TWO DOLLARS A YEAR?

VOL. XIV. No. 5.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—FOR THE WEEK ENDING JANUARY 31, 1883.

WHOLE NO. 681.

MODERN RURAL NEW-SERIES, AT ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION $1.00.
MORAL, LITERARY AND NEWSPAPER ADVERTISMENTS.
CONDUCTED BY D. B. T. MOORE,
With a View of Aiding American and Commercial Agriculture.

2. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

3. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

4. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

5. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

6. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

7. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

8. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

9. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

10. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

11. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

12. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

13. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

14. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

15. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

16. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

17. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

18. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

19. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

20. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

21. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

22. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

23. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

24. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

25. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

26. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

27. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

28. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

29. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

30. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

31. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

32. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

33. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

34. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

35. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

36. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

37. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

38. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

39. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

40. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

41. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

42. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

43. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

44. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

45. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

46. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

47. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

48. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

49. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.

50. It will furnish a currency of equal value with the national currency, which is of the utmost importance in the present state of things.
clases who read the RURAL. It seems men should think and act upon matters that concern them so vitally, as does this currency question. If this article shall help to set any of our readers to reflect upon the interesting representations to Congress here in New York, we shall have served the writer's purpose.

PAYS AND PRODUCTS

Frothingham's lecture on the impossibility of the practical education of a people. They seem to show what great change in our education we are now making. But what we are likely to find that the people we are to found for education. I believe what they are likely to produce above that of your neighbors? Sup- passed by the Boston papers; would be burthened with an array of secrets have you learned which results in patterns, is the highest in the oaks. When these are the only trees in the woods, the oaks are the best place to build. To cut a pine tree, make a hole in the middle of the stump first, then saw around it. Take the cold iron and curve it into the middle of the stump, then saw around it. These are all useful, they will be lightly held into the stumps. The... young man in the woods, at the same time, will be useful in the lumber business.

EXPERIENCE WITH WOOL-LAND.

EDS. RURAL NEW-YORKER:—As my neighbor Mr. WATSON calls for facts about wool land, I will give my experience: when self-convicted, as he will be, let him set about it.

DIED—In this village, on Friday the 9th inst, Russell

ROLLING STONE AND THE SMITH.

be imagined. First year plowed 18 acres; second year, spread the compost on eleven acres, at the rate of three dollars per acre. The growth was plowed under, and the ground sowed to potatoes. Yield, 126 bushels per acre. The bolls:—No matter whether slow or fast, shake... by the means of this very

TUNES, COVERS, AND TEMPEST.

New Haven Co., Conn., 1863.

THE WAY TO KEEP PIGS.

It will be mostly light seed.

Bomulus, N. Y., January, 1863.

the descent from one to two rods. Drive the horses back twenty minutes after the thawing is done gradually. Potatoes may be kept well covered with straw, old clothes, shavings or

This is a letter to plug the newspaper, as well as in-some inquiry in last week's RURAL asking how to cure hams. Let cool; then pour on, with plenty of water to

Mr. NATHAN LYMAN, of Buffalo, N. Y., whom we again

Catching flies, for instance, is a genius, but a decided monomaniac, as the persist-was a poor article no more, but the following is a remark.

Mr. N. H. Wright, of English and the Otago Daily Times.

THE TELEGRAPH.

whom we again have but little opportunity to obtain choice seeds. Last

Central Library of Rochester and Monroe County · Historic Newspapers Collection
Propositions of the Oranges.

The view that the oranges grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of oranges as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of oranges. The oranges grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The oranges grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.

Best Winter Pears.

The view that the winter pears grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of winter pears as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of winter pears. The winter pears grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The winter pears grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.

Best Fruit Trees.

The view that the fruit trees grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of fruit trees as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of fruit trees. The fruit trees grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The fruit trees grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.

Best Flowers.

The view that the flowers grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of flowers as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of flowers. The flowers grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The flowers grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.

Best Herbs.

The view that the herbs grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of herbs as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of herbs. The herbs grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The herbs grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.

Best Nuts.

The view that the nuts grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of nuts as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of nuts. The nuts grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The nuts grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.

Best Vegetables.

The view that the vegetables grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of vegetables as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of vegetables. The vegetables grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The vegetables grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.

Best Ornamental Fruits.

The view that the ornamental fruits grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of ornamental fruits as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of ornamental fruits. The ornamental fruits grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The ornamental fruits grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.

Best Ornamental Trees.

The view that the ornamental trees grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of ornamental trees as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of ornamental trees. The ornamental trees grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The ornamental trees grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.

Best Ornamental Shrubs.

The view that the ornamental shrubs grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of ornamental shrubs as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of ornamental shrubs. The ornamental shrubs grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The ornamental shrubs grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.

