Sun.-Mon.-Tues. Review

Screen actors have found themselves in many strange situations during the filming of pictures in Hollywood's history, but no assignment ever was so bizarre as the experience of a group of Chinese atmospheric players in "I Cover the Waterfront."

They were paid to be modern Jonahs only instead of whales, they had to live inside huge sharks.

This fantastic situation, which in reality is not as fantastic as it sounds, according to authorities who for years have been combating the smuggling of Chinese into California, was necessary to fit the story action in the picture based on Max Miller's best-selling book, "I Cover the Waterfront."

Ben Lyon, playing opposite Claudette Colbert, has the role of a reporter who aids federal men in running down a gang of pseudo-fishermen, headed by Ernest Torrence, whose real racket is smuggling Chinese into the United States. After landing hordes of the undesirable aliens under the very noses of the authorities, the mystery finally is solved. The Chinese are inside sharks delivered to a fertilizer factory.

BAND CONCERT FUND DRIVE IS NEAR GOAL

With 88 contributions received up to this week, the Tenth Ward fund for a band concert in Maplewood Park is nearing its goal of $200. Mrs. Charles L. Garner, chairman of the committee, requests that all others wishing to donate communicate with her at 233 Seneca parkway or one of the committee members or by telephone to Glenwood 173. It is the purpose of the committee to have as many Tenth Warders make contributions as may desire, regardless of amount. Various groups of Rochesterians are sponsoring the band concerts and funds collected here will be used for one performance in Maplewood Park.

The 51 new contributions made since the first announcement were given by the following:

MINIATURE YACHT RACES TO BE HELD TUESDAY AFTERNOON AT SENECA PK.

Registration for the Miniature Yacht Races to be held next Tuesday afternoon (July 25) will close Monday night. All boys in the Tenth Ward desiring to enter should get their entry into Schmanke's Brown-bilt Shoe Store, 1480 Dewey avenue, at once, using the blank printed elsewhere on this page.

The scene of the races has been changed from Maplewood Park Lake to Seneca Park Lake, where it has been found more ideal conditions prevail. The program of events, too, has been changed to include races for power boats.

Transportation to Seneca Park will be provided for those boys who desire it. They are asked to report at Dewey and Ridgeway avenue no later than one o'clock Tuesday afternoon, so as to be at the park in ample time for the start of the races at two o'clock.

About 20 boys have already signed up and it is the aim of Mr. Schmanke to bring this number up to about 50. Fifteen prizes have been arranged for including the following: camera, pocket watch, fielder's glove, utility box, alarm clock, table tennis set, beach ball, flashlight, pen knife, ball bat, league ball, candle light, playground ball, scout knife and camp knife.

Free Hots and Drinks

In addition to the prizes, Mr. Schmanke is making preparations to serve all entrants with hots and soft drinks at no charge.

Albert Makin, Tenth Warder and John Marshall coach, will be the starter for all events. Mr. Makin has had considerable experience in the miniature yacht events, having officiated at a number of the sailing contests conducted by the public schools. Judges will be Matt Barry, George Rogers and Burton C. Wallace.

The program is divided into three divisions, as follows:

Democratic Women Plan For Outing, August 29

Democratic Women of the Tenth Ward are beginning plans for their annual outing, which is to be held at Ontario Beach Park on August 29. Mrs. Louise Robinson has been appointed general chairman and Mrs. Caroline Moran will be in charge of tables. Other committee appointments will be announced later.

The Parcel Post booth run by the local women at the recent Democratic garden party was again the most successful, financially, of any of the booths. The ladies express their appreciation to Tenth Ward business men who made donations.

Division I—Class A—Yachts, 18 to 24 inches in length. Class B—Yachts, 24 to 30 inches in length. Class C—Yachts, 30 to 36 inches in length.

Division II—Power Boats (electric and steam) Class A—Boats up to 30 inches in length. Class B—Boats over 30 inches in length.

Division III—Free for all. Open to all yachts that did not place in Division I.

This program of miniature yacht races is sponsored by Schmanke's for all boys of the ward. There is no charge to enter and any boy with a yacht who registers by Monday night will be eligible. Fill out the entry blank and take it to the store at 1480 Dewey avenue as soon as possible.

KASHMIR VALE FULL OF CHARM
Srinagar Is a Lovely Place for a Vacation.

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WND Service.

AS WARM weather approaches, the Vale of Kashmir, one of the famous garden spots of the world, beckons to the vacationists of India. Its wooded hillsides don a new green which is reflected in the clear, blue, placid streams of the valley; and houseboats are put in order for a busy season.

The Vale of Kashmir lies among the lower Himalayas, north of the Indian Punjab. One reaches Srinagar, the summer capital of the native state known as the domain of the Maharaja of Jammu and Kashmir, over a long route by rail and motor. From Bombay one travels northward by train, via Delhi and Lahore, to Rawalpindi, one of the chief army posts of British India. There the way to beauty opens.

Almost at once on leaving Rawalpindi the motor road begins to climb. Up and up through the deodar-clad slopes of the lower mountain the road twists and turns, the heated air of the plains grows cool and invigorating, until, when travelers make their first overnight stop at Tret, they feel captivated by a joyous holiday spirit.

Everything seems amusing and interesting. Ruffled punkas swing from the ceiling, though you may have no need of them. Your deft and turbaned servants patter barefooted about the rooms, unrolling your bedding on the stringed charpoys, the fairly comfortable beds of India. Even the not-too-bad food served by the bungalow cook is a matter for hungry jest. Lovely, lovely world, with a summer of Kashmir ahead.

Native Chauffeurs Are Speedy.

The road from Rawalpindi to Srinagar is a well-built motor road, some 200 miles long, and it lies through the mountains north of the Pir Panjal pass. Snowy peaks rise high above you. The rushing waters of icy streams chatter noisily below. Hairpin turns in the road make you catch your breath and curl your toes, for the ways of the native driver are his own and without fear, and, alas, you have not the knowledge of his language wherewith to express your feelings.

Soon, from the first traveling sahib, you may learn to say, "Abista, abista!" But you never succeed in making an Indian chauffeur drive slowly, slowly.

It is possible to make the trip to Srinagar in a day, but not abista! Quite the contrary. You spend two nights in dak bungalows (resthouses) along the way, the second at Baramula, which lies at the edge of the great depression known as the Vale of Kashmir.

From Baramula one can go the rest of the way by boat, up the Jhelum river; but you may prefer to drive. The last 35 miles lie across a level stretch, the road bordered on either side by slender poplars.

The people passed along the way are quite different from those one sees in India. Ekkas and tongas, the two-wheeled horse-drawn vehicles of the country, draw aside to let you pass.

The Vale of Kashmir is a level valley about 80 miles long and averaging about 20 miles in width. It lies, a great oval, surrounded by mountains green with deodar and spruce on the lower reaches and white with snow until well into the early summer. Skies of an incredible blue complete a color scheme of fairy loveliness. Throughout the valley winds the curving line of the River Jhelum, along the banks of which straggle the streets and bazaars which form the ancient city of Srinagar.

Quaint Scenes in Srinagar.

Seven curious bridges span the river, and along the shore quaint old wooden houses lean sometimes at a rakish angle. Many of the city streets end in wide stone steps leading down to the river's edge. These stairways are usually animated scenes of native life. Here the laundry men wash the clothes; here the women come to fill their water jars. Children tumble and play about, and goats and cows ramble freely among them all. From the overhanging balconies lengths of dyed pashmina hang out to dry. All is colorful and gay.

Also there is the interesting river life. A large part of the population of Srinagar lives afloat. Odd, long, pointed boats, called dungas, with superstructures hung with mats of woven reeds, are the only homes which thousands of Kashmiris ever know. Sleeping quarters within, a kitchen of sorts open to the eyes of all, a few pots of brass or copper, and a poor Kashmiri's household is complete.

The native of more ample means has a better boat. Walls of wood replace the woven mats, and as better and better financial status is indicated, so the boats improve. The best are comfortable and well-furnished house boats, such as one might see upon the River Thames.

The English have made their contribution in the development of the house boat in Srinagar; for the Vale of Kashmir has become not only a favorite vacation land for the English army in India, but the permanent home of many retired officers and their families.

Servants All Are Men.

One lives easily in Kashmir. A host of servants cost about as much as one good cook in the West, and they feed themselves. Each one has his appointed duties and does them fairly well.

All your servants in Kashmir are men. The women seldom work out. Even the little children of Westerners frequently have men servants to care for them. Your list may include a mangi, or head boatman; a khitmatgar (chief house servant); assistant khitmatgar, a bhisti (water carrier, sweeper—of lowest caste and doer of menial jobs), a khansaman (cook), a dhobi (washerman), a dhurzi (sewing man), a mali (gardener), and three little chokersas, the small boys who paddle the shikara, a small gondola-like boat in which you go everywhere you desire. It seems an ample list!

If you take guests for tea to Shalimar gardens, the houseman goes along and serves a perfect meal under the spreading chinar trees. When you plan a morning in the bazaars, the houseman follows respectfully behind, your guide. Your days are carpeted with ease and your home is a joy, thanks to the willing service of an able houseman.

Where but in Kashmir could one call back to a houseman as one is leaving home for all day, "we will have guests for dinner tonight at nine o'clock," and return to find everything in perfect order, fresh flowers everywhere, the table set in holiday attire, and a course dinner perfectly planned?

Many of the Kashmiris are fine looking, the women especially having beautiful eyes and quite regular features. Like other native states of the Indian empire, Kashmir has an English resident, or advisory official, and through him more sanitary ways of living are gradually being introduced into the country. There is an excellent mission hospital and a zenana hospital, as the name implies, for women, and a school conducted by an English clergyman is doing wonders among the youth of the country.

Foreigners Like Kashmir.

The foreign element in Srinagar increases yearly. From the terrible heat of the Punjab come English army people, seeking the cool air and health of the hills, and these bring with them the influence of English manners and customs, and, better still, of English fair play. There is not in all Srinagar a merchant who does not rely wholeheartedly on the honor of the English Sahib.

Shopping is a quaint pastime in this City of the Sun. As one strolls along the Bund, eager merchants press their wares. Mohamad Jhan assures you that not in all Srinagar—no, not even at Ali Jhan's, his rival—can you procure such embroideries, such fine pashmina, such beautiful designs. Will not the Lady Sahib but see?

Or, as the small shikara of a merchant is rowed alongside your boat, deftly timed to find you at home, he eagerly spreads his wares. He is insistent that you see his treasures. "Only looking, Lady Sahib. Not buying, only looking." The foxy merchant well knows his goods are tempting. He is sure that some time you will buy.

The native industries of Kashmir, alas, have cheapened and some have almost died out entirely. No longer, for instance, can one procure the very finest shawls, such as made the name of Kashmir famed throughout the world. One can get good shawls, soft and fine, but the exquisite, old-time shawls are hardly to be found outside of museums.

Pashmina is one of the loveliest products of the land. It is a soft cream-colored woolen cloth, made from the fine under-hair of the Tibetan goat. The finer weaves are incredibly soft and the shawl-maker, hopeful for your order, will show you how a length of it can be drawn through a finger ring.

A much heavier woolen cloth, something akin to Scottish hoespun, is called nuttoo, and the better weaves make splendid outing clothes.

BIKE REIGNS SUPREME AT MAPLEWOOD PARK

Over 200 boys and girls, who had previously entered, turned out for the Post-Courier Bike Run last Saturday afternoon at Upper Maplewood Park. Fully as many more cyclists were in attendance without having previously entered and although they were not permitted to take part in the races, did "get in" on the hot and soft drinks.

The sponsors were so well pleased with the turnout and the excellent manner in which the whole affair was conducted, that it is now assured that the bike run will be an annual event. This was the first time such an event had been held in Rochester in many years, but its popularity was very evident from the outset.

The parade came from Edgerton Park down through Dewey avenue to Magee avenue and thence to the park. It was a colorful affair and drew considerable attention. A movie camera man from the Radio-Screen News "caught" the entire parade as well as most of the events and prize winners during the afternoon. These pictures will be shown shortly at the Riviera Theatre.

The program of 12 races was run off with only one accident and that a very minor one. Probably the most exciting event was the hill climb, which proved to be a rather difficult feat to accomplish.

The Bike Run was sponsored by the Tenth Ward Courier and The Vicinity Post with the assistance of Beckwith's and Towner's, Lyell avenue bicycle dealers. Prizes were donated by business men of the northwest section. Full co-operation of the daily newspapers of Rochester in the matter of publicity was much appreciated by the sponsors.

Julius Friedrich's Sunshine Girls Band lead the parade and stayed all afternoon to entertain in the bandstand. In the evening, the band was guest of the Riviera Theatre along with all prize winners. Awards for the various events were presented from the Riviera stage by F. R. Metzinger.

Prize winners and the awards they won were as follows:

Yachting Fun, But Rowing Is Work, Say These Lads

Three young Tenth Warders recently had an excellent lesson in yachting of which calloused fingers will long remind them. It happened at Holland Cove, where they were vacationing.

