M'Callum's, Mother Dies in Detroit

One of the best known old theatrical families of Rochester, the M'Callums, is in mourning. Mrs. Daniel M'Callum, the mother of William B. and Arch M'Callum, died on Monday in Detroit at the age of 84.

With another brother, Daniel of Seneca Falls, William B. and Arch have gone to Detroit for the funeral, which will be held today at the residence of her daughter, Miss Helen M'Callum, 3333 Trumbull Avenue.

Both William B. and Arch M'Callum were managers of Fay's Theater here, now known as the Capitol, and before that the former presided at the old Cook Opera House and the Baker, also.

FAMED SAVANT, U.R. GRADUATE, STRICKEN AT 79

Arthur MacDonald Dies—Prominent In Brain Study

Arthur MacDonald, 79, native of Caledonia and graduate of the University of Rochester who attracted national attention by his studies of relative brain weights of statesmen and representatives, died yesterday at his home in Washington of a heart ailment.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret J. Peterfield M'Callum, and three sisters.

Born at Caledonia in 1856, he was graduated from the University of Rochester in 1879, from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1880, and from Union Theological Seminary in 1883. He then studied philosophy and metaphysics at Harvard and in 1859 he was in Berlin, Paris, Leipzig, and Vienna studying medicine, insanity, hypnotism and criminology.

Gives Body to Science

He made a specialty of studying brain sizes and shapes to determine mental characteristics. He was at Washington for a number of years and prior to 1930 he completed measurements of the brains of 100 prominent senators, finding average brains averaged two grams heavier than those of representatives.

It was shortly after completion of this study that he lost his brain and body should go to Western Reserve University, Cleveland.

That time he deposited $100 with a Washington bank to defray expenses of removal of the brain and shipment of his remains to Cleveland. He had sat in the office of the better part of seven hours while the coroner grilled a suspect.

Driver Anteecedents

Doctor M'Callum was author of many books and articles on anthropology and indured subjects. During his life he received degrees from the major colleges and universities in this country. He returned to Rochester in June, 1934, to attend the 84th commemoration exercises of the University of Rochester.

Central Library of Rochester and Monroe County Historic Scrapbooks Collection
James P. McKinney Dies; Founded Advertising Firm

Burial Planned Here, Company Represents Gannett Papers

One of the last of the old school newspaper representatives in the field of national advertising, James Prescott McKinney, 88, died yesterday in Cherry Chase, Md.

The body will be brought to Rochester, where Mr. McKinney was born and educated. Funeral services will be held Thursday at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Mr. McKinney was head of the firm of J. P. McKinney and Son with offices in Rockefeller Plaza, New York. Among newspapers he represented was The Gannett Newspapers group.

Recent illness was due to a heart attack after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. McKinney had spent part of last summer in Rochester, at the Sagamore Hotel. The body will be taken to home of his daughter-in-law, Miss Katherine S. Cook, 2107 Lake Avenue.

Born in Rochester in 1847, Mr. McKinney received his elementary school education in Auburn but returned to Rochester for the University of Rochester. He was graduated in 1869.

After his graduation from the University, Mr. McKinney moved to Landing, Mich., spending seven years in the mercantile business and as a railway station master, before returning again to Rochester.

Here he established the advertising business destined to become one of the most important concerns of its kind in the country.

The agency now employs 100 men in newspapers throughout this country and Canada.

Surviving are his widow, the former Julia H. Cook, whom he married in 1878; a son, Raymond H., active in the business, and N. Y., and a daughter, Florence, wife of Dr. James Cahill, Washington, D.C.

Doctor Here Named Chairman of Search Committee

Dr. Basil Clarendon MacLean, director-elect of Strong Memorial Hospital, has been named chairman of the search committee of the American Hospital Association, according to a United Press dispatch. The committee will undertake the selection of group hospitalization under a $100,000 gift to the hospital association by the Julius Rosenwald Fund.

Doctor MacLean Noted as Sponsor of New Orleans Group Insurance Plan

Dr. Basil Clarendon MacLean, director-elect of Strong Memorial Hospital, has to his credit a proud record of accomplishments during his five-year term as head of Touro Infirmary, New Orleans.

He probably was the most influential individual in organization of the Hospital Service Association of New Orleans in 1932, according to a dispatch last night from the south.

New citywide in scope, the association protects thousands of employees of business and industrial concerns with group hospitalization insurance. Doctor MacLean is secretary of the association.

The 40-year-old administrator inaugurated many features at the infirmary, which is one of the largest hospitals in the South, and is connected with Tulane University. Among those is a new type of accommodation for sick pay patients, with cubicles for the patients; and a group nursing system employing graduate nurses.

Several months ago the administration planned the installation of a new unit to the hospital, made possible with a $250,000 donation to the hospital by Lazaar Bloch, New Orleans philanthropist.

That same donation provided for enlargement of treatment and modernization of hospital, the modernization of hospital, a program of improved services.

He was the first superintendent of Touro to take up living quarters at the hospital for himself, wife and their 8-year-old daughter.

Besides his work at Touro, Doctor MacLean is a consultant and member of the medical advisory board of the Good Samaritan hospitals.

He is a member of the American Hospital Association, serving as a member of the section of group insurance, the division of the association which this spring will publish a new manual on accounting for hospitals.

Dr. MacLean is director of the New Orleans section of the Louisiana State Hospital Association.

U. R. Selects Successor to Dr. Faxon

Doctor Basil C. MacLean of New Orleans to Head Hospital

Appointment of Dr. Basil Clarendon MacLean to head the Strong Memorial Hospital yesterday brought words of regret and praise from his associates in New Orleans.

Doctor MacLean will succeed Dr. Nathaniel W. Faxon, President of the University of Rochester.
Funeral services for William R. Macon, a former Rochesterian, were held this morning at the Collegiate Church of St. Nicholas, New York City. Burial service will be at Woodlawn Chapel, Canandaigua, at 2 p.m. tomorrow. Interment will be in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Mr. Macon died Tuesday, Jan. 1, 1936, following a cerebral hemorrhage. He was born in New York City 59 years ago, son of William F. N. and Harriet O. Macon, and came to Rochester with his parents at an early age, receiving his public school education here and entering Cornell University Engineering School, from which he was graduated in 1888.

Subsequently he held editorial positions with the Engineering Record, The Metal Workers and The Iron Age, serving the latter as managing editor, editor-in-chief and consulting editor since 1911 until his death.

In addition to his editorial work Mr. Macon served on a number of committees studying economic conditions in the iron, steel and coal industries. He was a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and other technical societies in this country and in France and had served as president and treasurer of the Cornell Alumni Corporation.

He was a contributor to the Encyclopedia Britannica and in the World War was a member of the party of American trade-press journalists visiting France and was the guest of the British government.

Mr. Macon is survived by his widow, Kathryn Limback Macon; two daughters, Virginia and Jeannette; a son, John W. of St. Paul, Minn.; his mother, Mrs. Sarah Macon of Savannah, Ga.; two sisters, Mrs. H. F. Dixon of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. H. Shaw of Savannah, Ga., and a brother, William Macon of Polair, Ga.

He was a member of the University of Rochester, Club of Commerce, Elks’ Lodge 24, honorary member of the Lucern Club, president of the Railroad Employees’ and Taxpayers Association, and member of the Traffic Clubs of Pittsburgh and New York City.

Funeral services will be conducted in the home, 133 S. High Terence, at 9:30 a.m. Thursday and at 9 a.m. in St. Monica’s Church. Burial will be in Holy Sepulcher Cemetery.

LEOPOLD MANNEES of the research laboratories, Eastman Kodak Company, will address the Rochester Technical Section of the Photographic Society of America in the Bausch & Lomb Building, River Campus, at 8 o’clock tonight. Maanee will discuss “Technical Aspects of the Kodakchrome Process” of the inventor.

Central Library of Rochester and Monroe County
Historic Scrapbooks Collection
Former City Assessor
John McParlin Passes

John McParlin, 79, former alderman and city assessor, died last night, Aug. 11, 1935, at his home, 20 Darwin Street.

Mr. McParlin was born in Lockport, June 24, 1856. Early in life he came to Rochester and entered the employ of the New York Central Railroad as train dispatcher and remained with the company more than 40 years. For several years he held a contract for supplying ice for the refrigerator cars on the Central.

Mr. McParlin was active in politics during the leadership of George W. Aldridge and was elected alderman of the 16th Ward in 1901. He represented the ward 12 years and was appointed by Mayor Edgeron in June, 1912, city assessor.

In 1926 Mr. McParlin met with a serious accident. He fell a fall of 25 feet at the Atlantic Avenue ice plant and fractured both legs below the knees. Since that time he has been incapacitated.

He was associated with the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus and the Alhambra. He was also a member of the Order of Hibernians.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. William F. Croston, Mrs. Earl A. Ueber and Mrs. R. M. Hasbrouck, and several grandchildren.

