monument on contract for our Cemetery, and unless the required funds be forth-coming, the Monument will be removed by Mr. Merrick. This will sound well for the patriotic men of Penfield. We advise all to call at the Post Office and leave a few dollars with Mr. Scovill.

THE FATHER AND HIS TWO DAUGHTERS.

A man who had two daughters married one to a Gardener, the other to a Potter. After awhile he paid a visit to the Gardener's, and asked his daughter how it went with her. "Excellently well," said she; "we have everything that we want; I have but one prayer, that we may have a heavy storm of rain to water our plants." Off he set to the Potter's, and asked his other daughter how matters went with her. "There is not a thing we want," she replied; "and I only hope this fine weather and hot sun may continue to bake our tile." "Alack," said the Father, "if you wish for fine weather, and your sister for rain, which am I to pray for myself?"

The Cheapest and Best.

Just what everybody wants. - Enclosed 25 cents for one package, or 40 cents for two packages of the Magic Copying Paper; each package containing five large sheets of beautiful colors, Black, Blue, Red, Green and Yellow. No ink is required to write - blue letters or no pencil to copy engravings, letters, patterns, &c. sent post paid, on receipt of price. Address N. B. LECHE, Bridport, Vermont.

Chromo Lithographs, and fine steel engravings and the best collection in Rochester, are on exhibition at Woodward & Rundel's, 129 State street, Rochester.

THE WOLF AND THE LAMB.

As a Wolf was lapping at the head of a running brook, he spied a stray Lamb paddling, some distance down the stream. Having made up his mind to seize her he bethought himself, how he might justify his violence. "Villain!" said he, running up to her, "how dare you sully the water that is my drinking?" "Indeed," said the Lamb humbly, "I do not see how I can disarrange the waters, since it runs from you to me, not from me to you." "Be that as it may," replied the Wolf, "it was but a year ago that you called me many ill names." "Oh, Sir!" said the Lamb trembling, "a year ago I was not born." "Well," replied the Wolf, "if it was not you, it was your father, and that is all the same; but it is no use trying to argue me out of my supper; - and without another word I'll leap upon the poor helpless Lamb and tore her to pieces. A tyrant never wants a plea. And they have little chance of resisting the injustice of the powerful - whose only weapons are innocence and reason."

THE FALCONER AND THE PATRIDGE.

A Falconer having taken a Partridge in his net, the bird cried out sorrowfully; "Let me go, good Master Falconer, and I promise you I will decoy other partridges into your net." "No," said the man, "while I hold it I have done, I am determined now not to spare you for there if no death or bad for him who is ready to betray his friends."

TO PHOTOGRAPH ARTISTS.

You can find a complete stock of Photo graphic Goods, at Woodward & Rundel's, 129 State St., Rochester, and can buy them at the very lowest prices. Give them a trial.

THE CREAKING WHEELS.

As some Oxen were dragging a wagon along a heavy road, the Wheels set up a creaking. "Brute!" cried the driver to the wagon, "why do you groan, when they who are drawing all the weight are silent?" Those who cry loudest are not always the most hurt.

PICTURE CORD & TASSELS— and Porcelain Picture Nails may be found in any quantities at Woodward & Rundel's, 129 State St., Rochester.

How many Parents there are in this world who use profane language in correcting their children instead of kind words. Remember that a child will have a great deal more respect for you if you judge them kindly than they would if you chastised them with rail and bitter words.

THE CRAB AND HER MOTHER.

Said an old crab to a young one, "Why do you walk so crooked child, walk straight!" "Mother," said the young crab, "show me the way, will you? and when I see you taking a straight course, I will try and follow." Example is better than precept.

THE WIDOW AND THE HEN.

A widow woman kept a Hen that laid an egg every morning. Thought the woman to herself, "If I double my Hen's allowance of barley, she will lay twice a-day." So she tried her plan, and the Hen became so fat and sleek that she left off laying at all. Figures are not always facts.

THE BLIND MAN AND THE WHEEL.

A Blind man was wont, on any animal being put into his hands, to say what it was. Once they brought to him a wolf's wheel. He felt it all over, and being in doubt said, "I know not whether thy father was a Dog or a Wolf; but this I would not trust thee among a flock of sheep." Evil dispositions are early shown.

The young lady possessed an immense water power, who had a cask in her stomach a cask in her eye, a cask in her back, and a waterial on her hand. Franklin Gazette.

A kiss is given as a receipt, on paying your address.

We are in receipt of the 11th number of a new Journal, which Prospectus we insert next week, and it is published by Messrs. TIBBETTS & FLETCHER, of 1 Bishop's Lane. This week is entitled

Every Saturday.

And is to contain choice reading selected from foreign and domestic literatures. The number is large and contains a summary to the Atlantic Monthly, published by the same Agents. The weekly numbers of the SATURDAY SATURDAY are ten cents each, subscription price $2.00 a year. The Monthly edition contains 125 double column pages, is extremely bound, single numbers, of cents each, subscription price $2.00 a year for the weekly edition.

DAILY EVENING RECORD.

This is the title of a well known daily paper, published by Messrs. LANSBURY & CO., No. 129 State St., at the price of six cents a year. Only two cents a copy for a reliable daily news paper.

FIRST-AMERICAN POETRY.—There are few girls or boys in this country who have not heard the nursery rhyme sung by their mothers while rocking the cradle.

"Lull-a-bye baby upon the tree top,
When the wind blows the cradle will rock;
When the bough breaks the cradle will fall,
And down will come baby, cradle and all."

But how many of you know the origin of these simple lines? We have the following account from the Boston Historical Society.

"Shortly after our forefathers landed at Plymouth, Mass., a party were out in the fields where the Indian woman were picking straw berries. Several of these women, or squaws, as they are called had papooses that is babies and having no cradles, they have them tied up in Indian fashion and hung from the limbs of the surrounding trees. Sure enough, "when the wind blew these cradles would rock."

A young man of the party observing this, peeled over a piece of bark, and wrote the above lines, which were, it is believed the first poetry written in America. Slate Press.

SETTING UP AND SETTING DOWN.

Swift was one day in company with a young coxcomb who rising from his chair said with a conceited and confident air, "I would have you to know Mr, Dean, I set up for a wit." "Do you, indeed," replied the dean; "then take my advice, and sit down again."

JUST ABOUT SO. The Rochester Union, says that the spices, coffees, &c. which are manufactured by Chapman & Cook on Water Street Rochester, needs no puffing. If the papers do not puff them, people who have used them will.

People in this section will use no other kind, and our dealers will soon decline to keep any other.

ROCHESTER OIL STORE.—The proprietor of a large store of Wm. Sunmerhays, corner of Mill and Market Street recently destroyed by fire will soon be re-opened. Meanwhile Mr. S. may be found at his former stand No. 8 Mill Street he undoubtedly keeps the best kerosene in this country, at the most liberal prices give him a call.

The Heavy Weekly Courier, will please exhibit our thanks for kind and comprehensive notice, of what we have recently received. The Courier is published weekly, at No. 129 State St., at $2.00 a year by Messrs. WOODWARD & RUNDEL, which gentleman will be pleased to receive a picture of every subscriber.

DIED.—In Penfield the past week, a son of Robert Lamson, aged 27 years. Also, one of our best citizens, aged 72 years.

HOME AND FRIENDS.

Oh, there's a power to make each hour
As sweet as Heaven designed it.
Nor need we labor to bring it home,
Though few there be that find it!
We seek too high for things close by,
And lose what nature found us,
For life hath no charm so dear,
As home and friends around us.

We oft destroy the present joy
For future hopes—and praise them.
While dowers as sweet bloom at our feet,
If we'd but stoop to raise them!
For things afar still sweeter are
When Youth's bright spell hath bound us;
But soon we're taught that earth has naught
Like home and friends around us.

The friends that speed in time of need,
When hopes last year is shaken,
To show us still, that, come what will,
We are not quite forsaken—
Though all were night—if but the light
From friendship's altar crowned us,
'T would prove the bliss of earth is this,
Our home and friends around us.

ON PARTING.

BY LOTTIE M. RANDALL.

Father, you will ever remember the absent,
And by times, think of me kind,
I hope that you will be ever content,
And keep me ever in mind.

You dear Mother, will miss me awhile,
Sully miss me when I am far far away,
Instead of this sadness remember and smile,
And to Him ever remember to pray.

You dear sister will miss me I fear,
When rivers between us are flowing,
All nature to you will look just as dear,
The flowers will still remain blooming.

You will miss me dear brother,
When your thorny again over the past,
You will comfort both father and mother;
And to Christ you will ever hold fast.

Filed to see it—The Ontario Epitaphist and Messenger, a Journal of which we often speak, came to us not long since, and in it we saw nearly one fourth, and it was one of the largest papers in Central or Western New York before the sale of the paper. This journal is the oldest publication in this section of the country, being established about 1807, long before the age was used in the present City of Rochester. The present proprietor, Mr. J. J. Mattison, went into this office a boy, and now his gray hairs begin to show the front of many a man. He has always lived in the hearts of the people, and is one of that class, whose good works shall follow them. It would be any person's good, who has long since emigrated to the far west to once have a copy of the Epitaphist and Messenger.

The Works of Nature, and their Author.

How sublimely beautiful, are the works of nature in all of their perfection. Who made the glorious sun, the orb of light and heat, that illuminates the broad expanse of Heaven to the exclusion of the moon herself and all of the planets, and smiles down upon the earth with genial warmth, causing the green blade of tender grass to spring forth, and the fruit to ripen in one season? Who placed high in the heavens the moon, pale empress of the night, and all of her starry train, that softens the gloom of evening with their mild radiance? Who created the tall forest trees, whose giant branches seem to touch the sky and mingle in the clouds of Heaven, and the thousands of feathered songsters that nestle among the green leaves? And the many-colored flowers that diversify the landscape? And the little rivulets and murmuring brooks that flow into the broad river, and thence onward, till they discharge their waters into the mighty sea? And the great and wide ocean itself with all of the finny tribes that inhabit its bosom? Who made the myriads of insects that live upon the earth? And the wild beasts that roam through the unexplored forest? Who, I ask, is the author of all these things? The gentle breeze, as it rustles by wildcapers, it is God, the valleys and the lofty hills echo back the answer—God. Yes, it is He alone, existence, and place them here, for the comfort and happiness of his creatures. Oh, wise and beneficent creator! a life time of devotion to thy service can ill repay thee, for all of the rich blessings, and kind care that thou hast bestowed upon us, thine unworthy and ungrateful children. THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

A Lion was sleeping in his lair, when a Mouse, not knowing where he was going, ran over the mighty beast's nose and awakened him. The Lion clapped his paw upon the frightened little creature, and was about to make an end of him in a moment, when the Mouse, in piteous tone, besought him to spare one who had so unconsciously offended, and not stain his honorable paws with so insignificant a prey. The Lion, smiling at his little prisoner's plight, generously let him go. Now it happened no long time after, that the Lion, while ranging the woods for his prey, fell into the toils of the hunters; and finding himself entangled without hope of escape, set up a roar that filled the forest with its echo. The Mouse recognizing the voice of his former preserver, ran to the spot, and without more ado set to work to unblithe the knot in the cord that bound the Lion, and in a short time set the noble beast at liberty; thus convincing him that kindness is seldom thrown away, and that there is no creature so much below another but that he may have it in his power to return a good office.

THE MICE IN COUNCIL.

Once upon a time, the Mice being sadly distressed by the persecution of the Cat, resolved to call a meeting, to decide upon the means of getting rid of this continual annoyance. Many plans were discussed and rejected; at last a young Mouse got up and proposed that a bell should be hung round the Cat's neck, that they should for the future always have notice of her coming, and so be able to escape. This proposition was hailed with the greatest applause, and was agreed to at once unanimously. Upon which an old Mouse, who had sat silent all the while, got up and said that he considered the contrivance the most ingenious, and that it would no doubt, be quite successful; but he had only one short question to put, namely, which of them it was who would bell the cat?
It is one thing to propose and another to execute.

THE HARE AND THE HOUND.

A hound having put up a Hare from a bush, chased her from some distance, but the Hare had the best of it, and got off. A Goatherd who was coming by jeered at the Hound, saying that Puss was the better runner of the two. "You forget," replied the Hound, "that it is one thing to be running for your dinner, and another for your life."

THE BIRDS, THE BEAST AND BAT.

Once upon a time there was a fierce war waged between the Birds and the Beasts. For a long while the issue of the battle was uncertain, and the Bat, taking advantage of his ambiguous nature, kept aloof and remained neutral. At length when the Beasts seemed to prevail, the Bat joined their forces and appeared active in the fight; but rally being made by the Birds, which proved successful, he was found at the end of the day among the ranks of the winning party. A peace being speedily concluded, the Bat's conduct was condemned alike by both parties, and being acknowledged by neither, and so excluded from the terms of the truce, he was obliged to skulk off, as he best he could, and has ever since lived in holes and corners, never daring to show his face except in the darkness of the twilight.

THE IMPROVED ELLIPTIC LOCK-STITCH Sewing & Braiding MACHINES; No. 537 Broadway New York.

These celebrated Machines we can recommend to the public, combining as they do all the improvements which experience has proved to be requisite in the perfection of the Sewing Machine. They recommend themselves to the public as the most reliable instrument in the market. The Mechanism of the Machine is simple and durable, their management easily acquired and with ordinary care and attention, we claim they will give perfect satisfaction to the operator in the work they will accomplish.

These Machines are so remarkably simple in their construction that a child can operate them and understand their mechanism.

They are the strongest Sewing Machine made. It is almost impossible to break or get them out of order. They are so sure in their operation, finishing the work in a uniform and perfect manner.

They make a tight lock stitch, alike on both sides of the work, which cannot be travelled.

They stitch, hem, bind, fell, run, braid, and gather, without fastening. They sew equally well the lightest and the heaviest fabrics.

They sew over the heaviest seams without changing the tension or breaking the finest thread.

They use any No. of cotton, Thread or silk, directly from the spool.

They run easily and are a most necessity. They do not form ridges on the under side of the work, nor ravel out, nor are they wasteful of thread, as is the case with ALL OTHER PATENT MACHINES.

They are capable of doing a greater range of work, and in a more perfect manner, than any other Sewing Machine.

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.—These plasters have the combined properties of impervious and flexibility of a silk glove. They have a curative and external anesthetic effect on affections of the chest, wrists, joints, the face, head, and limbs, and are especially adapted to the treatment of the bowels, in colic and congestion, for injuries of the back, for all strains or bruises, for a weak back, for nervous pains of the limbs, and other nervous affections and sprains, for heart affections, in all these cases they have to be used to be properly appreciated.

DR. I. T. HENDERSON'S LETTER.
Farnville, Louisiana, March 8, 1850.

Dr. T. ALCOCK, Sir:—I have been suffering under a severe attack of neuralgic disease of my limbs for years with hypertrophy of the heart, and have tried every plan known to the practice of medicine from the very best. I've had such prompts me to say that your plasters gave me more permanent relief than any thing else I have used, and I have not a single perfect cure. The continuous use of your plaster is produced in such a mild and gradual way, they so investigate the circulation around the parts to which they are applied, and excite them all to revolve the same a great relief and improve them I placed them on the head of every patient now in bed. Yours very truly, I. HENDERSON, M. D.

PENFIELD, N. Y. JANUARY 15th, 1866.

NUMBER 3.

We were discussing the name to be given to the new baby. I was in favor of calling it Grace. Her brother, a boy of ten years, was strongly opposed to the name, and said, "Why not call her Charity, and done with it?" Emma the little sister, some five years old, cried out: O, yes, call her Charity, and then I'll be a sister of Charity, won't I?"

American Eagle.

BASE BALL.—As this is becoming such a popular game we will give our Penfield boys a few lessons as taken from the National [Pa.] Defender. The game is a great convection. It is easily understood. All you have to do is to keep your eye on the ball.

They also use a bat, but the ball is the main thing. The Bat is a club, probably similar to that with which Cain slew Able.

One fellow takes the club and stands on a line, and another takes the ball and pitches it towards the club. The chap with the club hits it, and then runs like a pick pocket with a police at his heels.

Several fellows runs after the ball; some body catches it, and fires it at somebody else.

Another fellow takes the club, and the pitcher fires the ball at him. He knocks it and puts his boots. Half a dozen fellows out on picket duty scrambling for the ball.

One reliable man sands behind the club man, so as to catch the ball so that it wont hit the Umpire.

When one side is out the other side goes in and when both sides are out it is called an innings.

It is quite an intelligent game, depending entirely on the use of your legs.

The first principle of the game is running.

When you are "in" you run away from the ball; when you are "out" you run after it.

It is a splendid exercise; keeps you so warm consequently is always played in the summer time.

THE STATE OF THE WEATHER.—The forecast of last week, the thermometer stood for three or four days from 8 degrees below to 3 degree above zero, and the later part of the week, it was from 20 to 40 above, and we saw about equal numbers of sleighs and wagons moving, there were no loaded sleighs except one day. Thus far we may say that we have had no sleighing.

The market for dressed hogs stands about $10.50. Poultry is rather better than it was about holidays, Turkey stand at about 20 cents.

Town Officers—New Law

By an act of our Legislature every town at its annual town meeting must elect two Overseers of the Poor, three assessors for one year instead of one for three years, one or three Commissioners of Highways; one Sealer and as many Pound masters as they like and other officers now Elected except Path Masters, who are hereafter to be appointed by the Highway Commissioners. Attica Atlas.

DISCHARGE PAPERS.—All Soldiers should be very particular and have their discharge papers recorded in the County Clerks Office, as this is the only way that they can get a new copy in case the original discharge is lost. The war department never gives a new discharge or a copy.

CHEAP ENOUGH YET.—We see that the price of the Mendon Free Press is to be raised in price to 50 cents, and each subscriber will get a photograph of the smallest man publisher in the world, being one size larger than Gen. Tom Thumb. Send for a specimen copy, Address S. F. Jory, Honeye Falls N. Y.

DEED.—At Seneca Falls, Monday Jan. 9th, the wife of the late Henry Ward, at the residence of her son, Henry Ward Jr., in the 23 year of her age. Her funeral was attended at the Methodist Church in this town on Wednesday the 10th inst. Mr. and Mrs. Ward, were those of our first inhabitants, and their ashes now lay side by side in our Cemetery, and we trust from the christian lives which they have always lived, that they are now at peace in a happier and better world.

☞ We see by the last number of the Shirleysburg (Pa) Herald, that Uncle John has bought the Journal of a New Hat an retired from an Editorial life. Hope that he has got a pocket full. Mr. Benj. Lutz, one of the former Editor, will now take the change, and foot the Bills.

☞ We see by the Franklin Gazette that the far famed Barker Family are traveling East.

☞ The Scranton (Pa) Register Says: That John Brown's soul must be marching through Indiana, as there is hardly a night passes, but what some one looses a horse.

Each number contains 80 pages of double columns, of original reading matter, price only 15 cents. Now is a good time to subscribe so as to commence with the new volume—Send for the January number. Address

ELLIOTT, THOMES & TALBOT,
Boston, Mass.

NOTICE TO ALL.—As many of our subscribers, Advertisers, and Exchanges, have from some cause got the idea that the Penfield Extra and Literary Companion are connected. We will say that the interest of one paper has nothing to do with the interest of the other. Each paper has its own Subscribers, Exchanges &c. and communications intended for one paper, should not be addressed to the other. The same matter is often used in both papers, but the subscribers to one paper, does not often see the other. Therefore the same notices transferred from one paper to the other is read by both sets of subscribers.

NOTICE.—We often say to our young Contributors that all those who write for the Press, should only write on one side of their paper, write plain, and never entering unless it is actually necessary, let your last lines be as plain as those which precede them, better use an extra sheet than to crowd the bottom lines. The above remarks may not be lost in letter writing. Do as we say, not as we do.

THE DYING SOLDIER.

BY C. B. L.

In a dreary, lonely prison,
Where the sunlight never came, [him,
With none to watch, nor cheer, nor tend
No one there to love his name—
Lay a soldier, sick and dying,
Dying for the want of bread—
Knowing before another sunrise
He would be numbered with the dead.
Who can tell what thoughts passed o'er
Whether of grief, of joy, or pain? [him,
How he thought of home and loved ones,
Whom he ne'er would see again.
Of his father and his sisters,
Of his mother, dead and gone;
And the bitter tears and sobbings
When to them the tidings came.
Thus, with the dead and dying 'round him,
Spoke he to a comrade then:
"You to my home must bear a message,
For I'll ne'er return again."
"In our Northern home they're waiting
For tidings from the soldier boy;
And his return is watched for daily,
While ahead they look for joy.
Tell my father and my sisters
Not to mourn the soldiers fate,
For ours, to have fought and fallen
And their blood will consecrate—
And make our glorious Union dearer,
(For the flag will triumph yet
And 'Liberty' will be the watchword
And brothers meet as they have met.)
Tell them how we starved and suffered—
Sufferings which they cannot know;
How we laid and pined in prison,
While the hours went by so slow.
How the "brave" and "noble" Southrons
Let us starve for want of bread;
How they cursed the dead and dying,
And their jests about the dead."
But I hear the drums a beating—
See the stars and stripes once more;
See them wave the flag and beacon
Me to the bright and happy shore.
Wait a moment, comrade; listen!
There behind them mother stands;
Upward, heavenward, points her fingers,
And there I see an angel band!
Sitting beside him, on his pallet,
With sunken eyes and cheeks so pale;
Was the dying soldier's comrade—
'I here to listen to the tale.'
In his hands his face was resting,
Down his cheeks the tears fell fast;
While he listened to the soldier,
But he raised his head at last—
And he saw the angel mother
Had released her suffering son,
That his spirit had departed
Where grief and so-row never come.

The Hudson Gazette, Says that the Freedmans Bureau is a rickety piece of Furniture.

A CURIOUS JUDGEMENT.—Last week in the Circuit Court of this County, Judge Wells presiding. It was decided by twelve good Jurymen of this County, that if a woman had once fallen, her position in society could never be regained. Nothing could be brought against her character for the past six years and yet the Judge and Jury went back about twenty years to do her injustice at the present time. We see but one way left for a female to get redress at the present time, as they stand no chance before Judge or Jury. We believe in every case where females have settled their own accounts with villains, they have come out in flying colors. It would not be a bad idea for them all to practice a little with "Colt's" small safe guards.

EVERY SO.—We find but very few people who are willing to die but if they should just drop in and see the Beautiful Monuments that are got up by Hall and Bryan of this town, they might in a small degree change their mind, because to be remembered after death, is the cause for which we should live.

The public are particular invited to call and see specimens of Hall and Bryan's work either at their Factory or at our Semetry.

ONLY 20 CENTS A POUND.—We have run on poor paper so long, that we wish a little change and have bought 500 lbs of book paper, so we can give our readers a better looking sheet for a few editions, but we find that it costs something to print a small paper in these times. 22 1/2 cents is the price of the poorest paper, and from that upwards. This quality is only 30 cents. Two pounds make just 100 papers.

EVERY SATURDAY.

No. 2, of this splendid new work is before us. It can be had at all Periodical Depots, for the low price of ten cents a number.—See prospectus in the Extra of January 8th, or in the Feb. Companion.

Gold was down to $1.36 1/2 on Jan. 8th, but rose again to $1.37 1/2 on the 10th.

"GARDEN'S ALL HEALING SALVE NO HUMBUG"

This may certify that I have made use of Gardner's All-healing Salve for an injury to my knee that caused me great pain and trouble, and I hesitate not to say that it gave immediate relief, and in a short time entirely cured me. I know of nothing equal to it for healing properties, and do most cheerfully recommend it. S. W. D. Moore.
Rochester, June 20, 1865.

IT MAY BE RESUMED.—Since the death of James T. Norton of the Genesee Republican, we have not received an Ex from that office. But now we may again be placed on their exchange list.—His wife went care.

EDWIN BOOTH.—Through the murder of Wilks Booth, the fortune of Edwin is a fixed fact. His first appearance on the Stage in New York settles this question. Every man, woman and child would like to see him.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST.—The January number is upon our table—See prospectus in this paper.

L. L. D. stands for Dr. of Laws, but L. L. L. C. stands for Little Lottie Lewis Connell, who we predict has got a present from Kansas, as we have received a fat looking letter for her from Fort Leavenworth.

A PRESENT.—On going to press we had a valuable package handed in by Santa Clause, and on opening it, we found articles too numerous to mention (in this issue) from the celebrated Coffee and Spice Factory of Messrs. Chapman & Cork, North Water Street, Rochester, N. Y. Next week we will give our readers a list of all that was in the package.