Emmett McKague, Joseph Hoffman and Lee Comeau, convinced that sailing was one of the simpler arts, set out on Lake Ontario for a little sport. The wind drove them along fast toward the Canadian shore and everything was going smoothly . . . until they decided to turn around. Despite their best efforts, however, the craft refused to move in the other direction and they had to row three or four miles back to the cove. Fortunately they were a little more experienced in the art of paddling and they made shore a few hours later.

COMMITTEE ANNOUNCED FOR DEMOCRAT PICNIC

A basket picnic is being planned for Tuesday, August 29, by the Democratic Women's Club of the Tenth Ward. Invitation is extended to all Democratic clubs of the ward to join in the outing.

Final plans will be made at a special meeting called for August 15 by Mrs. Joan Lynn Schild, president of the club. Other business at this meeting will be the election of a delegate to the second annual convention of Democratic Clubs of the state to be held at Elmira on August 19.

Members of the various committees for the picnic have been announced as follows:

Refreshments: Mrs. Mary Sharp, chairman, Mrs. Sevilla Regan, Mrs. Theresa Osborne and Mrs. Jessie Rause. Entertainment: Mrs. Anna Krug, chairman, Mrs. Luella Emerson, Mrs. Jessie Rause and Thomas Moran.

Tables and Decorations: Mrs. Louise Robinson, chairman, Mrs. Carolyn Moran, Mrs. Bessie Cowells and Mrs. Anna Messura. Prizes: Mrs. Rosetta Lewis, chairman, Mrs. Amelia Kunz, Mrs. Jessie Rause and Mrs. Mary Hughes.

Are Ya Lis'nin?

"Say folks! Take a tip from a man who knows. While driving through the Tenth Ward last week, I stopped at the Ridge Super Station, 600 Ridge Road West, just 3 blocks west of Dewey, to have my car greased. And believe me, those boys know their car greasing! They have a 9,000 lb. pressure Grayco Air Gun that does real work. They use a real grease in the gun, too, not a cheap inferior grease that soon loses its lubricating qualities.

"They also have a system of calling for and delivering cars that should come in mighty handy. The next time you want your car greased, call Glen. 5256. They will call for your car, do the work, and deliver it back to you all ready for the road.

"Their prices are reasonable for the kind of work they do. The Ridge Super Station is independently owned and operated by R. L. Decker."—Adv.

WE DO OUR PART

Rochester, N. Y., July 25, 1933.

Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt,
White House,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

The undersigned employing printers of Rochester, New York, are eager to co-operate with the President of the United States in furthering his Industrial Recovery Plan.

We have been operating for many years on a forty-four hour weekly basis and have paid a scale of wages ranging from a maximum of $1.04½ per hour for men to a minimum of 45½ cents per hour for women.

During the years of depression we have shortened the hours of plant operation without any reduction in the basic hour rates of pay, thus spreading employment.

We are ready to conform to any minimum hours of operation which may be adopted for the printing trade in this city and to maintain our present scale of wages.

We pledge our full and hearty assistance to the President and anticipate success for his plan.

* Printers of the Tenth Ward Courier.

The above telegram was one of the thousands received by the President on the day following his recent radio appeal to the entire nation. It is typical in some respects and in others it is unusual, as a careful reading of its contents discloses.

The Tenth Ward Courier since its foundation in 1928 has been printed by Davis & Jones Printing Co., Inc., union printers. Convinced of the soundness of a policy of maintaining a living scale of wages for workmen, the Courier has held to its course throughout the depression, resisting any temptation to "switch" to other print shops where lower wages were paid and where as a consequence "economies" in printing cost were available.

This high standard has long ago been demonstrated as the most desirable, even insofar as it affects neighborhood store owners. The peak of their business came when wages were highest, a fact which is easily explained, for it is the workingman to whom community stores must look for the greatest portion of their business. The fact that so many workingmen, contrary to principles and self-pride, are now on the city welfare lists is the real reason why nearly every community merchant has been reduced to the point where he is lucky to eke out a living.

The new codes now being put into effect in nearly every industry, and their provisions of shorter hours and minimum rates of pay, represent the greatest step forward on behalf of the workingman, and therefore on behalf of the country's greatest good, in the past decade. There are excellent reasons to believe that the codes will be adhered to religiously and if they are, it heralds not only the end of the depression, but also the beginning of a new era for the workingman; an era long hoped-for but little expected in this generation.

RIVIERA FEATURE REVIEW

Week-end Program

Tonight—"Tomorrow at 7" with Chester Morris and Vivienne Osborne; and "It's Great To Be Alive" with Edna Mae Oliver and Raul Roulien.

Fri.-Sat. — "Picture Snatcher" with James Cagney; and "State Trooper" with Regis Toomey and Evalyn Knapp.

Sun.-Mon.-Tues. Review

Frederic March and Cary Grant play the two leading roles in "The Eagle and the Hawk," the story of two wartime flyers whose hatred for each other made them both heroes. Jack Oakie and Carole Lombard head the supporting cast.

"The Eagle and the Hawk" is from a story by John Monk Saunders, author of "Wings." March and Grant are cast as a pilot and observer in the British air corps—March a skilled, reckless flyer; Grant a ruthless killer. Together in the air, they are an unbeatable team, and one enemy plane after the other is outmaneuvered by March's beautiful handling of his plane; brought down by Grant's deadly handling of his guns.

But on the ground, March and Grant are the deadliest of enemies. March is disgusted by Grant's cold delight in killing; Grant is scornful of March's scruples. The spectacle of death after death begins working on March's imagination; gradually he begins to crack. And Grant, the first to suspect the fact, begins to feel sympathy for his pilot. It is through Grant that March is sent home on a month's furlough.

He returns to the front, freshened. But the events that follow immediately upon his return have a strange effect upon him as the picture reaches its climax.

Devoid of mechanical chorines who intrude into the plot without the least provocation, the obnoxious crooner who puts the brakes upon the action of comedy or drama, and the female chirper who blurts into song unpropitiously, "Melody Cruise," RKO-Radio Pictures' musical movie is said to shatter musical picture conventions.

Brilliant novelty embraces the rhythmic song and dialogue of "Melody Cruise." Four tuneful melodies with clever lyrics form part of the story without upsetting the continuity. Supplanting the stereotyped chorines are thirty-six beauties who participate in the situations which mark the story. When Phil Harris or Helen Mack sings, the story rolls along smoothly with the action maintaining steady harmony. By extraordinary photographic effects, fish fox-trot on the ocean waves; an ocean liner stands up on one end and waltzes in the harbor; stars form music bars and shimmering notes in the heavens.

Final Picnic Report Asked Next Monday

All members of the Tenth Ward Women's Republican Club who had tickets to sell for the annual picnic are asked to attend a meeting of the committee Monday night at eight o'clock in the clubrooms at 840 Dewey avenue. Mrs. Joseph P. Culhane, picnic chairman, urges all ladies to be prepared to make a final report at that time. Any who wish, she says, may make their report prior to that time to Mrs. Kathryn A. Reynell, 216 Clay avenue.

2500 ATTEND ANNUAL REPUBLICAN OUTING

Favored by ideal weather conditions, Tenth Ward Republican Women and their guests, estimated to number 2,500, enjoyed another picnic last week Wednesday at Ontario Beach Park. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bareham headed the list of visitors, which included nearly every ward leader and prominent Republican of the city.

There were 28 sports events, in which both youngsters and adults took part. Sharing the spotlight with the sports was Julius Friedrich's "Sunshine Band" who furnished music and entertainment throughout the day.

The meal, prepared this year under a new plan, was declared by most of the picnickers to be the best ever served at the annual outing. The entire supper was served "piping hot" and the cooking, it was said, measured up to the standards of the best home cooking.

Prize winners in the sports events were as follows:

Boys and girls under 6—Lollypop scramble, Yolanda Phillipini, Donald Gerwin; clothespin toss, Yolanda Phillipini, James McKircher. Race for girls under 5—Dorothy Bovenzi.

Boys, 6-9 — Klondike, Thomas O'Rourke; 25-yd. dash, Henry Weissinger; ball toss, Andrew Salata.

Eleanor Roosevelt Club Opens Membership Drive

The officers are hopeful and confident that the drive will increase the membership of the club to a new high peak.

Radio Tips, Questions and Answers
 By H. S. Russell

The radio industries are preparing to present the public with entertainment of a quantity and quality never before attempted. Plans are being drafted for special broadcasts to begin in September and carry through the season, that will cause even the hardened veteran of radio reception to sit up and listen.

Radio receiving set manufacturers are improving the tone qualities of the products to better reproduce these coming sub-broadcasts. The prices of all radio equipment are rapidly rising, which permits the manufacturer to once more build quality of material and workmanship in his product—items sadly missing during the past year or two when price not quality dictated.

Many questions have been directed to me concerning auto radio. The modern, standard make, auto radio is a wonderful instrument. With all equipment contained in one box its dimensions are no greater than the average house table model, while in tone volume and range the auto receiver is very nearly equal to the set in the home. But installation—that's the catch.

In a new car having an all steel body (especially those ultra modern jobs with steel floors), clean tight electrical contacts, good plugs and points, and new leak-proof insulation on the ignition wiring, an auto radio is easy to install and quiet in operation. But when an older car with worn spark plugs, points, rotor contacts, leaky wiring insulation, sparking generator brushes, etc., is fitted with an auto radio, the party making the sale should not claim nor the buyer expect quiet reception. Once in a great while it is obtainable—but the reverse is too often true.

Bathing, Cards, Sports Keeping Cottagers Busy

The Kodak Park Camera Club has literally "earned its keep" during the prevailing hot weather. While the card parties continue to increase their attendance the beach and water sports have been the centers of activity. The water during the past week has been clear and warm so that even the "once a season" bathers who are not hardened to the usual cold lake water have enjoyed the bathing.

The volley ball games have become a major attraction. Twenty or thirty people can play; everybody has an equal opportunity; and every player takes his or her turn at serving. The game is played evenings as well as afternoons. This is made possible by the flood light equipment erected on the club cottage.

CHURCH NEWS

Grace M. E.—Next Sunday, August 6, Dr. Earl D. Shepard will preach at the Grace Methodist Church. Dr. Shepard is a former pastor of the church and District Superintendent of the Rochester District.

The mid-week prayer meetings will be in charge of Chas. Eisenbrey as chairman, assisted by John DeGelleke, Clinton Elwell and Frank Howell.

Dr. and Mrs. Clarkson left Monday to spend the month of August at their camp at Muskoka Lake, Canada.

Redeemer Lutheran — Morning worship will be conducted next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock by Alfred Wietz, student at Hartwick College, and the Rev. H. G. Witmeyer, superintendent of the Gospel Tabernacle will deliver the sermon.

Sunday School meets each Sunday morning during the summer months at 9:30 o'clock with Alvin H. Frickey, superintendent, in charge of the adult department; Miss Tessie Ladwig, of the junior department; and Mrs. George Eyer, of the primary department.

The young people of Redeemer and friends will have their annual picnic Saturday afternoon and evening, August 12, at the summer home of Helen and Kenneth Woehr at Shore Acres. Miss Winnie Smith and her committee are in charge of arrangements.

Oiled Road Proves More Dangerous than Ice One

A freak accident with an unusual, though serious, angle to it happened yesterday morning at Driving Park and Dewey avenues. A gas and oil truck dropped a can of oil as it turned the corner and the driver continued on his way ignorant of his loss. The can burst open and the oil flowed evenly and smoothly over the surface of the road.

Presently another car started to negotiate the corner and its driver either neglected to notice the oil or paid no attention to it. At any rate, he was unable to control his car and it ended up, radiator first, against an electric light pole with no little damage done.

By this time a few onlookers had gathered about and other motorists were more careful in making the turn. But the road was probably more slippery than it ever has been with a coat of ice in mid-winter, and as a consequence there was much skidding about until the road was finally sanded.

The amount you get out of a job is in proportion to the effort you put into it.

Model Chicken Farm is Raising Meaty Poultry

A model chicken farm, conducted on scientific principles, was started this year at 2395 Ridgeway avenue under the name of the Ridgeway Poultry Farm. By proper methods, it is claimed that chickens to be used exclusively for eating purposes can be raised with more meat on them.

The superiority of chickens properly housed and fed over the common range variety has been demonstrated, say the owners, in the chickens they are now furnishing to the retail market. They are raised on a wire-net floor, given rations in which a fixed quantity of milk is included and not allowed to run or dig in the dirt. The Ridgeway Farm has 2,000 or 3,000 chickens in the process of being scientifically reared at all times during the season.—Adv.