1856-1935

Recalls Telescope
Democratic Sunspot Editor

Editor, Democrat and Chronicle:

One of the most popular old friends of the local press was John R. Phinney, 79, who died last night, Aug. 11, 1935, at his home, 25 Darwin Street.

Mr. Phinney was born in Lockport, June 24, 1856. Early in life he came to Rochester and entered the employ of the New York Central Railroad as train dispatcher and remained with the company more than 40 years. For several years he held a contract for supplying ice for the refrigerator cars on the Central.

Mr. Phinney was active in politics during the leadership of George W. Aldridge and was elected alderman of the 16th Ward in 1901. He represented the ward 12 years and was appointed by Mayor Edgeron in June, 1912, city assessor.

In 1926 Mr. Phinney met with a serious accident. He fell a fall of 25 feet at the Atlantic Avenue ice plant and fractured both legs below the knees. Since that time he has been incapacitated.

He was associated with the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus and the Alhambra. He was also a member of the Order of Hibernians.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. William F. Croston, Mrs. Earl A. Ueber and Mrs. R. M. Hasbrouck, and several grandchildren.

1856-1935

Disagrees with Writer
Tombstone Yard's Place

Editor Democrat and Chronicle:

The location of the home of the late Harry C. Maine is cited in your paper as that of the late Henry C. Maine, an editor of your paper. I am interested in the matter because I remember as a boy attending old No. 14 School on Sible Street, near University Avenue, and that I often saw Mr. Maine's telescope standing in the yard in front of his house.

The topography of the location was similar to that of the old cemetery in Monroe Avenue, which I recently described in a letter to your paper. A ridge of considerable height lay close to the west side of Sible Street and extended from Main Street several blocks northwest. Houses were built upon it, and later a notch was cut through it to permit University Avenue to pass through it at the level of the ground on each side of the ridge. I do not recall the house that stood on the northwest corner of Sible Street and University Avenue, but right behind it, fronting on the latter street was the house of Mr. Maine, its front yard being 25 feet higher than the street; and the house higher than the yard.

Next west of his house was the shop of a maker of tombstones and the yard in which his work was displayed. It may well be that the stone makers for the Monroe Avenue graveyard associated. I only saw Mr. Maine's telescope in the daytime; I do not know whether he ever moved it from the house, but I know that he was called "the Sunspot Man" by his contemporaries, and that he was interested in astronomy. He held a firm belief in the flat earth theory.

A. K. PHINNEY.

Rochester, N. Y.

Bar to Honor Lawyer
At Funeral Today

Funeral services this morning for John W. Martin, 39, attorney who died Sunday after a brief illness, will be at a memorial service in the Courthouse at 11:30 a.m. by the Rochester Bar Association.

After prayer services in the residence, 1170 Park Avenue, at 8:30 a.m., the funeral Mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock in Blessed Sacrament Church. Interment will be in Holy Sepulcher Cemetery.

Representing the association at the funeral will be Clarence W. McKay, Byron A. Johnson, William J. Bell, J. Harmod Tolin and Henry Kass Jr.

Supreme Court Justice William F. Love will preside at the memorial service. Carlton F. Brown is chairman of the resolutions committee composed of Norman A. O'Brien, Alfred P. Murray, Deleuw and Martin J. Barry. Luther I. Webster is chairman of the memorial committee.

A graduate of Fordham University in 1919 and its law school in 1921, Mr. Martin had practiced law in Rochester since that time except for one year in California.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Albert Copeland.

John R. Phinney

Rochester Architect
Wins Institute Post

Washington – Henry A. Martin, Rochester architect, has been named by the American Institute of Architects, with offices in Washington, as a member of the sub-committee to study small-house problems. Appointments of leading architects of the country to 47 sub-committees were announced yesterday by Dr. Charles D. Mann of Boston, president of the Institute.

Upon Earl R. Manly, gleaming-faced secretary to Mayor Lester B. Rapp, last night was bestowed the title “Grover Whalen of Rochester.”

It was given him at a testimonial dinner, attended by 250 public officials and friends, held by the Liederkrans Club in its West Main Street clubhouse over which Manly once presided as chairman.

The guest of honor, to whom was presented a purse, a life membership in the club and other gifts, was landlord of Rapp, Club President Vincent Seeley, Councilman Charles Lambiaso, City Court Judge Arthur L. Wilder, Jerry Schleier, John C. Elsland, Joseph Drexler, Geb Schwartz, Dr. John T. McCarthy, George Crutrieden and Charles H. Johnson.
Historic Scrapbooks Collection

Theater, Advertising
Politics, Radio
Included
By A. VERNON CROOP
Courtland Manning.
When you meet him you know at once that there is more to tell about this tall, distinguished gentleman, who carries a cane with familiarity, than can be revealed in any single conversation.

He is a man of the theater and like others of his craft, he would take volumes to reveal all the interesting things in his life.

Forced by ill health to leave school at the age of 12, Courtland went to work as frequent visitor at the matinees in the old Academy Theater in Buffalo, his home city.

One of his "big breaks" came when Manager Henry Meach threw him a job chiefly of office boy but the title of assistant manager. He was still only 12.

Meets Edwin Booth
He was 14 when he met his stage idol, America's greatest tragedian, Edwin Booth.

"Well, son, I suppose some day you expect to become a great actor," said Booth.

"No but some day I hope to become a great manager," said the young Mr. Booth looked at him with a twinkle in his eye and said: "Well, so you have certainly selected the best part of the business."

Mr. Manning says that years later he understood better what Booth had meant. The great actor had for years been systematically robbed by those people he trusted most.

It was at this time that romance entered Courtland Manning's life. To the theater matinee performances came the beautiful girl, then 14, who was later to be his wife.

She continued to visit the shows and eventually the young assistant manager and the young matinee visitor became acquainted.

Married at 19
At 16 they were married.

Marriage made a bigger income necessary and Manning, through his older brother, got a job in a cattle freight office.

The bride, Jessie Wade Manning had literary talent. She became quite noted as a fiction writer. She was a member of the "Frickers" and the "Pawners of America." She made several trips to Europe for study.

John W. Martin
Rites Wednesday
Funeral services for John William Martin, Rochester attorney and prominent tennis and bridge player, will be conducted at his home, 1170 Park Avenue, at 5:30 a.m. and at Blessed Sacrament Church, 9 o'clock Wednesday. Burial will be in Holy Sepulcher Cemetery.

Mr. Martin died in Geneseo Hospital yesterday, June 27th, 1937, following a short illness. He was 30, a graduate of Fordham University in 1919 and the law school in 1921. His legal career was spent largely in Rochester with the exception of one year in California.

Mr. Martin was a director of the Rochester Tennis Club and a member of the Rochester and California State bar associations.

He is survived by his wife, Miss Kathryn I. Martin.

Rochester Bar Association this week honored the memory of Attorney John W. Martin, 30, who died Wednesday, conducting his funeral services at his home, 1170 Park Avenue, and in Blessed Sacrament Church this morning.

Mr. Martin died last Sunday after a brief illness. He was widely known as a tennis and bridge player. He is survived by his wife, Miss Kathryn I. Martin.

City's First Inspector of Immigration, Isaac Martin, Passes on Christmas Day
Rochester's first United States inspector of immigration, Isaac Martin, 80, of 33 Sibley Terrace, was dead today.

He explored the coast of 1892, 1894, at his home.

Mr. Martin was inspector of immigration at the Port of Rochester for 20 years, retiring at the age of 70 in 1924.

He was born Apr. 2, 1854, in

Politics Lures Former Worker On Paper Here
A former Rochester newspaperman has forsaken his vocation of many years to turn to the pulp-storm of San Francisco politics.

He is Redfern Mason, who worked on the old Post Express a dozen years.

Mason at the age of 68 campaigned with the United Labor Party, composed of EPICs, utopians, and Left-wing Democrats, in the recent mayoralty election. He was their candidate for the post.

He came to this country in 1900 after working on newspapers in England, where he was born, and France. He found employment in Rochester.

In 1912 he went to Carmel, Calif., where for the next two years he was engaged in writing books on music.

Two years later he joined the staff of the San Francisco Examiner as music critic and within a short time was recognized as an authority on music on the coast.

In 1917 he left with the staff of the late Isadora Duncan, famed dancer, on a trek to New York and Paris. He returned to the Examiner a year and a half later to resume his music work. He resigned from the newspaper last December.

Former State Bank Aide Joins Profit and Savings
Clarence A. Masker, former assistant superintendent of banks in the State Banking Department, is now associated with the Profit and Savings Loan Association, 17 State Street, as executive vice-president and secretary.

The bank, incorporated last year, has a capital stock of $25,000.