DEMAREST'S ILLUSTRATED Monthly Magazine.

This is the very best work of the kind, published on this continent. The January number is before us, and we judge it to be an indispensable work to the Milliner, the Mother, or any lady who wishes to do her own work. We had full size patterns, and illustrations of all of the most stylish ladies garments, worn at the present time; besides this there is select music, that is worth more than the price of the book.

Now is a good time to get up clubs. Single copies only $3, with a set of two beautiful parlor Steel Engraving, or a package containing two dollars' worth of extra full size Patterns, as a premium to each subscriber. Each additional subscriber; when sent in clubs, $2.50; three copies for 7.50; five copies for $12; ten copies for $22, with the premium to each subscriber. With beautiful Albums, Gold Pens, Webster's Dictionary, other Magazines, Music Boxes, Melodions, Pianos, etc., are given for clubs for this Magazine, on very liberal terms. A new $5 Wheeler & Wilson Sewing-Machine is given for only thirty subscribers, and each subscriber gets the first premium. Address

AN Exchange Says: That the MOST Cheapest way to fill an ice house is by steam. That by allowing steam to enter the ice house at a certain temperature, when the thermometer stands about 15 above zero, the ice will accumulate at the top and on the sides of the house, at a rapid rate, if it is properly ventilated.

Moore's Rural New-Yorker.

VOLUME XVII, FOR 1865.

This famous Agricultural, Horticultural, Literary and Family Newspaper enters upon its Seventeenth Year and Volume in January. For many years MOORE'S RURAL has not only been a favorite weekly visitor to tens of thousands of homes, in both Town and Country, but widely known as the Best and Largest Circulating Journal of its Class in the World,—and its original and present Conducting Editor and Publisher has resolved, that the ensuing volume shall at least equal, if not greatly surpass, either of its predecessors in all respects — CONTENTS, STYLE, APPEARANCE, &C.

VARIETY OF CONTENTS.

The ample pages of this (the original) RURAL comprise various carefully conducted Departments, devoted to, or treating upon

With Illustrations, Tales, Sketches, Music, Poetry, Enigmas, Rebuses, &c., &c.

While the pages devoted to the interests of the Farmer Wood Grower, Stock Breeder, Fruit Grower, Gardener, Housewife, &c., &c., contain the contributions on Practical and Experienced Men and Women, the Literary and News Departments are so filled as to interest, instruct and benefit the various members of the Family. The department of Simple Housework, edited by Hon. H. S. RANDALL, LL. D., author of "The Practical Shipyard," &c., &c., is an American work many times the price of the paper to any foreign Magazine.

AIMS AND OBJECTS.

THE RURAL NEW-YORKER has been awarded the meed of Superiority, by both Press and People, and by Employing the Best Talent and Facilities, it is believed that [with over twenty years' experience in Agricultural Journalism.] we can render it more worthy the large and increasing circulation. It is receiving throughout the Union, Canada, &c. Our Aim is to EXCEL, — and "Excello!" as our motto, and "Progress and Improvement" as our objects, we shall continue to labor for the elevation and welfare of ALL who read the RURAL.

Remember that the RURAL is not a monthly of only 12 issues a year, but a Large and Beautiful WEEKLY.

FORM, STYLE AND TERMS.

THE RURAL NEW-YORKER is published in Quarto Form each No. comprising Eight Double Quarto Pages, [forty columns,] printed in Superior Style — new and clear Type, good Paper and many fine Engravings. An Index Title Page, &c., the close of each Volume.

A KICK IN THE BACK.—Two Irishmen were traveling out west, and they concluded to buy a horse between them, so that one could ride and rest while the other walked. Pat had rode some ways and now it was Mikes turn, but he rode a little to fast for Pat to keep up, so Pat thought he would take the horse by the tail to help along, but the horse objected and soon set his hind feet between Pat's two eyes.

Pat said nothing but soon found a big stone and fired away at the horse, but missing his aim the stone took effect in Mikes back.

Further shouted Mike, and on looking around saw poor Pats face covered with blood.

What is the matter Pat? Of that murdering horse was just after kicking me in the face.

And by the powers, he was just after kicking me in the back, and was near making two Irishman out of one.

THE BOSTON ALMANAC FOR 1866 has the Constitution of the United States; Great Events of the past year; Illustrated Sketches of Boston and its environs, with many fine Engravings; Map of Boston, with the Horse and Steam Railroads and new Wards in illustrated print; Constitution of Massachusetts; Population, Voters and Property of each City and Town in Massachusetts; National, State, County, City and Transportation Registers; Calendar and Memoranda pages; Weather Record, etc. Price 50 cents, mailed post-paid; Issued by George Coolidge, 3 Milk Street, Boston. We expect to have a specimen copy at this office.

THE LITTLE CHILDREN.—There was a time when the Divine One stood on earth, and little children sought to draw near to him. But human beings stood between him and them, forbidding their approach. Ah! has it not often been so? Do not even we, with our hard and subdued feelings, stand like a dark screen between our little child and his Savior, and keep ever from the choice bud of our hearts, the sweet radiance which might unfold it for paradise? "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not," is still the voice of the Son of God; but the cold world still closes around and forbids. When of old, disciples would question the Lord of the higher mysteries of his kingdom, he took a little child and set him in the midst as a sign of him who should be greatest in Heaven. That gentle teacher remains still to us. By every hearth and fireside Jesus still sets the little child in the midst of us.

Wouldst thou know, O parent, what is that Faith which unlocks Heaven? Draw to thy bosom thy little one, and read in that clear, trusting eye the lesson of eternal life. Be to thy God as thy child is to thee. Blessed shalt thou be, indeed. "When the little child shall lead the," and thou shalt cry to God, "My Father." City & Country.

CURE FOR HEAVY HORSES.—Mix equal parts of pulverized borax and saltpeter, and give the diseased horse a tablespoonful twice a day; and every other day, a spoonful of sulphur. Give also half a spoonful of copperas twice a week. Continue this mode of treatment five or six weeks. This worst ones of heaves may be cured in this way. The medicines may be mixed. Mendon, Free Press.

We had very mild weather last week in Penfield, with passable sleighing.

WHY IS IT?—Why is it that a dishonest man never gets ahead in the world? It would seem that if what he gains from cheating the Printer, Mechanic, Store Bills, &c., was added to his industry he would get along much faster, than a man could, that paid his debts, honestly and promptly, but this is not the case. Now my dear reader will you please look about you and see if you can find a man that will get trusted at every place he can, with no intention of ever paying such debts, and if you find such a man I will tell you his fortune. He will always lead a dogs life, and become despised by all that know him, but such men seldom stay in any town long, they soon out lived all of their friends, they will soon be so that they cannot get trusted any more, not even for a shanty wherein they can stick their worthless heads, and are obliged to seek a new hunting ground, or in other words are obliged to go to a town where they are not known in order to get a house to live in, and there, by stratagem begin again to victimize the general dealers of the town.

Reader, if you find the above correct, we trust that you may profit by it. Always pay for what debts you contract, grow in the esteem of your acquaintance, let your word be relied upon, thereby, if you should from sickness or misfortune need a little credit, you could get it from any dealer. They will say perhaps that you are poor but you are honest and will pay when you get your money. But here I will say; that but a very small per centage of honest, industrious, temperate, Christ loving people ever came to want while they are blessed with good health. It is the class that we first mentioned that become the outcasts of the world. A man that would cheat his neighbor out of a small debt, would take his life for the same amount, if he could do it under the same protection of law. He will certainly lie and steal, and we know of no crime that he would hesitate to commit, providing he could make a dollar out of it, or he may in after life become so hardened in crime that he will become a moramnia in certain kinds of crime and fire dwellings or commit murder for his own diversion.

NOT A HARD ROAD TO TRAVEL.—The time was when it was a dread for people to start for Rochester on a cold day. They never expected to find a fire at Brighton, and consequently would have to pass the town shivering, and drive to the Clinton, in the centre of the city where they could find a reliable place to warm. But times have changed—Everybody knows that Mr. Case of the Nurseryman's Hotel, Brighton, keeps the best fire that are kept in that town, and the House in other respects, is kept as a first class country Hotel. And now instead of driving a mile through the city to find a fire, we find at the Farmers Hotel of New England House, the best of accommodations. At the Farmers Hotel is one of the best clerks in Western New York. He is almost omnipotent, you will always find him at the carriage to assist ladies in getting in or out, with a smile, and a good morning for everybody, and on calling at the desk "Cap" is there, every time. Casper Scott has been at his post at this House so long, that he has become acquainted with a large circle of friends, who will never pass him. Mr. Whitford, proprietor of this Hotel has a large number of friends and acquaintances, and knows how to keep them.

TYPOGRAPHICAL ADVERTISER.—We are in the receipt of this instructive work for January Published by L. Johnson & Co. of the Philadelphia Type Foundry. The specimen before us is well filled with new specimen cuts border &c. and several varieties of counting house Calenders for 1866. It is folly for us at this late date, to say anything in favor of the printing material made by Messrs. L. Johnson & Co's.

But from the knowledge we have in printing material, and from having purchased from several Foundry's we have come to the conclusion that if we were to start a new Printing Office we would sooner give Messrs Johnson & Co's 25 per cent more for material than we would from any other establishment with whom we have had dealing. Their type worked side by side with those purchased at other factories, now appear quite new, while others are worn round on the face and look quite old. We ask the press nothing for this advice, but facts are stubborn things.

For the Penfield "Extra."
SMILES.

What is there in a smile? There is sometimes a world of meaning in them. They are the silent unspoken language of the heart, more forcible than words can be. There is the smile of scorn, of sarcasm, and of irony a thousand times more cutting than words can express. And the dark, grim smile of hatred and revenge, to deep and bitter for words to describe. And then the smile of welcome, which lights up the most savage countenance with a look of pleasure like a sunbeam athwart a cloudy sky, as friend recognizes friend, after a long separation, which shows that there is some humanity left, unscathed, away down in the base heart of man, that the dark crimes of years, has failed to obliterate.

And again, there is the dissembling smile of the gay deceiver, proving beyond the power of reputation the adage, that, "One may smile, and smile, and be a villain." And there is the smile of idiocy, betokening a mind where reason never swayed her septer, and the wild strange smile of the maniac, from whose darkened soul the light of reason has fled, haunting us in dreams, like some visible terror. But there is the cheerful, happy smile of contentment, that speaks of a soul at peace with itself and in harmony with its fellow creatures, that would be desirable for all to cultivate, for it certainly makes home a more cheerful place, endearing the hearts of its inmates to each other, encouraging the despairing, and helping to sustain all. Under the trials and difficulties that human life is incident to. LOTTIE M. RANDALL, Princeton, Wisconsin.

A MAN should never be ashamed to own that he has been in the wrong, which is but saying in other words, that he is wiser to-day than he was yesterday.

WOMEN is said to be a mere delusion, but it is sometimes pleasant to hug delusions.

An Indiana farmer, recently deceased left by will a $1,000 ten-forty bond to be applied to the extinguishment of the national debt. Were he alive, it would gratify him, probably, to know that his money would pay the interest on the debt for exactly two minutes. Mountain Sentinel.

PENFIELD, JAN. 22d. 1865.

THE GHILDS PRAYER.

Gracious Lord, I look to Thee,
Meek and humble may I be;
Pride and anger put away,
Make me better every day.

Teach me for my friends to pray,
And my parents to obey;
Richest blessings from above,
Give them for their tender love.

May I find the sweets of prayer
Sweeter than my pastimes are;
Love the Sabbath and the place
Where we labor to seek thy face.

Terms Of Subscription.

We find the following lines in one of our exchanges, which we note as some truth if not much poetry.

If paid in advance. Two dollars a year.
If paid by chance. Two fifty not dear.
If not paid at all. The news will be cheap.
The printer will fall His children will weep.

WAIT FOR THEM.—We have some good stories in store for our little readers that will appear about the middle of February, get us all the subscribers that you can before that time.

The March number of the Literary Companion will be the best number ever printed, of that paper. Get up clubs only 20 cents each, to one address including a gem picture of the Editeur, for each subscriber.

Miss Allie would like a few hundred more to increase her circulation to 5000. Send for picture, and low terms to club agents. Specimen of paper, and picture only ten cents.

IN 10 OR 12 DAYS of high price, you will save more than the subscription price of this paper by using the last soap receipt found in this number. With very little trouble you can make the best kind of soap now in use for about three cents a pound, instead of paying twenty for the same, or on an inferior article.

GARDNER'S VEGETABLE CATARRH SNUFF.—A most excellent article for the Relief and permanent cure of Catarrh, its symptoms and effects. No better preparation for Catarrh was ever offered to the public. Try it, sold at Wholesale by N. H. Gardner Rochester, N. Y.

EVERY BODY, from all parts of Western New York, goes to Woodward and Rindell's 126 State St. Rochester, after Photograph stock. Such beautiful Albums and Picture Frames are had to find at any other place.

RAIL ROAD TARIFF.—We see that Mr. Andrus from this town has introduced a bill to regulate way freight on the N. Y. C. R. R. They carry way freight for nothing now, from Fairport to Albany. What more does Mr. Andrus want?

THE AMERICAN EAGLE.

This is a small sixteen column Paper published monthly at Nyack, N. Y. by Chas. A. Morford Jr. at the low price of 25 cents per year. Ten copies $2.00. Send for a specimen copy with stamp to pay postage. Address American Eagle Nyack N. Y.

The Cheapest and Best.

Just what everybody wants. —Enclosed 25 cents for one package, or 40 cents for two packages of the Magic Copying Paper; each package containing five large sheets of beautiful colors, Black, Blue, Red, Green and Yellow. No ink is required to write 'loose letters' or no pencil to copy engravings, letters, patterns, &c., sent post paid, on receipt of price. Address N. B. LECTER, Bridport, Vermont.

Having the largest circulation, we are entitled to advertising of the letter list in the Post Office, and having accidentally found one on the side walk, we think it our duty to advertise it, that the owner may have it by calling at this office. In consequence of finding no Sir name in it, we will give it ver batum both in spelling and grammar. It reads as follows:—

PENFIELD SYMNIARY, December 30 1865.
M'Deer Libbie o how i wish you had cum to penfield to scool this winter we have lotts ov fun and if you was here you cood esy get a bow i have got the best feller in scool we rite 3 or 4 luv letters a day and he ses that he luvz me better than enny uther girl in scool and he ses that he 'will marry me if my muther is willin and i shal ask hur when i go hum i cend mi luv to all and a large shair to yourself yours in luv and friendship
Emma.

Mr. Geo. Fellows Says: That a bag of coal will last as long as a half cord of wood, that will cost $3.00. Now Mr. F.—the question is how large must the bag be, and how much will the coal cost? We must have quite an advantage in favor of the coal, you know, as the sawing of the wood is such a healthy vocation and will start the preparation so nice in a cold stormy day.

THE SOUTHERN WAR NOT ENDED.—We see from our various exchanges, that some sad accidents are yet caused from coming in contact with land or water torpedoes. This may be the case for years to come.

The Poughkeepsie Telegraph says; The best way to keep apples, is to pack them in saw dust so they will not touch each other. We believe that the N-York apple speculators have a better way of keeping them.

The Authorities at Washington seem to be at as much of a loss what to do with Jeff Davis, as the Irishman were about how they should kill the bull-head: They finally decided to drown the poor bull-head, and this is probably a similar punishment to the one that Jeff. Davis will receive. It would be cruel to send him down to Dixie to work all his days or starve.

NEW EXCHANGE.—We are in the receipt of The Union and National Trades Advocate published every Saturday at 51 William St. N. Y. City by R. L. Neville, J. W. Van Namee and D. Campbell associate Editors. Specimen copies 5 cents each. Address as above.

GRAND JURY.—Abner Scutt, George Mullener, and Henry Fuller, are drawn from this town for the first monday in Feb. next.

THE PETIT JURY.—Is only represented by Abner N. Brown, from this town, at the same time.

To those few, who take exceptions to some articles in our paper, we would say, that our columns are open to all for all kinds of moral spicy articles, but we shall require your names to all political articles on either side. In fact, we would solicit articles on either side, that would be interesting to either great party. We are willing to whip the Democratic party with any common sense article or joke, not-with-standing we look through democratic eyes, and can not see all things as republicans see them.

We take subscriptions at this office for all of the popular Magazines, at their lowest club rates. Call and see specimens, or see list of prices elsewhere in this paper.

MERRYMAN'S MONTHLY.—This Laughable Magazine for February is before us, well filled with all kinds of burlesque illustrations, stories, anecdotes, puzzles &c. For sale at all Periodical Depots. Specimen copies sent on the receipt of ten cents. Address MERRYMAN'S Monthly, 709 Nassau St. N. Y.

To the Father or Mother, who reads this article. Can you not afford to take a paper for your little son or daughter, that will only cost you about one and a half cents per week? We will try and give to your little ones such advice, that if they heed what we say, they will grow up to respect you, and also to respect all things which are good. Only one and a half cents a week! Two cents in candy or peanuts is a very small amount, and are soon lost to view, while if they expected their paper every week on a certain day, they would be anxious for that day to arrive.

To Uncle's and Aunt's; if you have no children of your own, how many little nieces and nephews have you, that would be pleased to receive every week a little paper as a present from you? For a gift of this kind "send one dollar" and we will send you and your little friend "each a picture" and prepay the postage on the paper one year. But says one, 'our Sunday School papers come much cheaper.' This is not so, we know of none cheaper than 20 cents a year, and at this price they are monthly. The Literary Companion, published in this town by Miss Alice Williams, is the cheapest paper in America. One copy and picture only 25 cent a year. Five copies and pictures for each, to one address, only one dollar, and 25 per cent of this amount will be allowed to club agents. For particulars see cards on the back of picture, which will be sent at specimens to any address on the receipt of ten cents. Our picture will be sent at the same price.

To MAKE HARD SOAP.—Four gallons of boiling water over six pounds of washing soda (salsoda) and three pounds of unslacked lime. Stir the mixture well, and let it settle until it is perfectly clear. It is better to let it stand all night, as it takes some time for the sediment to settle. When clear, strain the water, put six pounds of fat with it, and boil for two hours, stirring it most of the time.

If it does not seem thin enough, put another gallon of water on the grounds, stir and drain off, and add as is wanted to the boiling mixture.

Its thickness can be tried by occasionally putting a little on a plate to cool. Stir in a handful of salt just before taking it off the fire have a tub ready soaked, to prevent the soap from sticking, pour it in, and let it settle until solid, when you will have from the above quantity of ingredients about forty pounds of nice white soap. American Artisan.

AN INDIGNANT MAGISTRATE.

Some years ago when Egypt, Illinois, was not so enlightened as at the present time, a rough looking man was brought before a county justice on a charge of assault and battery. He had beaten some one very badly.

"I am astonished," said his honor "at your arrest on such a charge. You have beaten the man horribly, and I must punish you severely. Why did you do it?"

"Because," was the reply, "he provoked me."

"What did he say?"

"He said, sir, that I was a thief."

"Wont do sir. I shall have to fine you heavily."

"He said I was a liar."

"Wont do—no excuse."

"He charged me with having poisoned my grand mother!"

"Shouldn't have beaten the man so badly."

"He said I was the offspring of a cannie species of the female sex."

"Not sufficient provocation! Shouldn't have been so severe. Should have got a warrant."

"Any other excuse?—must punish severely."

"Yes, your honor, he accused me of being a Republican."

"Did he? the scoundrel! Called you—you sir—called you a Republican. If you had shot the scoundrel dead, no jury in the world would have found you guilty. I dismiss the case."

Bullon's Magazine.

VOLUME V.

PENFIELD, N. Y. JANUARY 29th, 1866.

NUMBER 5

Expressly for the Press. STAMP ACT.

BY NELLIE.

We now have stamps, on most kinds of things, And instead of stamps, Taxes, on watches and rings. And now we are informed, That more stamps are lean, Such bills have been prepared by Sponsor Adam. On the twelfth day of January, His honor proposed, To have stamps on newspapers, When it from the (Publisher it goes) Or about the same meaning, Before the senate he laid, That postage on newspapers should be by publishers (paid—) Let the press come down on him, Like a thousand of (brick.) This must be done early, So therefore be quick, His Honor proposes, In eleven months from to day, To have each publisher, its each paper pay. To either publishers or exchange, Be sure not to fail As they all must be prepaid, Before they enter the mail, Now we will await, To hear what Publishers say, It may be they are willing, To always prepay— But this we must doubt, Under the pleasure of times, We think them not burdened, With dollars or dimes.

FOR SALE.

Available two story Brick residence and five acres of good land mostly covered with the choicest kinds of fruit, good water &c. The above property will be sold on reasonable terms as the Subscriber wishes to remove west on a larger piece of land. Possession given immediately. L. A. DUNHAM. Penfield January, 23d 1866.

FOR SALE.

A large two story house, with one and a half acres of land, pleasantly located in the village of Penfield, good fruit, water, and Barn. The purchase money can be made easy if required. Inquire of E. P. Follett, 84 Main St., Rochester, or at this Office.

Who Knowest? In the new act, in regard to electing town officers, it says; that three assessors shall be annually elected, instead of one for three years.

Now we wish to know if the assessors that was elected on the two last town meetings last year, and year before last, hold the office for the time for which they were elected, or whether the time of all three assessors expire on next town meeting day? Some-body can of course answer this question.

It is even so.—Advertising is the main dependence to a business man. If you do not see the paper yourself somebody that does read it, will tell you that Mr. Dunham wishes to go West and offers his splendid dwelling for sale very cheap. All these things you will learn from a well circulated paper. If you wish a good Sewing Machine, any body that reads the paper will tell you that the Sloat Machine, now stands ahead of all others, and that you can get the best and cheapest boots, shoes and gaiters of E. D. Westers, and the most fashionable and cheapest bonnets at 67 State St. Rochester. Those who advertise always get the cheapest. This is an undoubted fact.

CHANGABLE WEATHER.—On Jan'y 29th in the morning, the thermometer stood at 47 above zero, being very fine and warm, and before 7 o'clock at night the mercury was down to 4 above zero. The cold blowing furious. On Jan'y 28th was a very stormy day, high winds, the mercury standing at 7 above all day. The remainder of the week was passible winter weather, on the 29th day we had the most snow fall, of any other day this season.

THE FIRST COST.—Many of our readers may think that there is a large difference in the price of a large or a small newspaper but this is not the case. The first cost of the largest paper printed in the United States, is not more than two cents more than the cost of this paper. The setting of the type for a large paper is very costly, but it will cost no more to set the type for a large circulation, than it will for a small one. Therefore after the type is on the Press we say that it will not cost two cents more to find paper and ink, to print a large paper, than it would to print the smallest size paper. After the paper is printed the work is exactly the same, folding wrapping and mailing.

The price of setting type in this state will average about thirty cents per thousand. A thousand type in fine reading would reach about 33 inches down the column, and cover reading about 8 1/2 inches. There is no pay for distributing these type, the work is only counted in setting them up. In setting what printers call fat matter, like poetry &c. Common poetry will make about a thousand letters, to what is called a thousand ems. The em is a square body, and most letters are just half of its size, and several letters are only one third of its size. This is why we have to set 2300 type to get a thousand ems.

Some printers will set 12 000 ems a day, which would be over 30 000 letters. Type is set about as fast as a woman takes stitches in sewing.

NOTICE.—I shall pay no debts contracted on my account, by any person, except on my written order, and all persons are cautioned, not to pay any accounts, unless, receipted bills are presented. Nellie Williams.

AS IT SHOULD BE.—We understand that the Session Room, on Tuesday evening next, to put their offering to gether, for the benefit of their highly appreciated christian instructor. This will not be a regular donation visit, as no refreshments will be expected. But we predict that it will be something handsome, as we never had a pastor in this church, whose services seemed to be more highly appreciated, and as a man he is beloved by all.

SAD ACCIDENT.—Last Monday while Mr. Michael Neesche of this town was returning home from Pittsford about half past seven, in company with William La ma, he was accidently killed by his feet slipping forward on the ice, and causing his head to strike so hard that it caused a concussion of the brain, which verdict was given by the inquest.

The accident was about 5 o'clock P. M. and he lived until 9 o'clock the same evening, but assemblable from the time he fell. Deceased was a German 31 years of age, and leaves a wife and one child in destitute circumstances. He has friends at South Pond Institute, which we should be pleased to see this notice. Frank Untoh, if that place is his father-in-law.