Golf Foursome Turns in Unique One Hole Score

A rather unusual performance was turned in by a foursome at Ridgeway Golf Club last Friday. It was on the 480 yard, par 5, ninth hole; Joe Judge was on the green in three as was Fred Kunert. Herb Johnston and Ray Feller made the green in two. Judge took two putts for a par; Kunert sank a nice putt for a birdie; Feller required two putts which also gave him a birdie; and Johnston sank his ball in one shot for an eagle three.

All four turned in good scores at the end of the round, but it was the fine exhibition at the ninth by all members of the foursome that they talked about in the clubhouse.

William C. Compton performed the ceremony.
The church was decorated with garden flowers, asparagus fern and palms, and organ music was played by Mrs. Nelson Morrow.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Alencon lace over ivory satin in Princess style, en train. Her tulle veil fell from a cap of Brussels lace, the chin strap of which was fastened with orange blossoms.
Miss Lillian Kemp, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor, and she was gowned in resida green taffeta, her hat and slippers to match. She carried an arm bouquet of pink gladioli and gypsophila.
Miss Betty Howard, bridesmaid, wore a gown of pink taffeta with hat and shoes of the same shade and carried pink gladioli and gypsophila. Little Miss Jeanette Scrimgeour, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and her frock, made in Empire style, was of pink taffeta, ankle length. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet.
Walter Davis was best man and the ushers were John Archbald and Donald Stothard.
The bride's mother wore powder blue lace with a blue hat and a corsage of Talisman roses. The bridegroom's mother was attired in ashes of roses triple sheer, and her corsage was of pink roses and sweetpeas.
A reception took place at the home of the bride's parents. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Alfred Gunnison of Whitehall, Miss Betty Howard, Miss Martha Hickock, Walter Davis and Chester Whitford, all of Crown Point, and Miss Gertrude Cone of Bristol,

WHAT CHICAGO HAS TO EXHIBIT
Manifold Attractions of the Exposition City.

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.
CHICAGO will be the host this summer to hundreds of thousands of Americans who will go to witness the city's spectacle of 1933—the gigantic fair depicting a century of progress.
Chicago is vibrant, an intense giant among cities, dynamic with the spirit of growing youth. Its residents are confident of its destiny.
The forces of nature and the paths of man, which mold the state of Illinois, center in Chicago. These national roads of earth, water, and air converge. In a century it has grown from a frontier stockade in a swamp to fourth place among world cities.
The traveler away from Chicago is always told about his city. Chance acquaintances, from Kamchatka to Tierra del Fuego, exclaim: "So you have lived in Chicago without being shot!" and dubiously feels his vest to see if it is bullet-proof.
Chicago is pictured as a wicked, turbulent city, a wilder West than the movies ever staged; yet the percentage of crime is lower than that of many cities with a more righteous reputation. Its crime and gunmen, while not to be smiled at as playful diversions, are no more representative of the city, or of any other city, than the ejection of a stray disturber is the story of a convention's deliberations. They are surface growing pains of a lusty young city. Whatever happens in Chicago has, in newspaper parlance, "news value," and the sensational and bizarre are remembered after the serious and prosaic are forgotten.
Chicago lacks the glamour of age; it has no ancient ruins nor even time-stained buildings. A cross stands where Marquette landed, the first white man to cross the portage between the lake and river; but that was only 200 years ago. Of those buildings that stood on downtown LaSalle street 37 years ago, only one now remains.
Growth in a Century.
The white population around Fort Dearborn was massacred on August 15, 1812. In 1833 Chicago was a town covering two and one-half square miles. The first steamboat and the first Sunday school had arrived the previous year. On March 4, 1837, it had 4,000 inhabitants and was incorporated as a city with ten and one-half square miles. It was swept by fire on October 9, 1871. Today it spreads over 210 square miles, with more than 3,350,000 inhabitants. Chicago's yesterdays are the boyhood of its men today.
Standing on the portico of the Field Museum of Natural History, one gazes on a pinnacled city stretching into the distance. It rises higher with the weeks. In front is a green park—only a few years ago a debris-strewn beach with a railroad on wooden trestles—cut by broad driveways, lagoons, and islands, and spotted with the ornate structure of the Art Institute, Shedd aquarium, Adler planetarium, Buckingham fountain and the peristyles and pylons of boulevard entrances. On the other side of the museum is a stadium rivaling those of ancient Greece.
Boulevards, over land reclaimed from Lake Michigan to give the city a front yard, stretch to the north and to the south. The Museum of Science and Industry, founded by Julius Rosenwald, occupies the rebuilt Fine Arts building of the World's fair held in 1893, admittedly one of the world's finest pieces of architecture.
Miles of broad roads and promenades skirt the water, with its superb beaches backed by green parks, which afford facilities for rest and recreation enjoyed by few cities. With more than a hundred parks and playgrounds, more than two hundred public and private golf courses, and miles of forest preserve, all Chicago can enjoy the fresh air; while the lake, with its unlimited bathing beaches, boating and yacht clubs, provides unusual aquatic diversion.
Some years ago Chicago began to outgrow itself, and the Chicago plan for a City Beautiful was adopted.
BOY SCOUT NEWS
Troop No. 81
The Bird Study Merit Badge requirements have now been completed by three boy scouts of Troop 81—Ben Taber, John Peer and Jack Baybutt. The following are now staying at Camp Pioneer on Seneca Lake with Assistant Scoutmaster Harold Wagner: Jack Baybutt, Henry Byers, Godfrey Clegg, Keene Englehardt, Joe Johnroe, Ed Meyer, Renkert Meyer, Donald Parker, John Peer, Harry Simm, Ed Smith, Arnold Spaan, Ben Taber and Warren Taylor. Warren Taylor poined the troop at the last meeting.
It is hoped that as many as possible of the fathers and committee-men will come to the next troop meeting on Monday, August 14. The scouts will have an opportunity to tell some of their experiences at Camp Pioneer, as well as at Three Lakes in Durand-Eastman Park, where some of those who have not gone to Pioneer have been camping lately. The question of attending the city-wide Father-and-Son Jamboree at Mendon Ponds late in August will be decided. Motion pictures of the scouts will be shown.

New streets have been cut and old ones widened at stupendous cost. The Chicago river was unkinked as part of the developing waterway to the gulf.
A distinctive style of architecture, to which has been given the name "Twentieth Century American," has developed here. The city restricts the primary height of buildings to 264 feet, but towers comprising not more than one-sixth the bulk of the building may soar to the clouds.
Bigness Due to Location.
On a part of the near North side, where only a generation ago Captain Streeter's schooner, stranded on a sand bar, was the only habitation, a Gold Coast district has risen on land which then was lake—towering hotels and apartments, factories and warehouses, and, until three years ago one of the largest commercial buildings in the world, the American Furniture Mart. Another, the Merchandise Mart, now is larger.
A pride in bigness, or even the home needs of Chicago, do not produce these. The city's central location creates them. Chicago has a hotel with 3,000 rooms, and one of the largest indoor sports stadiums. Convenient location brings a million visitors to national conventions each year. The booster who delights in "bigger" also adds that it has a plebeian gas tank that could be dropped like a candle snuffer over the 28-story Times building in New York.
It is a city of contrasts. Its people reflect it, make the throbbing city theirs. Scholars mix in politics and business men are artists. The city is the same structural panorama. In the corridors between Chicago and the Indiana line more industry and high-pressure recreation are mixed than in any similar area in the world—steel mills, oil refineries, railroad shops, foundries and factories, with country clubs, two race tracks, and a dozen golf clubs, wooling devotees to fresh air and sunshine. Under its pall of smoke, smell of stock yards, and hum of aggressive materialism, Chicago has art, science, music, education, and other factors which add to the comfort and contentment of humanity. It is Illinois intensified.
Chicago is a musical city. One of its music schools is among the largest in America.
With more students than any other school of its kind, the Art Institute gives Chicago an assured place in art circles, but the fact that it has more sustaining members than most similar institutions shows a city's appreciation of art.
Great City for Reading.
Chicago reads as it hustles. The American Library association classifies it among the great reading cities of the world. Its public library, revived by a donation from England after the fire, circulates 14,000,000 books a year, though the number on its shelves is smaller than that in the New York city public library or in the Library of Congress. For completeness in their special lines and for patronage, students coming far to consult them, Newberry, library of humanities; the Crerar Technical and Scientific library; the Fine Arts library; the Library of Architecture and the Post-graduate library of the University of Chicago are among the noted reference libraries of the world.
Libraries and schools and, more than all, the harmony of environment have made Chicago an educational center of North America. Attendance figures and faculty rolls of

Scene at Tenth Ward Yacht Races

A group of the boys and girls who took part in the miniature yacht races, posed by the cameraman. John H. Schmanke, who sponsored the races, is shown about to start a mythical race, with Jack Coers, one of the judges (under the white Egyptian hat), looking on.

Lower picture shows winners in Class B: 1, Kenneth Bertram, third place; 2, Robert Quinan, second place; 3, Walter Carroll, first place.

YACHT RACES PROVIDE FUN AND AMUSEMENT

Aided by a fairly brisk nor'easter, the five classes in the Tenth Ward miniature yacht races last week Tuesday at Seneca Park lake were run off in fast time, to the delight of both the contestants and a large gathering of spectators. The event was sponsored by Schmanke's Brownbit Shoe Store of 1480 Dewey avenue.

A classification of boats was made after all entries were in and as a consequence the battles for honors were evenly fought. The miniature yachts, strictly on their own after the starting whistle, staged maneuvers that would have done credit to veteran seamen. Boys and girls on the shore either shouted with glee or bewailed their luck as the tiny boats made their way across the course.

Several times with two boats racing neck and neck, one would catch a breeze, turn across the bow of its competitor completely shutting it off from the wind. Thus having becalmed its rival, the ship would take another tack and head for the finish line. Another boat would be headed for certain victory, only suddenly to be caught by an unfavorable wind and reversed in its course.

The races certainly were interesting to watch and provided much amusement for the contestants as well. Equally enjoyed were the hot and soft drinks served after the races by Mr. Schmanke. Albert H. Makin acted as starter and Matt Barry, Burton C. Wallace and Jack Coers were judges.

Prize winners in the various events were as follows:

Class A for boats 21 inches and less—First, John Caister; second, Mary Ciccone; third, Robert Leary.

Class B for boats 22 inches long—First, Walter Carroll; second, Robert Quinan; third, Kenneth Bertram.

Class C for boats 23 to 30 inches—First, William Canan; second, Robert Nichols; third, Billy Magee.

Class D for boats 31 to 36 inches—Captain James J. Raymond.

Class E, free for all—First, John Cicconi; second, Arthur Rhoda; third, William Spang.

No man's opinion is entirely worthless. Even a watch that won't run is right twice a day.

MOOSE FESTIVAL ALL NEXT WEEK TO FEATURE VAUDEVILLE ARTISTS

One of the biggest affairs of its kind ever staged in this vicinity will take place on the Moose Grounds, 441 East avenue every evening next week, beginning Monday, August 21. The general public is invited.

A program of refined, moral, up-to-date, snappy professional vaudeville will be presented on an open air stage each evening at 8:15, under auspices of Rochester Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose. Following the vaudeville there will be dancing until midnight. In case of rain, vaudeville and dancing will be staged indoors.

Editha McRae, tenth ward girl known as the "girl with the golden voice and million dollar personality," will appear each evening and sing several groups of songs. She is a former student of the Eastman School of Music and spent several years in study at Milan, Italy. She has the distinction of being able to sing in five languages. She appeared successfully in several opera roles during her stay in Europe where she was acclaimed by critics as a soprano of rare ability.

Included in her program will be classic and popular numbers. While she has appeared in a great many cities under a contract for Mooseheart Extension Work, it will practically be her first public appearance in Rochester. Her many friends are planning on giving her a great reception during her engagement at the Moose Festival.

Well-known Entertainers

Other well-known professional entertainers who will positively appear on the program each evening are:

Bernett Dietsch, one of the most talked of dancers in America. Miss Dietsch at the age of five was an almost helpless cripple caused from the dread disease of infantile paralysis. Upon the recommendation of her family physician, she took up dancing, graduating from Ned Wayburn's famous American School of Dancing at the age of fifteen. Today at the age of nineteen, she is regarded as a physical marvel and a great dancer. She will appear in tap, classic, high kick and acrobatic numbers.

John A. McDermott, champion old time fiddler, has the distinction of entertaining numerous distinguished citizens, including Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt. In addition to staging his vaudeville numbers he will assist for old time dancing by playing and calling.

Margaret Weiland, said to be one of America's greatest juvenile performers, who is known as the "Versatile Juvenile Wonder."

Marie Switzer, a former student at the Eastman School of Music, who is regarded as a pianist of unusual ability.

Emiel DeCoster, one of America's foremost eccentric and buck and wing dancers.

There will be various other forms of entertainment including a Ger-

John A. McDermott

Hick Band to Feature Veterans' Post Picnic

The Tutorville Hicks Band of Culver Post has been secured as an additional feature of the picnic Sunday, August 20, of Veterans' Memorial Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars. Sea Breeze Park will be the scene of the outing.