The bank, incorporated last year, has a capital stock of $25,000.
No. 1 ‘Arm of Law’ Wins Fame For Shaking Hands with Notables

By ALBERT J. MOSS

FAME of Rochester’s No. 1 policeman lies not in catching crooks but shaking hands with international and national notables.

-James H. Martin, assigned to the Mayor’s office, holds claim to having met more distinguished men and women than any other single person in Rochester. He has been in the Mayor’s Office since 1894.

“Jim” has been a friend of City Hall reporters for 32 years. In all his 40 years as a copper he has not lost his sense of humor. Whenever someone ruffles him and wants to see the Mayor in a hurry “Jim” calms him with a funny story. It has been suspected that “Jim” makes up a lot of them as he goes along.

* * *

I His Lucky Number

NUMBER 1 is his lucky number. He was appointed a policeman June 1, 1891. He is the oldest policeman in Rochester in point of service. He is 71 years old, stands six feet one inches, weighs 201 pounds, has badge No. 1, wears a set of No. 1 insignias, designating Freeman No. 1; has revolver No. 11 and telephone Genese 551.

“Jim” lives with his wife and daughter, Ruth, at 306 Genesse Street. He has two sons, Detective Ivan J. Martin, and Frederick John Martin.

“How did you happen to become a policeman?” he was asked.

“Well, to tell you the truth it looked like a good job and I took it,” he replied.

* * *

And About Retiring

WHAT are you going to do when you retire?” was the next question.

“For heaven’s sake they aren’t going to make me retire!” exclaimed Jim, as returned with a trace of dismay in his voice. “I will stick with them as long as they stick to me but when they come I am going to do something but fish. And that’s my only hobby. I go where there is fish, in the St. Lawrence and Goose Bay. Once I caught a pickerel 36 inches long.

Relating his most thrilling experience, “Jim” had to go back to the horse-draught days.

I was patrolling a beat in Plymouth Avenue South about a year ago and I was told a horse thief was in a certain house,” related Jim. “I rapped on the door and a woman opened it and I went in. As soon as I stepped inside I saw a fellow put a gun under my arm.”

Rochester’s No. 1 policeman is smiling James H. Martin.

Today the kids are in the game. They carry rods and machine guns and fast automobiles. It’s a lot of sport, no question. They think nothing of shooting down their victims and officers. When they shoot out machines they refer to them as softies. Maybe it was the World War which changed things.

“But it is nice to be a policeman.”

When James G. Cutter became mayor in 1904 he asked that Office Martin be assigned to his office and he has been there since. He has served under the following mayors and city managers: Cutter, Hiram H. Edgerton, Clarence VanZandt, Martin E. O’Neill, Joseph R. Wilson, Charles E. Owen, Percival D. Oviatt, Jason Adler, Charles Stanton, Stephen B. Story, Theodore C. Briggs and Harold W. Baker.

G. E. MERCHANT

FUNERAL RITES SET FOR TODAY

G. E. MERCHANT

Active Real Estate Operator Foe Of Subway

Funeral services for Gerald E. Merchant, 59, for many years a prominent real estate operator of Rochester and Florida, will take place at 2 p.m. today at 137 E. Market St. Mr. Merchant, whose home was at 1010 Harvard Street, died Saturday night (May 2, 1936).

Born in Sioux City, Iowa, Apr. 24, 1877, Mr. Merchant was brought to Rochester in 1881 by his father, George E. Merchant, when the father came to the city as general manager of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railroad and president of the Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal Company.

After attending Phillips Andover Academy and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Gerald E. Merchant returned to Rochester and began his active career in real estate business which lasted until shortly before his death.

Built Apartments

During his early business life he constructed Buckingham Apartments in Park Avenue, when apartment building in Rochester was regarded as a “two-way” among real estate men of the time. After succeeding with many business operations in Rochester, Mr. Merchant transferred much of his interest to the Florida real estate community.

Only slightly interested in politics, Mr. Merchant took his most decided stand on public affairs when discussing the subway con- struction which was occupying attention of public officials and newspapers. A local operator of the subway, government officials and the public at large were all in favor of the subway, construction and they decided to support the leaders of many after the subway was in operation. At the time, he urged construction of a railroad in the old canal bed.

Friend of Brady

Mr. Merchant was a close friend of "Diamond Jim" Brady until the latter's death, many times making business and pleasure trips with Brady to Europe and through the United States.

DEATH TAKES:

H. F. MERKER,

LAUNDRY HEAD

D. & C. DECEMBER 31, 1935

Rochesterian Was Local Manager For Firm

Herman F. Merker, Rochester manager for the Associated Laundries of America, died yesterday, Dec. 30, 1935. He lived with his family at 34 South Goodman Street.

Mr. Merker was in the laundry business for more than a quarter of a century. He came to Rochester seven years ago from Buffalo where he was part owner of the American Palace Laundry.

He was a Mason, a member of the L. Borden Smith Camp, Spanish-American War Veterans, and a member of the Third Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Marie Joan Tillman Merker; a son, John A.; a sister, Mrs. Fred Denler, and a brother, Albert. Funeral services will be Thursday afternoon at 2 o’clock at 237 Chestnut Street.
ANDREW J. MILLER

Edward L. Miller, Republican journalist, who resides in Rochester, has recently been an active contributor to the columns of the Morning Post. He has been a member of the editorial board of the paper for many years, and is well known for his liberal views on political and social questions.

Yale Honor Won

Joseph Miller, 170 Warner St., Civil War veteran and a native of the city, was born in the United States and was a member of the Students' Association during his senior year. Since his graduation he has been employed in the post office.

Buell Paine Mills

Buell Paine Mills, 59, head of the insurance firm which bears his name, a director of Central Trust Company, and prominent in civic affairs, died unexpectedly early this morning, Feb. 23, 1939, at his home, 11 Portsmouth Terrace.

Yale Honored

Antony Jr. Myrano, 114 Avery St., is a member of the Student's Association. He has been a member of the Students' Association during his senior year. Since his graduation he has been employed in the post office.

Yale Graduates

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Miller, both of New York City, have four children. The Rev. Walter J. Miller, S. J., the Rev. Maurice J. Miller, S. J., both of Woodstock, Maryland, the Rev. Edward W. Miller, S. J., and Harold and Robert F. Miller, both of New York City, have four children. The Rev. Edward W. Miller, S. J., and Harold and Robert F. Miller, both of New York City, have four children. The Rev. Edward W. Miller, S. J., and Harold and Robert F. Miller, both of New York City, have four children.
Funeral services for Buell P. Mills, 69, head of the insurance firm of the same name, who died unexpectedly yesterday (Feb. 25, 1935) in his home, 11 Portsmouth Terrace, will be conducted in the house at 3:30 p.m. today, Rev. Andrew Gillies, D.D., officiating.

Active bearers will be Sherwood Smith, Alexander Beac, Schuyler Wells, Hiram W. Sibley Jr., Clarence C. Hunt, Joseph Robj Jr. and John J. Holahan.

Mr. Mills was the son of Mrs. Arthur S. Hamilton and the late William T. Mills, and a maternal grandson of Capt. T. A. Smith, who bought the Pain Dr. Company in 1832. He was born in Rochester in the public schools and graduated from the University of Rochester. June 14, 1904, he married Henriette Allen, daughter of the late Frederick P. Allen and the late Caroline Clarke Allen. In 1905 he established the insurance business which bears his name.

He was a director of Central Trust Company, General Hospital; Rochester Board of Education; he was a member of the concert committee of the Civic Music Association, director of Rochester Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Company; member of the board of governors of Genesee Valley Club, member of the Country Club and member of the Third Presbyterian Church.

Besides his widow, Mr. Mills leaves a son, Allen Paine Mills; his mother, Mrs. S. Hamilton; a stepbrother, Arthur S. Hamilton; a stepfather, Henrietta Hamilton; a stepbrother, Samuel C. Hamilton, Springer, N. M.

Underwriters Board of Rochester yesterday at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution on the death of Mr. Mills. He was president of the board four years and secretary 15 years. The following committees were appointed to represent the board at the funeral: James C. Clements, Gilbert T. Ammon, W. Osborne Ashley, Robert A. Driscoll, Howard C. Davis, George R. DeGraff, Harry Crowley, T. A. Sharp, Carl H. Hennrich, Charles H. Tutu, Austin C. Young, Ezra Spitznagel and Emil Miller.

Funeral services for Buell P. Mills, 69, head of the insurance firm of the same name, who died unexpectedly yesterday (Feb. 25, 1935) in his home, 11 Portsmouth Terrace, will be conducted in the house at 3:30 p.m. today, Rev. Andrew Gillies, D.D., officiating.

Active bearers will be Sherwood Smith, Alexander Beac, Schuyler Wells, Hiram W. Sibley Jr., Clarence C. Hunt, Joseph Robj Jr. and John J. Holahan.