We are not in the receipt of the Democratic Almanac, Published by Van Earle Barton & Co., but we are informed that it is a valuable little work and should be in the hands of every man. Address as above, N. Y.

THEY LOOK LIKE HOME.—Our numerous Exchanges from the Hills and Valley's are both victuals and drink for us, as we have so often in our infancy heard our long lost mother speak of the place of her birth, and the happy hours that she has passed in childhood among the hills of Caturagus and Wyoming Counties. In opening our large mail, when we break the wrapper from the Caturagus Union our old favorite exchange we stop to read, and soon we find the Attica Atlas which has been a favorite for the past four years, and now we have the Randolph Budget, and the Franklinville Pioneer from the town where my mother was married, and the Arcade Enterprise, the Silver Lake Sun of Perry, the Cuba True Patriot, and the Cuba New Era, the Fredonia Advertiser, and we occasionally hear from the Waraw Democrat, Clean Advertiser and Chautauque Democrat. We suppose that our mothers friends of Northweathersfield, Arcade and Great Valley read all of the above papers, and so do we, which makes them seem like old friends.

The New York Weekly Magazine.

This new and popular magazine has taken a great start in popular favor. The number for January 13th contains the first chapters of a new popular tale, entitled "How I Made a Fortune in Wall Street, and How I Got Married," written by a gentleman of Long experience in the law and one of that celebrated locality. The great charm of this story is that it is a collection of facts, with only a change of names, and it promises a great deal of information that will be of thrilling interest to the general reader, and of particular importance to every one who wishes to know how fortunes are made and lost in New York. This Magazine has forty-eight handsome pages, and contains a great variety of popular tales, domestic stories, pithy essays and sketches of travel, and is remarkably cheap.

We learn that the news dealers already take twenty thousand copies a week. For terms, see advertisement.

BOOK NOTICE.—We are in the receipt of two small but valuable books published by Fowler and Wells 389 Broadway N. Y. Price 19 cents each.

FIRST FATHER MATTHEW the temperance Apostle His character and biography by S. R. Wells.

Second, Notes on Beauty, Vigor and Development; or how to acquire plumpness of form, strength of limb, or beauty of complexion; with rules for diet and bathing, and a series of improved physical exercises. By William Milo, London; with additions, alterations, notes, and illustrations, by handsome Charles, the Magnet. Cultivate the physical exclusively, and you have an athlete or a savage, the moral only, and you have an enthusiast or a maniac; the intellectual only, and you have a diseased oddity—it may be a monster. It is only by training all together—physical, intellectual, social, and spiritual—that the complete man can be formed.—ILLUSTRATED PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL.

CONSTANCY.—Mr. Brandreth of Westchester proposed in the Assembly that on and after the first day of May next, eight hours shall constitute a days work in this state, unless made otherwise on contract. But this is in no way to effect labor by the year, month or week.

We suppose that servants of this kind will be sold to servitude as before from 12 to 20 hours each day. Would it not be well to be black?

PENFIELD, JAN. 29th. 1866.

Our Young Folks.

FOR FEBRUARY.

This Illustrated Magazine is before us chock full of splendid little stories for boys and girls. Only 20 cents a number, sold at all Periodical Depots. Only $1.50 a year in clubs, or you can get it by your local editor for the same price. The Young Folks is one of the many publications of Messrs Ticknor and Fields Boston which would take to much of our space to describe.

Therefore we would invite all who read this notice to procure one copy. If you are not adjacent to a place to purchase you can address with the publishers for a sample copy, and you will be sure to get it returned in mail.

You can get the first volume bound for $3.00 this is a splendid large book for the centre table.

PETERSON'S

Ladies National Magazine.

FOR FEBRUARY.

This ever welcome visitor is thus early before us filled as usual with rich stories, splendid colored engravings, music, embroidery, &c. &c. As it is impossible for us to do this work justice, we would advise all lovers of good reading, and also all ladies who would like to see the latest fashions, to secure this number. It is kept on sale at all Periodical Depots. Now is a good time to subscribe for this work, you can at any time get the back numbers to January. We think that this is the cheapest book that is published. In clubs of four or over you can get it for $1.30 each, and if you cannot get up a club yourself, send us $1.50 or have it by your local editor, and he will secure the work for you.—For specimen copies Address,

CHAS. J. PETERSON,
835 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY,

FOR FEBRUARY.

This valuable work has been received. It is the largest production of Messrs. Ticknor & Fields, Boston Mass., and considered by all to be the best work published in America.

It contains 130 pages of double column reading matter, that which is both interesting and instructive. The subscription price is $4.00 a year, but will be sent with either Our Young Folks the North American Review, or their new weekly Magazine, entitled, Every Saturday—both copies in a club, will be one dollar less. Or you can get the Atlantic of your local editor for $5.00. Single numbers of the Atlantic 35 cents, of the Our Young Folks 20 cents, of the Review $1.50, of Every Saturday (weekly) 10 cents. Address, TICKNOR & FIELDS, 124 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

LADY'S FRIEND,

FOR FEBRUARY.

This widely circulated Magazine has been received, and is now on sale at all Periodical Depots, and as single numbers are only 25 cents, we advise all to obtain one number, and thereby see the variety of contents, which will explain themselves much better than we can explain them. The double sheet of colored fashions, music, embroidery &c., is worth more than the price of the magazine to any intelligent lady. We find large premiums offered to club agents. A good chance for any enterprising lady to get a first class Sewing Machine gratis. Those wishing to get up clubs can send 12 cents for a specimen. Address DEACON & PETERSON, 319 Walnut St., Philadelphia.

T. W.—A practical printer wants to purchase a half interest, in a good country lithographic Office. Good reference wanted, and will be given. Address Gloucester, Huntington, Pa.

Adventures on the Border; No. 6

HAUNTED BY A DEMON!

BY C. E. L.

Do not start, reader, when I affirm that since I was ten years old I have been haunted by a Demon. Perhaps I should not call him a Demon, for he has never appeared but in times of great personal danger; and today I have to thank him—as well as Divine Providence—that I am yet living.

If I remember aright, my unknown friend first appeared to me under the following circumstances:

It was in the spring, and the river Raisin was filled with floating ice and driftwood—tearing by like a wild horse—and I was standing on a frail wooden structure which spanned it. I always loved to look at the angry, tossing waters, and had stood there a long time, utterly unconscious of danger. At last, however, I felt a heavy hand on my shoulder—and turning, I beheld a man dressed in black, very tall, and his face completely hid from view by a large muffler. He did not utter a word, but beckoned me with his hand to follow him off the bridge. I followed him, but why, I cannot tell. It seemed as if he was exercising some mesmeric influence over me. On reaching solid ground he turned and pointed toward the bridge which we had just left. I turned also, and that moment the structure went down with a crash into the hissing waters! Giving utterance to an exclamation of surprise, I again turned, but my unknown friend had disappeared—not a trace of his footsteps remained!

Again, the next winter, while enjoying a holiday in skating on the smooth, glassy ice, my demon appeared to me. We were having a trial of speed—a comrade competing with myself for a victory—and in our excitement we were rapidly approaching a spot which seldom froze over, even during the coldest weather. Unheeded were the warning shouts of our comrades, and we were fast speeding on to a watery grave—when up, apparently from the ice, rose my Demon! and with arms extended seemed to dispute my further progress.

We were gliding along with lightning-like velocity—but I managed to swerve to one side, and thus turned many points from the goal we were striving to reach—but straight on went my unfortunate comrade, and in going thirty feet more found a watery grave.—My eyes sought the spot where my Demon had arisen—but again he was gone!

He did not appear to me again for a number of years, but when he did it was to warn me of a fearful danger. I was then in Illinois, and had been employed by a land owner to view some lands in—County. I was furnished with a horse, arms, and everything necessary for protection and comfort, and also supplied me with money to settle an unadjusted claim against a small portion of the land. I was instructed to notify all "squatters" with had settled on the land to remove forthwith; and at the same time warned against Dick Wheelan, a notorious pest, whom it was known to have settled on the claim.

I reached the scene of my labors without incident, and straightway fell to work taking notes of observation, running boundary lines, &c. During the first day's ride over the claim I fell in with the cabin of one of the "squatters," and engaged lodgings for the night. His name was Moses Drew, and as he appeared to be a good sort of a man, I concluded to defer the "warning oil" in his case until the last moment. From him I acquired much valuable information in reference to the "lay" of the land, its creeks, hills, quality of timber &c. Drew appeared to know what my presence there foreboded, and while he admitted his readiness to leave, he also informed me that in Dick Wheelan I would find an ugly customer.

"Do not meddle with him, stranger; he is a rough 'un when he's riled," was his hint to our conversation, on the matter.

I was up with the sun next morning, and after partaking of a humble breakfast, mounted my horse and rode off toward a part of the claim, which I had not been over the previous day. Not a thought of the ugly Dick Wheelan entered our head—in fact I had forgotten to inquire on what portion of the land he had settled. I took a lunch from my traveling knapsack at noon, and after an hour's rest again commenced my rounds.

About 2 o'clock I struck the northern boundary of the claim, and started westward. Presently I heard the bark of a dog, and following the sound soon came upon another "squatters" hut. Dismounting, and securing my horse to a sapling near by, I rapped at the door, which was opened by a brawny, muscular-looking woman who harshly bade me come in.

Entering and accepting a stool which she rudely proffered, I attempted to engage her in conversation. I soon found that she could not be civil, and getting somewhat angered at her curt replies, made known my business—warning her to be off the claim within eight and forty hours. She had just raised her head to reply, when a burl form darkened the door and a gruff voice said:

"What the h— I you want here, stranger?" The woman's face lit up with a diabolical smile, and turning to the man she said:

"He has come to warn us up, Dick! come to take our only home from us!"

"Dick!" then this was Dick Wheelan, the terror of the whole county. Dick still stood in the door, and with lips compressed and eyes fairly blazing, hissed:

"Did you ever hear of DICK WHEELAN, mister? The man with whom no one ever intererles! The man who will cut the heart out of you sooner than quit this claim!"

"I have, sir," said I in as cool a voice as I could muster, and at the same time thrust my hand into my breast pocket until it rested against the butt of a revolver.

The table was between Dick and myself, the woman ten feet away—and before he could use the knife he had drawn from his bosom, I drew the weapon and covered his head with the sights.

At this instant my Demon friend rose up from the floor between us, with a warning gesture motioned me not to shoot, and then pointed toward the open door, which still stood open.

All this transpired in a moment—and then I saw three forms spring over the threshold and seize Dick. With a yell of surprise he endeavored to free himself, but in a moment he was securely bound and lay helpless on the floor. Heretofore no notice had been taken of me, but now one of the men said:

"We are officers from Springfield, and have been digging him for a month; he is a murderer, but has always been too wary for us."

"Twice since, in times of danger, has my Demon rendered me assistance. Whether the spirit of a departed friend, being my guardian angel, or an illusion of the brain—I cannot tell. To me it is an unfaithful mystery, and one which will perhaps ever remain so."

The private dance at our Union Hotel, on last Friday evening was much larger than many public parties have formerly been in this town. This plainly shows how a good Landlord and a first class Hotel is appreciated by all. See card card elsewhere.

We are in receipt of the Temple's Companion. A monthly publication of the Temple of Honor published at Covington, Ky, and bound in book form at the low price of $1.00 per year. Address as above, box 601.

"I am going to the post-office John, shall I inquire for you?"
"Well, yes, if you have a mind to, but I don't think you will find me there."

TON LITERAL.—Old gentleman [affectionately]—"My son, why do you chew that filthy tobacco?" Precarious youth [stiffly]—"To get the juice out of it, old codger."

GOD BLESS YOU.

How sweetly fall those simple words,
Upon the human heart.
When friends long bound by strongest ties,
Are doomed by fate to part;
You sadly press the hands of those,
Who thus in love caress you,
And soul responsive beats the soul,
In breathing out: "God Bless You!"
"God bless you!" ah! long months ago
I heard the mournful phrase,
When one whom I in childhood loved
Went from my dreamy gaze;
Now blinding tears fall thick and fast,
I mourn my long lost treasure,
While echoes of the heart bring back
The farewell prayer: "God bless you!"
The mother sending for her boy
To scenes untrod and new,
Lies not a studied, staid speech,
Nor murmurs out "adieu!"
She sadly says between her sobs,
"Whene'er misfortune press you,
Come to thy mother boy—come back!
Good-bye, my boy. "God bless you!"

Postage Free—Ten copies of the Literary Companion one year, and Ten pictures of the Edifress, for the low price of $2.00 a year.

LOOK FOR IT.—Next week we shall give our little readers an original story, which is founded on charity, and one that might be true. It will probably be found interesting by many thousand of our readers. We intend to write several original pieces this year one of which will be found in each number of the Literary Companion, and the Companion is only 25 cents a year. The March number will be the best one ever printed.

FILLING HIS STOCKINGS.—A Chicago clergyman missed his stockings on Christmas Morning, and, after a long search, found them upon the horns of a new milch cow, which had been presented to him by his parishioners, and ornamented in this way to indicate that it was a Christmas gift.—American Union.

A couple in Litchfield county, Conn. lately tried to get divorce after ten years of wedded life, but in the course of the trial it appeared that they had never been legally married, and gave up the idea of a divorce and were married in the forum.

EXTRAORDINARY EXPERIMENT!—The "AMERICAN ARTISAN" IN ITS "TRUE COLORS"—The typography of the "AMERICAN ARTISAN" tastefully executed by White & Ross; the Press-work is excellently done by Gray & Green; and although our ink is as black as the "printer's devil," we have hiterto aimed to make this journal the "epitome of Perfection," but over a hundred thousand readers have now convinced us that the "ARTISAN" itself is always red—with the greatest interest. We will only add that the publishers are Brown, Coburn & Co., 159 Broadway, New-York.

The principal advantage of the underground railway is, that the traveler may take as far for two cents in ten minutes as above ground he can ride for twelve cents in an hour.

OUR EXCHANGES.—We have always on the receipt of a new exchange, given it a respectable notice, but as weeks pass along, we are growing older, and we have found that it does not pay to give any journal an editorial notice we have "got it." And again we, (like many other papers) have been in the habit of selling superfluous matter that was of no benefit to anybody, and in some instances would give a journal a very lengthy notice, and conclude without even giving the publishers name or the place where it was published, nor the price of its publication, and unless this is done a puff is of no value to the publishers, whatever. Many papers make us but a short visit, probably because they do not like our style. In the first year of our publication we had about 300 exchanges, and we have about that number now, and within the last four years we have had nearly 3,000. We used to send our picture to all new exchanges and give them a notice the first week, this is plucked out. When we find that an exchange is a regular institution, we calculate to give them a good notice and our gem picture. It matters not what kind of a paper it is, they will all fair alike in this respect, as we do not believe that any editor would write articles just to please us if we should ask him to. As a matter of course we like some of our exchanges better than others, but we do not tell which we like best.

We have never in any case, dropped an exchange first, and we exchange as freely with the smallest monthly, as we do with the largest weeklies or dailies. We have now nearly 100 of our first exchanges, which have always been as regular as clock work, and when we lose one of this class, we feel as though we had lost one of our "front teeth," but we never complain. This year our list of Magazines have more than doubled, and in consequence we shall be obliged to shorten their notices, but what we say about them we calculate will be to the point, and of some value to the publishers. Our standing cards, for different publications, may cause other publishers to ask, why their cards are not inserted, and we would answer that these journals have given us splendid notices, and would probably do the same again, which favors we wish to repay. We say to all editors that we will reciprocate for any favor that they may bestow upon us, in their various publications.

THE SCHENECTADY REPUBLICAN.—Says: That a company has been organized with a capital of $30,000 to explode Cayuga, Marston, or Fort Peck's dam.

We understand that a singular company has been organized at the same place, to make brass muskets, and slaughter bull frogs for the eastern market.

Why would you encourage me to steal a horse, asked one printer of another: Why do you have this state represented in some prison by one of the craft.

POOR HEALTH.—Mr. A. Lincoln one of the most wealthy men in the town of Perinton, next town east of us, is now very ill, and there is no hopes of his recovery. There is considerable speculation about the division of his property, as those who have so often said before, it is a pity that people cannot attend to their own affairs.

It looks now as though a small fortune out of his property would be spent in law.

COMPLIMENTARY.—It is a fact that we will not pretend to deny, that among our exchange of about three hundred different periodicals and journals, that when we come to the little Penfield Extra, we are tempted to stop and amuse ourselves with the dry jokes that we find in its columns and yet we always find sketches of good morals, and on the whole a very interesting variety of reading matter for so small a paper. We can readily recommend it to all, only seventy five cents a year in advance.—Old Bee.

We wish that a few thousand more had the same opinion of us. We do certainly publish the Extra at the lowest possible rates, and often wonder why our circulation does not reach many thousands, as this is the first enterprise of this kind that was ever recorded in the world. We have never heard of a girl nor yet a woman, publishing a paper and setting all of her own type, and it is doubtful whether such a circumstance will ever occur again, and we are sure that if our present subscribers should use a little exertion under circumstances they could double our subscription list in a short space of time. Now readers will you try it? Get up a club for three or six months, if you can not get one for a year.

THE SCHENECTADY REPUBLICAN.—Has become a regular visitor to our Sanetium. This Journal is published in a very interesting locality of our state. History informs us that Schenectady was one of the old Revolutionary towns. Therefore a Journal published there must be very interesting to all. The Republic is a first class forty column Journal at the low price of $1.50 a year.

In times of peace, prepare for war. Therefore we would say to all who expect to use wall paper in the spring, that now is the time to get this article at the lowest figures.

H. J. Record, 132 Main Street Rochester has a very extensive assortment, and his prices, we think is much lower than any other establishment in Western N. Y. Picture frames of all shapes and sizes are made at this establishment, and therefore can be bought at the first cost, as you pay no profit to the second dealer. You will also find a large assortment of Window Shades, Corals, Tassels, Photograph Albums, Card Photographs, and an endless variety of Splendid Engravings. Remember the cheap wall paper for spring use.

Messrs Robinson & Brooks of the Waverly Book Store Rochester, wishes to employ good energetic agents for the sale of Central New York Business Directory just published and ready for delivery, we expect a premium copy at this office, of which we shall give full particulars.

Printing Office for sale in Gowand Cats. Co. N. Y. Terms reasonable. Address Advertiser Freedom Chittaupqua Co. N. Y. The Gowanda Reporter, was a nice little paper, discontinued on account of the death of the Editors. Why would not this office suit Mr. T. W. of the Globe once—Huntington Sat.

CHEAP LIVING.—We understand that there is one man in town that will give his children some pennies to go to bed without their supper, and after they get to sleep, he will steal the pennies for the next evening.

The Penfield Extra.

PENFIELD, FEB. 5th. 1866.

For the Penfield Extra,
By an OLD MAID.

While I sat meditating,
About the ups and downs of life,
I'm thinking of some young man,
That would like a little wife.

I'm thinking of some young man,
About the age of twenty one,
I'm thinking he may be rich—
Or be a rich man's son.

I'm thinking that he's temperate,
And good company doth keep,
So that when he gets married,
His wife will never weep.

I'm thinking of a wooty man,
Who never plays at chance,
But I have no objection,
If he should choose to dance.

I'm thinking of a clever man,
To wed my fathers daughter,
That will always milk the cows,
And bring the wood and water.

AUCTION.

The Subscriber having purchased our Penfield Express, will sell his Stock and Farming Utensils at Auction at his residence half a mile south of Fairport, on Saturday next February 10th, at 1 o'clock P. M.

The first volume of the Literary Companion, and a gem picture of the address sent to any address post paid on the receipt of 15 cents.

THREE TIMES AND OUT.—At three different times this winter, we have come just as near having good sleighing as we could come and not have it. Light sleighs have been freely used, and the bottom was in the best order, but before we could get more snow, we would be sure to get a thaw.

MARYLAND FEVER.—Since Mr. Millard visited Maryland and brings such favorable news we hear several of our most wealthy men speaking about visiting that part of the country. He says; that as good land can be bought in Maryland at from $5, to $10 per acre, as can be found in Penfield for $40, to $150, and climate and market much better.

WHO WANTS IT.—The most valuable farm in Penfield is now offered for sale, and this is the one where Henry Fellows, Esq lived and died. It is about half covered with the most choicest kind of Fruit Trees. Price $200, per acre.

Town meeting tickets will be printed on the shortest notice at this office, at the usual price, notwithstanding the rise in paper. Bring them in early.

When a man and a woman are made one by a city man, the question is which is the one. Sometimes there is a long struggle between them before this matter is finally settled.

BLACKSMITHING.

The Subscriber wishes to inform all those wishing work done in his line, that he will do it at least 25 per cent less than any other shop in this county for cash. All credit business will be charged the usual price. All work will be done in a workman like manner, and warranted. Penfield, Upper Corners. B. C. SWEET. Feb. 5th. 1866.

It is now conceded by all that J. W. Conklin of East Penfield is the best Auctioneer

In this section of the country. That he will sell goods and chattels for the most money, and that his services can be had at the most reasonable rates.

A home is a home be it ever so humble, and yet how many people that have a comfortable home, try to make it disagreeable, when it should be their duty to make every thing pleasant. It is natural for some people to make themselves miserable, and to make all others around them so. They will find fault with every thing, even Him that brought them into existence. Oh how cruel this is, when God placed us here to be kind to each other, and to help each other. Just think my readers how short the space, (compared with time) that God in his wisdom has allotted for us to remain in this world. Our part of time is very short, and yet think how we occupy it, how many people do you suppose uses the time allotted to them, as God requires? I am led to believe we have but few a good Christian should be always happy and strive to make all others happy. Oh there is so many ways to make people happy; it can be done many times with a simple smile, and yet you will withhold this smile. It can be done by lending a few pennies to the Lord

(What you give to the poor you lend to the lord.) In this way a large portion of our Lords family might be made happy, but the rich man seems to forget the duty that he owes to our Father, and many times turns a deaf ear. What is the consequence? In a short space of time God will rob him of all his worldly goods, and call him home to settle for the deeds done in the body. He will certain.

DEMOCRATIC ALMANAC.—Price 25 cents. This is a work that every man should have for references, particularly every democrat in this Union. We have a copy. It is published by Van Evrie Horton & Co. 162 Nassau St. N. Y.

The Monthly Statement of our public debt shows an increase of 17,000, 000 in the month of January. The debt will soon be paid in this way.

We are glad to hear that the Rev. L. D. Chase received from his friends last Tuesday evening, about $180. We consider this a very handsome donation, got up as it was without any noise or tumult, such as we generally see at a donation party. Our opinion may differ from many, and we are thankful that it does, we believe that true religion is that of the most humble kind. We will not judge least we be judged, but we have our doubts concerning those that pray on their knees on the Sabbath, and on their neighbors the remainder of the week. A good christian in our estimation, should have the love of God at heart, and place him before all other things. If you have the love of God at heart you will never think of slandering your neighbors, neither would you ever injure your neighbors in any form whatever. Even if your neighbor should spitefully use you, you should pray for them that they may become better. You are not required to read the bible to an excess, as many poor people are poor readers, and in many cases their time may be required to sustain life, but all that wish to seek the straight and narrow path, can read and understand the ten commandments, and can read and respect the Lords Prayer, and we verily believe, that all who live up to the letter of these commandments, and daily repeat the Lords Prayer from the fullness of heart, will be those of the few, who will enter the kingdom of Heaven.

At a recent city election, Pitt-Hole Pennsylvania, claiming 12,000 inhabitants polled only 112 legal votes. The oldest inhabitant had hardly been there long enough to vote.

THE BANNER OF LIGHT.—Says; That there is a firm in St Louis by the name of Griffin and Barrett.

We presume that we have many firms in these days, by the same name, especially among the country editors.

Godey's Lady's Book.
FOR FEBRUARY.

This number contains a Steel plate of "The Crossing Sweeper," from a picture by Faith, the painter of the celebrated "Derby Day."

A superb Colored Fashion Plate. A picture in tints "Drifting with the tide." An original design of a Skating picture. A Winter walking Suit. Walking Costume for a young Lady. Evening dress and Robe dress, original designs.

Four designs for fashionable Headresses. Two designs for Opera Hoods. Four fashionable Cloak patterns, Crochet and Embroidery patterns Six new styles of Bonnets. Dresses for boys and girls. Aprons and Sleeves. Book-markers. Braided Shoe-Bag. Pear-shaped Finisshion. Garden Mitten. Knitted muff, etc, etc.

"Rizpah's Idols," by Marion Harland, is continued. "Mrs. Washington Potts," by the late Miss Eliza Leslie, is concluded. Miss Mary W. Janvra, Miss S. Annie Frost, with other writers of eminence, also contribute to this number.