Final arrangements were made at a meeting of the Post last night for a long program of races, sports, entertainment and dancing. A ball game between Veterans' Memorial and Healy Post will be one of the sports highlights. This will be a family picnic and refreshments will be served.

Fred O'Connor is general chairman of the committee, assisted by Nicholas Kennedy, Albert White and John Richards, tickets; J. McGinnis, refreshments; James Studley, Michael Krauter and Joseph Minella, sports.

man Village, where refreshments will be served. The Women Moose will be in charge of the ice cream booth. Plenty of seats are assured all who attend. Gates will open each evening at 7:30. Browncroft-East avenue busses stop at the premises. Transfers from all car lines are accepted on these busses.

Free souvenirs will be given all ladies in attendance.

Just a Little Nervous

"Chain store grocers complain against the exemption granted to the small corner grocer whose business is conducted as a family affair, or perhaps with the aid of a single outside employee, from the requirements of the blanket code of fair competition.

"They contend that they cannot meet this competition since they do business on a small profit and that will be threatened by the added labor costs growing out of the operation of the proposed minimum wage. There is, however, no disposition on the part of the Industrial Recovery Administration to act to help them out of their dilemma."

This highly significant item appeared in a recent issue of the Journal of Commerce, old established financial and business statistics publication. It apparently is an indication of the awakening of the chains to the deep, dark sea which lies before them. For now, under NRA it really begins to appear that the various units of the large syndicates will be reduced to the level of the hard-plugging corner store independent. There are good reasons to believe that chain stores will soon be forced to "stoop" to practices of fair competition.

It has been easy to show stockholders a profit and customers the lowest prices imaginable under the chain system. With so many units (or stores) each one has to show only a small profit to make the aggregate profit a handsome figure. With so many thousands of employees, a few dollars knocked off each one's wages represents another handsome figure. With clerks and managers receiving the lowest possible wages, it is no wonder chain stores have commanded the attention of the American housewife with "leader items." The average independent has tried hard and in many cases has succeeded in meeting this competition. But at what a sacrifice! He, too, has been forced to draw "starvation wages" and many weeks probably has gone home to his family with little more than a supply of provisions.

It is easily understood now that just such practices as the chain stores have indulged in promiscuously are really the practices that have helped to increase and lengthen this depression, if not bring it on! Read the blanket code of NRA and see if these are not the practices which President Roosevelt and his cabinet of able minds are directing every effort to suppress!

Is it any wonder the chains, for the first time on the defensive, are seized with fear? Is it any wonder they appeal to Washington for "protection" against the little corner store independent whom they have been ruthlessly supplanting wherever opportunity presented itself?

A development of some significance has taken place in the last few days since this plea to Washington by the chains. These "corner grocers whose business is conducted as a family affair or perhaps with the aid of a single outside employee" are now lining themselves up with NRA and its principles even though there is no present or evident future compulsion to do so. That plugs their argument full of holes.

To the last sentence of that brief item from the Journal of Commerce we say, "Bravo!" May their backbones be stiff enough at the national capital to withstand the terrific barrage which most certainly will be directed against them.

RIVIERA FEATURE REVIEW

Week-end Program

Tonight — "Story of Temple Drake" with Miriam Hopkins; and "Alimony Madness" with Helen Chandler.

Fri.-Sat. — "Diplomaniacs" with Wheeler and Woolsey; "Hold Me Tight" with James Dunn and Sally Eilers.

Sun.-Mon.-Tues. Review

An exceptionally strong cast was assembled by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer-Cosmopolitan for its film version of the Rachel Crothers stage success, "When Ladies Meet." Ann Harding and Robert Montgomery are co-starred and the other principal roles are filled by Myrna Loy, Alice Brady and Frank Morgan.

The distinguished Miss Harding, whose hits range from "Holiday" to the recent "Animal Kingdom," enacts the publisher's wife in Miss Crothers' biting drama of four people whose lives are brought to a climactic point at a seemingly peaceful country week-end party. Montgomery, last seen in "Hell Below," is the shrewd young newspaper man who creates a fictitious liaison between himself and the publisher's wife in order to attract the interest of the woman he really loves.

Thresh Out Complexes

It is Miss Loy, a rising young novelist, whom Montgomery loves, but Miss Loy believes herself to be enamored of the publisher, played by Frank Morgan. It is this criss-cross complication of affections which forms the unusual dramatic structure of "When Ladies Meet," the plot of which finds its outlet when all four persons concerned are brought together at the country home of Alice Brady, and are forced to thresh out their respective emotional complexes.

The action of the picture starts with a party on a millionaire's houseboat, shifts to Miss Loy's smart Greenwich Village garden apartment and ends at Miss Brady's country homestead, portrayed as an old farmhouse which has been artfully rebuilt to include the more luxurious appointments of its wealthy tenant.

Edward G. Robinson, who first sprang to cinema prominence as a gangster in "Little Caesar" and "Smart Money," is cast as an ex-gang leader in "The Little Giant."

Robinson, who graduated from the racketeering type of story with his more recent pictures, such as "Silver Dollar" and "Tiger Shark," plays his first comedy part in the role of a Chicago beer baron who retires from his highly profitable business to break into high society, after beer has become legalized.

By cramming his vocabulary with French expressions and superficial phrases about futuristic art he believes himself ready to crash the exclusive circles. His sophomoric attempts to play the gentleman lead to some of the most hilarious situations imaginable.

New Restaurant Opened on Driving Park Avenue

A new restaurant, the Driving Park Cafe, has been opened in the Tenth Ward at 239 Driving Park avenue. It is owned and managed by Bill Sauer, better known in this section as Bill Schuler.

A complete alteration and re-decoration of the building, has resulted in a most attractive restaurant. The service bar is in the front and tables for 100 have been arranged in the back of the restaurant with a dance floor in the middle. GUESSING CONTEST IS STARTED BY BECKWITH

Boys and girls of the Tenth Ward will be given free opportunity to win any one of five valuable prizes at Beckwith's, bicycle store of 271 Lyell avenue. The task involved will be to guess how many parts there are in a bicycle. The contest will close Saturday, September 9.

A Beckwith bicycle has been completely dismantled and placed on display in the window of the Lyell avenue store. The parts will be counted at the close of the contest and awards made to the five guessing nearest to the right figure. The prizes are: 1—$3 Football; 2—Bicycle Lamp; 3—Bicycle Saddle; 4—Bicycle Basket; 5—Bicycle Horn.

In determining the exact number of parts, everything on the bicycle will be counted. This goes for bolts, nuts, spokes, etc. For instance, each link in the chain has 10 parts. Multiplying the number of links by 10 you get the number of parts in the chain. (Of course it will be up to all boys and girls to guess how many links there are in the chain for themselves.)

By a careful study of the dismantled bicycle in the Beckwith window, it should not be too hard to arrive at an accurate guess. Each boy and girl will be entitled to one guess, which he or she will be allowed to write on the entry book in the store. There is absolutely no charge or obligation involved.

All guesses must be made in person at Beckwith's, 271 Lyell avenue. The contest is now open.

Many changes have also been made in the large size-department in the basement and new booths have been added. Miss Claire is at present in New York City doing her buying for the coming season.

CHURCH NEWS

Redeemer Lutheran—The Rev. W. L. Dowler has returned from his vacation and will resume full charge of the services next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The theme of the sermon will be "Living on the Hill-tops with Jesus." The chorus choir will sing and Mrs. W. L. Dowler's offertory solo will be "The Lord is My Light."

Intermediate Luther League will have a social meeting and picnic next Tuesday afternoon and evening, August 22, at the home of Pastor and Mrs. Dowler, Ridge Road West. Arlene Gustke, league president, will be assisted in completing the arrangements for this social meeting by the officers: Clayton Kress, Marjorie Best, Jack End and Robert Storandt.

Last Sunday morning Kenneth Storandt, who recently was graduated from Oberlin College, delivered an appropriate message at the morning worship. Many of his friends were so pleased with his first sermon that they feel that it is a challenge to Kenneth to continue his studies and take up the Christian ministry for his life's work. Alfred Wietz, who is a student at the Hartwick College in preparation for the Christian ministry has been conducting the liturgical service during the absence of the pastor.

Grace M. E.—This coming Sunday, Dr. M. S. Rees will preach in the church service at 11 a. m. Dr. Rees has been a summer supply for a number of years. On August 27 Dr. Ernest Weis of Springfield College, Springfield, Mass., will preach.

North Presbyterian—Sunday, August 20, the speaker at the morning service, 11 o'clock, will be Mr. Albert Dimpfl.

The Planning Committee of the Young People's Division of the Sunday School is at work outlining the activities for the coming fall and winter. Important among the items for September are Rally Day, to be observed on September 24, and an outing the day previous—September 23. Plans for the outing are being kept a surprise, but a good time is promised at the lowest cost possible. All members of the Young People's Division are asked to keep these dates in mind.

The Women's Society and the Men's Club will hold a joint supper meeting on Wednesday, September 20.

During the week of the Rochester Exposition, the Women's Society will conduct a dining tent on the exposition grounds. Mrs. Elmer Forest, president of the society, and her committees are at work on the project; Mrs. L. B. Dodge and Mrs. Emma Hetzler will be in charge of the cooking and other members of the society will manage the dining room, and other phases of the work.

The third in a series of Sunset Pilgrimages will be held on Sunday, August 20, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. I. T. Clark, Grand View Beach. Those who wish may bring their lunch; tea will be served at 5:30, and the service on the beach will begin at 6:15 p. m. The pilgrimages this year have been planned by the Young People's Sunday Evening Group.

Another interesting presentation is promised for this Friday, when there will also be a display of the handwork accomplished thus far in the activity classes.

Many thanks are extended to Mrs. Arthur Lohwater, president of the Parent-Teachers' Association, Mrs. J. Pennelly, secretary, Mrs. Albert White and Frank Herbsommer for their co-operation and interest in securing and furnishing transportation for the children bound for the studio last Saturday morning.

REPUBLICAN OUTING IS CONSIDERED BEST EVER

A number of innovations at the annual picnic of the Tenth Ward Republican Club held last Sunday at Island Cottage combined to make it without doubt the most successful held in recent years by the club. The presence of the ladies added considerably to the formality and decorum of the occasion and new methods of handling refreshments worked out quite satisfactorily.

As usual, most of the day was spent in a sociable way. There was no ordered program of events and the guests enjoyed themselves as they saw fit. This affair is always featured by a sort of re-union of old friends and political leaders and this year's picnic was no exception.

Many of the leaders from other wards and prominent office holders rubbed elbows with the voting public and probably absorbed many a good idea. At any rate political discussion of an informal nature was not taboo and it seemed evident that most of those in attendance were quite confident of another Republican victory at the polls in November.

Both Charles E. Bostwick, honorary chairman, and Dr. Joseph L. Guzzetta, chairman, were well pleased with the turnout and the general success of the outing. In the evening, those who cared to stayed for dancing at the Island Cottage Hotel.

Wedding Trip Halted When Auto Burns Up

A wedding trip that almost resulted disastrously fell to the lot of Edward J. Sullivan of Birr street and his bride, the former Miss Josephine Rhinehardt of Lake avenue. They were married in Potsdam and following the ceremony departed on a trip with two other couples for Quebec by automobile.

Just outside of Montreal the car in which they were riding burst into flames and burned completely. Fortunately the fire was discovered soon enough so that all passengers were able to get out safely.

Mr. Sullivan is owner of the coal company in Lexington avenue which bears his name and Mrs. Sullivan is candy buyer at Sibley, Lindsay and Curr Co.

BOY SCOUT NEWS
Troop No. 81

At their meeting Monday evening, the scouts of Troop 81 who went to Camp Pioneer this summer had some interesting reports to make concerning their experiences. Canoe trips, swimming, merit badge classes, and many other things helped them to have an enjoyable and profitable trip.

This week Troop 81, as well as many other troops in the city, have been helping to collect canning jars for self-help gardeners in the campaign of the Rochester Civic Committee on Unemployment. Members of the Fox Patrol, directed by Ben Taber, finished their assignment and brought in a good collection of jars to the meeting Monday evening.

So many scouts are out of the city or at Three Lakes that Troop 81 will have no more troop hikes and will not participate in any Father-and-Son Jamboree before the middle of September. The next troop meeting will be in the Lewis-ton Avenue Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m. on September 11, the first Monday after Labor Day.

The moth-proofing is available not only for clothing and furs, but also for rugs, carpets and furniture.

The Society also is preparing for another season with a complete line of tuxedos now available for rental. They carry about 200 suits in stock, so that a fit is assured all customers.

Lake-Ridge Ass'n Picnic Draws Large Attendance

With attendance figures exceeding all previous four years, Lake and Ridge Business Men's Association picnic last week was the most successful ever staged by the merchants. Island Cottage, the scene of the outing, was pretty well covered with picnickers, over 225 taking part in the afternoon's festivities.

