Agriculture.

PARNERS CAREFULLY TALK.

"THANKSGIVING." To be sure, we are glad to see the calendar turn over to November; for Thanksgiving is supposed to be a joyful day. I always associate the word with the pleasant weather of November. Houses begin to look more cheerful, and the people are more sociable. The trees have shed their leaves, and the sky is most beautiful. And, after all, we shall make some contribution to the Thanksgiving spirit, by our good wills and cheerful dispositions. The year has been a bountiful one, and we are thankful for it.

At the beginning of November, the harvest has been completed, and the winter crops are ready for the plow. The farmers are busy with their various tasks, and the country is alive with the sounds of the harvest. The wheat, corn, and other crops have been brought in, and the granaries are filled. The farmers are preparing their land for the winter crops, and the plows are busy. The prairies are covered with stubble and trash, and the farmers are determined to clean them up. It is a time of great activity, and the countryside is alive with the sounds of the harvest.

But we shall not forget the Thanksgiving day of yesterday, when we gave thanks for our bountiful harvest. We shall remember it as a day of great joy and thankfulness. We shall remember the goodness of God, and the many blessings he has bestowed upon us. We shall remember the many who have worked hard and laboriously, and have brought in the harvest. We shall remember the many who have helped and assisted us, and have given us the things we have. We shall remember the many who have prayed for us, and have given us the things we have. We shall remember the many who have given us the things we have.

The farmers are busy with their various tasks, and the country is alive with the sounds of the harvest. The wheat, corn, and other crops have been brought in, and the granaries are filled. The farmers are preparing their land for the winter crops, and the plows are busy. The prairies are covered with stubble and trash, and the farmers are determined to clean them up. It is a time of great activity, and the countryside is alive with the sounds of the harvest.

But we shall not forget the Thanksgiving day of yesterday, when we gave thanks for our bountiful harvest. We shall remember it as a day of great joy and thankfulness. We shall remember the goodness of God, and the many blessings he has bestowed upon us. We shall remember the many who have worked hard and laboriously, and have brought in the harvest. We shall remember the many who have helped and assisted us, and have given us the things we have. We shall remember the many who have prayed for us, and have given us the things we have. We shall remember the many who have given us the things we have.

We shall remember the many who have worked hard and laboriously, and have brought in the harvest. We shall remember the many who have helped and assisted us, and have given us the things we have. We shall remember the many who have prayed for us, and have given us the things we have. We shall remember the many who have given us the things we have.

We shall remember the many who have worked hard and laboriously, and have brought in the harvest. We shall remember the many who have helped and assisted us, and have given us the things we have. We shall remember the many who have prayed for us, and have given us the things we have. We shall remember the many who have given us the things we have.

We shall remember the many who have worked hard and laboriously, and have brought in the harvest. We shall remember the many who have helped and assisted us, and have given us the things we have. We shall remember the many who have prayed for us, and have given us the things we have. We shall remember the many who have given us the things we have.

We shall remember the many who have worked hard and laboriously, and have brought in the harvest. We shall remember the many who have helped and assisted us, and have given us the things we have. We shall remember the many who have prayed for us, and have given us the things we have. We shall remember the many who have given us the things we have.
Rural Notes and Queries.

New York Times says, and the Century agrees (in the majority of cases) that the people of the State are content with the existing system of education. They are willing to tolerate the existing system, but they are not prepared to defend it. They are not ready to risk a revolution. But there is still time to save the State. The people of the State are not content with the existing system of education. They are not prepared to defend it. They are not ready to risk a revolution. But there is still time to save the State.

COMPARISONS—Dental.

CONCLUSION—First, there are few roads in the State of New York that are not obstructed by the growth of new trees. These trees are planted by the state, and they are maintained by private individuals. They are not to be removed, except by the state. They may be cut down, but they may not be removed. The state has the right to require that the trees be maintained, and that they be removed when they become obstructive.

Dental Notes and Queries.

New York Times says, and the Century agrees (in the majority of cases) that the people of the State are content with the existing system of education. They are willing to tolerate the existing system, but they are not prepared to defend it. They are not ready to risk a revolution. But there is still time to save the State. The people of the State are not content with the existing system of education. They are not prepared to defend it. They are not ready to risk a revolution. But there is still time to save the State.

The people of the State are not content with the existing system of education. They are not prepared to defend it. They are not ready to risk a revolution. But there is still time to save the State.
Horticultural.

American Pomological Society.

President's Address.

The Honorable New-York.

... it harkens of Pennsylvania, the beautiful state of the east, yielding for me 220 bushels per acre. The fruit is right, smooth, purple in color. It propagates readily, will be slow to propagate, and yet its merits not have been sufficiently known. It is the only fruit ever had that would yield to the market demand, and fill out the season. I have been told by many of my correspondents that it was taken from the woods in 1838, in Philadelphia county, now embraced in the city of Philadelphia. It was introduced into Philadelphia, eight cents per quart shipped to New York. It does not yield as great a number of bushels as Hornet is the largest berry I know of, and a favorite among the ladies. There are better and larger berries. It has been too much overlooked.

DISCUSSION ON STRAWBERRIES.

DISCUSSION ON RASPBERRIES.

Price of Pennsylvania.

Who knows about Allen's Favorite?

... a favorite in our central New Jersey when planted with staminate flowers. It can be but partially met.)... Publishers of works on fruits and flowers, with popular foreign names of fruits and flowers, with (pronounced buhr-s Inhal.)... Let us suggest one or two... EDS RURAL NEW- YORKER:—In the report of the body of that tree, both above and below this year, would be very imperfect next, and the... Clay and Blackberry, and the American Pomological Association.

The Universal Dresser.