Lowest club terms $2.50 a year. Single numbers can be had at all Periodical Depots, or Address. L. A. GODEY, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL.

This highly appreciated, and very instructive Journal for February is now before the world. It can be found at all Periodical Depots. This work has gradually rose to its forty third volume and now stands ahead of all other publications in this country for usefulness. It is now a splendid work, and much knowledge can be gained even from one number. Do not fail to get one. The lowest club Terms are only $1.50 a year. If you have no club in your town hand this amount to your local Editor. For a specimen copy address with 20 cents

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE.

This Ladies Favorite for February is now ready at all Periodical Depots. We invite the attention of our readers of the Prospectus found elsewhere in this paper.

It would astonish many people to see the immense business that Mr. D. Leary is doing in the way of dyeing goods of all kinds and they would be still more astonished to see the great varieties of old, faded, greasy, and almost worthless goods that go to his establishment daily, and they would be still more surprised to see these same goods after they have been Scoured, Dyed and Pressed ready for delivery. Unless the garment or goods are fractured or marked in some way it is impossible for any person to identify their goods after they have passed through the hands of Mr. Leary. The brilliancy and lusture is the same as new, and in many instances Silks Satins, Ribbons &c. look better than new goods which have been handled. See card in this paper.

PIPE LAYING.—We have just four weeks in this town for pipe laying before town meeting. As town meeting comes on the first tuesday after the first monday in march, it will come on the sixth day of the month this year. We have not heard but very little said, but we should presume that most of the old officers will be re-elected. We certainly can not get a better Supervisor than we have got now, and probably he will have no opposition in the Republican Caucus, or on election day by the Democratic party. We can tell some better after we hear from Albany. Andrus may introduce some measure that may disqualify a white Republican from holding any more office in this state.

We are in the receipt of the Brookville Herald. Published by J. J. Godey at Brookville, Pa. at $2.00 per year.

A petition is circulating in New York and other States in favor of extending the right of suffrage to women. It is to be presented.

INDIAN EXHIBITION

The same Exhibition that we had in town some three years since, will again appear at our Town Hall on next Tuesday evening Feb. 6th. much improved and enlarged. We find on the programme the names of eight Indians, which we shall not try to spell. The Admittance we find very cheap for the times, considering such a large company.

Tickets only 25 cents.
And children under 10 years 15 cents.
The Games, Dances, Songs, Scenes, Tab-leaux Rites, Ceremonies &c. of this company will be found to be highly entertaining both to old and young. We shall not attempt to dis-criminate all that may be seen but would advise all to go and see for yourselves.

Doors open at seven o'clock. To com-mence a half hour later.
At this day and age of the world, it may greatly parents to take their children to see what they have seen. Very few children have to a limited idea of an Indian at the present time, and will hardly believe that, where our large Cities and Villages now stand, was once the hunting ground of the red man, Go and see them tuesday night.

OUR THOUGHTS.

It is natural for all people to have thoughts of some kind, and among the light matter found in our paper we wish also to impress upon the minds of our readers that they have a never dying soul to save.

The Lord, our Father, he hath say,
Come hither souls, I am the way,
My life for all, I have freely given,
That your souls, may rest in heaven.
Be meek, and humble while you live,
Both freely take, and freely give,
Wear little in wisdom, you possess,
While traveling through the wilderness.

Your Journey should be straight and right,
The same by day, the same by night
Your works should ever be a sign,
With good works, good acts combine,

The road is short, both straight and true,
The path which you must venture through,
You must not turn, to left or right,
But press a head, with mind and might.

A few short days your journey through,
To this world, you'll bid adieu,
A few short days I say at best,
Then your soul, will be at rest.

It is now conceded by all that

Penfield January, 24 1866.

FOR SALE.

A large two story house, with one and a half acres of land, pleasantly located in the village of Penfield, good fruit, water, and barn. The purchase money can be made easy if required. Inquire of E. P. Fallett, 84 Main St., Rochester, or at this Office.

FOR SALE.

A good chance to get a small piece of land. The same other offers 14 acres of good improved land, containing a young bearing orchard, a hay meadow, and the main road half way between Penfield and Pittsford being about one and a half miles from Pittsford, Penfield or Fairport, an 1 1/2 miles from one of the best water privileges in this state. He will also sell his residence in the village of Penfield at a bargain, containing two and a half acres of land good fruit water &c. For further particulars Apply to J. Mott.

REVIVAL.—We are glad to see the Lord is moving the water in our midst. Many aged who have previously acknowledged our father, and have become cold at heart, are now renewing their promise to seek the narrow path, and we see many of our youth desiring the prayers of Christian people, and are encouraging the direct road to salvation, and it is our prayer that many may find the Lord, and secure a life long passage with Him on the old ship Zion. We have cause to lament our inability to encourage old and young in this great and good work, and we very much regret that we have so many in our midst who keep their light under the bushel, those who are commonly known as stumbling blocks.

We are sorry that we have so many that know our Masters will and do it not. We consider a good Christian one of the most noble works of God, and a good Christian will be a Christian at all times and in all places, they will let their light shine to the world that sinners may profit by their daily walks and conversation. Those who pretend to be Christians should know that sinners take them for a pattern and will grab at every little mistake that they may make, and we hear worldly people often say that they do no more than Deacon so and so, or Eld. so and so.

Now the question is, do these Deacons and Elders feel satisfied to answer for the sins of all who take them for an example? We fear not.

AUCTION.

Merritt Sharp will sell the Stock and Farming Utensils of Allen F. Hibber at Public Auction, one mile east of Fairport on Tuesday Feb. 13th 1866.

GOOD BY.—We see that our old favorite exchange, the Shirleysburg Herald, is now among the things that was, and instead of this, we receive a paper under a splendid head, which looks like a new blown rose. The Augustus Valley Herald, long may it live.

FAIR PLAY.—We see many of our original scraps traveling around without proper credit, we only ask fair play. One of our best productions will be found on page second this week, we would like the credit of it, should it be used by the press.

IT CAN BE DONE.—We often hear people say that you cannot make a whistle out of a pigs tail but we beg to differ with all those who labor under this delusion, as we have had a regular genuine pig tail whistle left at our office, by Mr. Charles Graves, of Penfield Centre, one of his own make. It may be supposed by many that this is a little "squaker", but we must inform the scrupulous, that our whist is much resembling that of a young steam engine, making a very loud and distinct sound. Mr. Graves will please receive our thanks for his present. It will remain at our office for inspection.

☞ We must ask the indulgence of some of our advertisers this week to make room for our story.

☞ A Little girl being sent to a store to purchase some dye stuff, and, on getting the name of an article, said to the clerk, "John what do you call dye with?" "Blue with. Why cholera sometimes," replied John. "Why, I believe that is the name. I want to have three cents worth."

Billion's Monthly Magazine. FOR MARCH.

This is the earliest work that reaches us. We often receive it four weeks ahead, of many other Magazines. This number is highly and beautifully illustrated, and the stories this month are of a very interesting character any person would surely get the worth of their money in this number. It can be had for 15 cents at all Periodical Depots. And the lowest club rates are $1.25 which amount you can had to any club agent, or to your local editor. We would like to publish the contents of this number, but space forbids, therefore we would advise all to get it Address Elliott Thomes & Talbot, Boston Mass.

MERRY'S Museum FOR FEBRUARY.

This long cherished work is before us, filled as usual with the choicest kinds of reading illustrated with numerous engravings. The lowest club rates are $1. a year which amount you can give your local Editor and he will secure you the work. Specimen copies may be had at all Periodical Depots.
or Address J. N. STERNES,
111 Fulton St. N. Y.

EVERY SATURDAY.—Is the name of a new weekly journal published by Messrs Ticknor & Fields, Boston. It is nicely printed, as is every thing that comes from their house, but it does not seem to us to possess any special literary merit.

Michigan State Register.
Our opinion is far different, from the above. We think that the Every Saturday is one of Messrs Ticknor and Fields best productions, and would recommend it to all lovers of Literature.

PREPARE FOR A DANCE.—We understand that a good time is anticipated at our Union Hotel, on the 22d, and undoubtedly if the weather proves good, we shall have the largest party of the season.

AS IT SHOULD BE.—As the old birds crow the young ones learn. We see that Mr. Charles Sentell of the Seneca Observer has retired, and left his Feature Journal in the hands of his son Mr. E. W. Sentell who we predict will ever wield the pen in the good cause which his father has done before him.
Remember the encouraging words of Commodore Perry on Lake Erie.

PENFIELD, FEB. 12th. 1866.

A CHARITABLE ACT,

—OR—
How I Found My Sister.

An ORIGINAL story that might be true.

It was on a cold chilly day in the month of December, in the year 1860, that a gentleman—whom we shall call L—, was passing up Broadway, in the great metropolis. He seemed to be meditating, not seeming to know or care which way he was going; he had just left the dinner table at the Astor, and was merely walking out to take the air, and enjoy the comforts of a segar. He had proceeded as far as Canal street, and was about to cross Broadway and resume his walk, when he was accosted by a bright eyed little girl thus:

"Please Sir, will you give me a few pennies for my poor sick mother in charity?"
Mr. L—, looked down into that sweet little face, that was surrounded by flaxen curls, and saw at a glance that Ida (for such was her name) was not one of those common street beggars of which the city is infested, and he saw something noble in the expression of her beautiful features.

"Where does your mother live?" inquired Mr. L—.
"In the attic over Mrs. Dr. Smith's office, 330 Canal street."

"It is but a short way down," said he, "I will go with you and see your mother."
"I should like to have you, but Sir—" said Ida sobbing

"But what," inquired Mr. L—, "with his heart rising to his throat."
"Oh Sir, we are obliged to live so poor since the landlord took away our bed, table, and chairs, and mother is so sick that she can not take in sewing."

A few steps brought them to the number, and Ida led the way through a dark alley, and up five flights of stairs to an unfurnished garret, about 40 x 50 feet, the roof being even with the floor on the sides, and extending to the ridge, making room through the centre for a person to stand erect. It was in this dismal place that he first beheld the lovely face of Mrs. St. Clair.

"Beg your pardon, madam, but I was solicited by your little daughter, here, to give her a few pennies for her sick mother, and being so near, I thought I would just step in and see if a few dollars would not be more preferable."

"Kind Sir, it is with regret that we have come to this, we have seen better days."
Which he fully comprehended, as he heard the lady relate her circumstances in life.

"What can I do for your comfort to-day," said Mr. L—, "will five dollars do for you until to-morrow at this time?"

"It will be more than we shall require, Sir."
"Never mind," said Mr. L—, handing the lady a quarter eagle, and saying I will see you again, he took his departure.

As Mr. L—, left the house, he seemed to be in a deep study, and took but little notice of any thing or any body, as he was passing down Broadway. He had passed the Astor and the Park, and when opposite Trinity Church, he stopped short and said to himself, "Who can this Mrs. St. Clair be, the name is so familiar, and besides she has such a lady like appearance."

Herald, Tribune, and about forty other sounds came to his ears from the various news boys running to and fro, and being reminded that the afternoon was passing, he looked at his watch and saw that it was tea time, so, turning he bought a Herald and went back to his rooms at the Astor. When tea was over, he seated himself by the grate, and looking over the paper, his eyes fell upon a notice, Rooms to let, furnished or unfurnished in the new block No. 332 Greenwich street. Rooms to let, either furnished or unfurnished inquired Mr. L—, I will go and see them before I call on Mrs. St. Clair.

That night Mr. L—, retired with a lighter heart than usual, he had made up his mind to do something, but what he could not tell, but he was sure that he could make others happy out of his interest money and besides have plenty for himself. Next morning he arose determined to do something, after breakfast he went out and took a Broadway and Greenwich street bus, and soon found himself in front of a fine new block on Greenwich St., and alighted and sought for No. 332. He found this to be an office.

"Good morning," said the clerk, "can I do any thing for you this morning, Sir?"
"I am in search of a tenement, well furnished."

"At your service, Sir. John show this gentleman through the block, and let him select his rooms, and take his order for furniture."
Mr. L—, left with the porter, and was much pleased with the first rooms that he entered. A parlor, fronting the street, dining room, kitchen, three bed rooms, ward-rooms, pantry &c.

"I will look no farther," said Mr. L—, "what are the prices of the rooms I have selected?"

"Please mark them down, as I call the numbers from the map. Room No. 40 per week, 50 cents; No. 43-50 cts.; No. 44-50 cts.; No. 45-50 cts.; and as the other small rooms are so connected with the large ones we will call them fifty cents, total $2.50 per week."

"Very well, how do you fix your price on furniture?"
"That depends on the length of time you wish to use it, from 15 to 25 per cent on the first cost, you may order what you like."

"All right, I must have a servant girl, the first thing, will you go to the Intelligence office and select an American woman, from twenty to thirty years of age, and bring her here directly?"

The porter left, and soon returned with a very smart looking woman of Irish decent, not being able to find an American.

"Are you a Catholic?" inquired Mr. L—.
"No Sir," responded Helen "I am a clever girl."

"Do you understand general house work, and call your self a first class cook?"

"Here are my papers," said Helen, producing numerous recommendations from substantial people, both in city and country.

"Now Helen, I wish you to give orders for about second class furniture, carpets &c., and have the house, and supper ready for my family at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The porter here will order all the help that you need. I want three good beds but nothing extravagant. Here porter is a check for $100, get what provisions Helen may require, and furnish her with all the help she needs, and hand me a bill of all. I will leave now, and shall be here to supper at precisely three o'clock; Porter set your watch by mine."

"What o' sort of a gentleman is this?" inquired Helen of the porter.

"I do not know any more than you do, but I know, or should think that we must hurry up our orders to get carpets down in such a short time. Straw! Straw!"

"Run John as fast as ever you can, there's a man selling straw, git some for the beds, and be after givin' me orders on a bed furnishing store, and cabinet ware house, and stove store."

"That's so replied the porter, go down to the office with me."

Helen took her orders and left, and soon carmen after carmen were seen at No. 333 unloading beds, bedsteads, chairs, tables, stoves carpets &c. &c. So Helen returned with two other women, and the work commenced, Helen giving order, and the others assisting the porter to make all things ready. At precisely 3 o'clock all the carpets were down, the beds made, the table set, and the victuals were on the stove smoking hot, while John sat in the parlor trying to play a tune on the new Piano.

Mr. L—, after leaving his orders, proceeded to the humble abode of Mrs. St. Clair. He found her looking much more cheerful than he had the day previous. "Please be seated on this old box," said Mrs. St. Clair, "as I have not a chair left me, I have sold every thing that would bring a penny in order to keep from starving."

"It is pretty hard, is it not?" said Mr. L—, to Ida, who was sitting on his knee.

"Yes, sir, but we are happy now, & have such good things to eat since you were here."

"But how can you be happy in this old garret?"

"Oh I can be happy any where when mama don't cry."

"Well, then we will see that your mama does't cry any more; ask her if she would'n't like to move to a better house."

"Oh, I am sure she would, would you not ma?"

"This house is as good as our furniture, my child."

"Well, ask your mama if she would not like to move to a good house, and have it well furnished, and have a woman to take care of her?"

"That would be so nice would'n't it mama?"
"If we were as we was once, my dear child, your mother would not need any woman to take care of her, if we had things to do with I think that I could get along without any servant."

"Your mother does't give you a very decisive answer, does she Ida? Ask her if she will accept of a good house well furnished, free of charge, as long as she may wish to occupy it?"

"Will you mama?" said Ida putting her arms around her neck very caressingly, "will you live in a new house for nothing?"

Here the tears glistened in the eyes of Mrs. St. Clair. "Oh do'n't cry mama, this gentleman is going to get us such a nice home."

"How do you know, my darling," said Mrs. St. Clair, smiling, "he has not said so?"

"Well, tell you ma that I will get her a comfortable home, and all the comforts of life, if she will accept my offer."

"Oh! you will, wont you mama?"

"Certainly I will my child, anything to better our condition."

"There kind sir, we have got a direct answer, now have it we?"

"Well, now ask your ma, if she is ready to move to-day?"

"Yes, right away, 'aint you ma?"

"Any time my darling."

"Will you be ready at half past two, Mrs. St. Clair?"

"Yes, Sir, as well as at any time."

"Well Ida, you may go with me, and we will come back after your mother at half past two precisely, or it will be a quarter to three by that clock on the church, come lets go."

Mr. L—, and Ida proceeded down Broadway, when he stopped at a dress making establishment and went in.

"What can I do for you to-day?" said the lady clerk.

"Can you, in a very short time, rig this young lady from head to foot, including hat and boots, with a good substantial out and indoor suit?"

"It will require nearly an hour," replied the lady.

"Very well, it is now half past one; in one hour the hack will be waiting at the door."

Mr. L—, went down to the Astor, and reported himself absent for a while, and then called a hack and went back to the dress makers, and he was much surprised at the alteration that had made in Ida's appearance, he hardly knew her as she came bounding in the hack and seated herself on his knee. "Your mama will think that I have traded you off for some other little girl, and she will not own you any more will she?"

"I will risk that, I know she will be proud of me. Soon the hack halted at 330 Canal street. Ida and Mr. L—, went up stairs and sure enough Mrs. St. Clair did not recognize her until she flew into her arms with her disguise.

"The carriage is waiting mama, come hurry up we will have such a nice ride."
They were soon seated in the carriage, and shortly after the hack stopped again, at No.

333 Greenwich street, and upon entering found his orders all filled and supper waiting.

"This is your new home Mrs. St. Clair, and this lady here, Miss Helen, is your servant as long as you wish to retain one, without cost or expense to yourself. She has arranged things to suit her own mind, which you are at liberty to arrange to suit yourself, with the exception of one room. I shall require one bed room, and I would prefer No. 45. The bell rang for supper, and Mr. L., took the head of table, and ordered the fourth place to be sat, and Helen was obliged to act as one of the family. After supper Mr. L., and Ida went into the parlor and soon Mrs. St. Clair entered. "Oh! mama, I have often heard you say how you played on the piano when you was a girl, can you play now?"

"Of course she can if she ever could. Suppose you try it Mrs. St. Clair," said Mr. L., placing the stool before it. And you may judge to his surprise, when he saw the delicate fingers of Mrs. St. Clair, flying over the keys like some fresh music teacher, sounding the favorite tune of "Home sweet home."

"Well, Ida what do you think of your new home?" inquired Mr. L., as they were seated at the table during the evening.

"First rate; it is such a beautiful place, and so many nice things."

"Have you inquired this gentleman's name, Ida? Oh! no! Will you please to tell us your name Sir," said Ida.

"Yes, dear, my name is Charles L."

"What L.," said Mrs. St. Clair, "that was my maiden name?"

"Ah!" replied Charlie "will you tell me from what family?"

"My father's name was Wm. L., of Penna."

"Not of H—?" interrupted Charlie.

"Yes, Wm. L., of H—, Pa."

"How strange! and your name was Lottie L., my long lost sister."

Here we will drop the curtain and say a few words about Lottie L. At the age of sixteen, Miss Lottie was the admired of all admirers, and before she had seen seventeen summers, she accepted the hand and heart of Adolphus St. Clair, against her father's will, and left for parts unknown. They settled in the city of New York, and were prosperous for many years, when Mr. St. Clair became a partner in a large Mercantile House, and was considered wealthy, but on going to his store one morning he found that his partner had taken all of the available means, together with all he could borrow, and "skedaddled" and Mr. St. Clair was obliged to make an assignment, just about the time that an assignment was intended to visit her long neglected parents. In their prosperity she had never informed them of her whereabouts, as she was proud, and had calculated to surprise them, by appearing before them in splendid style.

But when prosperity was changed to adversity, she again concluded to shut herself from the knowledge of her friends, fearing their reproach. And as one extreme follows another, after Mr. St. Clair had given up all, to satisfy his creditors, he was attacked with fever and after a severe illness he departed this life, and left Mrs. St. Clair and Ida almost penniless. Mr. L., when a boy had heard his parents speak about their dear Lottie, but from some reason supposed her dead, and he had also heard them mention St. Clair, but as he had left home very young, in company with a California Caravan, he had quite forgotten ever having a loving sister. Some of the first companies that went to California got rich fast and at the expiration of three years, the company that Mr. L. went out with returned, and it was supposed rich, as most of them seemed to retire on their money. But who ever heard of a Californian tell how much money he had made?

"But why did you not write to father when you were so desolate, dear sister?"

"Answer to the bell at the door Helen."

"The porter, Mr. L."

"Bid him walk in."

"Here are the market bills, as you required and the balance of the money for your check." "Will you please bring me the bills of all furniture furnished," said L.

bills in total, $862.35 "Please have them received, and here is my check for that amount. A few weeks have passed, and we find on 21st street a splendid residence, with the door plate marked, Mrs. C. St. Clair, and on inquiry, we find it to be the same residence in which Ida's father died a few years previous.

A few more weeks have passed, and we see in the New York Sun the following:
On Wednesday, Oct. 5th, by Rev. S. R. Wells, the Hon. James H. D., to Mrs. Charlotte St. Clair, both of this city.

In conclusion we would say that the last we saw of Ida, she was living up the Hudson with her uncle L., in his splendid dwelling, just getting ready to go down to New York with her new aunt, and before she started, we saw her whispering to her uncle, and from the fact of his placing his hand in his pocket and handing Ida some pin money, we conclude that she said, "Please Sir, will you give me a few pennies for my poor sick mother in Charity."

GLEIGHTH AT LAST.—We have now splendid sleighing the first of the season, the weather is very mild and pleasant.

Indian Exhibition.

We had the extreme pleasure, last Tuesday Eve., of visiting AHWANETUNKS GREAT SHOW! Under the management of E. S. WASHBURN. The two Squaws—which we shall call ladies, were very interesting; they gave us a call at our Sanctum, in company with W. J. CHARPILLE, their general business agent, and several other members of their company. We have not been more highly entertained in a long time. Misses NEOSKALETA and OTTARISKA, speak the English language very fluently, and make themselves very agreeable among white people. We understand that this troop intend to call at all of our neighboring towns, so that all may have a chance to see and hear them.

This company have been solicited to repeat their Exhibition at Webster, which invitation, we understand they have accepted. We would say in behalf of the citizens of this town, that a repetition of their Exhibition here, would be appreciated by all. The great disadvantage seems to be in the small capacity of country Halls, as a general thing many people who wish to see this performance cannot get admittance, therefore we would say to all, if you wish a good seat go early. We have a very large country Hall in this town, but on this occasion there was no spare room the ladies were all seated, but the gentlemen took their chances. On the whole we must say that this company gave us the best entertainment that we have ever had in our Hall, leaving the best part out (which is the Indian performances.) Every person considered that they got the worth of their money, in the School of Grecian Games, performed by YOUNG WASHBURN and his Pupils. This was equal to a good Circus aside from the use of horses. We would like to say more about this company but space forbids, therefore we say go and see them if you have the opportunity.

[From the Valley Herald.]
HOME.

Home! how sweet thy memories are!
How tender are thy ties!
We often turn to view from far,
Home's dear and sparkling eyes.

The pictures of that saintly face
My mother's image brings,
The parting look I almost trace,
That sacred treasure clings,

A father's eyes bedewed with tears,
His dying counsel gave,
The path of life is full of fear,
And opening on the grave,

Our early friends of school boy days,
There greet our memory still;
How sweet to cast one lingering gaze,
On the old house on the Hill!

The willow stood beneath the hill
Was stately, strong and high;
Its towering branches seemed to bathe,
Their summit in the sky.

It's now a wreck of former years—
O Memory! canst thou tell,
What tales of joy, perhaps of tears,
I saw before it fell?

As some fond heart of early days,
Now silent, cold in death,
So this old tree no life betrays,
The winds its requiem hath.

DO A GOOD TURN WHEN YOU CAN,

How little we think as we travel,
Through life's ups and downs day by day,
What good each might do for his neighbor
Did all of us go the right way.
How many a poor fellow whose talents
To elevate science would tend,
Is lost to the world's gaze forever,
And all through the want of a friend,
Then stretch forth your hand like a brother,
For remember that life's but a span;

Some boast of their wealth and connexions.
And look with contempt upon those
Of lower degree—quite forgetting
The means by which they perhaps rose.
So be kind to the poor and lowly,
Ne'er utter a word that's untrue;
Prize the maxim which says "Act to others,
As you would they should act unto you";
Then stretch forth your hand like a brother,
Since life's after all but a span,
Let us try to assist one another,
And do a good turn when we can.

