 Алексей Ульянович Чичерин — авантурист, которого очень часто называют отцом российского и международного социализма. Чичерин родился в семье, где его отец, ученый-географ, был близким другом Горького и Молотова. Отец Алексея Ульяновича, Ульянов, был известным общественным деятелем и теоретиком социалистического движения. Уже с ранних лет Алексей проявил себя как революционер, предполагая свою будущую карьеру в области общественно-политической журналистики.

В университете Алексей Ульянович Чичерин изучал философию и историю, что дало ему необходимое образование для дальнейшего политического движения. После окончания университета он продолжил свое политическое активное участие, занимаясь журналистики и социальной работой. Чичерин был известен своим ярким стилем публицистики и своей убедительной аргументацией, что привлекало к нему внимание широкой общественности.

В то же время Чичерин не был сторонником умеренности в борьбе за социальный прогресс. Он был ярым сторонником гуманитарных и социальных реформ, а также борьбы за права человека. Чичерин был одним из первых, кто выступил за создание социал-демократического движения, и его идеи оказали большое влияние на последующие политические движения.

Алексей Ульянович Чичерин был не только политиком и журналистом, но и ученым. Он написал множество научных работ по истории и социологии, которые стали базой для последующих исследований в этих областях. Чичерин был незаурядным интеллектуалом, который оставил глубокий след в истории российской и мировой политической мысли.

Fruit after arriving at full growth, or maturing fruits, and by fruits which can easily be budding the young shoots of the Spy with pears. The result from other causes, as, for instance, a tree of the cherry on this stock. In the plum, the working shrub upon which it is worked.

E. M. Ellwanger said a tree that is not allowed to grow in its own stock pruned up with a clean stem, as the apple tree, is a dwarf tree. "Under such a tree," he said, "there is no handsomer fruit. There is one grafted on a stock similar to the graft, and a second grown on its own stock, and both are as equal as apples can be. The top of the tree is the demand, and the root is the supply. The top is the offering, and the root is the price. The top is the prize, and the root is the profit. The top is the fruit, and the root is the wood."

The top is the apple, and the root is the tree. The fruit is fine, juicy, sprightly, spicy, out from the pruned roots than from roots left unpruned. Children's Church: Life's Religion.

It was a pleasant morning in the early autumn, and the children of a large city church were gathered on the steps of the edifice to hear the Rev. Mr. Crozer, of the Central Presbyterian Church, speak to them. The air was fresh, and the children were rosy and healthy. The sun shone brightly, and the birds were chirping in the trees.

Mr. Crozer began by saying that children should be taught to love God and their neighbors. He told the children that they should always try to do what is right, even when it is hard. He said that if they were kind to one another and did not hurt anyone, they would be happy.

He also spoke about the importance of learning and reading the Bible. He said that the Bible was a book that contained the word of God, and that it was a guide for living a good life.

Mr. Crozer ended his talk by telling the children to always remember that they were loved by God, and that he was always watching over them. He said that if they were good, God would bless them.

The children listened attentively to Mr. Crozer's words, and then they went to school, ready to learn and do what was right.

Diplomatic Notes.

The negotiations between France and the United States for the purchase of50,000,000 acres of land in Oregon were completed on the 9th inst., and the treaty, signed by Mr. LINCOLN, was submitted to the Senate for ratification. The Senate has voted the same.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

The Senate of the New York State has passed a resolution tendering the thanks of the body to the Governor for his message. The resolutions of the Assembly were also passed.

The Governor's Message.

The Governor's message was presented to the Legislature on the 1st inst., and read by Mr. BOWEN, of the Senate. The message was received, and the following resolutions were adopted:

1. Resolved, That the legislature of the State of New York is conventionally assembled.

2. Resolved, That the legislature of the State of New York, in convention assembled, do now concur in the appointment of Mr. LINCOLN as President of the United States, and do hereby extend to him our congratulations and best wishes in the discharge of his duties.

3. Resolved, That the legislature of the State of New York, in convention assembled, do hereby authorize and empower the Governor to transmit the resolutions of this body to the President-elect, and to the Governor of the State of New York, and to the Legislature of the State of New York, for the ratification of the same.

SOWING THE WIND AND REAPING THE WHIRLWIND.

By S. S. AYRES.

CHAPTER IX.

FRANK OVERMAN, who succeeded Iznor Overman, was a clear head, and a man who was not averse from personal indulgence. He was, in the meantime, such a man as could be trusted in a large money trust. He was a man of the first order, and was held in high esteem by his superiors.

CHAPTER X.

The story of the box was the same as that of the others. The money was never found. The box was afterwards opened, and all the money was found to be missing. The box was then closed, and the money was put back. The box was then opened again, and all the money was found to be missing. The box was then closed again, and the money was put back.

CHAPTER XI.

The story of this box was the same as that of the others. The money was never found. The box was afterwards opened, and all the money was found to be missing. The box was then closed, and the money was put back. The box was then opened again, and all the money was found to be missing. The box was then closed again, and the money was put back.

CHAPTER XII.
