S. H. MORRIS, M. D.

SPECIALIST IN

Cancer and Hay Fever,

OFFICE, 16 Ellwood Building. Rochester, N. Y.
RESIDENCE, No. 104 Savannah St.

THINGS TO REMEMBER.

Dr. Morris is a Regular Physician, of experience. He makes no charge for examinations. He removes cancers without use of knife. The pain of removal is very slight. No anaesthetic is used. Cancers never return after his treatment. When the knife is used they are apt to return. External cancers are ALL curable in their early stage of growth. Few, if any, are curable after they become malignant. Cancer is not always recognized as such, until too late. Dr. Morris' charges for treatment are reasonable. He can give abundant references. He has been five years in his present location. His method differs from all others, is used only by himself, and is the VERY BEST METHOD in use.

ROCHESTER, NEW YORK.

The capital and metropolis of Monroe County, finely located upon a plateau on both sides of the Genesee river, two hundred and sixty-three feet above the level of Lake Ontario. It is the fourth city of importance in the Empire State and the twenty-second in rank and population in the United States. It is the only city in the Union that commands from its industries two titles, that of the "Flour City" of previous years from its large and extensive flouring mills, and of the "Flower City" of today from its vast trade to all parts of the world in nursery stock, seeds and flowering plants. Col. Nathaniel Rochester, a native of Virginia, visited the Genesee in 1802 and purchased six hundred acres of land. In 1804 he made another visit, when he purchased the "Hundred-acre-lot," now included in the city, for $17.50 per acre, and in 1810 he had it platted, and placed the lots on the market. In 1817 the little town of Rochesterville was incorporated with a population of about one thousand. In 1818 Rochester took up his residence here. In 1821 the county of Monroe was taken from Ontario and Genesee and Rochesterville was made the county seat and the name Rochester was adopted. The city of Rochester was incorporated in 1834 and contained upwards of 1,300 dwellings and business houses. Since that time Rochester has been marked by a steady and substantial growth with prospects as are not surpassed, or scarcely equaled by any other community on the continent.

Rochester has made great strides in a quarter of a century and the opportunities for advancement are constantly developing and expanding. The general prosperity prevailing in the community is abundantly attested by the fact that Rochester has within its corporate limits more actual householders and more prospective owners than any city of the same population in the entire country. It is a beautiful city of homes, and the reward of thrift and toil is apparent on every hand. The number of inhabitants in 1788 was estimated to be 15; 1815, estimated 300; 1817, estimated 1,000; 1820, by census, 1,502; 1825, estimated 5,000; U. S. census, 1870, 62,386; 1880, 88,363; 1890, 133,896; State census, 1892, 144,834.

Rochester presents in many respects, outside of New York City, the most metropolitan characteristics of any city in the State. Its population is cosmopolitan, and all races and creeds are here represented. It has over two hundred and fifty miles of streets, and it has sixty miles of electric street car lines. It is abundantly lighted by electricity and gas. The water works capacity is over 7,000,000 gallons daily. The number of churches is ninety-three. It has one of the finest art galleries in the United States, with many notable institutions devoted to education and science. There are twelve railroads diverging from the city, and the transportation facilities by rail, river, canal and lake give direct and quick communication with all parts of the United States and the Canadian shores.

The future prosperity of Rochester will be dependent upon its manufacturing interests more than all the other interests combined, and the natural advantages for their development and shipments cannot well be surpassed. The number of factories, mills, productive plants, machine shops and minor manufacturing concerns have increased to such a degree as to have nearly reached the three thousand mark, and the valued manufactured products to over $200,000,000 per annum. The most important industries of the city are the manufacture of Agricultural Implements, Artificial Limbs, Artificial Stone Sidewalks, Augers, Automatic Elevator Doors, Awnings, Baking Powders, Ballot Machines, Baskets, Beer and Carbonated Goods, Bicycles, Bicycle Mud Guards, Billiard Tables, Blacking, Boilers, Boots and Shoes, Boxes, Brick, Bridges, Brooms, Buttons, Canned Fruits and Vegetables, Cars, Car Wheels, Carriages, Caskets, Cigars, Cigarettes, Clothing, Conductor's Lamps, Confectionery, Cotton Fabrics, Door, Sash and Blind, Drain Pipe, Electrical Apparatus, Elevators, Engines, Fireworks, Furniture, Flour, Furnaces, Glassware, Hair Goods, Hardware, Harness, Hats, Headlights, Hosiery, Jewelry, Ladders, Lawn Vases, Leather, Locks, Lumber, Machinery, Mantels, Mattresses, Monuments, Mouldings, Oils, Optical Instruments, Paints, Patent Medicines, Perfumes, Pianos, Photographic Supplies, Sash Balances, Scales, Shirts, Soap, Stoves, Thermometers, Trunks, Umbrellas, Woolen Goods, etc., etc.