[From the Seneca Observer]
BEHIND THE VEIL.

The secret of man's life disclosed
Would cause him strange confusion,
Should God the cloud of fear remove,
Or veil of sweet illusion.

No maiden sees aright the faults
Or merits of her lover;
No sick man guesses if 'twere best,
To die, or to recover:

The miser dreams not that his wealth,
Is dead as soon as buried;
Nor knows the bard who sings away,
Life's treasures, real and varied.

The tree root lies to deep for sight,
The well source for our plummet,
And heaven's fount and palp defy,
Our scanning of their summit,

Whether a present grief ye weep,
Or yet untasted blisses,
Look for the balm that comes with tears,
The bane that lurks in kisses.

We may reap dear delight from wrongs
Regrets from things most pleasant,
Foes may confess us when we're gone
And friends decry us present.

And that high suffering which we dread
A higher day discloses,
Men saw the thorns on Jesus brow,
But angels saw the roses.

Ed.—We are indebted to Cousin Charlie for a copy of each of the following Journals: The Rino Times, Rmo. Pa. The Union Banner, Celina Ohio. The Reconstructionist, Washington, D. C. The Lewisburg (Pa) Chronicle. The Miners Register, Central City, Colorado. The Right Way, Boston. The true Democrat, York, Pa.

A GOOD WAY.—A gentleman writes to an agricultural paper to find out the best way to destroy Canada thistles. The best way for a man to destroy some other kind of weeds, is to marry a young widow, but thistles and thorns may spring up where the weeds have been removed.

TWO STORES LESS.—We understand that two of our stores are shortly to close business. This will very much injure the rest, because people will not trade in town unless they can have a run of several shops to find out the prices before they purchase. Mr. Joseph Cochran of Rochester is taking a large share of our grocery trade away from this town. He is selling goods very low for these times, and in fact any person from this side of the river, can save at least ten per cent in the grocery line by crossing over. Mr. M. J. Monroe No 95 Buffalo St. is probably doing the largest wholesale grocery trade of any man in this county, and his retail trade is very large.

Ed.—The latest "patron" is a paper hat, which is to be manufactured in Spring field. The article is said to be desirable, or water proof, and will cost from eight to twenty cents.

IT IS ALL FOOLISHNESS.—Now if Master Jones thinks that he can make me write a exposition, he is grandly mistaken. I could never think of such a thing, and besides if I should make up my mind to write, what in the world should I write about? If I should try to write, I should be obliged to write on some new line of which I am conversant, and that would be very small talk. I think that if I knew more of the world I could write a good article. I should like to know the full extent of all mines and minerals. I would like to tell people just how long coal oil has been a hidden mystery, or whether it had recently appeared from some transformation of the earth, and how long it would exist, but all this is beyond the knowledge of man. The hidden treasures of the earth, as far as this time to be all absorbing topics they will dig for oil, and at the same time watch for any other valuable substance that may turn up. Many men are becoming wealthy, while others are spending their all in search of wealth, money is probably changing hands more at present than it ever did, since the discovery of America. Speculation is running very high, in oil gold and silver mines. Large fortunes are made and lost in a very short time, but on the whole it is a valuable idea for our country, as every valuable substance found on the earth makes the country more valuable, no matter how many may be ruined in finding them, their money is not lost, it only changes hands, thus we have the same amount of money in our country, together with all the minerals that may be found. SEAN.

A TIME FOR ALL THINGS.—We read in the bible that there is a time for all things, and among the various things enumerated, we see that dancing is mentioned; therefore we must conclude that there is a time to dance, even down to the present time. We do not consider dancing very bad, not so much as other exercises which are held at the present day to be very harmless amusements. We think that there is nothing bad about evening parties of any kind except their "surroundings" of which we shall speak separately.

First. We find in all kind of pleasure parties the hour of the night is very much disregarded. We think it the duty of any person to adhere strictly to keeping regular hours, if they wish to form habits that will please them when they grow old.

Second. We find that in parties of various kind (donation visits not excepted) that after a certain hour the evil spirit takes hold of a certain class that are known to be friendly with him, and that class generally drags others into temptation, which causes them to see every thing but disagreeable in their friends. Now mark this trouble never comes, until the hour comes that we would advise people to retire to their homes. You seldom see a young man that joins a party the worse for evil spirits until a late hour. When gentlemen begin to leave the fact, that ladies wish to go home with the same gentlemen that takes them to a party, and will take them home in respectable hours, then and not till then, will parties become popular with our class people. If a lady goes to a party with a single man, she does not choose to go home with a they one.

THE BROOKVILLE HERALD.—SAYS: That there are a few women parties published at Northville, and at the commencement of the war here was only four. No wonder that paper is injured.

Ed.—A child thus defines gossip: "It is when nobody don't do nothing, and somebody goes and tells of it."

The Penfield Extra.

PENFIELD, FEB. 19th, 1866.

For the Penfield "Extra."

A Maiden Lady's Song.

Respectfully Dedicated to AUNT SAKK.

AIR.—Tramp, Tramp, Tramp.

In my madish room I sit,
And my thoughts are growing sad,
As they fly to joys as yet to me unknown,
And the grief that's in my heart
Brings the tear drops to my eyes,
As I glance around and find myself alone.

CHORUS.
Oh! Oh, Oh, the thought is shocking,
Kind friends forgive me if you can;
But before I'll live alone,
I will take my trusty shears,
And cut me out a little party man!

In the bible—holy book,
In its teachings so divine,—
Says, "it is not good for man to be alone;"
Then wot somebody beg
To spend their life with me?
I tell you all, objections I have none.

CHORUS.
The summer's almost gone,
And the winters coming on,
To think of it fairly makes me groan;
Then someone say the word,
Tis but a little matter who,
For I cannot—and I will not live alone!

CHORUS.

For the Penfield "Extra."

EDUCATION.

It is useless to attempt to prove at this late day, and enlightened age of the world that education is important. The subject has been discussed thousands of times, and nothing has been thrown any light on the subject has been omitted; and yet, among many how sadly has it been neglected. Not that the vast multitude of people in general, are illiterate, quite the contrary, but are rather, noted for their intelligence and enterprise, but allowing this, must we not admit that much of this intelligence is very superficial? And that there are many who content themselves with very different attainments, and with this small amount of information, and much self importance combined, contrive to pass among the ignorant who do no better; and among those better informed, but whom the succeed in silencing by their conceded impudence, as very superior individual? While often those more feally talented, but possessed of a more unassuming worth, are left far behind this fast sort of people. But this surface work is not the kind, calculated to enable mankind above the strifes and jealousies of party spirit, from which we may justly conclude, have seen much of the discussion, and are bewildered that has arisen in our country. But we need rather an education based upon a secure foundation, that shall enable our rulers to perform the duties assigned to them, with a clear righted judgment, honestly, and conscientiously without regard to party, having for the object the good of their country, and benefit of their fellow creatures, meriting for themselves the approbation of their countrymen, and the admiration of other nations, and what is applicable to rulers is true of the people, preserving attention, added to a firm determination to do something in the world, not only in appearance, but in reality, and then, and not till then will they be prepared to act their part in the great drama of human life.

LOTTIE RANDALL.

A CHEAP, SOFT GINGERBREAD.—ONE pound of flour, one cup of molasses half cup of sour milk, two teaspoonful of ginger, one cup of butter, and one teaspoonful of saleratus; bake by a slow fire for an hour.

IF An old silver dollar of 1794 sold in New York for over $150.

IF A young lady takes your arm it is no certain sign that she will take your hand.

The Mountain Sentinel, last week gave a new Idea in the way of advertising a Photograph artist. We presume the pictures are calculated to represent Messrs M—, & D—.

If we are laboring under a mistake, we will correct it, by receiving the "si mon pure."

VERY CHEAP TO CLUBS.—We do not know of any paper as cheap to clubs as the Literary Companion.

There is more reading for the money than there is in any other paper published in the country.

Ten copies and ten premium pictures (post paid) direct to one person, only $2.00
This work should be in every day school in America.

THE LYONS PRESS.—Says; That it is Evident that the boys are coming home in Indiana, as recently, ten democratic papers started in that state.

WHY DO THEY DO IT?—Why does Alanson Higbie, Esq., and Daniel Fuller, Esq., two of our Republican Justices, take their job work to the Rochester Union & Advertiser office? The answer would probably be this; We all know that the Union Office stands far ahead of any other office in the county for doing large, first class jobs, but we are somewhat surprised to see the heads of the republicans party of Penfield, patronizing a democratic office. We should think that they would accept of an inferior job, rather than have their names so conspicuous above a "democratic print," but this is as it should be, let party strife become among the things that was, and give work to those that can do it best, providing you take it out of your own town.

WHERE DO THEY GET THEM?—We see by the Iowa State Press, that goods are sold much lower in Iowa city, than they can be bought in Central N. Y. It says that good prints are sold at the 3d ward store at 20 cents, best gingham at 30 cents best tea at $1.50, good molasses at 50 cents, best brown sugar 65¢ lbs. for $1., crushed sugar only 20 cent. Now we must know that many of these goods pass through our county, and freight paid to Iowa, and there sold about 20 per cent less than they can be bought in this town.

A PROSPEROUS BOY.—We understand that one of our Penfield boys is doing a fine thing in Nevada; we may not get our article exactly right, as we have not heard the full particulars.

Some years ago there was a clever industrious, man living in our town, by the name of Isaac Baker, who died and left a wife and four small children, in rather destitute circumstances, but Mrs. Baker through ambition and courage, has since the death of her husband managed to keep her family together until they were able to take care of themselves. She had one boy and three girls, the boy when very young left this part for Mich., with one Schoecraft, probably under a salary sufficient to clothe himself, but as to this we cannot say, and we know but little of his history since he was a school boy.

Now, we hear of John Baker in Nevada, and understand that he has recently sent home to his mother over $2,000 at one time, and we also understand that he wrote her, or some other friend that he had sold one claim in a silver mine for about $1,000. Now we trust that Mrs. Baker will take her place in society under the "properly qualification act" as there is not a more praiseworthy family in this section of the county, except that they were poor. Mrs. Baker should now leave her hard work, and take comfort, but we fear that she has worked so long, and so hard that she will not consent to leave the music of the sewing machine for that of the piano.

We congratulate Mrs. Baker, and her family on their good luck, and we know of no person but what seem to be highly delighted, her old tried and true friends in particular.

IF It is thought the underground railroad in New York will be built.

LAWYERS OF NEW YORK STATE.—It would be a very interesting article for all people to read, if the press in general should state to their readers what privilege a foot-man has in the common highways, as many of our fast young men, with their two-forty horses seem to think that they own the whole road and side walk included, and many times small school children as well as all others are drove out in the snow drift, by those who do not know the laws of this state, which is simply this, every foot-man, man, woman or child are entitled to one half of the beaten path and all lawless persons who crowd them out or injure them, are liable for all damage, both by fine and imprisonment.

J. W. CONKLIN AUCTIONEER.

Will sell the personal effects of the late Stacy Merritt, half mile north from the Pound School House in Penfield, on Saturday 24th inst, such as Horses, Cows, Hogs, Young Stock, Wagons, Harnesses, Plows, Drags, &c.

Together with Buckwheat, Oats, Corn, Wood &c. Usual Credit. See large Bills. ALANSON HIGBIE, Administrator.

THE LADY'S FRIEND.

The March number of this magazine is on our table, "The Impending Ruin," a fine and expressive steel engraving, illustrative of a story of the same name, leads of the number. The double colored steel Fashion Plate is a beautiful one, and the dresses are such as ladies of good taste can wear. Then we have engravings of a Carriage Dress, Polerine, Home-dress Child's-dress, "Fanchon" Bonnet &c. &c. The music for this month is the "Richmond Polka." The literary contents are excellent. We may specially note "The Impending Ruin;" A Song by Beatrice Colonnat "Victoria Regina," a story in which the heroine, a beautiful and refined young lady, becoming poor seeks domestic service, and finds her reward in so doing; Poems by Florence Perry and August Bell; "Rachel Dana's Legacy;" "Zillah;" "The Pastor's Wife;" "At Last;" by Mrs. Bella Z. Spencer; "Marrying an Indian, and how I came to do it," a very well told story. Editorials, Fashions, Receipts, &c. &c.

Price $2.50 a year; 2 copies $4.00; 5 copies (and one gratis) $10. Now is the time to get up clubs for 1866. Specimen numbers for this purpose will be sent for 12 cents. Wheeler & Wilson's Celebrated Sewing Machine see further as per notice in certain Clats. The prospectus of this magazine for the present year embodies a splendid list of Contributors. Address: Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut Street Philadelphia.

FAST HORSES OUT DONE.—The Hudson Gazette Says;—That a race on skates was made in Westchester Co. in two-thirty. Talk about water-tire now.

PRICE OF BUTTER.—In Milwaukee 21 cents; In Buffalo 25 cents; In Cleveland 25 @ 30 cents; In Chicago 28 @ 30 cents; In Rochester 30 cents, and in Penfield 40 cents.

The Democrat Era of Cuba says: the Dankirk Union, Dankirk Journal, Cattaraugus Freeman, and Gowanda Bulletin, are all offered for sale. What is the matter among the hills?

A MISTAKE.—The Randolph (N. Y.) Register says: There is to be a dance at the Union Hotel in that town on the 22nd inst. The dance is to be at the UNION HOTEL, in Penfield, on the 22nd, and we shall expect all of the young people from Randolph certain, as everybody in this section is expected to be present without fail. We look for the largest party of the season.

QUESTION.—What would station do if he should lose his tail? He would be obliged to get a new one, at some place where they retail bad spirits.

THE WEATHER.—Last Thursday and Friday were the days that you read about in the Extra, we think them the most tedious of the season. Wednesday night the wind was high and boisterous and continued about the same until Friday night. The thermometer falling four below zero.

The Strangers Guide through Boston.
This is said to be a very valuable work for all who ever intend to visit Boston and very interesting to all who are acquainted with the city. The Book contains a handsome map of Boston, and a calendar for 1866.

PENFIELD EXTRA.

Little Nellie's Little Paper.

Seventy-five Cents Per Year. Independent in all Things. Single Copies Two Cents.

VOLUME V. PENFIELD, N. Y. FEBRUARY 26th, 1866. NUMBER 8

For the Extra.

A life in Libby Prison during the war, or a soldiers lament to his mother.

By ED KENDRY.

I am in a southern dungeon,
With many a union brave,
Where I am thinking of you mother,
And the advice to me you gave,

And your advice mother,
I do remember well,
Though I am on my dying bed,
And in a dismal cell.

And your parting words dear mother,
Through my dying ears doth sound,
While thinking of your misery,
And I a prisoner bound,

But mother dear be patient,
And dont you grieve for me,
Because I was starved to death,
In the cause of liberty.

We fought the rebels bravely,
All through the ninety first,
But a prisoner I was taken,
By a bold rebel thrust.

Then to Richmond I was taken,
With many a wounded friend,
And in Libby, they confined us,
Where thousands more were pen'd.

And after six long months in Libby,
My health began to fail,
As I saw them daily starving,
While in the rebel jail.

Corn meal, cobs and water;
They gave our boys to eat,
But when you our dying beds,
They gave us tainted meat,

They starved our boys by thousands,
That their freedom they might gain,
But their revolt against the Union,
Was useless and in vain.

This cruel war is over,
And soon united we shall be,
With slavery all abolished,
We will live in unity.

A CHANCE FOR A ROW.—The principal inhabitants of our village have signed a petition to have our village incorporated, and we see some few of the sore heads we've got a few names on a remonstrance. G. in lemons we think that Andrus knows his friends. About nine tenths go for village improvements.

BRING OUT THE BIG GUN.—The President has knocked the Negro ball all into 'Pi,' thus it will be seen that he has more respect for the white man than he has for the Negro. Who is Tylerized now? Much obliged to the Union party for giving us a white President. Comment unnecessary.

Written expressly for the "Extra."

The Life and Adventures of A BASHFUL YOUNG MAN, AS RELATED BY HIMSELF.

BY WILL.

Author of "Little Will," and other interesting Works.

PREFACE.

I had just finished a game of euchre with my old chum, Albert Wooster, and was gazing abstractedly at some beautiful work in prescol, on the ceiling of Joe France's bar-room, thro' a piece of glassware (which greatly resembled a tumbler) to give better effect to the paintings, when my attention was directed to a large placard, displayed conspicuously, not exactly on "the outer walls," but inner, rather, announcing the publication of a new work entitled "The Life of J. Wilkes Booth."

"Say, old chum," said Al, rapping in a knowing manner on the bar, with his empty glass, merely observing as he designated his particular bottle by pointing his finger after the manner of Hamlet's Ghost, "A very little sugar—" "Say, old chum why do you write your life, and show to the world how much better it is to live a life of honesty and morality, than to follow in the polluted steps of that inhuman monster?" pointing to the placard with the spoon he had in a fit of abstraction, been stirring his sugar with.

"I'll do it, old boy," said I, holding my glass in an inverted position, to show that it was empty,—lest the loafers sitting around might imagine I was not the moral and temperate young man, my friend would have them suppose. And this is 'the how' my reader, I came to write my life, and acting on a suggestion of Albert's, (who by the way, is a particular friend of Nellie's), the "Penfield Extra," shall have the honor of laying before its thousands of readers, (and I hope you may not consider me an egotist) The Life and Adventures of a young chap with all the good qualities, which go to make up the honored and respected citizen, with none of the bad. And now, in conclusion, allow me to add, that if there is one particular trait, which distinguishes me, from the rest of mankind, that stands out bold and distinct—bright and shining above all else, it is my strict regard for that which, when "crushed to the earth, will rise again;" TRUTH.

CHAPTER I.

Slightly westward of the Green Mountains where a pleasant little Republican village radiates between two Democratic hills, you may behold the landscape on which my infantile New England eyes, on the morning of May 1st 1842, gazed with wonderment and alarm, entering the world as I did—like a human exclamation point, between two of the angriest sentences of a spring thunder shower, and adding materially to the uproar prevailing at the time.

The person next to my parents of whom I remember, as I look back to those days of frock and aprons, was our family physician. A very sober man was Dr. Gaylord, and ever out of a very gentlemanly manner, and never out of a patient. He had started a business in our pretty little village as a veterinary surgeon, but as the entire extent of practice for six months in that line, was a call to mend Colts Revolvers, he finally turned his attention to the ailments of his fellows, and wrought many cures with sugar and water. latinized. My father did not like the new doctor at first, having very little confidence in the efficiency of sugar and water, without a certain other ingredient often seen in black bottles, but the worthy M. D.'s speech at a Sunday school picnic, won his heart at last. The picnic was held near a series of small waterfalls just out of the village, and the doctor, who was an invited guest, was called on for a few appropriate remarks. In compliance to the request he made a speech of some compass and ending with peroration, which is still quoted in my native place. He pointed impressively to the waterfalls, and says he, "The works of nature are grand, very grand, and all point a good moral. Even them cattracts" said he sagely, "have a moral, and seen eternally whispering to the young—those water-falls!" The effect of this happy speech was very pleasing, especially to those who prefer morality to grammar, and after that the devout Doctor had the run of all the pious families, our own included. It was a handsome compliment this worthy man paid me, when I was about six months old. He patted my head as I sat on my mothers lap, and says he, "He has a long, a very long head, and will make a noise in the world, yet."

"Do you think so?" said my father. "Indeed I do, says he, "he has a long, a very long head, and it is as thick as it is long!"

There was some coldness between my mother and the doctor after that, and on the following Sunday she refused to look at his wife's new bonnet in church.

I could fill many columns with accounts of childhood's sunny hours; but enough has been given already to establish the respectability of my birth, so here I will let the matter rest.

(To be continued next week.)

WHO NEXT.—See samples of Auction Bills posted, that were got up at this office. We don't pay any Auctioneer $1, for every job that he sends us, therefore we can do a job for the customer one dollar less, do you mind that ye whiskey squalker.

SWEET OR SOUR.—As the tart of a vinegar barrel is to a good lemon, or as the sweetness of a hoghead of molasses is to a nice box of pure white honey, so is many of the large Photograph Galleries of Rochester to the splendid Little Gallery over 114 State Street. As you find the tart of a lemon more pure, and concentrated, than the vinegar, or as you find the honey more pure than the molasses, you will find in like manner, a more pure, and perfect picture at B. W. Roberts Gallery than you can find in any establishment in Rochester. Under the new improvement in picture making, we understand that Mr. Roberts is able to get up a very superior kind of Color de Visite at $1.50 per dozen, or about half price of other galleries in Rochester. We would say to all those wishing anything of this kind that it would be well to call at 114 State st., Rochester—See card of prices elsewhere.

THE PLACE IS FOUND.—It has been decided that the best party of all kinds can now be found at 147 Main St. Rochester. Since Mr. Miller has become proprietor of this establishment, it is going on with a very large class of customers both in the retail and wholesale trade. Remember the location a few doors down from the Farmers Hotel, on the opposite side.

The Penfield Extra.

PENFIELD, FEB. 26th, 1866.

AGENTS WANTED.

To sell Danvers New Printing Office, that prints a card 3 1/4 inches. Just what every lady and gentleman should have for printing their Envelopes, Letter Headings, Invitation Cards, Concert and Ball Tickets, Business Cards &c. We give for each press, sufficient type to do different kinds of printing. The press and type complete will be mailed, post paid, in a neat box, with terms to agents, up on the receipt of two dollars. Address,
J. T. PHILLIS,
Hollidays Cove, Hancock Co., West Virginia.

COMPLIMENTS.—Much obliged to Messrs. Perryman & Smyser, publishers of the Sill van (Ill.) Express, for extra copies. Who wants a first class Illinois paper at $1.50 a year. Address as above.

The Arcade Enterprise says: the town of China is among the things that was, and the town is now to be called Arcade. How about the name of the Post Office?

THE WEATHER.—The past week the weather has been very delightful. Last Thursday the snow and ice mostly left our streets, and as the weather now looks, we shall soon say that the boys are playing ball in the streets.

AGENTS WANTED.

To sell the most Wonderful Invention of the age. An Instrument and full instructions by which any lady or gentleman can take a perfect likeness. Every family should have one and take their own pictures. Do not pay one dollar for a picture, but send one dollar and get the Instrument for taking them. Sent free by mail, on the receipt of $1. with terms to agents, who are now making from $5. to $20. a day by selling them. Address
J. T. PHILLIS,
Hollidays Cove, Hancock Co., West Virginia.

ADVERTISING.—Discontinuing to advertise thoughtfully remarks the Tray Times is like taking down one's sign. It is a sort of imitation of retirement from business, and the public treat it as such. Or they may regard it as evidence that something has gone wrong, which requires privacy for investigation. Whatever construction may be put upon it, the results is disastrous. Now we advise all of our readers who may have fallen into this common error of the season, to come out of their holes to put up their signs once more, and to advertise in as many papers as they did in the best times. While business creates advertising it is equally true that advertising creates business. It creates a talk and stir in business circles, and reminds people that they have no right to be leading drones' lives, even though the times are dull.

Who takes the place of Esq. Clark this spring?—We hear the name of Wm. F. Chasco mentioned, but we had rather have him for our collector.

Mr. Joseph Lippincott is talked of by the Republican party for overseer of the poor, and should Mr. Adams accept of the nomination again, undoubtedly he might be elected notwithstanding the minority of his party.

Apples that sold last fall in our town for $5. a barrel, can now be bought in Rochester at $1.50 per bushel.

BETWEEN TWO FIRMS.—In days of yore the Penfield Express would stop at both Hotels in Brighton, and in this way secure many passengers from Brighton to Rochester, but lately the Express has only called at one House, and passengers waiting at the other would be obliged to seek a private conveyance to Rochester. Now we should think that it would suit all parties better to have the Express call at each House, both in going in, and coming out, as both Houses as a matter of course have their friends, and the disservice of either landlord would make quite a part of the business of the Express in the course of a year. We understand that the Express now starts from the National Hotel at Rochester, but as a matter of course the new proprietor will call for passengers at the New England House and Farmers Hotel, as before.

It is calculated that an Express runs to accommodate the people, and those that cannot be accommodated by the Express, will certainly seek some other way of transit, but we trust that our stage driver will be the "right man in the right place," and strive to please all who are willing to pay for value received. Many people who have business in the city very often, will walk to Fairport or Pittsford to take the cars, because they have recently been obliged to pay full fare with the transient traveler. The R. R. fare is only 19 cents from Pittsford to Rochester, thus 21 cents is saved by walking three miles, but very few would take the trouble to walk this distance, if it was not to gratify some spite held against the Express. We hope that some plan may be adopted when the new proprietor takes the lines, that will please all.