Mr. Mills was the son of Mrs. Arthur S. Hamilton and the late William T. Mills, and a maternal grandson of Capt. T. A. Smith, who bought the Pain Dr. Company in 1832. He was born in Rochester in the public schools and graduated from the University of Rochester. June 14, 1904, he married Henriette Allen, daughter of the late Frederick P. Allen and the late Caroline Clarke Allen. In 1905 he established the insurance business which bears his name.

He was a director of Central Trust Company, General Hospital; Rochester Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Company; member of the board of governors of Genesee Valley Club, member of the Country Club and member of the Third Presbyterian Church.

Besides his widow, Mr. Mills leaves a son, Allen Paine Mills; his mother, Mrs. S. Hamilton; a stepbrother, Arthur S. Hamilton; a stepfather, Henrietta Hamilton; a stepbrother, Samuel C. Hamilton, Springer, N. M.
Edward John Moore, once billed with Lillian Russell, Avows Kitty O'Neill and Charlie Queen Outshone All

By HENRY W. CLUNE

Edward John Moore rubbed a thin hand over a furrowed brow as he sat on the sofa in the living room of his 522 Blossom Street home, and recalled the week he played on the same bill with Lillian Russell at Weber & Fields famous Broadway Music Hall. That was 40-odd years ago.

He told about Kitty O'Neill, the greatest jig dancer who ever lived; he arose, and removed the tattered cap he had worn up from his cellar chores, as he spoke of Charlie Queen — the greatest dancer who ever lived; the champion of champions.

Touch the chord of reminiscence in Eddie Moore and you could have enough anecdotes to fill a book.

The thin hand went again to the brow, and Mr. Moore told of that memorable night in the Bar of the Morton House, Union Square, N.Y. — he, a Brooklyn unknown had knocked the great John L. Sullivan off his feet.

"When John was standing just down the bar from me, pretty well sagged down, when he got in a jam with one of the biggest fellows from Brooklyn," related Mr. Moore. "Before you could say Jack Robinson, the Brooklyn fellow had clipped him on the chin. John went to the floor like a ton of bricks. On his hands and knees he crawled over to a chair, sat down, shook the cobwebs from his brain, and then said, before he fell asleep, 'I'll pay Brooklyn a visit in the morning.'"

"I doubt if he ever caught up with the stranger who had pined it on him, but I rather suspect he forgets the incident when he woke up. It was quite a sight, though, to see John hit the floor. A very rare sight, indeed."

For more than 30 years, Mr. Moore was a trouper. He was born and raised on a small farm at what is now the corner of Cottage and Magnolia streets. His first stage was in the Eighth Ward, in those days; it is now in the 19th. Mr. Moore says that he was born lazy, and never got over it. He soon weary of tending chickens, and doing barnyard chores. So one day, as a kid just turning 16, he beat his way to Buffalo. He had picked up a few fancy steps, and could do a few feats of tumbling. In a Buffalo music hall, he soon had a catch-as-catch-can job as an entertainer. Buffalo in those days was one of the most important show and sporting towns in the country.

"Canal Street in Buffalo, the eighties, was one of the toughest districts in America," Mr. Moore said. "The sky was the limit, the lid was off. From those Buffalo music halls sprang some of the best musical comedy and vaudeville entertainers in the country. I wasn't there many months before I had a chance to go out on the big time. From Buffalo I went to the Apollo Theater in Chicago, and then got bookings all over the Keith circuit. That kept me busy for more than 30 years."

He was a comic and a dancer. A dancer, he says, in the days when dancers were dancers. For a time, he was a partner of Casper Staley, also of Rochester, in a dancing, comic act, billed as Moore & Staley. Later he joined the Six American Dancers and toured with this actet for years.

"I know it sounds like the old timer's lament to say there are no modern dancers the equal of the dancers in the latter days of the last century," he said. But it is a fact, just the same. There are just two you've got now, who would have had a prayer with the oldtimers, with such dancers as Charlie Queen and John L. Sullivan. Those two are Bill Robinson and Fred Astaire. But neither come within miles of Queen. Queen should have been named King; he was king of 'em all.

"All these modern dancers talk about is rhythm. Rhythm is sound and motion. The real essentials of the great dancer are time, style and execution. Robinson, for instance, is very perfect in what he does; but he does only one thing. Even he doesn't dance like the best of the old crowd did."

Mr. Moore knew innumerable celebrities of another age. He was a friend of the late Jack London, the writer, when London was getting "color" around Buffalo's Canal Street; he knew Bob Fitzsimmons, once the heavyweight champion of the world; DeWolf Hopper, Sam Bernard, McIntyre & Heath. He spent one summer in Deadwood, South Dakota, when that town was the frontier settlement for the gold country in the Black Hills. He danced there in a music hall. Once he had to leave in the middle of the show, for work. He got shot dead on the street. "He held too many aces," said Mr. Moore. "That justified homicide, in that country. The people were so wild they were merely obligated to put up $25 to bury the man he had killed."

Mr. Moore came back to Rochester about 15 years ago, and settled in the 19th Ward, where he has lived ever since. "I'm not rich, I didn't save my money, but I don't want for anything," he says. Today he is more than 65. He lives, the reporter was amazed to learn, with his mother.

D & G SEP. 19, 1935

Gerald Morarity Passes at Home

Gerald Morarity, 36, restaurant employee, died yesterday (Sept. 14, 1935) at his home, 45 Manhattan St. He had been ill only a short while.

He had been employed at the Times Square Restaurant, the old Egyptian dance hall in South Avenue and at East Avenue restaurants. Morarity had been a pupil at St. Mary's School and the Rochester Business Institute.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Kathleen Griffith Morarity; his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Morarity, and two sisters, Mrs. John Urquhart and Mrs. Arthur Dailey, Rochester. Funeral services will be held at 8:30 a. m. Saturday at the home of his mother, 20 Walnut St., at 9 a.m. at St. Mary's Church. Burial will be in Holy Sepulcher Cemetery.
James I. Morrall Succumbs Following 2-Year Illness

JAMES I. MORRALL

The death of County Treasurer James I. Morrall saddens his political opponents as well as his personal and political friends and family. As a political official, Mr. Morrall admired for his ability and integrity, and in his personal and business relations he had the affection and confidence of a wide circle.

His death presumably solves one of the problems that confronted the new County Manager under the terms of the Buckley law. Mr. Morrall, holding a legislative office and serving under bond as the custodian of county funds, prevented the application of the law as it was construed by the County Manager and his adviser.

His motives in this context were never impugned: it was important for the interests of the county that the points raised should be clearly settled. Before Mr. Morrall gave up any of the duties which his election and his bonded obligations imposed on him, he was confident that the county of Monroe at last had a competent man at the head of the bureau.

JAMES I. MORRALL

James I. Morrall, 47, Monroe County treasurer, ended yesterday (Apr. 23, 1936) with death in St. Mary's Hospital. He had been ill two years, but he entered the hospital only a week ago.

Although he had been chairman of the county Democratic finance committee in several campaigns, he had been a candidate in 1929 when he made his first for the first time in Monroe County. He gained the political support of the party, but later in vain as a candidate in the county for re-election. He was himself a member of the Democratic party and was more widely known as a politician than a politician, however.

He came to Rochester in 1917 to establish a photographic studio. His business was soon recognized and he opened branches in the city, a few miles in five minutes. He became president of the company and gave half a interest in the business to four employees.

He married the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wyeth, and was married in 1928. Mr. Morrall was named to handle the financial campaign in the 38th and 39th convention of the state party. He continued to act as financial manager for the Democrats here until he was elected county treasurer. He is a member of the Ancient Craft Lodge, F. & A. M.; Rochester Consistory, Hamlin Chapter, Damascus Temple, Idlers Club, Wabash, I. O. O. F, Ekl, Chamber of Commerce and the Moose, a resident of the city. He is married and has one child.

Heads Last Curtain Call — First in 20 Years

Edward J. Moore, Ex-Actor Dies After Short Illness

Edward J. Moore, who had a long career in vaudeville and once-time nationally known dance and comedy star, who lived at 100 Sawyer Street, died at the age of 88, following a short illness.

For more than 30 years he had a curtain call in 20 years, and answered the last one at 9:10 yesterday in Municipal Hospital.

He was a member of Rochester Chapter of Commedia, Rochester Lodge of American, at 2824 Lake Avenue.

Edward J. Moore, Ex-Actor Dies After Short Illness

Edward J. Moore, who had a curtain call in 20 years, answered the last one at 9:10 yesterday in Municipal Hospital.

He was a member of Rochester Chapter of Commedia, Rochester Lodge of American, at 2824 Lake Avenue.

Edward J. Moore, Ex-Actor Dies After Short Illness

Edward J. Moore, who had a curtain call in 20 years, answered the last one at 9:10 yesterday in Municipal Hospital.