The corporate limits of the city embrace 10,947 acres and its public parks 475 acres. The number of dwelling houses is estimated 33,400.

The three celebrated waterfalls, within the city limits, are all easily reached. They are known as the upper, middle and lower falls. Fine and picturesque views will award everyone visiting each locality. Powers Art Gallery, Powers Building; Kimball's Conservatory, Olean St.; Ward's National Science Establishment, College Ave.; Mt. Hope Reservoir, South Ave., are all places of interest to visit.

Rochester is the center of trade for a large tract of rich outlying country, commanding also a large foreign trade with Canada and other countries of the world. The merchants are up to the times in supplying their patrons, and it is difficult to find a city better prepared with bargains in every department of trade. Rochester is wonderfully sound financially and has experienced very few failures during the hard times which we have been passing through.

The city invites new industries and manufacturers to locate, and it is safe to look forward to the new Rochester of 200,000 inhabitants at no distant date.

OUR POINT OF VIEW.

THEATERGOERS who save their programmes and watch the names printed upon them store up a source of pleasure that widens with each passing season. The enjoyment derived from seeing Mrs. Fiske, or Johnstone Bennett, Francis Wilson and others in new environment, may be extended to others in the bill by comparing a late programme with an older one, and noting how many of the actors were included in both lists. This system presents a capital opportunity to judge of the versatility of actors, and who knows but you may be privileged to watch the progress fame-

Like the man who invents great pat-to make a happy for the presentation. That is why Pegler is not happy. Just because he wasn't a good gambler."

Speaking of plays, and plays, Lawrence Marston, the playwright and adapter, who was in this city recently in the interests of "Toll Gate Inn," can say a few words to the point. We were speaking of writing plays, and a newspaper man who intends writing a play, said that he wouldn't write for the common people. He would go for the best, or not at all.

"That's where you would make your mistake," said Marston. "What is the record of such plays? Run them over. 'Held by the Enemy,' 'Alabama,' 'Griffith Davenport,' 'Secret Service,'

A Colonial Girl," "Hearts of Oak," in fact a hundred others that I might name, were written for the best people. What did they do? Some receive no support whatever, others run just long enough to pay for the expense of mounting them, and before their owners begin to make something on them they have run out. Now look at "In Old Kentucky." That is good for many years to come, and already it has paid its author $105,000 in royalties. Don't tell me about writing plays for the best people. The plays written for the masses and presented at popular prices receive the greatest support and make the most money."

Miss Maude Banks, a daughter of the late Gen. Banks, and for a number of years a prominent and successful star, has identified herself with strong attractions, and her presence in the cast

Queen Victoria, by the way, utilize her privilege of having things to her personal liking by stipulating for the omission of the second act in "Lohengrin," because dark scenes annoy her. But then, the representations she attends are given at Windsor Castle for her special benefit, so the public at large is not incommoded by her idiosyncrasies.

National Life Insurance Co. of Vermont.

THE NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY will, when so ordered, write its contracts granting the insured the right at any time to so arrange or re-arrange the interests of the beneficiary as to accomplish the results of any approved plan or form, as hereinafter explained. Trust funds may be created to be paid in equal sums during a term of years or life annuities be substituted for outright cash payments. The insured, who pays the premiums from time to time views the situation and directs how the proceeds shall be distributed, changing his orders and arranging his affairs according to circumstances.