Those who ride often, should have a season ticket, or in other words should have their case considered in some way, so as to make it a fair with all concerned. Our Express rightly managed, would soon become a paying investment to the proprietor, and a great convenience to the inhabitants of Penfield and Brighton.

Lay it down as a rule never to smile nor in any way show approval to any trait in a child which you should not wish to grow with his growth and strengthen with his strength.

R. C. Johnson, of Star City, Nevada, says snow was 7 feet deep Jan 24th. We have not had snow 7 inches deep, in this section, the present winter.

Many of our exchanges continue to believe that Wilks Boothe is still living. What difference does it make as long as we have killed the man that killed Lincoln, or at all events we have killed somebody, somebody was shot in a bun.

A VISIT.—We paid a visit last week to the picture furnishing establishment of Woodward and Randall 126 State St. Rochester, and we find it the largest establishment of the kind in Western N. Y. Picture frames of all shapes and sizes. An endless variety of beautiful looking-glasses, engravings of every thing, and every body. Photograph Albums, and pictures in large quantities, on the whole it is just the place to get any thing that you may desire in this line of goods, and we would say to all who have a leisure hour in Rochester to just drop in at 126 State St. and take a look at the splendid variety of goods.

The American Exchange and Review.

This Historical Journal for Feb. is upon our table, and we would say to all that have disposed of their light reading, and wish something substantial to secure this valuable work. It is devoted to the finance of our country, and is a splendid reference to all rail road, mining, arts, &c. The reading of one number by a person of sound sense will convince them that this a work that should be in every well regulated household. The lowest club rates for this work is $2. a year. Single copies $3. Single numbers 25 cents. Address
FOWLER & MOON,
521 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY, FOR MARCH.

This valuable and highly appreciated work is upon our table, filled as usual with the best productions, from the first writers of the globe. The contents of this number are many and will be found very interesting to the thousands who read them. The names of the publishers are a sufficient guarantee of the value of the work. It is kept on sale at all Periodical Depots, and the March number is now ready for delivery. The lowest club rates are $3. a year, which amount you can hand your local editor and take it in his club—for a specimen, address with 20 cents
TICKNOR & FIELDS,
124 Tremont St., Boston.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS.

The child's favorite for March is now ready. It contains lots of little stories, for little folks, and it is illustrated with many fine engravings. Single numbers are only twenty cents, but to have one number, the reader would not be satisfied they would become so interested, that they would want the whole volume, (which can be had of the publisher) as all of the numbers together make a very nice book, which is very interesting, and you can get the present volume by giving a club agent $1.50, or handing this amount to your local editor. See notice of Every Saturday and other publications, and address
TICKNOR & FIELDS,
124 Tremont St., Boston.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK.

This largest and best, for March, is thus early before us, and is now on its way to all of the remote places of the earth, for Godey's Magazine visits all civilized nations. The March number can be had, at all New Dealers in the eastern and middle States, and soon will reach California, Oregon, Nevada, &c. We would try to describe the fashions, engraving, music, &c., but we know that all of our readers will secure the book and see for themselves, and as some may yet wish to go in with a club, we will say that the lowest rates are $2.50 a year, which amount you can give to any club agent, or hand to your local editor, and begin with the Jan. number. Specimen copies 25 cents. Address,
L. A. GODEY, Philadelphia, Pa.

PETERSON'S Ladies National Magazine.

This beautiful magazine for March is before us, we find the engravings of this number fully equal to any previous number, and the double fashion plate is got up splendidly. The embroidery patterns in this number are very numerous, and also a great variety of dress designs, but the above are all given as a premium by the publishers as the reading matter is certainly worth the subscription price. Single numbers can be secured at any News Depot. The lowest club terms are $1.50 which amount you can send to any club agent, or you can hand it to your local editor and he will secure the book for you, commencing with any number. Any person wishing to act as agent, and get up a club, can be supplied with a specimen copy, by addressing
CHAS. J. PETERSON,
306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

MERRYMAN'S MONTHLY.

This side splitting Magazine for March is before us, filled as usual with the most laughable illustrations imaginable; it is a regular take-off on all of the tricks of the great city. To give the contents of this book is an utter impossibility, as we can't make the pictures, and the book must be seen to be appreciated. The publishers give large prizes for the best puzzles—send 15 cents for a specimen copy. Also send 25 cents for the Scandalous & Humbug; also 10 cents for Honey's Journal of Romance; also 25 cents for Secrets Worth Knowing. For either of the above, address
J. C. HANEY & CO.,
109 Nassau St., N. Y.

TOWN MEETING TICKETS.—Next week we shall be ready to print town meeting tickets on short notice, that will elect every body, this is the kind of tickets that you all want, therefore bring them along.

A beautiful young lady just entering society, asked her mother for a watch. Her mother replied, "I think you need a watch more."

Two hard things. First to talk of yourself without being vain; second to talk of others without being slander.

We see by our exchanges that the 22nd was kept in many places as a holiday, but we had no 22nd, in Penfield not even in our schools.

NUMBER 8

How Is It?—It's only our opinion, so ladies don't startle! We have come to the conclusion that there has been, for the few past years, more failures and assignments caused by the extravagance of woman, than all other causes combined. It is true that the larger portion of business men succeed, who may have wives that foolishly expend thousands unnecessary every year, but the end is not yet, these foolish mothers have daughters, who are taking their examples, and per chance they may marry men that are not able to support them in the luxuries of life to which they have been brought up. We ask those who hear the sheriff at the hall door, how have you lived? is this caused by extravagance in dress or large suppers, or visiting Saratoga, or the beautiful Niagara, or has it been caused by prudence and industry? It might have been caused by misfortune, very true, but such instances are very few.

There is another class of which we wish to speak, there are hard working mechanic's who would, if they could, lay aside a few dollars for a rainy day. They will pack their meat for winter use, and make everything ready to last until spring, but soon a pedlers cart is seen at his door, and a side of pork is taken from the barrel, and a roll of butter from the firkin, and traded off by a foolish wife for neck neck unbeknown to the hard working husband, and before Spring he is obliged to go to market for all kinds of articles to live on until Spring opens. Our word to one and all, is that the head of the house should govern it, whether it be the man or the woman, for in this sly traffic a woman can waste more than a man can earn. Although such things look small they must remember that "little drops of water, makes the mighty ocean," and no family can prosper under this state of things. The head of the house should know of all trades that are made, and then they may know where they are coming out. Many women sell cheese and butter of their own make, with the consent of their husbands, in this we see no harm; we believe in woman's rights, in case that they live to do right.

DIFFERENT OPINIONS.—We consider the sentence of Mrs. Ann Barry for the murder of her infant child, is the hardest one that can be given by a Judge of a Court, and that she shall be placed in confinement all of her natural life. This is for murder in the second degree but for murder of the first degree, the Court would soon end the misery of the murderer, and send them to be judged by their Redeemer a little before our time comes to be judged. We believe in confinement according to the grade of crime, but if it is a sin in the eye of the world, and against our Heavenly Father for one person to commit a murder, it is certainly a sin for twelve men of sound judgment to commit a murder, or be instigators in this horrible branch of the old Connecticut blue laws. It is no more punishment to die by being choked by a rope, than it is to be drowned in a mill pond; but says one, it puts a dread on all evil disposed persons, and our Legislature have decided that none, but such persons shall be present at an execution.

A beautiful young lady just entering society, asked her mother for a watch. Her mother replied, "I think you need a watch more."

Any person that may wish to see specimen copies of the Literary Companion, all that is required is to send a two cent stamp to pay return postage.

THE ROCHESTER UNION.—Says: That another large Dry Good House has recently been started at No. 26 State Street, by Mr. Asher Beir, and we should judge by what the Union says; That Mr. Beir is the "right man in the right place," and country people would do well to call at No. 26 State St.

THE ONTARIO REPOSITORY.—Says: That an old Ex. post master of Gorham hung himself last week. Many people wish that more Post Masters were hung, or new ones put in their places.

THE NEWARK COURIER.—Is one of the best advertising mediums in Wayne Co. and the paper which this Journal gives Messrs Bier & Stern of No. 10 State St. Rochester will do these gentlemen no harm. They have an extensive Dry Good House.

JUST RECEIVED.—A new, large and choice collection of Card Photographs at 126 State St. Also a fine assortment of Rosewood and black Walnut Stereoscopes and plain and colored Photographs. Prices are much reduced and can not fail to draw many customers to 126 State Street. See card elsewhere in this paper.

A GREAT CHANGE.—There is more property both real and personal, changing hands this spring in this town, than has been known in a long time before. Auctions come faster than we can find days for them. Property sells for all that it is worth as a general thing.

THE FIGHT OF POLIGNETNESS.—A gentleman while waiting with a friend one day, accidentally sat his toe against a cow lying near the side walk, whereupon he cursed Polignet and said; pardon me madam I am near sighted.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE.

We do not keep an intelligence office but we should think from the many inquiries made here, that many suppose that we keep a regular intelligence office. Last week we had several calls in one day, to know of small farms for sale. Small village Residences, some wanted servant girls, and others wished to hear of a good place to work. Some wished a private boarding house, and we can not think of the many wants. Would it not be well for all like the above to put a few lines in the Extra and tell people what you want? or what you have to sell, or what you wish to buy, or if you want work, or if you want help. Servant girls or good nurses can be obtained by towns people, on applying at this office.

TWEEDLE DEE AND TWEEDLE DUM.—We understand that a petition is to be presented to the present Congress to allow State Banks and private individuals the same privilege of national banks, that is, if a bank note or a private note has lost a small piece off from the end, the makers of the note shall have the privilege of making just what discount he may deem proper, on that he may repudiate the whole note in case it is soiled or torn.

Jim why is a newspaper office like a State Prison?

Cause, cause, Why am a newspaper office like a State Prison?

Yes! What is the reason? It am like the lower county, cause Satan lives dar.

Very well can you answer my question? No! I put it up last July.

Well it is because they are both a house of correction.

We see by the Cold Water [Mich.] Union Sentinel that Mr. S. P. Noyes intends to erect a three story brick block the coming season. How does the rest of the old Penfield people get along? We do not see the death of Messrs Parsons, Titus, VanAntwerp, Weldons, Birdell, McCrea's, Crippins, Luce, Dorsey, Darling, Kellogg, Shoecrafts, Paddock's, Pierce, or any the rest of our old friends noticed in the Sentinel, but suppose that they are all Subscribers to this sound Johnson Journal.

A youth who much desired to wear the matrimonial yoke, had not sufficient courage to "pop the question." On informing his father of the difficulty he labored under, the old gentleman replied pastorally, "Why you great boy, how do you suppose I managed when I got married?" "Ours," said the bashful lover, "you married mother, but I've got to marry a strange girl."
Peau Van Democrat.

THE GENEVA GAZETTE.—Says: That over 400 Newspapers were suppressed by order of honest old Abe and their Editors thrown into prison for using less hard words against him, than you hear now against our second Jackson.

What do you suppose? President Jackson cares about what few disloyal papers we have now? he could soon put his veto on them if he felt disposed to do so.

JOKE OF ALL JOKES.—The Republican party and press, was always highly pleased with the jokes of old Abe. How do they like the last joke of Andy Johnson?

THE BRIGHTER MORROW.

By C. B. L.

I have listened to a young voice telling
Of care, of sorrow, and of trouble sore;
Have seen the tears from eye-lids fall up-welling,
When speaking of these troubles, still not o'er.

"I have never known a mother's friendship,
Never knew the value of a father's care—
Beneath the sod my kindred long have rested,
Father, mother, brother—all are there.

Long years have pass'd since I became an orphan,
And troubles, too, have hovered o'er my path,
But I am looking for the brighter morrow,
For troubles cannot always last.

Troubles are trifles, which we all encounter—
An hour's pain, a sigh or two, and tears—
And Time soon tells us to forget them,
And look ahead to-fa-ther, brighter years.

A word of scoffing, tho' it wounds our feelings,
Is but a part of what we all receive;
And for the lack of friendship in our kindred
We oft may wonder, but never should we grieve.

The world is wide, and we should bravely battle,
And ever stand prepared to aid the right;
There sure will come to us a brighter morrow,
And brighter sunshine for the dark to-night.

WAIT A LITTLE.—The HANOVER [Pa.] Citizen seems to take coverage over their recent elections. We say wait a little longer, Johnson will take us through the woods.

The Spectator, published at Staunton, Va., says: "There is a child in this place, seven weeks old, which weighs only one pound and a half. When it was born it could be put in a tea-cup, and we have been told that it weighed only half a pound."

State Press.

THE LAST PARDON.—The Sullivan (Ill.) Express says: A barber who happened to cut the Tip of Pres. Johnson, while in the act of shaving said "pardon me Sir" I have cut you a little. Very well replied the President step to my overcoat pocket and hand me a blank and I will fill it out for you.

As we have not given our readers but very little poetry the past few weeks, next week we will give them a splendid Camp Song of forty verses, composed by a prisoner while in one of the rebel death pens.

WEEKLY CASKET.

This Journal stands among the first advertising mediums of the State of N. Y. It is got up with good taste, cards beautifully displayed, and reading matter spicy; subscription price within the reach of all—single copies 75 cents or ten copies to one address free of postage $3.

CHAPTER II.

Near the centre of the village but a little back from its principal streets, directly opposite Squire Irwin's grocery, stood the residence of my worthy father, the home where so many of "childhood's sunny hours" — spoken of in the last chapter—were passed, and a very pretty residence it was. From the frequent addition of an upper room here, a dormer there, and an innovating sky-light elsewhere. The roof of the mansion had gradually assumed an alpine variety of peaks somewhat confusing to behold. Local tradition relates, that on a certain showery occasion, a streak of lightning was seen to descend on that roof, skip vaguely about from one peak to another, and finally sink ignominiously down the water-pipe, as though utterly disgusted with its own inability to determine, where there was so many, which peak it should particularly perforate.

Years afterwards, this strange tale was told me, by a venerable chap of the village, and I might have believed it, had he not outraged the probability of the meteorological phenomena, with a sequel.

"And when that streak came down the pipe," said the aged chap thoughtfully, "it struck a man who was leaning against the house, ran down his legs, into the ground, without hurting him a note."

With the natural ingenuousness of childhood, I closed one eye, and says I—

"Do you mean to tell me old man, that he was struck by lightning, and yet was not hurt?"

"Yes," said the veteran, "It passed off from him, because he was a conductor."

"A conductor!" says I, picking up a stone to throw a passing dog.

"Yes," said he "a conductor—on the N. Y. C. R. R."

The human mind, when long affected with contrary views, tends naturally to the marvelous, and affiliates with the German in normal transcendentalism; and living then as I did, associating with country people, it need not be wondered at, that I grew up—as my mother remarked to a maiden aunt—"a very precocious youth." My mother was a woman of truth, and to corroborate the statement that I was really a "precocious youth," I will give you a little conversation that passed between us, when I was about eight years old. As I have said before, my father was a very pious and devout man, and one morning after family prayers were over and we had risen from our knees, I handed fathers snuff-box to my mother, and says I,

"Car you tell me why snuffing is like praying?"

"Do not make light of religion, my son," said my mother.

"Make light of religion," says I winking at Mollie my pretty cousin, "make light of religion, indeed— I do not intend to throw the bible into the fire." The old lady did not see the point of my juvenile joke, and snatching my little cap from the table, made for the door, only stopping long enough on the threshold to explain that "snuffing was like praying, because it brings a man to his senses!"

"Why is that boy like a shock of wheat?" I heard my father ask, catching the conundrum fever: "Because," said he, as he reached on the mantle piece for a whip, "he needs a good thrashing."

"Or rather," said I, sticking my head in at an open window, "because I'm the main dependence of the family."

That settled the matter at once, and the next moment I was by my mothers side.

Oh, a mother's love, how pure, how holy. How beautiful is that attitude of our common nature, which at my age, makes our thoughts revert to mother at the approach of a great danger. Even the old man on the verge of bankruptcy, has been heard to refer respectfully to his mother, as one who always cheerfully predicted that he would yet come to want because as a child he had refused to eat crust, and the young man at sea, or threatened with matrimony, equally regrets having left his mother's side.

Thus it was, that the threats of a "browning" intimated by my father, in reaching for his 'gad' fell powerless on me, when I noticed with my usual quickness of perception a smile on the old lady's face, as I seated myself by her side. One more of my little puns, and I will proceed to "quater things" in my wicker choquer board life, and I hope I am not wearying the reader, but if I am, lets see you help yourself.

My aunt—a very estimable lady (in her own opinion) was speaking one day of marrying, and allowed that she would "not live alone another year," and asked my mother "who would give away the bride?"

"Give away the bride," said I in astonishment interrupting her, "If you are given away your husband will be the most valuable."

"How so?" said my aunt, intimating by a lemonsish look that I must not "go back on her."

"Because," said I, throwing the cat out of the window, "he will be sold."

I escaped just in time to save my head from coming in contact with a ball of yarn, thrown by the incensed maiden, and locking myself in my room, seized my pen, threw back my collar, ran my fingers through my hair, after the manner of the beard of Aaron, and dashed off the following lines which I sent to auntie, by cousin Mollie, who came to my room just as I had completed it, to "see what time it was."

Respectfully dedicated to AUNT SARA.

The summer's almost gone.

And the winter's coming on.

To think of it, fairly makes me groan;

'Tis someone say the word,

'Tis little matter who.

For I cannot—and I will not live alone!"

Oh! Oh, Oh, the thought is shocking,
Kind friends forgive me if you can;
But before I'll live alone,
I will take my trusty shears,
And cut me out a little paper man.

THE DEMOCRATIC ERA.—Published at Cuba N. Y. (a regular Johnson supporter) says, that an Editor gives it a reason why his home did not blow away in a recent gale. He said that it was loaded with mortgages.

WE HAVE NOTHING TO SAY.—It is reported that a man by the name of Whipple 70 years of age in the town of Riga in this county was robbed under the threat of death one night last week by three negroes or painted men, of $26,000 in Bonds Treasurer notes &c. Now we think this a very large amount for a man of his age to have stored away, while we have so many needy women and children in this country. Some times we think that there is a judgment put upon some men.

THE ILLUSTRATED PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL FOR MARCH.—Contains Cornelius Vanderbilt, Hon. Ezra Cornell, Prof. Mages, Frederika Bremer, Lavater, Las Casas, Sir John Franklin, Capt. Cook, Revs. John Wesley and Jonathan Edwards—Talent and Genius—Extraordinary Prediction—Ghosts—Origin of Coal—Varieties of Sheep—Iron, its uses;—Putting on a Bad Face;—Tribulation Trepid, and Mr. Hopeful—The Jew;—Love and Lovers, the Philosophy of Engagements; an Excellent Number, only 20 cents, or $2.00 a year. Address FOWLER & WELLS, 389 Broadway, New York.

THE COST OF COAL.—The Scranton Register says that coal in the bed is worth twenty-five cents per ton. It costs eighty cents to mine it, and eighty cents more to prepare it for market—a total of one dollar and eighty five cents. All that is charged above that is for transportation and profit. The coal merchants must have a good margin to go upon.

For the Penfield "Extra." MEMORY OF THE PAST.

BY ED. KENNEDY.

Could I arrest the flight of time,
Revive the years of yore,
I would not ask one sorrow less,
Or know one joy the more.

My days and years have silent been,
For all that I have sung;
Some of my rhymes have drop'd from me
Some sad hath sorrow wrung.

I would recall my early dreams,
But they are sad to me;
It is not what I might have been,
But what I yet may be.

That thought alone avails me now,
And all regrets are vain;
To him who waits and only him,
The past returns again.

We see by an Extra from the Staten Island Journal that they had a loud call on Sunday morning Feb. 25th by the fire elements. The Publishers loss above insurance is about $1,000, and the paper will be discontinued a few weeks in consequence of the fire. Probably about the middle of April the Journal will appear in a new dress, as one thousand can not injure a good Johnson Journal that has stood elements worse than fire the past four years.

ELECTED TICKET.—The following ticket contains the names of Officers elected at our town meeting this spring in which it will be seen that our pressman Wm. F. Church is elected to the office of Justice of the Peace for the next four years.—Mr. C— was the people's man for collector, but a certain few in order to get him off the track gave him the nomination of Justice. This is like the girl who married a man to get rid of him. Mr. C— did not seek this office, but we predict that he will make a first class magistrate after he qualifies himself for the responsibilities of the office.

- For Supervisor, Orestes Case.
- For Town Clerk, John S. Rich.
- For Justice of the Peace, William F. Church.
- For Assessors, Deussen W. W. W.
- For Com. of Highway, Harvey Whalen.
- For Overseer of the Poor, Benjamin Howe.
- For Collector, Stephen O. Moore.
- For Constables, Charles J. Grippen.
- Nathan S. Perkins, Benjamin W. Iabor.
- For Inspectors of Election, George Lamb, Franklin Adams, Aaron Lippingott, Abner N. Brown,

PREMATURE OF COURSE.—But we will suppose that we are living in the year about 1810 and we see a notice in some news Journal, like this. Exhibition at the Hall in—Five or six Negroes will be Exhibited &c. being one of the great curiosities of the day &c. under the management of a second Barnum of course. This will undoubtedly be the case, and many of the present day will live to see a Negro more of a curiosity than an Indian is at the present time. Our recent war has placed the mark of Cain upon the whole race, not only in this country but in all other civilized countries upon the face of the Globe.

Every Nation, and even every child in America now understands the whole cause of our recent war, those who were a long time in the dark, now see more clearly. It is now as plain as making sugar out of the sap of a maple tree. The sap is gathered and boiled down to sugar. And the cause of our war has had all kinds of names but it has now boiled down to the Negro, this no one can dispute. At the present time we have no debatable subject in America like that of the Negro, but taxation, and the stamp act will be the next thing in order. Soldiers claims and claims for the destruction of individual property will soon come along and as these taxes bear down on the people, they will become more infuriated against the Negro, and they will soon in mass, wish for their extermination to get them out of sight, and if they should take all criminal restrictions from our brave boys who have suffered such hardships from the beginning to the end of the war, they would now shoot them down as they would black squirrels in the forest. And at the present time, very few Negro children are suffered to live in the Southern States as the mothers are not able to support them selves, and desert their children and leave them to die as soon as they are born, they have no wealthy planters to care for them now, and wives are left by their husbands, who are being shipped off to other countries to get employment, by what is called the "Freedmen's Venture".

We think this a cruel act, to drag all of the sound Negroes away from their families and leave them to perish, but this will cause their extermination faster than all other acts combined has done before, and we give it as our opinion that we shall see but few Negroes in forty or fifty years in the country.

UNEXPECTED DOLLAR.—We have received a dollar from H. R. Holsinger, publisher and proprietor of the Christian Family Companion for a gratis notice which we gave that paper some weeks since. The Companion is a weekly paper, purely religious in character, published at the low price of $1.00 a year at Tyrone City, Pa. Specimen copies sent to any address on receipt of stamp to prepay postage.

NOT AS IT SHOULD BE.—James Harris was the people's choice for Supervisor in this town and he could have been elected by a very large majority on an independent ticket, but he never can be induced to accommodate his best and strongest friends. We fear he will lose public favor in this way. If his tried and true friends wish to use his name, he should not object, and we hope he will soon see that this party corruption is about played out. It is, beyond a doubt, the best man for the best office in town.

BALLOU'S FOR APRIL.

This interesting work from the publishing house of Elliott, Thomas and Talbot of Boston is out early, and is now ready for sale at all Periodical Depots, single numbers only 15 cents, and single copies $1.50 lowest club price $1.25 which amount can be handed to your Local Editor. The April number has a great variety of original articles, and interesting Illustrations, and it will say any literary person well to get it, and read for themselves.

Number Nine of the New York Weekly MAGAZINE.

Is before us, and we find by the numbers now on hand, that we shall have a very large volume at the close of the year, one that will contain over 5000 two column pages of the best literature from the pens of the most celebrated American Writers. Please see card elsewhere in this paper.

Results of Election in this town, the entire republican ticket is elected except one constable who is claimed by both parties and was on both tickets. Last year we elected our Poor Master and Town Clerk, and could have done so this year, if we could have had fair play, but our ticket was drawn up and presented by one man, and adopted at caucus by a light vote, which caused dissatisfaction among our little band of Brothers and matters worked from bad to worse, until all hope was lost of even electing one candidate on the ticket.