He was a member of Rochester Chapter of Commedia, Rochester Lodge of American, at 2824 Lake Avenue.
Former Teacher Passes, Aged 77

I Former Teacher Passes, Aged 77

Mrs. Sarah W. Scott Monger, teacher and church worker, died yesterday (Jan. 5, 1933) in the home of her son, William F. Monger, 32 Rundell Park. She was 77. Born in Mumford, Mrs. Monger was a graduate of Genesee Normal School in 1878. She taught in the Cohocton School near the old Forest House and later in Cal- edonia and Bergen.

Mrs. Monger was one of two surviving members of the nine charter members of Paradise Avenue Baptist Church. She was clerk and treasurer of the church from 5 years, president of its Missionary Society, and active in the Ladies Aid and other church organizasions. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. at the Rundell Park address. Burial will be in Mount Rest Cemetery, Bergen.

Pony' Moore Dies Of Head Injuries To Be Buried Tomorrow From Holy Rosary Church

SERVICES will be held tomorrow at 9 o'clock at Holy Rosary Church for John P. "Pony" Moore, 54, semi-professional baseball player of the 80's and 90's, who died yesterday morning at 5 a.m. at Mary's Hospital from injuries resulting from a fall sustained at his home, 430 Sible Ter. on April 30. Coroner David H. Atwater issued a certificate of accidental death.

His small stature won him the name "Pony" when he was learning to play ball in the old Fourth Ward. Later, in the twenties before the turn of the century, Moore played shortstop and second base for the Old Nineteen Ward Stars, afterwards turning pro to play with Seattle in the Coast League and Bradford in Pennsylvania. He was a fine fielder but weak hitting in the minors.

Moore pioneered softball here and played on the Rochester Athletic Club's first team. Supreme Court Justice William F. Love, Charles E. (Clipp) Fosdick and Andrew Weidman were his intimate friends.

Moore was also known as a Reserve Bicyclist. His Premium Bicycles and Bristol Hotel establishment, and in recent years his sportsmen's rendezvous at Rice Lake, Canada, being popular gathering places.

Former Aide in Charge of Monroe Auto License Bureau Succumbs to Stroke—Aided G. O. P.

Thomas E. Mykins, 59, former deputy clerk, died at 2:15 a.m. this morning, May 22, 1933, in St. Mary's Hospital. Mr. Mykins' death resulted from a stroke. He was stricken in South Avenue Monday afternoon, was attended by a physician who, recognizing the seriousness of his condition, summoned an ambulance and removed him to the hospital.

The funeral will be held Monday at 9:30 o'clock from the house and at 9 o'clock, St. Mary's Church. Entomem will be in Holy Sepulcher Cemetery.

Mr. Mykins, a former political aide of the late Joseph C. Wilson, was one of the best known 19th Ward Republicans.

When Mr. Wilson broke with the Republican organization in 1922, in the memorable fight between the Van Zandt-Wilson-Love group and the late James L. Hitchings, then county clerk, he used his political fortunes with Mr. Wilson and later was rewarded by appointment as deputy county clerk in the charge of his campaign vehicle office, a position which was created during the administration of County Clerk Henry Bostwick.

Mr. Mykins systematized the work of issuing license plates and made possible the elimination of an old condition which caused confusion and necessitated motorists waiting in line for hours outside the Court House, usually in cold and storming weather, when the hour for obtaining plates arrived.

Through his connection with the county clerk's office, Mr. Mykins became known to many of the county clerks throughout the state.

After Roy F. Bush took charge of the office Mr. Mykins applied to the courts to compel his reinstatement. The action is now pending. Since he retired from the position he has employed as a salesman for the Standard Brewing Company.

Mr. Mykins was a native of Rochester and a member of St. Monton Church, Genesee Street. He was also a member of the Holy Name Society of that church.

Surviving are his wife, Mildred P. Mykins; one son, Louis F., and three daughters, Mildred, Roberta and Ruth, and two brothers and a sister, James and Samuel Mykins and Mrs. Mary Killeen.

John Michelson, Hotel Man Dies D. & C., Dec. 1 5 1932

John Michelson, 62, retired Rochester hotel proprietor, died early today (Dec. 15, 1932) in his home, 364 Heleandale Road, after a lingering illness.

Prior to retiring six years ago, Mr. Michelson had operated hotels here for 29 years. For 18 years he was owner and manager of an establishment in Central Avenue, opposite New York Central Station, and before that a house in Clinton Avenue North. Both were known at the Michelson Hotel.

A native of Rochester, Mr. Michelson left to survive him by his widow, Mrs. Jeanette Michelson; two daughters, Mrs. Henry L. Vogel and Mrs. Joseph Sterling; two brothers, Theodore and Fred Michelson and two grandchildren, all of Rochester. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus and was a member of the Eagles, Haymakers Club and Foresters.

Funeral services are incomplete.

Final Rites Held For W. C. Miller

Funeral services for Walter C. Miller of 1190 Main Street East, and employee of the E. P. Reed Company, were conducted yesterday at 3 p.m. in the Central Avenue Church, which was filled to capacity.

Surviving Mr. Miller are his widow, Mrs. Mary E. Delvin Miller; two brothers, Herbert and Robert Miller, and one sister, Miss Clara Miller.

Elbert H. T. Miller Dies in Chili W. E. – 1939

Elbert H. T. Miller, 75, descendent of an early Monroe County family, died yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Carver Miller.

After being graduated from Genesee Normal School, Miller studied law two years in Rochester before being associated with Dunlap Cable News Company of New York City. A few years later he entered the patent medicined field, prominent among the Ro companies as an active business man just prior to the World War.

Genealogy was his hobby and he traveled extensively to obtain data for many widly consulted works on the subject. For the past 15 years he edited the Sectional History of the New York State Register, a voluume for which he had corresponded for Rochester papers.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. Monday at United Presbyterian Church, Scottsville, where Mr. Miller was active in the Sunday School and Brotherhood Union, of which he was secretary since 1926.
Descendant of William Fitzhugh, one of Rochester's founders, Mr. Mole had been a printer eight years, half of which he had spent in The Times-Union composing room.

Originated in Peterboro, Mr. Mole was a graduate of Harvard University, where he received his degree in business.

test

Beverage Manufacturer, Michael J. Miller Dies

Michael J. Miller, 59, of 35 Thomas Street, Rochester soda water manufacturer and a member of the Jewish Community, died yesterday.

MICHAEL J. MILLER

New York State Bottlers Association, a member of the board of directors of the Jewish Home for the Aged and a member of the Jewish Community.

He established one of Rochester's early soda water bottling plants. The Miller plant was moved to its present location at 35 Thomas Street in 1948, after moving from a location on East Avenue.

Bottling, then being under the name of Star Bottling Works, for some time he finally bought out the Rochester Soda Water Company, under which name he then operated the plant. Shortly after repeal he opened a liquor store at 359 Joseph Avenue.

Surviving are his niece, Audrey Mole, and a nephew, Jackie Mole, of Rochester.

Russell J. Mole, 33, a Times-Union printer, who died in Strong Memorial Hospital, Monday evening, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Mole, of 1111 Central Avenue. He was a past member of the Times-Union bowling club and had served as assistant chairman of the Typographical Union chapter of the Typographical Union.

Surviving are his wife, Anna; a son, James, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mole; and a niece, Audrey Mole.

13 Transfusions Fail Printer

Thirteen blood transfusions had been given to Russell John Mole, 33, a Times-Union printer, by the time he died yesterday, April 5, 1957, in Strong Memorial Hospital. He is survived by his wife, Anna; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mole; and a niece, Audrey Mole.
Loss of Sight at 12 Years Fails to Darken Life Of Rochesterian Who Sings and Plays Way to Happiness

Grateful to Seeing Wife Who Makes World Normal

By HENRY W. CLUNE

The handicap of sightless eyes is a comparatively minor one, at least in his case, says Robert O. Monaghan, singer, organist, music teacher.

Mr. Monaghan is a summer student of voice in the Eastman School of Music. His home is in Batavia. He is married to a sighted young woman, who drives his car, sometimes plays his accompaniments, helps in his business affairs and "makes life almost normal," Mr. Monaghan says, with a grateful smile.

He has been sightless since he was 12 years of age. Even as a small boy he enjoyed only partial sight. Then, suddenly, all vision faded, and he was faced with the blackness of utter, eternal night. But you would not believe it to see and talk to Mr. Monaghan.

He smiles readily, talks well and has a splendid baritone voice.

Son of Musician

Mr. Monaghan, was born in this city, and comes naturally by his musical talent and interest. His father was the late Charles H. Monaghan, 20 years sang and directed the choir of First Methodist Church. Mr. Monaghan was graduated from the State School for the Blind in Batavia, and subsequently was graduated from the State Normal School at Fredonia, where he took the course in public school music supervision.