Stores closed at one o'clock to allow everyone to attend and soon thereafter they began to gather at the lakeside resort. A long program of sports took up the best part of the afternoon. In both feature events, the tug of war and baseball game, Lake avenue's forces emerged victorious. Dr. C. W. Oster was captain of Lake avenue and F. L. Clark lead the Pull-manites.

Individual events for ladies, men and children resulted in the following winners, who were presented with prizes donated by the business men:

BRAZIL'S CITIES ARE WONDERFUL

Rio, Sao Paulo, Pernambuco and Bahia Pictured.

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—W. H. Sewell

CENSUS enumerators recently have completed counting 42,981,042 people in Brazil. While the state spreads over an area greater than that of the United States, nearly every great population center lies on the Atlantic coast.

There are ten Brazilian cities with more than 100,000 inhabitants. Of the first four, Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo, Pernambuco (Recife), and Bahia (Sao Salvador), only Sao Paulo is inland.

Rio de Janeiro, the capital, contributed nearly 1,500,000 people to the census enumerators' figures. Amid Brazil's amazing coastal panoramas of verdant forests, mysterious rivers, foaming cascades, untrod mountains and polyglot populous towns, Rio remains the very scene of human interest.

As the traveler enters glittering Rio and beholds the alabaster-like city of palms, marble mountains and color, he is astounded. Here is an illusion from the Arabian Nights dream, a magnificent super-city never built by man. Look at those amazing mountain peaks that rise from the sea. They cannot be of this world; they are unreal, like a landscape on the moon.

To enter this great world port you walk down the gangplank and straight out into a formal garden with a big bronze fountain. This leads off into a Fifth avenue-like boulevard which in turn flows into a wide, world-famous beach drive, past embassies, clubs, and more palms and geometric gardens. Dingy docks, pawnshops, pool halls, quick-and-dirty cafes, cheap rooming houses, touts and runners, dirt, smells—all the trash and claptrap of many other water fronts, are missing here.

Rising fully 1,200 feet and almost straight out of the sea, Sugar Loaf, lofty sentinel of the Rio harbor, is easily the city's outstanding landmark. Incoming air pilots, if half lost in fog or rain, hail its familiar outlines with grunts of relief. In a queer aerial trolley—a dizzy trip which is a supreme triumph for the nervous—you can reach its top.

Sao Paulo, second largest of Brazilian cities, is capital and business metropolis of Sao Paulo state. It is one of the oldest cities in South America, but its age has not deprived it of modern commercial development.

Fifty years before the Capt. John Smith-Pocahontas episode at Jamestown, Va., a Portuguese sailor founded Sao Paulo and married the daughter of a native Indian chief. Later Jesuit missionaries established a church at the settlement and held the first religious service on the feast day in celebration of the conversion of St. Paul.

Sao Paulo's Swift Growth.

For three centuries Sao Paulo enjoyed isolation, unfettered by colonial laws of Portugal. It was about 1,000 miles from the Portuguese government officials who were, at that time, at Bahia. In 1875 the ball of commercial progress started rolling among the inhabitants, and newcomers were instilled with a boom spirit. In slightly more than fifty years the city has increased in population from 26,000 to nearly 900,000. New streets that were built were made broad and straight and flanked with modern buildings.

The railway depot, municipal and state government buildings, museums, libraries, schools, and some of its new business buildings would be flattering additions to many cities of the world of the same size. Three huge public gardens and more than fifty parks break the monotony of the miles of streets.

Sao Paulo might properly be called the city that coffee built. Many of the palatial residences are those of coffee "barons." In Sao Paulo streets huge trucks, heavy carts, and perspiring men laden with sacks of coffee are always within eye shot. Coffee was not introduced into Brazil until two centuries ago, but the price of coffee now largely governs the rise and fall of Sao Paulo's prosperity. While Ethiopia is the original home of coffee, Sao Paulo state has adopted the greater portion of the descendants of the original coffee berries. If all the coffee plantations in the state were in one plantation, it would cover an area as large as Delaware and Rhode Island combined.

More than 3,500 miles of railroads now use Sao Paulo as a hub. The railroad from Sao Paulo to Santos, the city's port on the Atlantic, has been one of the world's most profitable steel highways, although its upkeep per mile is staggering. In the 87 miles of sinuous tracks between the cities, trains must climb from sea level at Santo to nearly 3,000 feet at Sao Paulo. In one seven-mile section the line rises more than 2,000 feet.

Pernambuco, third largest city, is the easternmost city of the western hemisphere and is called the gateway to South America for Europe-South America-bound aviators. Pernambuco state, of which the city is the capital, and two other states, make up the northeastern shoulder of their continent. To Brazilians, the city is known as Recife.

If a line were drawn from Pernambuco due north, it would just miss the western extremity of the Azores and intersect the latitude of New York city nearer to Portugal than to New York. Dakar, westernmost city of Africa, is only half the distance from Pernambuco that Liverpool is from New York. Pernambuco noses into all direct transportation lanes from European and North Atlantic ports that do business with ports south of Pernambuco. Shipping from New York, Boston, or Baltimore, or Liverpool or Lisbon, reaches Rio de Janeiro or Buenos Aires by passing Pernambuco's harbor.

Many of its inhabitants are descendants of the Dutch and Portuguese, both of whom once claimed the city and surrounding country. Pernambuco owes much of its progress to the influence of these races, who fostered agriculture and commerce.

Recalls Dutch Occupation.

The old section of Pernambuco shows its Portuguese origin in the vari-colored plaster-faced buildings that line some of the narrow cobblestone-paved streets in the downtown section; while here and there steep gabled houses and business structures recall the quarter century of Dutch occupation that began ten years after the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock.

Until a few years ago, large ocean-going boats had to anchor far out in the harbor. Up-to-date docks were constructed and railroads were built, reaching into the productive hinterland. As a result Pernambuco has become in a short time one of the important gateways to eastern Brazil.

Sugar, tobacco, lumber, fruit, cotton, rubber and coffee that once graced the backs of mules now flow into the city by rail in vast quantities. More than forty sugar mills in the capital city attest the state's sugar production. Textile mills, shoe, soap and lock factories are also there.

Most of Pernambuco's business is carried on in the old section of the city. The city market perhaps strikes the fancy of Americans more than any other feature. An abundance of rich, luscious fruit is everywhere to be seen.

Bahia Has a Fine Harbor.

Bahia, which contributes more than 330,000 to the census figures, was the first Portuguese settlement founded in Brazil. To Brazilians it is Sao Salvador. According to the letters of Amerigo Vespucci, he and his followers spent several months in All Saints bay in the neighborhood of Bahia during the early days of the Sixteenth century. Bahia was not officially recognized by the Portuguese government, however, until 1549, when the first governor general of Brazil set up a colonial government there. Bahia was the capital of Brazil from that time until 1763 when the government was removed to Rio de Janeiro.

The harbor Bahia faces is one of the finest on the east coast of South America. Vessels from many world ports are anchored offshore, while smaller boats with local cargoes come and go like "schools" of water beetles.

The traveler's first impression of Bahia, as he sails up the harbor toward the city, is that there are really two separate towns.

A congested settlement hugs the shore line, while on a cliff in the background, 200 feet above the roof tops, the fringe of another settlement is visible.

In the narrow streets of the lower town and among the bordering warehouses half-naked porters, perspiring freely in the tropical heat, spend their days moving cargoes of cocoa, tobacco, cotton, sugar, rubber and fruit, all products of Bahia state, brought to the port by railroad trains and high-wheeled donkey carts.

The custom house, depot and offices of foreign firms interested in Bahia commodities also are in the lower town. Most of Bahia's cocoa, the largest exportable product of Bahia state, is shipped to the United States.

Upper Bahia is reached by elevators, steps and winding roads. Here and there in the winding streets of this portion of the city, sky blue and delicate pink houses, some of whose plastered fronts are deeply pock-marked, take the traveler back a century or two in Bahia's history. But within a stone's throw of these districts there are wide modern thoroughfares, lined with fine shops, banks, theaters, office buildings. A park or a garden now and then breaks the monotony of the solid rows of masonry.

Democrats Pick Rogers To Run for Supervisor

Designation of George Rogers, Dewey avenue grocer, as Democratic candidate for Supervisor in the Tenth Ward took place this week at a meeting of the Democratic county and ward committees under the chairmanship of E. C. Truesdale. Mr. Rogers will make the run against George H. Hesselink of Bryan street, present Republican incumbent. His running mate will be John Hanna of Villa street, candidate for Constable.

Mr. Rogers is not a newcomer to local politics, having twice previously been a candidate for alderman. Both times he lost to Nelson A. Milne. He also was at one time a candidate for the Assembly against Fred Slater. He has been active in fraternal circles and in various independent grocers' groups, and is known as a forceful speaker.

Convinced that this is a Democratic year, Mr. Rogers is determined to make the supreme fight of his career for the supervisorship. He was chosen by unanimous vote of the committeemen.

In the meantime the Republicans are preparing the ground for the renomination of Mr. Hesselink and his subsequent re-election. The committees meet Friday night and Mr. Hesselink is regarded as certain of being designated. Constable Morgan Thistle, however, it appears will not be the Republican candidate to succeed himself. There are said to be four or five after the designation and the final choice will not be known until after the committee meeting.

Holy Rosary Nine Meets St. Augustines' Sunday

Holy Rosary holds undisputed possession of first place in the second half of the Catholic League pennant race as the result of a 7-2 decision over Holy Apostles. Joe Witzigman pitched air-tight ball for the winners, allowing but four hits and striking out 14 batsmen.

Lefty Schlofer, only southpaw in the league, will pitch for St. Augustine. Holy Rosary's choice rests between Joe Witzigman and Barney Agness. Holy Rosary will practice tomorrow night at 6:30 at No. 7 Playground.

August 20, St. Augustine at Edgerton Playground.

NRA DRIVE GAINING MOMENTUM AS PUBLIC SENTIMENT GETS IN LINE

Tenth Warders in common with all American citizens are now in the midst of one of the greatest peace-time wars ever staged any place, the NRA war against depression and unemployment. So far as the public's part in the drive is concerned, it had its beginning last Thursday night and every day since then the campaign has been gaining momentum.

The checkup of every retail store and factory was started this week and in nearly every instance full compliance with the principles and purposes of the Blue Eagle has been reported. Most of those who had not previously come under the banner are doing so now.

Under "General" George J. Keyes, Rochester is doing its part with full vigor. Immediately below him in rank is Colonel Oscar N. Solbert, director of the manpower division, who has a "major" in every ward to assist in the checkup now under way. Each "major" in turn has a number of "captains" under him.

Following is the complete NRA organization for the Tenth Ward: Major, Harry P. Ruppert; Adjutants, Alma Dougherty and Grace Welch.

Captains, Miss Williams, John Romig, Joseph Lillick, Robert Walton, Reid Keenan, Charles Cleaves, Shirley J. Ruppert, W. Roy Hagaman, Mrs. W. Roy Hagaman, Mildred Ruppert.

John Nugent, William Turner, Robert Harris, M. L. Walley, Germain Coleman, Harold Fogarty, James J. Ernissee, Henry Ludman, Robert Fischer.

John Dorsey, Mrs. Clifford Dieter, Bernard Darcy, Don Greene, Mae Leadley, Tom Brien, Jim Welch, Myer Braiman, Francis J. O'Neill, John L. McGrath.

Frank Ferris, Leo Green, Robert Nellis, John Hanna, Clarence Fisher, Harry Marks, Walter Byrne, Mathias Barry, Chas. M. Robinson, Jas. A. Connolly.

Complaint Bureau Meets

The NRA drive is being kept constantly before the public by radio and newspapers and minute-men are instilling the spirit of the campaign wherever opportunity affords itself.

The first meeting of the Complaint Bureau will be held tomorrow afternoon at 5:15 in the Federal Court Room of the Post Office Building. "Major" Paul Folger, who will preside, emphasizes the fact that anyone can make a complaint to the bureau, but that all complaints must be properly signed if they are to receive attention.

The Fellowship Class of Grace Church, with A. D. Bessey as teacher, is planning its annual week-end at Lime Lake. Mrs. Bessey has charge of the food.

Lewiston Eight Pinochle Club held a sausage roast August 23 at the cottage of Mrs. Ralph King, Grand View Heights.

Wide Range Sound Being Introduced at Riviera

Western Electric Wide Range Sound, hailed as the forerunner of a new era of entertainment, will be heard for the first time at the Riviera Theatre on Sunday.

The outstanding feature of this new sound development is a clear, lifelike quality that has never before been heard in talking pictures. This has been accomplished through an extension of the frequency range of sounds that can be recorded and reproduced.

The result is that sounds of both high and low extremes, as whispers or thunder, can be heard at their natural level without distortion. A more sweeping effect of great volume is attained. Dialogue that formerly was toneless becomes vibrant.