Our pressman was a candidate on the Republican ticket, also a printing committee of that ticket, and simply because he would not break his trust and denace his own party ticket, the democrat printing committee decided that we should not print their regular tickets and took them to Rochester and got them struck at a late hour of the night. This of course gave us the privilege of running our press on split, which was the cause of some few deluded candidates.

There are several of both parties who regret that our Poor Master was defeated, as he has been one of the best for the town, and we have had for many years. The great trouble was, he was elected as a democrat by the democrat party, and then afterwards tried to please men of no influence on the other party to the disadvantage of members of his own party. This and bad management of the printing committee is all that demotes him, notwithstanding we have heard that some of the would-be head democrats were brought up as usual.

The falsehoods that was put in circulation by the printing committee, in regard to our not printing the democrat tickets, after the truth was ascertained, worked away against our democratic candidates.

The truth was, we and the democratic ticket had begun to set it, and because our pressman would not mutilate his own ticket, and print a split, they concluded not to do so, they regular ticket, there are the facts of the case, and but very few people will now name our pressman. We continue to run.

Mr. Kennedy of Forties Monroe, Va., will please acknowledge as a gift, and to this paper.

POLITICAL INFLUENCE.—When you speak about political influence, you generally overshoot the mark. It is plainly seen by our recent town meeting, that John Jordan carried more votes than any other democrat in the party, and yet John is left out in the wet. When any delegates are wanted, or any committee appointed to transact party business, John, although a boy, is good for 40 or 50 votes; where is your man worth his thousands in this town, that has half the influence "except him"? He never works on both sides—you always know where to find him.

CHANGABLE WEATHER.—We informed our readers that our boys were playing ball and pitching quoits in our streets on the 2nd inst, the ground being quite dry and weather warm, and on the 8th day of march the snow is deeper than it has been before this season.

March 9th, the snow kept falling, but being so late in the season, we do not expect sleighing out of any depth of snow.

The golden rule for a young lady, is to converse always with a female friends, as if a gent man were of the party; and with young men, as if your female companions were present.

NUMBER 10

To Clement C. Clay, of Fortress Monroe.

The following lines are respectfully and appropriately dedicated to C. C. Clay, so long a prisoner of war at Fortress Monroe.

By ED. KENNEDY.

Clay thou art by name and nature,
But dust thou soon shalt be—
As a ransom for your treason,
You shall hang upon the tree.

Your death shall be untimely,
For your days are now but few;
So rest your mind and conscience,
No man will rescue you.

And your name shall be a scorn,
Unto your dearest friend,
While thinking of your efforts,
The Union for to rend.

And the rising generations,
For centuries to come,
Will curse the rebel leaders,
And bless the Union one.

They will cherish and preserve it,
For liberty and peace;
And the precious lives it cost them,
The rebels for to fleece.

And they bless the day that Johnson
Our President became,
To complete the work that Lincoln
Has appended to his name.

A GOLD PEN FOR ALL.—We are in the receipt of two splendid gold pens from the Agency Establishment of Woollever and Baldwin, Arkiport, N. Y.

We have been acquainted with the business transactions of Mr. Baldwin for a number of years, and have had much deal with him in the line of his vocation and always found him very prompt in his dealing.

He has for many years been agent for several large Firms of Eastern cities, and would furnish goods of any kind, at prices of the lowest Eastern market. He has now associated his business with another gentleman and are now doing business under the name of the Firm, and have taken the agency of a large Jewelry manufacturing Establishment and are now offering articles of all kinds at one dollar each without regard to value. One dollar may get you a splendid Gold Watch or a Silver tea set.

At all events it will only cost you 25 cents to see what you can draw, and only a "three cent stamp" to get a catalogue of all of the articles to be sold at $1.00 each, and the value of each article.

See card of Woollever and Baldwin elsewhere in this paper.

FISH HOUSE.—In Canada the past winter the fisherman have built small houses on the ice, in order to catch fish. Some Journalists say to spear fish, but a spear is not used in this kind of fishing. The house is made perfectly dark so that by looking down through a hole cut through the ice, fish can be seen at a great depth in the water, and a live fish or a bright decoy fish is sunk to the bottom fastened by a string to an anchor in order to decoy other fish under the hole in the ice.

When the fish get in the right position, an instrument is used similar to an iron rake, except the teeth are very sharp, and turned up towards the handle this instrument is sunk to the bottom and held by the handle until a fish gets over the teeth, which is then jerked upwards and the poor fish finds himself fast upon the sharp teeth, and is drawn up through the hole in the ice without scaring any other fish that may be near. We understand that dark boats are made in a singular way, with a hole in the bottom, and fish are caught by wagon loads.

ES.—Twenty-four unhappy married couples have just been separated by the Windsor Vt. Country Court. That county should be set off to the state of Indiana.

NOT A HOUSE LEFT.—Through the change of property in town this spring, there seems to be very few houses to rent, and some of our poor families will be obliged to seek a country residence. Rents have not advanced in price but a very little.

ES.—The recent murder at Rochester has caused quite an excitement; but the murderer alone, is probably the only one that could tell who committed the crime, but Mr. Orton's friends are strong in the belief that Paddock could tell very near who the murderer was.

WELL SAID, HUR.—We have not had such a muddy time in many days the last snow has gradually melted and got nicely mixed in the ground and our streets resemble a mortar bed.

"Nobody ever lost any thing by love," said a sage looking person.

"That is not true," said a young lady who heard the remark, "for I once lost three nights sleep."

A CLOUD IN THE EAST.—The Fenian movements begin to agitate the world, and we predict that the rebellion is not ended, our recent war has set all Nations at work, and it is hard to tell where the trouble will stop. If Canada through Fenianism becomes lost to the English Government, then it would not be strange if we should have a brush with England and France, and in that case we fear that the north and the south would not be a suit. It is very true we have conquered the rebels, but we have seen these lines somewhere.

and we fear that this is the case with the rebels. They may be submissive while we have them bound hand and foot, but how will it be, when they become strong again? or see a good opportunity to take the advantage of northern abolitionists. To-day, the northern men with southern principals, united with southern men is such the strongest party, and this party, (whatever you may call them) stands firm for the good old Union, but should the Negro agitating party ever join some foreign power we might have another hard contest, this is all that we fear, if President Johnson can do as he would, and have no party to oppose him, then our country is safe.

LAMP AND OIL STORE.—W. Summerhays, the well known dealer in lamps, oil, &c., has taken the new store, 31 Front-st., opposite Exchange Place, and removed thither. He opens his new and eligible store with a large and excellent stock of goods in his line, such as kerosene lamps of every style, lamps, shades, chimneys, and findings of all kinds. He also deals in oils at wholesale and retail, selling all goods at their lowest rates. He has patent saffy oil cans, a new article, and very good thing. Glass ware, such as tumbler and goblets, is also sold by Mr. S. He intends to do a lively trade, satisfying all customers, and invite those who wants such goods to call.—Rochester Union.

IT WAS ONLY A PICTURE.—A gentleman was seen the other day in front of 114 State St. Rochester talking to a supposed friend and received no answer; and on close investigation he found that he was talking to his friends picture, taken by Prof. Roberts, and being so perfect in every particular he actually supposed that he had met his friend.

We understand that it is the general impression of all who have pictures taken at this establishment that they can not be beat in the country. Mr. Roberts takes pictures for numerous Showman because he does his work so very cheap and the best that they can get in any part of a country. See card elsewhere. The best pictures only $1.50 per dozen at 114 State St. Rochester.

The Life and Adventures of
A BASHFUL YOUNG MAN,
AS RELATED BY HIMSELF.

BY WILL.

CHAPTER III. MORE MISFORTUNES.

Between the interesting ages of ten and eighteen, I went to school at the village Academy, working through the English Branches and the academe, with a lively preponderance of birch in the former, and occasional classiness in the latter. Those were my happiest days, and as I look back to them now, all my flippancy leaves me, and I forget that I am nothing but a poor scribe.

Oh, those happy days—those short and unreal days—only long, in being long past. It was just after the eternal Bonus bona bonum, of the master, had ceased to ring in my ears, that I commenced to be a young man. I knew I was commencing to be a young man, for it was then that I began to regard the young unmarried ladies of my acquaintance, with sheepish bashfulness, and stumble awkwardly when I entered my father's pew in church. Then it was that the sound of a young female giggle threw me into a cold perspiration, and a looking glass deluded me into gesticulating in solitude before it, and extemporizing the speeches I was to make when called upon to justify my fame before the admiring populace.

Reader, do remember the assinine time in your your life? I know you do, for I can feel your blush on my own cheek. Among the many girls who looked upon me with fervor, there was one Mary, whom I really loved I think, for in her presence a feeling of inferiority, in spite of all I could do, would steal over me, causing a sensation—a conviction that I was in the presence of one far my superior, whose graces and virtues while they dazzle the soul, filled my heart with a pure and holy veneration. Like thousands of other beautiful, accomplished and talented young ladies. However, when I asked her "to be mine," she could "see it through those lamps;" and while I was buoying myself up with the blissful delusion, that may be her "no" meant "yes." I was thunder struck one day to learn that she had eloped with an illiterate and itinerate SHOWMAN. Oh ye Gods and thunder bolts was it I down like a thousand of bricks, at every man, who followed that business, from Agents to clowns; they are all alike in my estimation, a vagabond set of heartless villains; and when, one unlucky day, a circus visited our quiet little village, I was bound to have revenge on the destroyers of my happiness, and struck the first fellow who looked as if he might belong to the party. In an instant I heard the strange words,

"Ha, Hube," "Rally men!" "Knock him down!" quickly followed by another cry of "Stag his ribs!" and before I had time to exercise my Yankee faculty of "guessing" at their probable meaning, my left eye, (to quote from a newspaper report of the last Railroad accident at Jordan) "colided" with somebody's right fist, and stars innumerable appeared on the sky of my increased imagination.

When I went home at night, my father and mother looked at me in great astonishment, and cousin Mollie, in great simplicity asked:

"Why, Will, who's dead?"

"Who's dead?" I repented in vain trying to imagine what they were driving at. "No one as I know of, why do you ask?"

"Because," said she, and I thought I could discern a twinkle in her bright eyes, "Because I see your eyes are dressed in mourning!"

As I bathed theaching ocular organ in cold water, I consoled myself with the thought that it was all for Jerry, my loved but lost Mary, and suffered in silence. Never, never, can I forget that first love, although I have imagined since that, like a great many other youngsters, that I have loved half a dozen other girls. It is only a delusion, and a second attachment is a poor imitation. Say what you will of second love, my dear reader, in the heart of him who is truly a man, it is but an imperium et imperio—"a flower on the grave of the first. About this time, a lady whom very few in the village had the pleasure of an acquaintance, come in town, hired a pretty little cottage and in a short time was joined by a young and pretty girl, of about (judging from appearance) sixteen or eighteen years of age.

Believing with Shakespeare that "a cure for love, is LOVE," as soon as I heard of her arrival, I resolved to see the paragon of beauty, (for already rumor said that she was very, very pretty) win and marry her. No opportunity, however presented itself to catch even a glimpse of Miss Montley—that was the name she was known by—, until one Sunday after meeting, when the rain was falling in perfect torrents. As she was without an umbrella, and I was so fortunate as to have one, I offered to see her home. My invitation was accepted, and as I walked along by her side, I tried to forget Mary, and for the moment so far succeeded, that by the time we arrived at her door, and she with a winning smile, invited me in; I accepted the invitation with thanks, and followed her into a cozy little parlor, vowing to myself that was as pretty, and equal in every respect to a dozen Marys.

She was a beauty, and would that this quill of mine could give my readers any idea of her perfectly Heavenly beauty, cast in that, the lactic mould of loveliness, so seldom seen except in dreams. Her eyes, the color of heaven's azure arch, her hair, dark and glossy as the raven's wing, hung in beautiful clusters about her ababaster, or plaster of Paris shoulders. In truth she was a peerless creature, and as she sat by my side, rapt in meditation, "and an open work crape shawl," I gently took her delicate white hand, and was in the act of showing to her my devotion and new-born love, by pressing it to my lips, when a voice behind startled us both by crying:

"I'll teach you to make love to my wife—take that," and sniting the action to the word, in a twinkling my head came in contact with a carved corner of Mrs. Montley's piano, and preformed, what might appropriately be termed a horizontal peripunctual polka, keeping time alternately with my head, elbows, and knees, onto the floor, piano and stove.

Again, I was under the painful necessity, of "going home in mourning," but unlike my first trial, there was a death; yes, gentle reader, my bashfulness was dead, and I know it, for I attended the funeral with only A. S.—a little, modesty for the mourner! As I kept my room for a week, out of respect for my eyes and face, I often found myself humming over that popular song:

"No use to mourn!"
None to carcut!
and when I had regained the use of my good right hand, I scribbled off the following lines, and handed them to the editor of the "Weekly Hunkie Dory, for publication."

LOVE.

We're taught to love from childhood's years,
'Twas stamped upon my mind;
My earliest article of faith
Was love for human kind.
To love my neighbor as myself
Is christian like they say,
And if I love my neighbors wife,
How can I help it pray?

The "golden rule." I strive to heed,
Wherever I may be,
And do to others as I would,
That they should do to me.
So one day, I thought 'twere well,
If I this precept tried—
And filled with generous thoughts, I asked,
My neighbors wife to ride!

But ah! th's kind and simple act,
Gave rise to slander high;
A host of furious tongues assailed,
My neighbors wife and I.
We're taught to share with liberal heart,
The blessings that we prize,
To smile with others when they smile,
And dry the mourner's eyes.

And when one day, I chanced to find
My neighbors wife in tears,
I whispered words of sympathy,
Within her list'ning ears.
I drew her trembling form to mine,
And kissed her tears away—
The act was seen, and then there was,
The very devil to pay.

Alas, Alas! 'tis passing strange.
I'm sure I can't see through it,
I'm told to love with all my heart,
Then blamed because I do it.
The precept that I learned in youth,
Will cling to me through life,
I try to love my neighbor, and,
I'm sure I love his wife.

After he had perused that gushing poem, I asked him "how he liked that as a poetical effusion?"

"Excuse me," says he, "but I was not aware that it was poetry!"

"Well, how do you like it, as it is?" I asked having a great desire to know what he did think of it.

"Why," said he pleasantly, "it is better than an average—a very choice production, in fact, it is first rate, "excepting the six first stanzas!"

"Thus is genius condemned to suffer, and methinks I hear you all say, 'let her suffer.'"
[CONCLUDED.]

[From the Palmer Mass Journal.]

TRIP LIGHTLY.

Trip lightly over trouble,
Trip lightly over wrong,
We only make grief double,
By dwelling on it long.
Why chafe woe's hand so tightly?
Why sigh o'er blossoms dead?
Why dling to forms unsightly?
Why not seek joy instead!

Trip lightly over sorrow,
Though grief be dark,
The sun may shine to morrow,
And gaily sing the lark;
Fair has not departed,
Though roses may have fled,
Then never be down hearted,
But look for joy instead.

Trip lightly over sadness,
Stand not to rail at doom,
We've pearls to string of gladness,
On this side of the tomb.
Whilst stars are brightly shining,
And heaven is over head,
Encourage not repining,
But look for joy instead.

NOTICE.—We will never advertise a humbug if we know or believe it to be such, and if we should find out that we had done so, we would most assuredly expose it afterwards. The two cards of "agents wanted," by J. G. Phillis, we have investigated, for the reason the articles did not look consistent. One is to send "a young printing office," post paid for $2. Two dollars would not pay postage on what he offers to send. He offers to send a full apparatus for taking pictures for $1, post paid, which must be a light concern. McCrayman's Monthly (the exposor of all frauds) is after Mr. Phillis.

GOLD PENS.—N. H. Ivins of Middleburg Elkhart Co. Ind. offers to send to any address a superb Gold Pen for $1.00. If we get one we will give our opinion of it.

We are in the receipt of one number of the New York Mirror, devoted to Commercial and Mechanical industry. It is a first rate Journal for every Merchant in America. If we get it as a regular ex, we shall give it a proper card.

"Vegetable pills!" exclaimed an old lady; "don't talk to me off such stuff. The best vegetable pill ever made is an apple dumpling; for destroying a gnawing in the stomach there's nothing like it; it can always be relied on."

THE SORRY LASS.

These lines were probably written for a joke and not calculated for the press, they were left at this office by the finder, and the owner can have them by paying charges.

I went to church the other night,
As every body knows;
And I thought I heard the young folks say,
She has come to see the beaux.

But be it so, or be it not,
I think I'll go once more—
To see the boys when church is out,
All crowding 'round the door.

There's one for Lib, and one for Mate,
And one for Emma Cone;
But as for me poor infantine,
Must paddle home alone.

I look as well as Ester A—
And ware a waterfall!
But upon my word, can't get a beau,
That's either short or tall.

I thought my chances very good,
When the doctor had his nigger—
I walked more straight, with head erect,
And thought myself much bigger.

But soon the darky he slid out,
In the darkness of the night;
There's no beau for me, you plainly see,
That's either black or white.

LAURA.

REPAIR.—This is the time to begin to fix your summer wardrobe. Look and see how many old soiled garments, that you wish mended and colored for summer ware. Take them all to the old responsible dyeing establishment of D. Leary, and have them made as nice as new. See card elsewhere in this paper.

A dutchman carried two mugs to the millman in place of one, as usual, and being asked the meaning of it, replied: "Disvor te millich, an' dis vor te valor, an' I vill mix to zoote myself."

We see that Congress are trying to get the tax reduced on whiskey to $1.00 per gallon. This will be a good idea for those who are not able to 'swill' the poison at the present prices. The tax should be ten dollars instead of two, after which, make it a free retail trade, and this would make it an unpopular business, and all white men would quit the trade, and we would soon have a good main law.

WE CAN NOT BELIEVE IT.—It is reported that a man down east, was fined recently for pulling a child's tooth with a string, because he had not taken out a dentists license.

The Frankfort (Ky.) Commonwealth says: Money is so scarce in south Carolina and Georgia, that cities and corporations are obliged to issue small bills. These States must of course be out of the Union, as it is against the laws of the United States for corporations to issue small bills.

TO ADVERTISERS.—We will act as Advertising Agents for any Party or Firm, on the most reasonable terms. We have the names of nearly 5000 Journals on our books, published in all parts of the United States, Canada, &c. and can get their lowest terms for Advertising without cost of postage or envelopes. Thus it will be soon that we have the advantage of most advertising agents except Publishers. We can not act as Agents unless we have the pay which we offer at least one quarter in advance, for which we can give ample surety if required. We can get Advertising done much cheaper by paying in advance, and so can any other Advertising Agents.

The best way to get advertising done is to allow all publishers to insert at their own discretion for a certain amount of money, or any article which they will agree to take as payment. See Woolver and Baldwins card in this paper. The poster does not say in all newspapers, promptly they only intend to make their selections of Journals in different States, but should they intend to offer to all Publishers we will make the correction soon.

All Advertising Agents require the paper sent containing Advertisement, which is a loss of postage as well as papers.

A publisher acting as Agent will not be required to pay postage, and we can see no good reason why Agents should require a paper regular containing advertisement. The publisher could better afford to send a "marked copy" once in 5 or 6 weeks, and pay postage by stamp, than to send their Journal regular. Every time that a card is changed, or an editorial is inserted, it might be well to send a copy to the Advertising Agent. Some might contend that unless the paper is sent regular, the advertisement would not be sent regular, this is an error, as a card in most country Journals sends much longer than they are paid for as it is much easier to let them remain, than it is to fill the vacuum with new matter. We should want no better evidence of the fulfilment of a contract by any Journal, than to see one marked number.

WHAT A CHANGE.—Any person to hear the conversation in our town, since the memorial etc., would suppose that they were living in some other part of the country. Every body now begins to talk as did the copperheads in days of yore. The Negro has out lived his friends, and more especially those pretended friends that have worked so hard to carry out their political ends over the shoulders of the colored race. At the election last fall, we almost supposed that the democrats had all gone into their holes and pulled the holes in after them. And we must say, that we are much surprised to hear such a multitude of people advocating the democratic principals, so soon. What has made this great commotion 'tween 'tween our country through the Democratic Administration? Have they lost sight of the poor 'nigger, and 'poor bleeding Kansas? Where is our GREAT National Union Party? They seem to be in about the same dilemma with the Jews. Christ was crucified to atone for the sins of the world—who was crucified for the sin of the Republican Party? Did they not vote for a certain plank in the Chicago Platform? How do they like the hole where they went in, and the hole where they will come out? Did you ever see a swarm of bees that had lost their Queen? They will soon "be gobbled up into a Democratic hive."

The balance of power can always be found in the hands of office seekers, and when they see that they are on the wrong side of the river, you will see them begin to "paddle their canoe." Post Masters are now all Johnson men. And done just right, don't you think so? Glad that you will own it, come along, and we will take you in out of the wet.

"A young man advertised for a wife through the paper, and received answers from eight hundred husbands, saying that he might have theirs.

"Represent me in my portrait," said a romantic young lady to a painter, "with a lion in my hand, reading aloud. Paint my servant also, in a corner where he cannot be seen, but in such a manner that he may hear me when I call him."

CLOTHING.—There seems to be nothing so next to the old price before the war as Woolen Cloths, they are in a general thing about one third higher and yet people are obliged to pay an enormous price for any article of clothing which allows no drugg about one half profit. They will now charge $10. for a pair of pants made out of $2. cloth, it will take two yards and a half, on an average to make them, which is $2. at retail $1.25 will cut and make them, and you can get them. Total $2.25, thus it will be seen that any person can get a pair of $10. pants for $7.25 by purchasing his own cloth and get them made to order. And he is 2.5 worth saving? We have measured the price of cloth, and of pants made from the same.

A TAILOR.

P. S. Cutting and making done in a shaded as in days of yore.

The last too on your foot is the V too.

How many nails does it take to complete the human frame?

How many miles would a cat require to scratch your eyes out?

The Penfield Extra.

PENFIELD, MARCH 26th, 1866.

In HOPE'S case, we must agree with many of our exchanges, who says that the merchant who advances his business is bound to succeed, while others will fail. And this is the case with Mr. Staring of our town, who is now doing more business than all other establishments combined. He keeps every thing to sell, and is willing that people should know it. He has recently marked down his goods in consequence of the great crash in New York Markets, and he is bound to keep pace with the present market prices without paying any regard to cost prices. He is willing that you shall have his goods at what they are actually worth.

Our war is about over, and excitement at an end, and therefore it becomes necessary to turn our attention to other matters. We have a large National debt, and it must be paid, and in order to do it, we must turn our attention to agriculture. Is your Plows, Drags, and Cultivators all ready? If they are not, take them all to Benj. Howes Foundry and have them repaired or cast over into new Plows, and get ready for spring work.

The highest cash price will be paid for old iron, and all new work will be sold on reasonable terms and warranted.

We see by our New York exchanges that all kinds of merchandise has taken a terrible slide downwards. So much so, that it will be ruinous to a large portion of the dry good dealers. Cotton goods are reported down near one hundred per cent, and woosted goods are down about fifty per cent. Many failures must be expected under this state of things both in city and country. There is no kind of merchandise or country produce in the eastern market that will now demand the first cost. The best Merrimac prints are down to one shilling, and Atlantic sheeting is only worth 15 cents.

STAR CITY, NEVADA,

Miss Nellie of the Penfield Extra.
Penfield, N. Y.

I take this opportunity of saying that we highly appreciate your spy little sheet, and would ask you if you know of any other good little Johnson paper in York State at about $1 a year?

We would say in reply to the above that we consider the Bloomfield Mirror the best Democratic paper published in this State for the price. Published by S. B. Champion, at Bloomville, N. Y., for $1 a year.

But very few people would think that there is as much difference as there is, between the formation of a frog and a toad, when they resemble each other so near in form. The egg of the toad is laid in the sand and hatched by the heat of the sun, and becomes a toad as soon as it is hatched, while the egg of a frog is laid in the water, in the same way that flies lay their eggs in meat. The maggot and pollwig have life from the time the eggs are laid, and undergo the same transformation to become flies and frogs.

FOUR MOXON, VIA, March 19th, 1866.
What the Saviors think of the veto bill.