For the last eight years he has been supervisor of music in public schools of children in villages around Syracuse, Meridian, Fairhaven and Cato. Last spring he decided he would like to have another year of work, and he prepared a lecture, "How the Blind See," which he gave for the first time before 1,000 students in Morgan Park High School, Morgan Park, Ill., a Chicago suburb. That lecture won for him the interest of the lecture and concert agency and resulted in his engagement for a lecture series this winter.

The lectures, to be supplemented with solos by Mr. Monaghan, will be given before schools, colleges and luncheon clubs.

E. R. Mooney Advanced To Division Chief

Capt. Earl R. Mooney is new commander of 27th Division, VFW, succeeding Frank L. Hasbrouck, resigned on account of poor health.

The vacancy of senior vice-president, caused by the promotion of Capt. Mooney, will be filled by moving up Junior Vicecommander William Janess. An election to fill his place will be conducted at the next meeting of the National Encampment.

Central Library of Rochester and Monroe County
Historic Scrapbooks Collection

E. R. Mooney Advanced To Division Chief

Capt. Earl R. Mooney is new commander of 27th Division, VFW, succeeding Frank L. Hasbrouck, resigned on account of poor health.

The vacancy of senior vice-president, caused by the promotion of Capt. Mooney, will be filled by moving up Junior Vicecommander William Janess. An election to fill his place will be conducted at the next meeting of the National Encampment.

Central Library of Rochester and Monroe County
Historic Scrapbooks Collection
Detroit See Beckons Archbishop Mooney

Archbishop Mooney, Bishop of the Rochester Catholic Diocese, who today was described by Vatican prelates as the "logical successor" to the late Bishop Michael J. Gallagher of Detroit.

They would, however, neither confirm nor deny reports from the United States that the appointment had been decided — pointing out that such decisions are held secret until officially announced.

Because of its large Catholic population, churchmen here observed that raising of Detroit to the rank of an arch-bishopric would be a logical move. The city pressure is in the ecclesiastical province of Cincinnati.

Archbishop Mooney has enjoyed popular confidence and is known as an accomplished diplomat. He was apostolic delegate to India and later to Japan for some years.

Wild Guess, Prelate Says

At his episcopal residence in East Avenue, Archbishop Mooney's residence, speculation on a possible successor to Detroit's late spiritual leader as a wild guess.

Declining to either confirm or deny the report, Archbishop Mooney declined to put himself in position to know anything about the appointment or to give any hint until the official announcement is released — probably in Washington.

The archbishop was born in Mt. Savage, Md., May 6, 1882, youngest of six children. When he was about five years old, his parents moved to Youngstown, Ohio. He attended St. Columban's School there and graduated with honors. He then entered Mt. St. Mary's College, Ohio, where he completed his theological education in Rome at the North American College.

He was ordained for the Cleveland diocese. His early career as a priest included several years in parish work, direction of a boys' school in Cleveland and some years as professor of dogmatic theology in Rome. In 1922 he was called to the Vatican City as spiritual director of the North American College.

Served In Japan

In 1926 he was named titular archbishop of Irondale, Seineux, and subsequently was appointed apostolic delegate to India and later to Japan.

He was serving in Tokyo on Aug. 27, 1935, when the Apostolic delegation announced his appointment as apostolic delegate to the Rochester diocese to succeed the late Bishop John F. O'Hara. He was the fourth bishop to be named to the post.

Before a distinguished company of the Catholic press and a notable assembly of civic leaders he was installed at ceremonies in St. John the Baptist Church, Oct. 12, 1932. Patrick Cardinal Hayes, archbishop of New York, officiated.

Archbishop Has Rapid Church Rise

Archbishop Edward Mooney was born May 9, 1882 in Mt. Savage near Baltimore, Md., the youngest of six children. He was the youngest of seven children, born after their marriage in 1866.

When he was but 5 years old the family moved to Youngstown, Ohio, where the father saw a chance for better employment. The father died seven years later, but the mother kept the family together.

The call to the priesthood came to him when he decided to enter St. Charles's College in the outskirts of Baltimore, not far from the scene of his birth. His theological studies followed at St. Mary's in Baltimore. Before he completed his studies, he was sent to the North American College at Rome.

His ordination to the priesthood was on Apr. 10, 1909 at Home. The North American College asked him to remain there, but the bishop of Cleveland, who had sponsored the young cleric, asked that he be returned home.

In September of 1910 he became professor of theology at St. Mary's in Cleveland, charged with the special duty of organizing a Catholic high school for boys. Six years later the college was opened and became its principal, continuing until 1922, when he became a pastor at Youngstown.

In 1912 the Pope called him again, this time to become apostolic delegate to India. Catholic church procedure is that an apostolic delegate is an archbishop, and on Jan. 31, 1913, he was consecrated titular archbishop of Trincomalee, Ceylon. He proceeded to India as apostolic delegate of the Vatican. On Feb. 26, 1931 he was transferred to Japan.

He was serving in Tokyo on Aug. 27, 1935, when the Apostolic delegation announced his appointment as apostolic delegate to the Rochester diocese to succeed the late Bishop John F. O'Hara. He was the fourth bishop to be named to the post.

Before a distinguished company of the Catholic press and a notable assembly of civic leaders he was installed at ceremonies in St. John the Baptist Church, Oct. 12, 1932. Patrick Cardinal Hayes, archbishop of New York, officiated.

Death Takes School Head

Robert W. Montfort, 45, principal of School 3, died unexpectedly last night following a heart attack.

Mr. Montfort, who had been associated with Rochester public schools since January, 1925, resided at 129 Terrace Park.

Fredonia Graduate

Graduated from Western High School in 1912, Mr. Montfort later was graduated from Fredonia Normal School and held positions first in a rural school, then successively as principal of Dayton High School, Rushville High School and Wilsonian High School in Angelica. His first Rochester assignment was in Monroe Junior-Senior High School.

After receiving a B. S. degree in education from the University of Rochester in 1930 he became principal of School 3.

Services Set Thursday

Mr. Montfort is survived by his wife, Ethel Montfort; a son, Elwyn M.; two brothers, Stanley H. of Buffalo and Floyd H. of Portland, and a sister, Mrs. Anna Grubb of Painesville, Ohio.

Friends are invited to call at 105 Lake Ave. from 2 to 10 p.m. Wednesday. Services will be held at Mt. Hope Chapel at 11:30 a.m. Thursday. Burial will be in Mt. Hope Cemetery.
BOYHOOD
This drawing, reproduced by a Youngstown Telegram artist from an old daguerreotype, shows Archbishop Edward A. Mooney at the age of five. At that time the boy moved with his family to Youngstown, Ohio. His teachers and friends in Youngstown recall how he loved to read and study.

CHURCH LEADER
Here Archbishop Mooney, flanked by two priests from North Dakota, is shown in a procession preceding rites which opened the National Catholic Rural Life Conference in Rochester in October 1935. This was two years after he became bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Rochester.

CIVIC LEADER
Ever ready to take his part in civic affairs, here, Archbishop Mooney is pictured on April 10, 1934 at an Inter-Faith Goodwill Committee Meeting. The Rev. Justin Wroe Nixon, D. D., of Brick Presbyterian Church (left) and Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein of Temple B'rith Kodesh (right) appeared with him as speakers urging peace and understanding.
JAMES G. CUTLER PRESENTS
CITY MEMORIAL STATUE OF
'FATHER OF PARK SYSTEM'

Dr. Edward M. Moore to be Honored by Bronze in Park.

A memorial to the late Dr. Edward M. Moore, prominent Rochester physician and first Rochester Park Commissioner, is to be unveiled by Mayor O'Neil in the Memorial Park on Saturday afternoon.

The park system was organized in 1853 by Dr. Moore, who was the first Parks Commissioner. The early history of the system is well known, and it is supposed that the park system in Rochester is one of the oldest in the country.

The bronze statue of Dr. Moore, by Edward St. John White, will be unveiled by Mayor O'Neil.

The ceremony will be followed by a formal luncheon at the Hotel Kendall, which will be attended by prominent citizens of the city.

Dr. Moore was a prominent citizen of Rochester, and was one of the first to advocate the establishment of a park system. He was a strong advocate of the idea, and worked tirelessly to make it a reality.

The bronze statue will be a fitting tribute to Dr. Moore, and will be an inspiration to future generations.

EDWARD MOTT MOORE, M.D., F.R.C.P.

Dr. Moore once honored as 'most useful citizen' was Father of Rochester's Park System.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz Dies;
Arbiter in Clothing Trade

Died at age 75.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz, who was the principal arbiter in the clothing industry of Rochester, died last night at his

Dr. Henry Moskowitz was born in New York City, 1865. He was educated at the University of Rochester and at the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Moskowitz was a prominent citizen of Rochester, and was one of the first to advocate the establishment of a park system. He was a strong advocate of the idea, and worked tirelessly to make it a reality.

