Manx's "Machinery."—This is a new machine for hay-roofing, and I have reported it to your readers. It is an Eastern machine, and was invented by Mr. John Manx of Manx's Machine Works, of New York. It is designed to do the work of four men in the time of two men, and is consequently very valuable. The machine consists of a large cylinder, which is attached to the back of the binder, and which is driven by a small engine. The cylinder is provided with a number of teeth, which are placed in such a manner that they can be adjusted to the height of the hay-roofing. The cylinder is also equipped with a number of hooks, which are used to catch the hay-roofing as it is thrown to the side. The machine is operated by two men, one of whom drives the engine, and the other of whom controls the cylinder. The machine is very strong, and can be used in any kind of weather. It is also very convenient, and can be operated by anyone who is skilled in the use of a binder.

The MANX MACHINE.—The machine is well adapted to the work of hay-roofing. It is constructed of strong iron, and is designed to last for many years. MR. SHILYHURST'S PRAIRIE FARM.

Our Western Editor's description of the large and successful farming operations of Mr. J. T. Shil-lyhurst, in the county of Marion, Illinois, is of the highest importance, and presents such a model of agricultural enterprise, that we feel justified in making a reproduction of it, with the greatest respect for the rights of authors and proprietors, for the benefit of our readers.

MR. SHILYHURST'S farm lies on the road to his residence and the same is a part of his 120 acres of land, and is situated about ten miles from the city of Bloomington.

The farm is well watered with the best quality of water, and is in the center of the most fertile section of the county, and it is situated on a level surface, which is well drained, and has a good soil. The farm is well laid out, and the roads are excellent.

The farm is well managed, and the crops are well grown, and the animals are well cared for. The farm is well stocked with a variety of crops, and the animals are well fed and well cared for.

The Army in Virginia.

The Brigade of Maj. Gen. Gregg, in its reconnaissance on April 20, made a very material discovery, viz: The body of Lee's army is encamped between Rappahannock Station and Wilderness Station, some 20 miles from each other. The first instalment of conscripts reached camp this morning. The rebel army lies between the Rappahannock and Rapidan rivers; and the divisions of Longstreet's corps now occupy Culpeper Court-House, the troops being continually advancing in that direction. Information has been received that guerrilla boys are very active about this place. The first man I saw this morning was a boy who had been enlisted in the 3d Virginia, and he was bringing some ammunition to his company. The first thing I saw was a boy who had been enlisted in the 3d Virginia, and he was bringing some ammunition to his company.

The news from Sumter is best for the Time. We have not been at war for a year, and have cool and comfortable quarters.