The veto bill has caused an astounding sensation among the soldiers at the Fort, it has appeared and alloyed the corroding strings of the radical fire eaters fangs, and socially and politically harmonized and alleviated the white race of the American Continent, according to the standard basis of the Constitution, a degree superior to the sable African, the hereditary constituted slaves of America, that has been servants in bondage to the white race since their creation, and in which circumstances the present generation of that specie of humanity would prefer being. Particularly the aged and helpless portion of them, that are not physically able to perform the arduous pursuits of labor for a livelihood. They were the slaves that regrets freedom, they sorely and afflictively feel through the effects of their destination, the harrassing results of the Emancipation Proclamation, which gave them liberty, pestilence and starvation, such is the obvious condition of the Freed Race. Not only in Virginia but through out every State in the desolate South, and this will be their circumstances until they resume their former capacity, as humble and obedient servants, under the supervision and care of a kind and indulgent master, such as their masters were to them when slaves. Their recent masters now have more sympathy and generosity for them, than the radical Faction, that worshipped them as the heathens do their idols. That party that is now so flagrant to subvert the Legal and Constitutional Laws of our Government from its foundation, gave them liberty poverty and dire calamity, as their inheritant emolument for freedom. And now they are prowling at will over the Sunny South, like the lost children of Israel over the happy Land of Canaan. They are on a roving commission of murder and plunder upon quiet and helpless citizens. Such is the unexaggerated cruelties and lawlessness of that shiftless and worthless race, called the freed men. It is to be hoped that Mr. Johnson will not allow them to vote and make laws for the white people that they might ruin Fred Douglas as his competitor for President on the next election. ED. KENNEDY.

GREAT INVENTION.—The paper collar was only patented about one year ago, and now it is quite surprising to see the quantities that are sold by Occumpough, Main St. Bridge Rochester. They are sold by the dozen, hundred, thousand, or wagon load. Mr. O—, keeps the only reliable store of Gentleman's furnishing goods in this County. Everything in his line are sold at prices that will defy competition.

VALUABLE PRESENT.—We understand that the friends of Ex. Supervisor Harris of this town [without distinction of party] "as a token of their appreciation for his services the past few years," presented him with a set of silver ware on last Wednesday evening valued at about $75. This is what we call a move in the right direction. Mr. Harris has labored hard for the welfare of the people of our town and we are glad that his services has been appreciated. As we have previously stated he was the peoples choice for supervisor this year but he could not control the radical caucus votes, and would not consent to run as a peoples candidate.

THUNDER IN THE WINTER.—Last Tuesday night we had a hard thunder shower in this town, the lightning flashed, and thunder rolled as in mid summer, and the rain came down in good earnest for a short time. The 22d and 23d the weather yet cold ground froze solid and covered lightly with snow.

The New York Weekly MAGAZINE.

Never since the days of early literature, has a work reached such a popularity in so short a space of time. The splendid new novel "No Mercy or Kestrels" and Falcaus continued. Fifty two weekly Magazines for the low price of $4.00. Single numbers sold at 10 cents by all news dealers. Or they may be had of the publisher—Address

O. H. Bailey, & Co.
No. 7 Beekman St. N. Y.

Our Young Folks for April.

It is much to late in the era of literature to think that we, in one humble way can enlighten the reader of Messrs Ticknor and Fields on their literary productions, Their various works on the science of good and interesting literature must be seen and read to be appreciated. Their Illustrated Magazine for Boys and Girls is the climax of all juvenile reading, and their new weekly Magazine entitled Every Saturday is now gaining rapidly on their former publications, and is destined to be one of the first publications in America.

It is only $5. a year for 52 large size magazines, or 10 cents for single numbers. Our Young Folks is only $1.50 a year in clubs, or 20 cents for single numbers. Address TICKNOR & FIELDS. Boston Mass.

The Spring Number of Godey's Lady's Book.

This Excelsior work for april is now before us with all its splendor and usefulness combined. It would be an impossibility for us to give the reader any idea of the real worth of this highly illustrated Magazine. We can only inform you that it is now ready for delivery at all Periodical Depots, at the low price of 25 cents per number, and by obtaining one number you can better imagine why it is impossible for us to describe all of the excellent qualities of this unrivaled work. The lowest club terms are $2.50 which amount you can hand your local Editor, and he will secure you the full volume, or you can commence with any number.

For a specimen Number, Address [with 25 cents] L. A. GODEY, Cor. of sixth and Chestnut St. Philadelphia.

THE LADY'S FRIEND FOR APRIL.

We are in the receipt of the present number which is now ready at all Periodical Depots. Single numbers only 25 cents and single copies in clubs are only $2.00. This price can be handed to your local Editor who will secure the work for you. We find in the April number, a beautiful steel engraving, a splendid colored Fashion Plate Patterns for Embroidery, Dresses, Book Notices, Receipts Fashions &c. Together with a large variety of useful and interesting reading matter. Specimen copies may be had at 15 cents by addressing, DEACON & PETERSON 319 Walnut St. Philadelphia.

Demorest's Monthly.

The April No. of this popular Magazine comes to us more fresh and inviting than ever. The Music "Beautiful Spring" could not be more appropriate, and is finely illustrated. Then there is a fine engraving of "American Misses;" another of a "Prairie on Fire;" a poem entitled "Genevieve," beautifully illustrated; some excellent stories; the usual choice assortment of Literary matter, including "Talks with Women," by Jennie June, and the popular "Household," "Architecture," etc. There is also a magnificent colored Fashion-plate, profuse Models of Ladies' and Children's Costume, accompanied by a fund of varied and practical information on current Fashion. Altogether it is a splendid number, and we do not wonder that "Demorest" has become indispensable to ladies.

The April number of the Literary Companion will be mailed April 2nd. Send in all the names you can before that date. Five copies one year, and five pictures for the low price of one dollar.

"From the Companion,"

OUR GRANDMOTHER.

By a curly old Bach, no doubt,
Our Grand-mother when about sixteen,
Could card and spin and sew,
Each day would milk, and cook our meals,
And spin two runs of tow.
At the dawn of day, she'd call the boys,
Then take her pails and go,
While the boys would make the fire,
And prepare to reap or sow,
The milk is strained, and breakfast o'er,
The beds are made and dishes clean,
And not a cobweb on the wall,
Or any place is seen,
The wheel's set out, and tow or flax,
Is ready to be spun,
And Granny at her work commenced,
A watching of the sun.
The noon mark is before the wheel,
Which would mark the hour of noon,
At a particular time, the fire made,
And the dinner boiling soon.
The horn was blown, the table set,
And the boys they dishes would come,
Now dinner o'er and dishes clean,
The wheel again doth hum,
No sun mark now, and clocks are scarce,
Two runs doth mark the time,
Then Granny sets the wheel aside,
And prepares again to dine.
Now supper o'er, the milk is skimmed,
And the pans are filled again,
The pigs are fed, and chores are done,
Without causing any pain.
On Monday morn, the wheel aside,
To wash, and Churn, and Bake,
To mend and sew, and gain some time,
A call or two to make.
The above is true, sweet little ducks,
We can prove it by your mothers,
If she's not seen, she's surely heard,
This story told by others,
Girls of old, were free from pains,
They were all strong and healthy,
And this is what has made our country,
Powerful, Strong and Wealthy,
But what a change in fifty years,
We find all girls are sickly,
And if they ever chance to see I,
They are obliged to do it quickly,
For if their beaux, should hear them groan,
With some bad pains, or ills,
They would take their hat, and say good by,
We are afraid of Doctors bills,

Where is happiness always found? In the Dictionary.

A SPECULATION.—Our grocery dealers will soon see a nice speculation in butter and eggs, but it will be out of their pockets. There is probably double the quantity of eggs in the county that was ever known at this season of the year before, and the farmers will soon supply the demand at a much less price. The fact is dealers are now paying to high a price for eggs and butter at this season of the year and those who are the most anxious to buy at the present prices will have a chance to loose the most. If eggs are not about the same price per dozen, that ham is per pound people will not mix them, and will only use them as a luxury. We have quite a large lot of butter in the country, which has been kept because the price was to high, when it gets down to about 20 cents it will be plenty in market.

126 STATE STREET.—This is the place where all of the latest styles of card Photographs are kept. Messrs. Woodward and Rundel, has just received a very large assortment of the most distinguished persons of the world. Every thing in the shape of Picture Frames are made at 126 State St. Rochester. A large variety of Black Walnut, Ovals, and Arch Tops just received. When you have a leisure hour in the City just drop in and see the splendid stocks of goods. No charge is made for showing goods at Woodward and Rundel's.

CHOICE WINES AND LIQUORS.—Mr. Cochrane, at 70 Buffalo street, is doing a large business in the sale of wines and liquors. His stock is very fine and includes those qualities desirable for medical purposes. He has champagne by the basket, which is excellent. The great experience of Mr. C. in that trade enables him to buy and sell the best articles. Rochester Union.

ARE THERE ANY YOUNG FOLKS LEFT.—We see by the sullivan [III] Express that a host of marriage licenses were granted by their County Clerk last February. We pay no license in this state to get married, or need no stamps on marriage certificates, but there might be quite a revenue to the state if all clergies were obliged to take out a license before starting for parts unknown.

Dr. David Jayne, the great Medicine man of Philadelphia died week before last. He was reported to be very wealthy, and that he has made his wealth through printers ink. The past year 2,000,000 Almanacs has cost him $150,000 besides his other advertising. Go ye and do likewise.

LOVE AND MISERY,

—OR—

All is Well that Ends Well.

About the year 1838, there lived on the banks of the Hudson, about two miles up from Poughkeepsie, a well-to-do farmer by the name of Van Ostrand, who had a beautiful daughter of about sixteen years of age, whose name was Charlotte.

Miss Lottie was the only daughter, and in fact the only child of Mr. Van Ostrand, and he did much for her elevation. While at Boarding School she had become acquainted with a man of bad habits, who put on a very good outward appearance while in her presence, but her father seeing an eagle eye over his young daughter, soon found that Charlie Goldsmith—with the character he bore, would not make a very fit match for his much beloved daughter, and consequently rejected him not to visit her again.

Goldsmith having lost his parents when very young, was left in care of an uncle. His father left him about five thousand dollars, which was to be his at the age of 21, except what his uncle should need to give him a finished education; he was always kept at school and by having an indulgent uncle had got to be a fast young man. After Charlie was forbidden the society of Lottie, they managed to write letters and have private meetings at the grove, and Lottie's love had become so much stronger than her good sense, that in an evil hour she promised to marry Charlie unbeknown to her father and leave for parts unknown, as soon as Charlie should become of age and draw his money. He was now over 20, and private preparations were carried on until they were ready to start.

In the summer of 1835, one fine day they managed to meet at the village of Poughkeepsie, and were married just before the arrival of the steam boat "Sandusky," from New York. They took passage for Albany, and from thence took passage on a favorite boat, known by the name of "Red Bird," to people living near Lake Erie Canal on those days. When they arrived at Buffalo, Charlie had about three thousand dollars left, but thought that he had got out of the reach of Mr. Van Ostrand, and would "sow his wild oats" in Buffalo and Niagara before he settled down. At the expiration of six months they found that their total sum was but a trifle over one thousand dollars, and by this time Lottie had found that Charlie would keep late hours, and would talk in his sleep about card playing &c., and his breath became more offensive every day, and she saw that a change must be made.

In the Spring they took the first steam boat up Lake Erie, (known as the "Steam Boat Erie.") They finally located in the woods about seven miles east of La Fayette in the State of Indiana. They bought a lot of land of eighty acres, with probably two acres improvements, and a small log shanty. By this fine they had a yoke of oxen, a cow, and a little blue eyed girl. The first year Goldsmith made some few pretensions of work, but not being brought up to work, he done very little but hunt and fish, while Lottie with her own hands planted and hoed most of the two acres. At the beginning of the second year in the wilderness, there was a little boy added to the family, and at the end of this year the money was all spent, and hard fare began to appear in the rude shanty. The next year the oxen and cow were sold, and the land mortgaged for merchants debts.

In the winter of 1840, the writer of this sketch was traveling from La Fayette to a small place about 15 miles beyond, through a wood cut road, and being very hungry and fatigued called at this hut to get refreshments of some kind, and upon inquiry I found that this woman, Lottie was left alone in the dead of the winter three miles from any neighbor, without a particle of any kind of food in the house, and saw that the woman and children had not clothing sufficient to cover their nakedness and were obliged to use pieces of old quilts for that purpose. I saw a rifle hanging on two wooden hooks, and asked the woman if there was any ammunition for the gun; as good luck would have it, some powder and shot were found, and as I remembered having seen some squirrels near the house soon succeeded in shooting two, after which I took the ax and cut wood to make a good fire, and a comfortable meal was made for four out of the two squirrels. The above story was narrated to me, and I offered to take her and her children out of their perilous condition, and ever care for them. In case that reconciliation was not effected in her fathers house.

Goldsmith had started the day previous to La Fayette with a half bushel of corn, but he was not expected home in three or four days, as he would often leave his wife and children for a week at a time. The lady consented to my proposition, and the next morning I went back to the nearest neighbor and hired an ox team to take them across eight miles to a stage road, paying the driver his own price for services and keeping the secret, which was $6. This was a small place containing only 3 or 4 shops and a log tavern. There was no place to purchase any clothing for either women or children, but we found that a warm meal was highly relished. I was a mechanic, and some what acquainted in Detroit, and concluded best to take my new family directly through in their rags, and trust to advantage that might turn up. On arriving at Detroit we put up at a former boarding House of mine (one of the best Hotel's in Detroit at that time) and being acquainted with the landlady, related to her the above history, and the next day I had reason to be quite proud of my family, for there was a donation at our house that night through the kindness and influence of our landlady. I obtained work and kept my family until the opening of navigation on the Lake, and then took the first boat for Buffalo, and having friends there I managed to reduce expences a little, until the first boat started for Albany.

When left La Fayette, Ind. I had but $60, all told, and after the fare was paid to Albany had but one dollar left, but board was included in the fare. We started on our journey at the rate of 40 miles a day, and when we arrived at Cayuga county I called upon my father for the loan of $25, and in about eight days from that, we took a Steam Boat for Poughkeepsie and put up at the best house, as a matter of course, and I had but little trouble in finding the old farmer Van Ostrand, the house was rather old but clean and neat. Mr. Van Ostrand and lady looked old and care worn. I introduced my business in the following manner.

"Does Mr. Van Ostrand reside here?" I was answered in the affirmative. "I understand that you have no children, and I called to see if you would not adopt a little boy and girl through charity, and keep them as your own?" "Oh, no!" replied the old lady sobbing, "we had a child once, and she was lost."

"Ah! died I suppose."

"We don't know whether she is dead or not poor child—"

"Oh! do not take on so many," said the old man.

"Well, how can I help it, to lose our darling child in such a way?"

"May I ask you in what way you lost your daughter?" said I.

"Oh, yes, we suppose she ran away with some vagabond, as we never heard anything from either since she left."

"The mother of those children that I have in my possession, ran away from this section and got married."

"How curious it is, then these children I have no mother nor father?"

"I cannot say whether their father is living or not, I never saw him, but I understand that he formerly lived in this town."

"Is that so?" replied the old lady, "do you know his name?"

"Yes, I think that his name was Gold—something."

"Gold something—what was his given name?"

"Charles Gold—"

"Not Goldsmith," interrupted the old lady "Yes, madam I believe that is the name."

"Oh! the villain, that is just the chap, that we expect run away with our Lottie," replied the old lady in convulsions.

"It may be the same man, and if so, I have your daughters children and would like to get a good place for them."

"Oh! if we were only sure daddy, how I would like the children. When did they lose their mother?" inquired the old lady.

"I have their mother also in my possession and I want to get a place for her."

"Daddy I am certain sure that this gentleman knows something about our Lottie; go tell us dear good man, all about her," pleaded the old woman, and taking me by the hand said, "do in God's name tell us."

"I do not think that I should care about a child that run away from me in the way that you say your daughter did."

"Oh! merciful heavens! we would forgive her all, if we could only see her dear angel face again."

"Wouldn't you be apt to think about the circumstances, and remind her of them, at some unguarded moment?"

"Never, never!" they both replied in a voice with tears streaming from their eyes.

"Say no more, and from the pledge of honor you have given me, your daughter Lottie, and her two sweet little children shall be restored to you this night, never more to part. And now you had better become calm and reconciled; And if you please I would like some refreshment, and then the old man and I will go down to the village and bring up the folk."

"Where did you find them?" presented the old lady. "Say no more at present, Lottie will have all her life time to tell you."

"Daddy hurry up the team, while I get this gentleman some supper. Oh! poor dear Lottie," she murmured.

In a short time the team was ready, and the old lady too, but I objected to the mode of meeting, and so the old lady stayed at home. My pen cannot describe the meeting between father and daughter, much less that of the daughter and mother. The next morning all parties become more reconciled, and I was preparing to leave in the evening, when I found to my surprise that I must pass through another trying scene, for the old people looked upon me as the foundation of their happiness, and as saving the life of their much beloved and only child, while the affections of Lottie probably had become much stronger than that of a brother, as she had been under my protection about five months, being from the middle of January, to the middle of May, but after promising to call on them as often as I could, and consenting to accept of about $70, which I had expended over and above my time. I left the whole family in tears, and have left them in the same way several times since. Goldsmith has never been heard of since he took his grist to mill.

This we put in type as a true story, or as near so, as the memory of man can retain facts and circumstances for twenty-five years. People in this section will guess with the writer of this narrative, as they have often heard my father tell it before. We see a moral here that should not be kept from the world, and in fact we see several points. Disobedience in the first place, was the cause of much trouble; charity and benevolence, probably saved the life of the disobedient, and forgiveness "made all things lovely."

MERRY'S MUSEUM.
FOR APRIL.

This is the oldest Magazine in America calculated expressly for young folks, and we believe that it now stands unrivaled in this kind of literature. The April number as usual, is filled with splendid stories and poetry, with the usual quantity of beautiful illustrations.

Merry's Museum, and Woodworth's Cabinet is sent to all parts of the United States at the low price of $1.50 a year; and we know of no other work that would be a better present for a young friend. Address MERRY'S MUSEUM, 111 Fulton Street N. Y.

NOTICE TO OUR READERS.—We shall not issue any paper next week, as we wish to make some change in our paper, such a new head &c., and as the political parties have got in such a shape that they hardly know the dividing line, therefore we shall have but very little to say hereafter in regard to politics, and yet we will not declare ourselves as neutral, for fear that some tender hearted reader might take some exception to a heated joke, and cry out, stop my paper. "The cry stop my paper" was the only reason why the word neutral was taken from our head two years ago.

We claim the privilege of expressing our opinion in regard to all matters, but do not claim to publish a political paper.

NOTICE TO THE PRESS.—We can furnish a female compositor through the summer, if she can get a situation near the middle or western divisions of the New York Central R. R. A good place with a good chance for improvement in the art and mystery, would be more desirable than high wages. Address this office.

A VISIT.—We paid Mr. W. Summerhays a visit last Wednesday at his new Mammoth Lamp and Oil store, No. 31 Front Street Rochester.

It is a splendid location and the store is highly inviting to all who may wish any kind of goods in his line. Many of our Penfield people visit this establishment as they are convinced that they can do better than they can at any other establishment of the kind in the county.

SPRING DRY GOODS TRADE.

Preparing for the Spring Business—Enlargement and Extended Facilities.

It is some time since we have made any special mention of the great dry-goods house of Messrs. BURKE, FITZ SIMONS, HOSK & CO; but our readers who have been accustomed to trade at that establishment have known that it has steadily held on its way, obeying and illustrating the law of growth and expansion which governs every well conducted enterprise in this country, and steadily attracting new customers and dispensing everywhere the products of home and foreign manufactures, thereby increasing the comforts of the people, and by the grand inducements which these accomplished salesmen offer—which those who enter their magnificent salerooms always had irresistible inducer to the monthly bills of every pater familias, whose wife or daughters, having "nothing to wear," replenish wardrobe or household goods from that various and superior stock. It is thus that these merchants constantly

"Come home to men's business and business."

There is the compensatory reflection that they sell goods that are worth any man's money, and not only afford comfort to purchasers, but add to the sum of human happiness, by administering to the sense of taste and beauty; and furthermore, they never act upon the idea that but give the full quantity, and something for good will, that all may "cut and come again," out of pure satisfaction with the treatment which they receive.

"In short measure life may perfect be!"

Since our last visit to the establishment of Messrs. B., F. S., H. & Co., 53 Main street, and 3, 5, 7 and 9, North St. Paul street, their already expansive sales-rooms have been enlarged once more, by addition of rooms on the upper floor, for purposes of a jobbing trade, which grows with most gratifying progression. This annexation extends the area for their operations from one outer wall to the other, on both floors—so that any further addition will require a raid upon the territory of some less enterprising neighbor, or the erection of new buildings on the adjacent grounds.

These energetic merchants appear to be provided with "lippyary skin dows," which are said to give their customers of them the faculty of making their way against any human obstacles, however dense the opposing ones.

Or, we may infer, that it is the irresistible emanation of a snavity and courtesy which is never at fault, and which proceeds by a force which is irresistible, but never obtrusive. But our duty is not to moralize, but to state

—The firm of which we speak, are always in the Eastern markets with abundant means to take advantage of any decline; and such was the case when dry goods went down the other day. They bought heavily of the importations for the spring trade, and are now receiving a larger stock than they have ever put in store, and are now prepared to supply the trade in this section with goods freshly imported, upon better terms than can be procured in New York.

The upper floor, with the additions of which we have spoken, is devoted to the jobbing department; and here are to be found immense quantities of cloth, Yankee notions, pedlers goods, tailors' trimmings and other supplies for retail stores. Their stock of spring cloths is particularly heavy and desirable, comprising both American and imported goods, purchased at recent auction sales, where every thing sold in the buyers' favor, and manufacturers submitted to a large sacrifice, going even below the actual cost to make the cloths. Included in this department are the excellent cloths manufactured by Messrs. B. F. S. H. & Co., at their mills here, which are equal to any of the same line to be found anywhere, and are sold more reasonably than even in eastern markets. Clothing merchants and tailors, will find every thing they require in cloths and trimmings in this great stock, and dealers in small wares, known as Yankee notions, can obtain full supplies at figures ensuring them a good profit, at an early date of the market. This line includes Cutlery, Stationary, Toilet articles, men's pocket furniture, and all the knick-knacks of the variety shop. Besides these they have those economic substitutes for the "fine linen," by which the upper crust was formerly distinguished—the paper collars, cuffs; and genuine linen article, with suspenders, hosiery, gloves and all the smaller requirements of a gentleman's outfit. From the amount of all these goods now cramming this spacious magazine of dry goods, we infer that there has been a very unusual draft upon the supplies at the East, and that these sagacious and always successful merchants intend to furnish nearly all the retailers in this section with ample stock for the spring business. It is a fact, that the enterprise which this firm and others here have exhibited, in pursuing the jobbing trade, has attracted to Rochester a large and constantly growing business from the merchants of the country towns; and both parties find their interest in this diversion from the wholesale trade from the distant metropolis in this convenient centre of traffic.

A prayer was made in the pulpit at Meriden, Conn., a few days ago, Says, the Philadelphia Age, exactly like the following, "Not my will, but Thine, O, Lord, be done; but if it be consistent with thy holy pleasure we would that thou speedily telegraph for President Johnson to come up to heaven. We see no harm in this prayer, as probably the minister has just read this passage in the bible, "By their good works ye shall know them." "By their good works ye shall know them."

A bill before congress proposes to make five cent pieces out of old brass buttons, or some such kind of gold. Anything in place of rags.

A NEW PAPER.—We are in the receipt of Vol. 1. and No. 1. of the Eleventh District Monitor Published at Honedale Pa. by F. A. Dony, at $2.00 a year. It is a good democrat sheet, and should be well sustained. Send for a specimen copy.

"Josh, how does a pollwig swim when he loses his tail?" "There is no great loss but some small gain—he always finds his legs before he loses his tail."

A young "swell" in London who dissipated a fortune of $80, 000 a year, now earns $5 a week as a stage driver.

"Jim, if you see five pigeons on a rail and shoot two of them, how many would there be left?" "I guess dat de udder two wud leave pretty soon, if ya deah de gun bang."

A FEW WORDS OF ADVICE TO ALL.—We often hear the remark made that cholera will pay us a visit the coming season. Now, whether it does or not, it is well to be prepared for it, if it should come. One thing we do know, and that is, if we have no cholera, we have plenty of other bowel complaints—Cholera Morbus, Diarrhea, Dysentery, &c., &c., every year. Therefore we would say to everybody, use "Gardner's Vegetable Sugar Coated Home Made Pills"—a sure preventative of either, and to cure them, should you be so unfortunate as to get either, use "Melville's Electric Pain Killer, and Magic Relief;" a few drops has often saved life and may save yours.

No family should be without it in their houses—hardly to be had at once. The above named Remedies are specifics in all bowel complaints.