This is a productive berry, large, handsome, of the market. It will prove a valuable substitute for the Virginia, and is...读者, a sort of pomological geography of the country. East, West, North and South of each other, give the... And it is a great fault with many cultivators that they base their action too much on other people's experi... It is immensely productive; the fruit ripens early, is of large size, and sustains itself in summer's drought and win... The Health is Impaired.

The Health is Impaired.

... the wool, set it off from the fire, let it stand from... a sulphate of soda, and dry gradually; the color is... Sulphate of Soda, to drive the upper roll, causing a much greater strain upon the clothing. The rolls can be... GREAT FAIR OF THE AMERICAN AND CANADIAN POMOLOGICAL SOCIETY. Tlie Health is Impaired.
THE GREAT AND THE GOOD.

A story of the last century.

Chapter 1.

The setting sun had touched the horizon, and the last ray of light had touched the heart of the aged statesman. He had been a man of great and good things, but now his days were numbered. He had lived a life of service to his country, and his friends and family loved and respected him. But now, as he lay in his bed, he knew that his time was coming to an end.

"I have been a public servant for many years," he said to his family as he lay there, "and I have done my best to serve the people. I have always tried to do what was right, even when it was hard."

"You have been a true patriot," his eldest son replied, "and we are proud to be your sons."" the movements of index pointers. But if he them a useful guide:

his day for his practical sense, he will find in monograph, "The Breath of Life," attributes

nary habit, so common, he says, among the very many human bodily ills to the extraordiformed through the month, instead of the safte

we do not mean to do so here just now. Our of disturbed and unrefreshing slumbers.

As

breath, when sleep overshadows turbance of the mind, when sleep overshadows

Fear or extreme anxiety, produced by external epen.

jaunt

A SUBSTITUTE FOR BRANDY IN CASES OF

IN the "Central Library of Rochester and Monroe County · Historic Newspapers Collection

A "rise" with southerly wind indicates fine

A "fall" after very calm and warm weather

Quits mutton bones, on grass to feast;

Illumed the dewy dell last night;

The glow-worms, numerous and bright,

Puss on the hearth, with velvet paws,

Quits mutton bones, on grass to feast;

Illumed the dewy dell last night;

The glow-worms, numerous and bright,

Puss on the hearth, with velvet paws,

Quits mutton bones, on grass to feast;

Illumed the dewy dell last night;

The glow-worms, numerous and bright,

Puss on the hearth, with velvet paws,

Quits mutton bones, on grass to feast;

Illumed the dewy dell last night;

The glow-worms, numerous and bright,

Puss on the hearth, with velvet paws,

Quits mutton bones, on grass to feast;

Illumed the dewy dell last night;

The glow-worms, numerous and bright,
There have been twenty Presidential elections (including the one held on the 8th of November last) under the present Constitution. The year of the Constitution was 1787, and the last Congress of Representatives was held on the 8th of February, 1801.

The Constitution made it the duty of each Electoral College to vote for President and Vice President. A person then as now, to be eligible to the office of President, must have attained the age of thirty-five years, and must have been a citizen of the United States for fourteen years immediately preceding his election. In the choice for Vice President, he being entitled to that office for each newly elected President to enter upon its duties, the number of Electors was made. The Constitution made it the result for each.

The Act of Congress (1801) so that Electors were required to vote for the same person for both offices. Gen. Washington took the Chair, and Mr. Jefferson was chosen President, and Mr. Burr, the Vice President. A person then as now, to be eligible to the office of Vice President, must have attained the age of thirty-five years, and must have been a citizen of the United States for fourteen years immediately preceding his election. The Constitution also made it the duty of each Elector to vote for Vice President. The Constitution made it the result for each.

The Constitution made it the duty of each Elector to vote for President and Vice President. The Constitution made it the result for each.

The Constitution made it the duty of each Elector to vote for President and Vice President. The Constitution made it the result for each.

The Constitution made it the duty of each Elector to vote for President and Vice President. The Constitution made it the result for each.

The Constitution made it the duty of each Elector to vote for President and Vice President. The Constitution made it the result for each.
To Rural Readers.

NEW REMEDY FOR TAEWOSM.

Various Topics.

To Rural Readers.

NOV. 19.

MOORE'S RURAL-NEW-YORKER.

NEW YORK.

GEORGE E. BELL.

PARLOR MUSIC STORE.

To the subscribers of the Newspaper and subscribers of the New Family Sewing Machines, a few words may not be amiss.

The present season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the demands of the manufacturers now is the full force of the season is the best for the introduction of new machinery, as the
The Story-Teller

JESSIE'S THANKSGIVING.

It was the evening before Thanksgiving. The great masses in the town that had been swarming ath the last hale, had settled again to the habits of their daily round. The last of the week's letters had been read, and the last of the week's newspapers had been laid aside. The last of the week's work had been done, and the last of the week's care was at an end. The last of the week's fatigue was past, and the last of the week's rest was at hand. The last of the week's sorrow was gone, and the last of the week's joy was to come. The last of the week's care was over, and the last of the week's hope was in the heart. The last of the week's care was over, and the last of the week's care was in the mind. The last of the week's care was over, and the last of the week's care was in the soul. The last of the week's care was over, and the last of the week's care was in the spirit. The last of the week's care was over, and the last of the week's care was in the body. The last of the week's care was over, and the last of the week's care was in the mind. The last of the week's care was over, and the last of the week's care was in the heart. The last of the week's care was over, and the last of the week's care was in the soul. The last of the week's care was over, and the last of the week's care was in the spirit. The last of the week's care was over, and the last of the week's care was in the body. The last of the week's care was over, and the last of the week's care was in the mind.