The effect is even more marked in musical numbers where Wide Range, through its enlarged range, makes it possible to record and reproduce each instrument as distinctively as if each were playing a solo. The carrying volume of organ recitals is reproduced with pronounced power.

The new sound system was developed at the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Daily matinees will be resumed at the Riviera beginning Monday. Thereafter the show will be continuous from two to 11 every day.

"How Many Parts?" Youngsters Wonder; Bike Contest Nears End

One of the most popular places for youngsters at the present time seems to be Beckwith's bicycle store at 271 Lyell avenue. Throughout the day they can be seen with their noses pressed to the windows studying the completely demobilized bike on display there and at the same time admiring the five prizes.

What each of them would like to know is how many parts there are in that bicycle, for to the lucky five who guess nearest to correct go those prizes. They study the situation for a while, then some go inside to register their guesses. Others still undecided wait around outside to see what the rest are guessing or go home to think it over and return at a later time.

Sun.-Mon.-Tues. Review

"I Love That Man" is a drama of a woman's devotion to a man she knows is a crook, with Edmund Lowe, Nancy Carroll, Robert Armstrong, Lew Cody, Warren Hymer and Dorothy Burgess in the leading roles.

Lowe sticks his tongue in his cheek in this drama of a woman's devotion to a black sheep, enacting the role of a slick "con-man," pursuing elusive dollars and dimes. His exploits include the sale of words to a dictionary, tea to a bootlegger. In his leisure time, he promotes dames; finds, however, that love has promoted him when he meets Nancy Carroll.

The two join hands as partners in crime, sweep across country, loot the pockets of "dubs" in sundry get-rich-quick schemes, finally evolve a deal to sell glass coffins to undertakers. It turns out so well that Nancy persuades him to go straight.

New DeSotos Arrived at Hall's Sales & Service

The new DeSotos have arrived at Hall's Sales and Service, 1850 Dewey avenue, and are now available for demonstration. They are said to comprise advanced engineering principals and nearly every new development of the automotive field. They will also be shown at the Rochester Exposition next week.

At no additional cost, the following improvements have been added to the DeSoto: Air-wheel tires, dual horn, dual stoplight, dual windshield wiper, custom model cigar light, more horsepower (now 82), adjustable dashlight switch and other features too numerous to mention. New color schemes have been arranged to further add to the attractiveness of the new models.

All Chrysler features, as customary, are included, such as automatic clutch, free wheeling, floating power, hydraulic brakes, safety steel bodies, safety plate glass windshield, thermostatic non-stalling throttle control, etc.

"Just to find out what a difference a real grease job makes in your car, take a tip from me. I told you a month ago about having my car greased at the Ridge Super Station, 600 Ridge Road West. Well, it hasn't squeaked yet. That's what I call a first class job. That 9,000 lb. pressure sure does the work, and certainly the way that grease holds up it proves its quality."

EXPOSITION TO OPEN GATES NEXT MONDAY

Incessant clatter of hammer and saw, the creaking of block and tackle, the vibrant thuds of pick and shovel and above all an overtone of shouted orders and human bustle—that symphony of organized preparation so dear to the heart and ears of every showman—resounded through every nook and corner of Edgerton Park today as Rochester's twenty-third Exposition and Horse Show took form in earnest, with its Labor Day opening only three days away.

From his office in Building No. 3, overlooking the busy scene, General Manager William B. Boothby issued a multitude of directions, interviewed countless supervisors and minor executives, every now and then abandoning a cluttered desk, insistent telephones and inner and outer offices filled with waiting people to rush hither and yon about the grounds to inspect a constantly changing panorama of construction work and remodeling.

This week witnesses the "moving in" operations as countless displays, exhibits, concessions and fair attractions—some of them coming here from far corners of the United States—take their appointed places on the grounds and inside the huge exhibit buildings. Then comes the last minute "dressing up" process, the placing of thousands upon thousands of yards of banners and bunting, hanging of decorative fixtures, the stringing of miles upon miles of electric lights and the innumerable "finishing touches" that must be in place before the gates swing open to the public for six days and six nights of instructive splendor and carnival fun, beginning next Monday morning.

THE WAY TO OFFSET BREWERY'S RETAILING

Rochester retailers are considerably wrought up by the continued two-headed policy of local breweries. They object strenuously to the brewers being in both the wholesale and retail end of the beer business, contrary to the established practice in other merchandise.

The retailers point out that it has long been considered improper and unfair for the manufacturer or jobber to engage in trade direct to the public. To this code of ethics, the breweries have turned a deaf ear.

One of the local retailers has found, however, that there is a sound, logical method of overcoming the brewery competition. They have found a sales argument which the breweries cannot offer. The Lyell Food Products Co. are selling 15 or more different brands of beer, ale and porter and mixing each case according to the customer's desire.

They found at Lyell Food Products Co. that the same beer does not appeal to all members of the family. In buying direct from the brewery, to satisfy everyone's taste, one would have to buy several cases, one from each brewery. In buying from the Lyell avenue store, the various brands can be mixed in one case at no extra cost.

In addition Lyell Food Products Co. gives a crystal clear 9 oz. goblet with each case of beer purchased at the store. (This offer does not extend to deliveries.)

Holy Rosary Must Win
Two Remaining Games

Holy Rosary indoor nine suffered its first loss of the second half of the Catholic League last Sunday, being turned back by St. Andrews 6 to 5. The winning run was scored in the ninth after two were out.

As a result of this defeat the local boys are in another tight spot. Holy Apostles now leads them by virtue of having played one more game, but if Holy Rosary wins its final two games it will earn at least a tie for first.

Next Sunday morning Holy Rosary faces St. Boniface at Edgerton Playground and on the following Sunday, September 10, meets Holy Redeemer on the same diamond.

Boy Scout Rescues Girl From Drowning in River

Word has been received here of a daring rescue of a New York City girl from the waters of the Hudson River by Scout Jack Baybutt of Troop 81. On August 12 the girl was swimming in the Hudson near Saratoga Springs. Near the middle of the river she was seized by cramps, and was about to sink when Jack reached her. He pulled her ashore and averted a tragedy. He had been swimming across the river with two other boys. The girl weighed 114 pounds, while Jack's weight is only 90. Jack and two other scouts of Troop 81 earned the Life Saving Merit Badge last spring.

Several hundred canning jars were obtained from people who were willing to give them by boy scouts of Troop 81 as the troop's part in the Rochester Civic Unemployment Committee's campaign to get jars for self-help gardeners. Handicapped by the fact that most of the members were out of town, scouts of the Flying Eagle and Beaver Patrols continued the work begun by Ben Taber's Foxes. Ed Smith and Arnold Spaan directed the Flying Eagles and Beavers in the work.

Assistant Scoutmaster Ed Burke visited the Century of Progress Exhibition in Chicago this month.

CONSUMERS ENLISTED IN NEW NRA CAMPAIGN

Turning its attention to the stimulation of buying and the enlistment of the entire American public, the National Recovery Administration is now requesting Mr. Average Citizen to demonstrate his support by signing consumer's pledge cards.

The familiar NRA emblems are now available to every householder. Consumer cards are being passed out by the mail carriers and when signed and presented at a sub-postoffice, properly filled out, they entitle the householder to receive and display the NRA emblem. The cards may also be turned in at numerous service stations.

The campaign admittedly is at one of its critical points. Manufacturers and retailers are being rapidly organized under permanent codes; in the meantime all are operating under the blanket code. They have had a new order of industrial regulation presented to them, involving many re-adjustments. They have hired additional help.

Now the public's support is needed. Buying must be accelerated if the campaign is to keep on progressing. Very definite signs of price rise, it is felt will aid in the buying drive, inasmuch as it will be to the consumer's own personal interest to buy when the prices are lowest.

The first fall meeting of the Upper Lake Avenue Improvement Association will be held at 752 Lake avenue Monday noon at 12:15. A luncheon will precede the meeting. Councilman Nelson A. Milne will be present to address the association and is expected to make an announcement of considerable importance. William Heinrich, president, will introduce Mr. Milne.

Tenth Warders Winners at Annual Horse Show

A number of Tenth Warders took prominent parts in the Horse Show just closed, several of them taking prizes.

Herbert A. Johnston, competing for the first time, entered his big bay hunter "Norseman" in three classes and emerged with three prizes. In the heavyweight jumpers class, featured by some of the keenest competition of the show, Norseman took first place. He brought home thirds in both the heavyweight saddle class and progressive jumping.

In competition for the silver cup given by Alvah G. Strong for the best exhibitions of riding by trios of school girls, John Marshall High's entry was awarded third. Helen Sadden, Barbara Tarbox and Jean Reid were in the saddles. The horses were from the Culver Armory.

Charlotte Morgan had a fourth in the lady's saddle class and a second in the rental class. Her sister, Betty Jane, won fourth in the children's pony class.

INDOOR TITLE SERIES IS TO OPEN HERE SUNDAY

Holy Rosary won the second half championship of the Catholic Indoor League and the right to meet St. Andrews for the title. The two will clash at Edgerton Playground Sunday morning at 10:30 a. m. in the first game of a series of three. To the winner goes the city title and 1933 possession of the Rochester Echo trophy, now held by Holy Rosary, winner in 1932.

Granted fair weather Sunday's game should attract one of the largest crowds ever to witness a soft ball game here. Pitching will hold the spotlight in the series. Holy Rosary has two fine pitchers in Joe Witzigman and Barney Agness. No definite pitching choice has been made for St. Andrews, but it is expected that Tony Ferari, who pitched St. Andrews to the first half championship, will be their choice.

Holy Rosary clinched the second half crown by trouncing Holy Redeemer Tuesday night, 11 to 1, in the play-off of a postponed game. Witzigman was on the mound and held the opposition to just two hits.

Win Another Banner In Safe Driver Competition

Bauman and Baynes are again flying the Class R safety banner in their window, in recognition of their perfect, no-accident record during the past year. The award is given by the Public Safety division of the Chamber of Commerce. Class R is for light deliveries. Bauman and Baynes also won the banner in 1930 and 1931.

SCHMANKE IS DIRECTOR IN SHOE DEALER ASS'N

RIVIERA FEATURE REVIEW

Week-end Program
Tonight "Midnight Mary" with Loretta Young and Ricardo Cortez; and "Revenge at Monte Carlo" with June Collyer. (Free china.)

Fri.-Sat.—"Peg 'O My Heart" with Marion Davies and "Headline Shooter" with William Gargan and Frances Dee. (Sat. matinee: "Three Musketeers," serial; free candy to children.)

Sun.-Mon.-Tues.—"Double Harness" with Ann Harding and William Powell; and "Mamma Loves Papa" with Charles Ruggles and Mary Boland.

"Peg 'O My Heart" has an Irish setting and blonde Marion Davies takes off the Irish heroine and her brogue to perfection. The theme subsequently shifts to England where the colleen proves a difficult subject for her tutors and friends.

Miss Davies' reaction to schooling forced on her by terms of an inheritance provide decidedly humorous situations. There is also a touching side to the picture and a piquancy which make "Peg 'O My Heart" one of Miss Davies' best productions.

As a sweetheart, she is ardently wooed. As a bride, she is kissless. That is Ann Harding's sad plight at the beginning as wife of William Powell in "Double Harness," the Riviera Theatre's comedy-drama recounting a modern bride's predicament.

New Pastor Called By Dewey Reformed Church

The Dewey Avenue Reformed Church at a recent congregational meeting called to its pastorate the Rev. Braynard E. Kurkowski of this city. Mr. Kurkowski is a graduate of the University of Rochester, and received his theological training at Eden Theological Seminary, the divinity school of the Evangelical Synod of North America, located at Webster Groves, Missouri.

Mr. Kurkowski's coming to the Dewey Church is made possible through the joint co-operation of the Home Mission Boards of the Reformed Church in the United States and the Evangelical Synod of North America. Such co-operation on their part is a result of the proposed merger of these two denominations which is expected to be consummated in the near future. The plan of union has already been approved by the Reformed Church in the constitutional manner.

In the Evangelical Synod 19 of the 20 districts have approved the merger plan, and there remains to make the union effective the vote of the General Conference of the Synod confirming the action of the districts. This General Conference is to be held in October in Cincinnati, after which steps toward the constituting of "The Evangelical and Reformed Church," as the new denomination will be called, will be taken. As a result of this merger approximately 3,000 churches with a membership of over 800,000 individuals will be included in the new denomination.

Dewey Avenue Reformed Church has the unique distinction of being the first point at which this impending merger has actually been felt in a practical way. Mr. Kurkowski was graduated from the Evangelical Seminary last June, and on June 25 was ordained into the Evangelical ministry by Dr. Frederick Frankenfeld at Salem Evangelical Church of this city, where he was formerly a member. As an Evangelical minister he is taking up his duties in the Dewey Avenue Reformed Church at once.

Sunday School is held every Sunday morning at 9:45, with the church worship service beginning at 11:00.