The bronze statue will be a fitting tribute to Dr. Moore, and will be an inspiration to future generations.

EDWARD MOTT MOORE, M.D., F.R.C.P.

Dr. Moore once honored as 'most useful citizen' was Father of Rochester's Park System.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz Dies;
Arbiter in Clothing Trade

Died at age 75.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz, who was the principal arbiter in the clothing industry of Rochester, died last night at his

Dr. Henry Moskowitz was born in New York City, 1865. He was educated at the University of Rochester and at the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Moskowitz was a prominent citizen of Rochester, and was one of the first to advocate the establishment of a park system. He was a strong advocate of the idea, and worked tirelessly to make it a reality.

The bronze statue will be a fitting tribute to Dr. Moore, and will be an inspiration to future generations.

EDWARD MOTT MOORE, M.D., F.R.C.P.

Dr. Moore once honored as 'most useful citizen' was Father of Rochester's Park System.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz Dies;
Arbiter in Clothing Trade

Died at age 75.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz, who was the principal arbiter in the clothing industry of Rochester, died last night at his

Dr. Henry Moskowitz was born in New York City, 1865. He was educated at the University of Rochester and at the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Moskowitz was a prominent citizen of Rochester, and was one of the first to advocate the establishment of a park system. He was a strong advocate of the idea, and worked tirelessly to make it a reality.

The bronze statue will be a fitting tribute to Dr. Moore, and will be an inspiration to future generations.

EDWARD MOTT MOORE, M.D., F.R.C.P.

Dr. Moore once honored as 'most useful citizen' was Father of Rochester's Park System.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz Dies;
Arbiter in Clothing Trade

Died at age 75.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz, who was the principal arbiter in the clothing industry of Rochester, died last night at his

Dr. Henry Moskowitz was born in New York City, 1865. He was educated at the University of Rochester and at the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Moskowitz was a prominent citizen of Rochester, and was one of the first to advocate the establishment of a park system. He was a strong advocate of the idea, and worked tirelessly to make it a reality.

The bronze statue will be a fitting tribute to Dr. Moore, and will be an inspiration to future generations.

EDWARD MOTT MOORE, M.D., F.R.C.P.

Dr. Moore once honored as 'most useful citizen' was Father of Rochester's Park System.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz Dies;
Arbiter in Clothing Trade

Died at age 75.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz, who was the principal arbiter in the clothing industry of Rochester, died last night at his

Dr. Henry Moskowitz was born in New York City, 1865. He was educated at the University of Rochester and at the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Moskowitz was a prominent citizen of Rochester, and was one of the first to advocate the establishment of a park system. He was a strong advocate of the idea, and worked tirelessly to make it a reality.

The bronze statue will be a fitting tribute to Dr. Moore, and will be an inspiration to future generations.

EDWARD MOTT MOORE, M.D., F.R.C.P.

Dr. Moore once honored as 'most useful citizen' was Father of Rochester's Park System.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz Dies;
Arbiter in Clothing Trade

Died at age 75.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz, who was the principal arbiter in the clothing industry of Rochester, died last night at his

Dr. Henry Moskowitz was born in New York City, 1865. He was educated at the University of Rochester and at the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Moskowitz was a prominent citizen of Rochester, and was one of the first to advocate the establishment of a park system. He was a strong advocate of the idea, and worked tirelessly to make it a reality.

The bronze statue will be a fitting tribute to Dr. Moore, and will be an inspiration to future generations.

EDWARD MOTT MOORE, M.D., F.R.C.P.

Dr. Moore once honored as 'most useful citizen' was Father of Rochester's Park System.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz Dies;
Arbiter in Clothing Trade

Died at age 75.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz, who was the principal arbiter in the clothing industry of Rochester, died last night at his

Dr. Henry Moskowitz was born in New York City, 1865. He was educated at the University of Rochester and at the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Moskowitz was a prominent citizen of Rochester, and was one of the first to advocate the establishment of a park system. He was a strong advocate of the idea, and worked tirelessly to make it a reality.

The bronze statue will be a fitting tribute to Dr. Moore, and will be an inspiration to future generations.

EDWARD MOTT MOORE, M.D., F.R.C.P.

Dr. Moore once honored as 'most useful citizen' was Father of Rochester's Park System.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz Dies;
Arbiter in Clothing Trade

Died at age 75.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz, who was the principal arbiter in the clothing industry of Rochester, died last night at his

Dr. Henry Moskowitz was born in New York City, 1865. He was educated at the University of Rochester and at the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Moskowitz was a prominent citizen of Rochester, and was one of the first to advocate the establishment of a park system. He was a strong advocate of the idea, and worked tirelessly to make it a reality.

The bronze statue will be a fitting tribute to Dr. Moore, and will be an inspiration to future generations.
CHEMIST SEES NEED OF USING GASES IN WAR

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE

Continued from the leading journal of his day, "Dr. Moore was a bi-like, "A heavy, historic," physician. Dr. Moore was a bi-like, "A heavy, historic," physician. Dr. Moore was a bi-like, "A heavy, historic," physician. Dr. Moore, who had been a resident physician for the local a heavy...
Mulheron Retires as ‘All-Round Man’
At City Hall; Yields to Law at 72

Truman Mulheron, jovial night janitor at City Hall, will lock the doors of municipal departments for the last time Thursday night.

"Mul," as he is familiarly known and who is “an all-around man,” according to his boss, Bill Flanigan, superintendent of city buildings, has passed the age of 70 and is compelled to retire under the compulsory state retirement law.

To be exact, Mulheron is 72 and has twice been certified so that he has been able to stay on two years beyond the retirement age. State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine declined to consider a request for a third certification this year.

"Mul", formerly swung red lantern, threw switches and adjusted couplings as a brakeman on the New York Central railroad. He gave up that job 24 years ago to become night watchman at Convention Hall. Later he did a day trick and finally Flanigan transferred him to City Hall.

At times, during the last 10 years, he worked at Edgerton Park, helping Flanigan put the buildings in readiness for the annual exposition.

Always in his shirt sleeves while on the job and with a cigar gripped in one corner of his mouth, "Mul" has served also as elevator conductor at the hall on occasions.

During the years he has been in janitor work at City Hall he has never missed a meeting of the City Council, for it has been part of his job to see that all lights were extinguished in the council chamber and that City Clerk Tom O'Leary's office securely locked for the night.

Mulheron is a Fourth Warder, residing at 17th Street.

New Year’s Eve will mark the end of Truman Mulheron’s tasks at City Hall. The veteran “all-around man,” forced to retire by age limitations law, will lock doors in the City Hall for the last time.
Handy in traffic, no trouble to park and inexpensive, chuckles Justice of the Peace William H. Murray of Pittsford, as he tells friends why he's riding a motorized scooter this spring instead of using an automobile.

The suburban jurist, back from his 25th winter in Florida, is pioneering a new wrinkle in transportation in this area, following purchase of what he says was the first gasoline scooter to make its appearance on Miami streets.

Judge Murray, who is 70 and full of fun, rides in to Rochester and back on the rare vehicle, leaves it on the curb and laughs at folks who have to drive in circles to find a spot to park in car-jammed downtown.

The sight of Judge Murray, obediently pulling up to a halt at traffic lights, is giving Pittsford and Rochester residents considerable amusement. Many of them say, as they can have a trip spin, Some get one. Others are on the Pittsford official's long waiting list.

He has been using the new vehicle for three weeks, and has used only two gallons of gasoline and a pint of oil, he says.

Petey, Justice Murray's little bull pup, accompanies the scooter advocate on some of his jaunts, riding on his lap.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 9:45 a.m. in Mr. Murray's home 95 Canterbury Rd., and 10:15 o'clock in Blessed Sacrament Church. Burial will be in Holy Sepulcher Cemetery.

Mr. Murray was one of the youngest bank presidents in Rochester.

He enjoyed a wide acquaintance, through his work in the banking field, in semipublic capacities and through his close association with the Democratic Party in city and state.

Headd Clearing House

Mr. Murray was elected president of Central Trust Company in January, 1934, following the advancement of the late John H. Gregory to the chairmanship of the board. Last year he was elected president of the Rochester Clearing House Association, in which position he was reelected this year.

Mr. Murray was born in Albany Feb. 3, 1868, the son of William and Ann Murray. He attended The Cathedral Academy and Christian Brothers Academy in Albany and matriculated at the Columbia University School of Banking.

Examiner for 10 Years

After graduation, Mr. Murray for 10 years was connected with the State Department of Banking, an association that later led him to Rochester.

During the World War, Mr. Murray was an intelligence officer for the American forces and was attached to the staff of Maj. Gen. John Biddle, London, England, as a supervisor of hospital records. Upon his return to civilian life, Mr. Murray re-established his association with the State Department of Banking and was assigned to the Rochester and Buffalo areas.

