Mr. Albert Dickinson,
Chicago, Ill.

My dear cousin:

Enclosed is a letter from Mr. Plunkett relative to the old Anthony homestead at Adams. Will you please pass it over to your sister Hannah so that you both may see that Mr. Plunkett considers it would be a good thing for the town of Adams to accept the present of the old house and old acres, to be kept as a park or breathing place for the people of that village.

I did not go to Adams while at the East, because Hannah was not able to send me an exact statement of the conditions on which you would deed the place to the trustees of the village. To my mind it will be vastly better for you to present it to the village than to the County Historical Society. The village is likely soon to be without any public park, as the Plunketts are selling building lots from their park in the West part of the town. I shall be going East again the last part of May, and if you and Hannah can put upon paper your wishes and also have the deed ready to be transferred to the village trustees, I will then if you wish go to Adams and attend to the business in whatsoever manner you shall direct.

It is evident from this letter that Mr. Plunkett is desirous that the village trustees shall accept the gift, so if you and Hannah wish thus to dispose of your dear mothers old homestead, let me know at your earliest convenience.

Yours sincerely,

Susan B. Anthony