NEW MARSHALL HIGH PROSPECTS REVIVED

Prospects for a new building at John Marshall High School were unexpectedly renewed this week when the City Council authorized issuance of bonds in the sum of $1,490,000 to finance it. The project now awaits only government approval.

Councilman Nelson A. Milne, who introduced the ordinance authorizing the financing of the new school states that it is his opinion the project will be given government sanction and therewith a direct contribution which will lessen the cost to the city by 30 per cent.

John Marshall has long been the subject of debate. When the new building was authorized at Charlotte, advocates of a new high school here had given up almost all hope. The need was well established and all members of the Council were agreed that the former factory in which John Marshall is housed was inadequate and unsatisfactory from nearly every point of view. Financing was the only stumbling block, but this will be considerably alleviated if Federal funds are made available.

Republican Card Party To be on September 28

Republican Women of the Tenth Ward are making plans for a card party to be held at Wegman's Hall, 375 E. Main street, on September 28. Date on the ticket called for September 21, but this is incorrect.

The tickets have been re-rated and are being replaced as rapidly as possible.

The ladies hope to fill the hall to capacity, expecting about 60 tables. There will be a prize for each table and door prizes in addition.

PRIMARY DAY, TUESDAY PROMISES FEW FIGHTS

Next Tuesday Rochester will turn its attention to the selection of candidates by the various parties for nomination to political office. As far as the Tenth Ward is concerned Primary Day will be a cut-and-dried matter with no contests of any large consequence except in the case of Councilman Joseph L. Guzzetta.

Dr. Guzzetta is one of six competing for five councilmanic places on the Republican slate. The Tenth Ward shares interest with the entire city in this contest as the candidates are for Councilman-at-large. Glen Simpson has entered the field to try for a place on the ticket over the five designated by the Republican executive committee.

Election Day on November 7 will see the culmination of the real battles and the answer to the question as to whether or not the Democrats are strong enough to follow the lead of the state and nation and sweep the city and county.

The Ward G. O. P. ticket has been revamped slightly this year to give the rising young Republicans their first real acknowledgement. Earl C. Bryan, active in the young men's affairs, has been designated for Constable in place of Morgan Thistle. He is on the ticket with George H. Hesselink, candidate for Supervisor to succeed himself.

Supporting Rogers
A meeting of a rather unusual nature is scheduled for tomorrow night in the chambers of the Tenth Ward Democratic Club in Driving Park avenue. Leo Gunn and "Doc" Marron will be making the first test of their pulling power. These two young men broke away from the Republican fold early this year and claim to have a considerable following.

They are throwing their support to George Rogers, Democratic candidate for Supervisor, and the meeting tomorrow night is their first formal gathering. Mr. Rogers will be one of the speakers on the program.

Winners Awarded Prizes In Beckwith Bike Contest

The bicycle parts guessing contest came to a close last Saturday at Beckwith's and quite a crowd was present to hear the correct answers and to claim prizes won, if any. When the sealed envelope was opened, it disclosed that the correct number was 1362 parts.

A careful examination of the "ballots" resulted in the following winners: 1—John Kewley; 2—Casmier Koneski; 3—Mary D'Anobrio; 4—David Swan; 5—Anna Serio. These were the lucky ones out of nearly 500 entrants.

In addition several bicycle horns were drawn for and were won by the following: Richard Brown, Fred Corcoran, Wilbert Gunner and Joe Pitcher. Any of these who have not as yet received their horns are requested to claim them immediately at Beckwith's, 271 Lyell avenue.

Prosperity Certificates Given Out by Merchants

Slager Band, American Legion, is running the American Legion Prosperity Contest to raise most of the funds necessary to defray the band's expenses to the National Convention at Chicago in October.

Under the plan, merchants buy voting certificates at $1.00 per book of 100 certificates and give to each customer one certificate with every purchase of a dollar. Each certificate counts 10 votes toward winning $1,200 in prizes, consisting of a 1933 Chevrolet Master Coach, Electrolux Gas Refrigerator, General Electric Flatplate Ironer, $70, $50, $30 and $20 in cash prizes, plus a $10 weekly cash prize for the contestant who turns in the largest number of votes weekly.

The contest is open to all people in the Rochester area. Certificates when received from merchants should be signed and sent to the Contest Editor, 34 Court street, Rochester, N. Y.

LEXINGTON SCHOOL 34

Many changes have taken place at Lexington School No. 34 during the summer vacation. The new term has started and both teachers and pupils are looking forward to a most pleasant and worthwhile year.

The registration is 500, an increase of approximately fifty children. However, there is still room for new children in the kindergarten. The age requirement is five years or over.

The results of the summer activities are especially interesting. Many of the pupils have made valuable collections pertaining to the center of interest in each particular grade. The Century of Progress at the Chicago World's Fair had a good representation from this school. The teachers who attended were Miss Mary Delehanty, Miss Arlene Fritz and Miss Elizabeth Jardine, secretary; the pupils are Nancy Peterson, Clara Howard, Richard, Arlene and Virginia Wild and Helen Kuhnmann.

Children who took part in the elementary science demonstration at the Rochester Exposition are Ronald Cooper, John Strassner, Thusnela Eichel, Albert LaFave and Virginia Brasch.

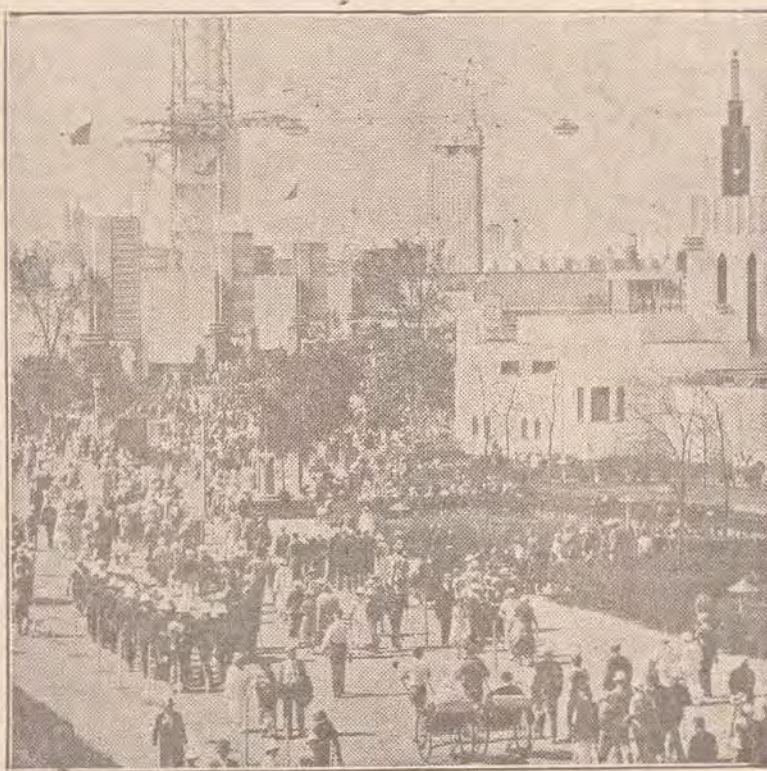

The traffic squad were ready for duty the first day of school under the direction of the captain, Benjamin Masseth.

Holy Rosary Bowlers To Start on Sept. 27

Holy Rosary Bowling League has organized for the coming season, and will roll a schedule of 84 games at the Ridge Bowling Hall, beginning Wednesday, September 27. The league will again consist of eight teams.

Officers for the season are: Bill Charlell, president; Jule Noll, treasurer; and Bob Wiesner, secretary. Both old and new bowlers are requested to attend the league meeting in the Parish Hall on Monday evening, September 25, at 8:00 p. m.

Throngs Merge on Science Hall at Fair

Down colorful Lief Eriksen drive at A Century of Progress—the Chicago World's Fair—the crowds are merging toward the Hall of Science (in the background) and the Sky Ride. In the foreground (right), visitors are flocking into the Hall of Religion.

Across The Counter

Food dealers find that the new regulations promulgated by the Welfare Department of the City with regard to welfare orders are not to their liking, nor in conformance with any code. Under the system at present in use, the dealer must bill all food to the city at wholesale prices, that is to say wholesale prices as established by the city. The city adds 12% to the total in lieu of "profit" to the retailer.

To bring home forcibly to the welfare department how impossible it is for any retail food business to be run on a 12% margin, many dealers are anxious that the local authorities open public commissaries. When they have deducted the proper amount for shrinkage, unavoidable loss, wrapping, rent, heat, light and help, how much of their 12% "profit" will be left? In addition to the allowance for the items just named, every business man is entitled to some slight return on his invested capital; but as a patriotic duty he would be glad to pass this up if the 12% could only be made to cover the other items of expense. But it can't.

Another bad feature of the plan as now operating is that wholesale prices become public knowledge. Since time immemorial it has been considered the best psychology not to flaunt the wholesale list to the public breeze and for obvious reasons this is about the worst possible time to establish a new precedent.

Dealing in a single commodity and faced by very severe competition, the corner shoe repairman has had about as difficult a time "pulling through" as any one. Yet Tenth Ward shoe rebuilders have been uniformly successful in weathering the storm.

John Siano, whose happy repairmen last spring attracted considerable attention over the radio, in addition to running a place downtown has tided over well at his Dewey avenue store. Mr. Siano, incidentally, is "sold" to a remarkable degree on the power of advertising and especially with regard to newspapers.

Sam LaRussa of Driving Park avenue has just recently been notified of his being awarded another prize at the National Shoe Repair Exhibit in Chicago for quality and workmanship. This is the second time he has been so honored.

Myers and Stoneham, Lake avenue electricians, have just completed a good looking job at the neighboring H. A. Johnston Kleen Bakery. The job was the installation of modern lighting fixtures.

Bowlers among the business men of Dewey avenue are preparing shortly to dedicate one night of each week to the time-honored tenpin game. The lower end, which denotes itself as the H-K-L-B League, may have to change the title or add a few more additions thereto with at least two more possible entrants in view. The Upper Dewey League will hold to its regular four teams.

This is the second in a series of sermons on "Personal Evangelism" in connection with the membership campaign which is being conducted by the Church Council in an effort to secure the co-operation of every member and every organization to win others for Christ and His Church. Members of the chorus choir are expected to be present Sunday morning for the usual processions which have been omitted during the summer.

Tonight, there will be a meeting at eight o'clock in the Parish House of the enlarged membership campaign committee together with the Church Council to complete arrangements for launching of a membership campaign to continue until after Easter. Lynn C. Conover is chairman and will be assisted by the president of the Church Council, Harry Peters.

Next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock there will be a mission festival for all the Lutheran churches of the city on the grounds of the newest mission, the Lutheran Church of the Transfiguration, Culver road and Avondale. The Rev. Franklin F. Fry, D. D., executive secretary of the Board of American Missions, will be the speaker, and special music will be furnished by a mass chorus under the direction of Elmer Fischer.

The Sunday School will hold its annual Rally Day service the last Sunday in September at 9:30 o'clock in the church auditorium with the Rev. F. W. Palmer, D. D., hospital chaplain, as speaker. Brief addresses will be made by the superintendent, Alvin Frickey, and by the teachers of the Adult Department in setting forth the work for the coming year. It will also be promotion day for the Primary and Intermediate Departments in charge of Mrs. George Eyer and Tessie Ladwig. Both these departments will have special Rally Day programs. Every active member is expected to bring along a prospective member for this Rally Day service.

TENTH WARDERS TAKE PART IN NRA PARADE

The Tenth Ward made its contribution to the huge NRA parade which kept Rochester up until the early hours of Wednesday morning. In addition to working men, many merchants were represented in the long line of march. Schools, too, had their full quotas.

Eastman Kodak with nearly every employee in line had by far the largest representation in the industrial group. The float designed as a representation of the Veteran's Memorial Bridge and entered by the Lake and Ridge Business Men attracted considerable attention. The membership was represented by some 25 or 30 marchers.

The shoe repairmen had a large float with a huge shoe mounted on top and in addition John Siano had a walking shoe about seven feet tall as his entry. Other business men marched with their trade associations and fraternal groups.

John Marshall High was well represented among the schools and its band as well as that of Aquinas Institute was in marching regalia. Jefferson also had a large delegation.

Al Sigl, Tenth Warder and news broadcaster, had a prominent place on the Times-Union float and managed to get in his full quota of humor and wit. It can also be taken for granted that the ward was well represented on the sidelines.

The business will be continued by his widow, Ray A., and daughter, Mrs. Meyer Braiman.

George Rogers Talks on County Government Here

At a meeting of the Tenth Ward Young Men's Democratic Club, held September 13, George Rogers, Democratic nominee for Tenth Ward Supervisor, was the principal speaker. Mr. Rogers stated in part: "The Republican assertions of Tammany trying to obtain control of the Legislature, and that they would have that control if the Democratic candidates were elected this fall, is just a smoke screen."