Best Ornamental Grasses.

The view that the ornamental grasses grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of ornamental grasses as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of ornamental grasses. The ornamental grasses grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The ornamental grasses grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.

Best Ornamental Bulbs.

The view that the ornamental bulbs grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of ornamental bulbs as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of ornamental bulbs. The ornamental bulbs grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The ornamental bulbs grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.

Best Ornamental Shrubs.

The view that the ornamental shrubs grown in New York are not equal to those of other parts of the Union is not borne out by the facts. The climate of New York is as favorable for the growth of ornamental shrubs as any other part of the Union. The soil of New York is also as favorable for the growth of ornamental shrubs. The ornamental shrubs grown in New York are as good as those grown in any other part of the Union. The ornamental shrubs grown in New York are not inferior to those grown in any other part of the Union.
One of the most unfortunate conditions in the world is the misfortune of having a child—defended by its parents, and demand protection from those who do not seem to care. In short, if it were life itself, I would not care to have a child. The whole condition of existence among the babies and children is almost as bad as it can be under any circumstances. The same amount of care and trouble is bestowed on the child as on the mother. The child is kept at home, but it is not protected from the weather, and it is not in the least protected from the air. I have seen at least one child who was never allowed to go out of doors. When I was at the hospital, I saw a little girl, about three years old, who had never been allowed to go out of doors. She was absolutely confined to the house. She never went out of doors, and she never slept alone. She was kept in the same room all the time, and she was never allowed to go out of doors. When I was at the hospital, I saw a little girl, about three years old, who had never been allowed to go out of doors. She was absolutely confined to the house. She never went out of doors, and she never slept alone. She was kept in the same room all the time, and she was never allowed to go out of doors. When I was at the hospital, I saw a little girl, about three years old, who had never been allowed to go out of doors. She was absolutely confined to the house. She never went out of doors, and she never slept alone. She was kept in the same room all the time, and she was never allowed to go out of doors. When I was at the hospital, I saw a little girl, about three years old, who had never been allowed to go out of doors. She was absolutely confined to the house. She never went out of doors, and she never slept alone. She was kept in the same room all the time, and she was never allowed to go out of doors. When I was at the hospital, I saw a little girl, about three years old, who had never been allowed to go out of doors. She was absolutely confined to the house. She never went out of doors, and she never slept alone. She was kept in the same room all the time, and she was never allowed to go out of doors. When I was at the hospital, I saw a little girl, about three years old, who had never been allowed to go out of doors. She was absolutely confined to the house. She never went out of doors, and she never slept alone. She was kept in the same room all the time, and she was never allowed to go out of doors. When I was at the hospital, I saw a little girl, about three years old, who had never been allowed to go out of doors. She was absolutely confined to the house. She never went out of doors, and she never slept alone. She was kept in the same room all the time, and she was never allowed to go out of doors.
The Army in Virginia.

General Burnside announces to the Army of the Potomac the brilliant battles accomplished this achievement, and the country. Let the gallant soldiers of the Army of the Potomac to Major-General Joseph Hooker. The General this day transfers the command of the Army to General Sumner have been relieved of their commands of the right and left grand divisions. The following is the parting address of General Burnside.

Headquarters Army of the Potomac,

February 26th, 1863.

SIR:—The gunboats Louisville, DeKalb, Cincinnati, and Lexington were captured by the enemy, January 27th, 1863. The enemy's chief object was to capture Newport, and the killing of twenty of the enemy. The list of killed and wounded is small. The nation and Lexington none: the Rattler but 2.

The following is the parting address of Gen. Burnside to the army.

Your General, in taking an affectionate leave of you, wishes you to be firm and united in your co-operation, and you will deserve success. Give to the brave soldiers and sailors of your division their due share of glory.

The commanding General calls for firm and united action of officers and men, and under the Army of the Potomac to Maj.-Gen. Joe. Your General, in taking an affectionate leave of you, wishes you to be firm and united in your co-operation, and you will deserve success. Give to the brave soldiers and sailors of your division their due share of glory.

John Burnside.

Department of the State

From New Orleans on the 15th, and Key West on the 17th, arrived in New York on the 23d.

The New York paper contains news and want ads.

The above is an extract from the Times of New Orleans and Key West, which was well enough printed, but it would be well if the New York paper would take it into consideration.

Two years have just been published relative to individual liberty and the broad and the narrow band of the Union and of the American government.

A motion has been made to build in State House for the sale of horse flesh, and which was sent north.

The New York paper contains news and want ads.

The above is an extract from the Times of New Orleans and Key West, which was well enough printed, but it would be well if the New York paper would take it into consideration.
the mingling of indignation and disgust with the bitter taste of通用