Dear Anna.

Your very nice letter came to us all right and we were very glad you were having so pleasant a time.

I am sure you will never regret having visited Washington.

I thought you would be interested in knowing more of the trials and troubles of 17 Madison Street – Miss Harse workedoneday, then announced that the next day would be her last, as she had found a permanent place. Of course that ended that matter. & after more & serious consultations with Miss Hawley, she very (apparently) reluctantly she consented to work a half of each day until her eyes were stronger, then the entire day – so she with her Saratoga are esconsed in your room for the time being -- How it will result, it is hard to tell. I put away your things in good shape, simply lifting your dress, cover & all, & placing it in the lower drawer with mine.

She told Nettie the first morning she 'hoped our cooking would not give her indigestion". What a responsibility is on my hands!

Their very lives at stake, by being obliged to sit at our table.

What a blessing to all concerned when relief comes -- Well stay out your vacation & enjoy it (if you can keep warm) to the end – you may not get away again soon,

With best wishes, Mary S. Anthony