"Tammany controls just one county in New York State, namely, New York County," the speaker said. "The counties adjacent to New York County, namely, the Bronx, Nassau and others, have their own organizations. They jealously guard their organizations against the usurpation of outside forces."

Mr. Rogers also stated "The sheriff's office had a standing army in 1932, of 81 deputy sheriffs, according to the report of the Board of Supervisors for that year; 31 listed as regular under that title in the Supervisors' Report of the personnel of the sheriff's office, with salaries at $2,420 per year. Also a check of the Supervisors' report on claims on the sheriff's office show that 50 additional men were hired during 1932 and according to this report their status was deputy sheriffs and in most cases, as in that of Charles Ballard, their salaries amounted to $2,374 per year, just $46 less than the regularly listed deputy sheriffs."

The meeting was conducted by George Welch, Jr., president. Other speakers were Julius Hoesterey, Democratic candidate for Councilman-at-large; Thomas Moran, Tenth Ward leader; and John Hanna, Democratic candidate for Constable. The meeting drew a large attendance. Refreshments were served.

CATHOLIC LEAGUE TITLE AT STAKE NEXT SUNDAY

Holy Rosary indoor nine by defeating St. Andrew's last Sunday, 9 to 7, evened the series at one apiece. The third and final game of the Catholic League series for the championship will be played at Edgerton Playground next Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

Holy Rosary is expected to start with the regular line-up, including Leo Gallagher at short and Johnny "Blun" at third base. These two boys were added to the club after the first defeat and both played spectacularly both at bat and in the field. Barney Agness or Joe Witzigman will pitch for Holy Rosary against Ferrari or Rebman for St. Andrew's.

Sausage Equipment Added At Christman's Market

Complete sausage making equipment has been installed at Christman's Market, Dewey and Driving Park avenues, and a professional sausage maker has been employed to furnish the Tenth Ward with the home-made variety. Fifteen to 20 different kinds will be made.

"Besides endeavoring to please our patrons, we had in mind making a gesture toward the President in support of the NRA in making this move," states Phillip R. Christman. "We felt that we would be doing our part by investing several hundred dollars in equipment and also in providing work for an extra man. We are making a high grade sausage with the best of ingredients."

RIVIERA FEATURE REVIEW

Week-end Program
Tonight—(Free china) "No Marriage Ties" with Richard Dix and Dorothy Kenyon; "Baby Face" with Barbara Stanwyck; and Jack Pearl (Baron Munchausen) in "The Meal Ticket."

Fri.-Sat. — "Strangers Return" with Lionel Barrymore and Miriam Hopkins; "F. P. 1"; "Prosperity Blues"; and Episode 3 of "Three Musketeers."

Sun.-Mon.-Tues. Review
Handsome star of a dozen Broadway musical comedy hits, yet Alexander Gray has never played a more romantic role in his brilliant stage career than he did recently in real life.

While appearing in one of the featured leads in "Moonlight and Pretzels," the Universal film musical, Gray slipped away from the studio one evening and eloped with Miss Peggy McCray, Oklahoma oil heiress, thus culminating one of the strangest and most unusual romances in the history of the show business.

With Miss McCray it was a case of love at first sight. She first saw

Gray as the dashing hero of "The Desert Song" and fell for him almost immediately. Then only 14 years of age she began writing "fan" letters to the star, and Gray, finding the letters intelligent and interesting, struck up a correspondence with his admirer which continued for three years. Then they met. It was a case of love at first sight with Gray, too.

A clue is the first approach to a murder mystery. Without a clue the police are helpless. In the murder mystery entitled "The Secret of the Blue Room," the reverse is the case. There are altogether too many clues. Strange as it seems, the most exasperating situation in attempting to solve a murder is to find too many obvious motives. All great detectives say that.

The solution is the surprising climax of the film, which has Lionel Atwill, Paul Lukas, Gloria Stuart, Edward Arnold, William Janney, Onslow Stevens, Russell Hopton, Anders van Haden, Muriel Kirkland and James Durkin in its cast.

LEXINGTON SCHOOL 34

During the opening week of school many children brought in various articles representing their summer activities. Among the collection were: a sunbonnet girl quilt made by Martha Beldue of the 5A Grade, chimes made by Edith Simpson of the 8B Grade, a tin of cookies showing the culinary accomplishment of Carolyn McQuay of the 3B Grade, an afghan, made by Grace Dutton of the 4B Grade. The boys' collections consisted of stamp albums, boats and drawings of scenes in Cape Cod observed during the summer.

Several interesting assemblies have taken place. On September 15 Norbert Klem gave a violin solo. Miss Wright's 2B and 2A Grades sang and dramatized "The Dutch Windmill." Ronald Sharpe and Shirley Lobb conducted the assembly on September 22. Nancy Petersen, Clare Howard and Arlene Wild read interesting papers about their trip to "A Century of Progress."

SALMON A FISH OF GREAT VALUE

Supports a Vast Industry on Pacific Coast.

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNE Service.

SOME two thousand Chinook salmon from the Pacific coast, which were hatched in the aquarium of Washington's new Department of Commerce building, will be placed in Deep Creek lake, Maryland, whose waters drain into the upper Potomac. It is hoped the fish will find their way to salt water and return, in four years, to spawn, thus stocking the historic river.

Pacific salmon are the most valuable fishes, not only of the United States but also of the entire western hemisphere; and with the single exception of the sea herrings, they are commercially the leading fishes of the world.

In one year the aggregate catch of salmon in the Pacific states, British Columbia and Alaska was upward of four hundred million pounds; which, as sold in a canned, salted, smoked, frozen and fresh condition, had a market value of about $27,750,000. The canned product alone, consisting of more than five million cases of 48 one-pound cans, was worth $25,500,000. Thirty-five thousand people were engaged in the different branches of the industry, and the invested capital was fully $30,000,000.

There are five distinct species of salmon, which, having many characteristics in common nevertheless differ strikingly in size, color, habits, distribution, food value, and economic importance. The largest and most magnificent of all salmon is the Chinook, Quinnet, King, Spring, or Tyeo salmon. It has an average weight of nearly 25 pounds in the Columbia river, and is often caught weighing 40 to 60 pounds, while occasionally examples of over 100 pounds are taken. While found from California to China, it attains its greatest abundance in the Sacramento, Columbia, Yukon and other large streams.

Blueback Has Its Faults.

The species called Blueback salmon on the Columbia, Sockeye on Puget Sound, and Redfish or Red Salmon in Alaska, averages only five pounds in weight and never exceeds twelve. It attains greatest abundance in the Columbia, the Fraser, and in various streams throughout Alaska. Its meat is rich in quality, deep red in color, and the fish is therefore in great demand for canning. While a beautiful fish when in salt water, with bright blue back and silver sides, after entering fresh water it deteriorates rapidly in food value and appearance, the head turns to olive green, and the entire back and sides become crimson and finally dark blood red.

The Silver or Coho salmon, with a general distribution in the coast streams, averages six pounds in weight and rarely exceeds 25 or 30.

The smallest species is the Humpback, so called from the well-marked nuchal hump developed by the male in fall. The extremes of weight for mature examples are three and eleven pounds, with four pounds as the average. The region of greatest abundance is Puget Sound to southeast Alaska.

The remaining species, the Dog or Chum salmon, averages eight pounds in weight. It is generally distributed and abundant, but, owing to the poor quality of the flesh, is the least important of the group. The distortion of the jaws in the male during the breeding season, while characteristic of all species, is particularly marked in the Dog salmon.

Where They Spawn.

The differences in spawning times and places of the different species of salmon are most interesting. After spending most of their lives at sea, growing, accumulating fat, and storing energy, the salmon move inshore and ascend the streams. After once beginning their upward journey, they take no food, and in fact are incapable of digesting and assimilating food.

The Quinnet salmon begins to run in spring and pushes its way to the headwaters of the larger streams. In the Columbia basin the species distributes itself over 90,000 square miles of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Montana, its upward limit being insurmountable obstructions or falls. In the Snake river and Yukon river the spawning grounds lie 2,000 miles by water from the sea.

The spawning streams of the Red salmon are those that rise in lakes, and the spawning grounds are in the affluents of those lakes. The run begins in May and fish continue to come in until October, depending on latitude.

The Silver salmon enters the streams from July to October or November, but does not as a rule ascend for long distances.

The Humpback runs into fresh water in summer and fall, preferably in short coast streams, and often spawns within a few rods of the ocean.

The schools of Dog salmon come into the stream rather late; in the Columbia river and Puget Sound the run extends from August to late in November, and in Alaska the height of the season is about the first of September.

Now, whether the salmon travel in the streams 2,000 miles or 200 feet to reach their spawning grounds, and regardless of their physical condition at the time they arrive at the particular places required for the proper development of eggs and young, every individual of every species dies shortly after spawning. This is the most characteristic and remarkable event in the life of the Pacific salmon.

Why this is the case is one of nature's mysteries. It has its parallel in some other fishes, in the may-fly, which perishes after a few hours' existence, and in the annual plants. One can only say of such that they have served their purpose and are no longer needed.

While the Pacific salmon run with more or less regularity, year after year, two of the species exhibit, in particular streams or regions, a marked periodicity in abundance which is so well established that it can be predicted with certainty years in advance.

Artificial Propagation.

The artificial propagation of salmon in the streams of the Pacific seaboard began at a comparatively early date and has continued with yearly increasing extent and importance, so that at the present time more hatcheries are devoted to the Pacific salmon than to any other fishes of the western hemisphere.

The first salmon hatchery in the West was established in 1872, on the McCloud river in California. By Executive order there was set aside a large tract for a "piscicultural preserve," which was fittingly named Baird, after the first national commissioner of fisheries; and Livingstone Stone, a pioneer fish culturist, was placed in charge and continued in that capacity for many years, overcoming many obstacles, undergoing many privations, repeatedly subjected to great danger from attacks of Indians and outlaws, while devising methods which showed the possibilities of salmon culture and led to the present extraordinary development of this art.

The original Baird hatchery, still in active operation, is now supplemented by numerous other govern-pensive receivers and even fewer would enjoy working them. Short wave reception over great distances is noisy and fluctuating (fades) while much patience is necessary to tune in the stations. And last, but not least, after all the effort the results are most disappointing—there isn't any country that puts the wonderful programs on the air that your U. S. A. radio fan has at his finger tips 20 hours a day.

ment stations, which may be regarded as lineal descendants.

The eggs of the salmon are .2 to .25-inch in diameter, and are the largest handled by the fish culturist. They are easily obtained by intercepting the fish on their way to the spawning grounds by means of racks, traps, seines, etc., and then, when exactly ripe, by expressing by firm pressure on the abdomen.

Not Easy to Handle.

The size and activity of the salmon make it necessary for two or three men to work together in holding the fish and relieving them of their eggs and milt, and the largest individuals are most readily managed by putting them in a strait jacket.

In view of the inevitable death of the salmon after spawning, an improvement over the old method of forcible expulsion of eggs is the stunning of the fish by a blow on the head and taking of the eggs by abdominal suction. This, while greatly facilitating the work of the spawn-takers, adds approximately 10 per cent to the egg yield by the saving of eggs that would ordinarily be left in the abdominal cavity.

Salmon eggs hatch slowly. Incubation, beginning in late summer or early autumn, continues until the following spring or summer, depending on the temperature of the water. The most protracted period of incubation thus far coming to the notice of fish culturists is that of the red salmon at Karluk, Alaska, where eggs taken in September may not hatch until the following May or June, and in certain seasons the hatching time has been prolonged to 270 days.

The annual deposits of young salmon in the waters of the Pacific seaboard by the bureau of fisheries, the three coast states, the Province of British Columbia, and the private hatcheries in Alaska now total many millions, of which the largest quantity represents the work of the federal government.

Radio Tips, Questions and Answers
BY H. S. RUSSELL

Q. My radio is a ——— 1931 model. It would cost me nearly $15.00 to have it repaired. Would you fix it or add a few dollars to the fifteen and buy a new, low-priced radio?

A. If you have $70 to $100 to spend by all means buy a new radio. The advances, refinements and innovations in the new receivers are almost unbelievable. But if you have only $20 to $30 to invest, then my advice is to have your present receiver properly serviced and adjusted. The model you own is an expensive, finely built instrument. You have had a front seat at all radio entertainments. You cannot expect (or will you receive) the natural, full toned reproduction or the trouble-free service from a $20 or $30 radio that you have had from your expensive receiver. All radios are machines—they require repairs and replacements and adjustments every so often. The man who owns a good receiver must not be exasperated when his radio demands attention. A cheap radio requires much more servicing than a good one and it never reproduces broadcasts as well as the fine receiver.

Q. Is short wave reception from Europe, Australia, etc., possible on receivers selling for less than $200? If so why aren't more such receivers made and sold? D. B.

The monthly news sheet of the school, the "Look Out" was issued to all subscribers last Friday.

The faculty had a supper party Thursday night in honor of Miss Harriet B. Langham, who retired after more than 40 years' service at the school.