He was called to Rochester in 1921 as vice-president of Central Trust. In 1924, he was named its president.

During that period, Mr. Murray's main work was in connection with the civil and banking work. In 1932 he was called upon as a member of the Financial Advisory Board by former City Manager Stephen B. Story. Two years later, City Manager Harold W. Baker appointed him to the Harbor Advisory Board and that year he also served as treasurer for the Rochester Centennial.

On Park Commission

By appointment of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Mr. Murray also was a member of the Genesee Park Commission.

The New York State Bankers Association selected him as a member of its special Advisory and Appraisal Committee assisting depositors of closed banks. He was chairman of one of the bondholder protective committees in the lengthy reorganization of Rochester Lines, New York State Railways, and upon creation of the new company, the Rochester Transit Corporation, became its first chairman of the board.

Mr. Murray was a member of the legislative committee of the State Bankers Association, a member of the advisory board of the Rochester Association of Credit Men, a director and secretary of Genesee Brewing Company, a director of the Rochester Hospital Service Corporation and a director and trustee of the Columbus Civic Center.

He was a member of Rochester and Oak Hill Country clubs, the Genesee Valley Club and Knights of Columbus, in addition to banking association connections.

Served Democratic Party

Mr. Murray was a close friend and advisor of Donald A. Dailey, Monroe County Democratic leader. He repeatedly refused suggestions that he seek public office but did accept the designation and was elected as presidential elector in 1936.

For many years he served the Democratic Party in a financial capacity. In 1928 he was chairman of the finance committee for the state convention in Rochester during which President Roosevelt, then in private life, was nominated for governor, and he also was chairman of the finance committee for the local campaign. From 1939 to 1936 he was a member of the Democratic County Committee, from 1929 to 1933 he was a member of the Democratic County Committee and in 1936 again headed the campaign finance committee. He was a presidential elector that year.

Mr. Murray was married to Mary Ellis Apr. 17, 1920. Mrs. Murray and four children, Mary Frances, John, Genice and Ann, survive him. Other survivors are his mother, Mrs. William J. Murray of Albany; a brother, William J. Murray, assistant state administrator of the Work Progress Administration; three sisters, Mary Murray, Agnes Murray and Mrs. Ann Murray Driscoll, eight nephews and four nieces, all of Albany.

No more parking troubles for Peace Justice William H. Murray of Pittsford, who scoots to places on his motorized scooter. Here he is shown with his pet pup, Pete, who often accompanies him on short jaunts.
Death Takes J. A. Murray, Bank Head

John A. Murray, 115 Canterbury Rd., president of the Central Trust Company and a leader of the Democratic party in Rochester, died at 11:45 a.m. today in St. Mary's Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Murray was born in Albany Feb. 5, 1891, a son of William J. and Ann Murray. He was educated in Cathedral Academy and Christian Brothers Academy, and was graduated from the School of Banking of Columbia University in New York City.

He entered the employ of the State Department of Banking, later becoming examiner in charge of the Buffalo area. In the World War, he was assigned to service under Maj. Gen. John Biddle, as supervisor of hospital records at London, England.

Resumes Banking

Returning home, he resumed his state banking work. He came back to Rochester in 1924 to become vice-president and assistant to John H. Gregory, president of Central Trust Company.

In January, 1934, he succeeded Mr. Gregory as president. Mr. Gregory, continued as chairman of the board until his death in April, 1934.

Mr. Murray was president of the Rochester Clearing House Association, chairman of the board of the Rochester Transit Corporation, director and secretary of the Rochester Hospital Service Corporation.

Services Saturday

P. J. Mulryan, 72, printer, who for 40 years was a compositor on Rochester newspapers.

Mr. Murray, for 16 years employed on The Democrat and Chronicle, died last Saturday at the home of his son, David E. Murray, 72, printer, who for 40 years was a compositor on Rochester newspapers.

Last rites will be conducted at 3:00 p.m. at St. Francis Xavier Church in the city on the 19th. The funeral service will be held at 3:00 p.m. at St. Francis Xavier Church in the city, followed by interment in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mr. Murray's first wife, Mrs. James Murray, died seven years ago.

Member of the Rochester Police Department as a young man, Mr. Murray left the service to take up the printing trade. He worked on the old Rochester Herald and later on the Rochester Post Express before going with The Democrat and Chronicle. He was a member of Typographical Union 15.

Rites Set Tomorrow For John Murphy

Funeral rites for John Joseph Murphy, 45, who died of heart attack Saturday (Aug. 1, 1937) in an apartment at 97 Jones Avenue at 10:30 a.m. today, in Immaculate Conception Church, will be held at 10:30 a.m. today in Immaculate Conception Church, followed by interment in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mulryan, 72,

Member of the Rochester Clearing House Association, chairman of the board of the Rochester Transit Corporation, director and secretary of the Rochester Hospital Service Corporation.

Central Library of Rochester and Monroe County Historic Scrapbooks Collection
EDNA M., the Syracuse-born star of "The Belle of New York," Ellen Terry, the Barrymores, Sir Henry Irving, whom Mungovan thinks played the stage's greatest Shylock — yes, and "The Divine" Sarah Bernhardt — he saw them all and trod the boards with some-in-bit parts at $2.05 a week.

The stage show — "it's got to come back," he firmly believes because it has always gone in cycles. "No matter how often you watch a celebrity on the screen, when he comes to town you want to see him in the flesh."

He hasn't kept track of the mileage but Michael Mungovan has crisscrossed the continent, contending with all the elements taking in labor conventions. He had been carrying a union card three years when, at the age of 20, he represented the Rochester local of International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Motion Picture Machine Operators at its 1907 national convention in Jamestown, Va. He hasn't missed a national convention since.

A state executive committee of the Theatrical Crafts of New York State, he succeeded the late Jerry Ryan of Binghamton as state federation vice-president last year.

EDNA M. The Syracuse-born star of "The Belle of New York," Ellen Terry, the Barrymores, Sir Henry Irving, whom Mungovan thinks played the stage's greatest Shylock — yes, and "The Divine" Sarah Bernhardt — he saw them all and trod the boards with some-in-bit parts at $2.05 a week.

The stage show — "it's got to come back," he firmly believes because it has always gone in cycles. "No matter how often you watch a celebrity on the screen, when he comes to town you want to see him in the flesh."

He hasn't kept track of the mileage but Michael Mungovan has crisscrossed the continent, contending with all the elements taking in labor conventions. He had been carrying a union card three years when, at the age of 20, he represented the Rochester local of International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Motion Picture Machine Operators at its 1907 national convention in Jamestown, Va. He hasn't missed a national convention since.

A state executive committee of the Theatrical Crafts of New York State, he succeeded the late Jerry Ryan of Binghamton as state federation vice-president last year.

SKEEFFINGTON: DEC. 16, 1937

Temped with regret that Dr. George F. Warren plans to retire as head of the agricultural economics department at Cornell University is the satisfaction that his successor will be Dr. William I. Myers.

Both of these men are "big names" in the broadest sense. Both of them are known personally to thousands of New York farmers and their efforts are proved enthusiastically. Both of these men owe their reputation not to inherited prestige or reflected glory from the work of others but to what they have done themselves.

Doctor Warren has charted a new course in farm thinking. He is best known to the country because of his monetary program. But that is not something that he just pulled out of thin air. Back of it lies a life time of work in which he gradually developed theories of why some farms made money and some others did not.

The next step was the extension of agricultural economics to general business. He has broadened the study of economics and prices from the time the first farms were settled in America.

Until Doctor Warren proved the results of his studies gold was just a precious metal and money was something mysterious — which everyone tried hard enough to obtain. Doctor War ren changed the whole monetary picture in the United States.

"Bill" Myers, as he is known from coast to coast, probably is the world's biggest financier. As head of the Farm Credit Administration, he directs the financial policies of a business so vast that it is difficult for the layman to appreciate it. The Federal Land Banks, one of the branches of the FCA, had nearly three billion dollars loaned on 635,776 farms on the last day of 1937.

The setup of the FCA is so far-reaching that it would require pages to explain it. At the bottom there are hundreds of farm loan associations and production credit associations. There are 2,000 producers operating purchasing and marketing associations. These produce credits and co-operative groups account for additional hundreds of millions of dollars in loans.

This is big business. At the top of it, as governor of the Farm Credit Administration, stands Bill Myers, former pupil of and later assistant to Doctor Warren, whom he is to succeed July 1.

** * *

It is natural perhaps for some persons not acquainted with these two men to ask why they, giants in the world of economics and finance, have not engaged in private business.

One is sure there has been plenty of opportunity. But both men essentially are teachers —

"Bill" Myers, as he is known from coast to coast, probably is the world's biggest financier. As head of the Farm Credit Administration, he directs the financial policies of a business so vast that it is difficult for the layman to appreciate it. The Federal Land Banks, one of the branches of the FCA, had nearly three billion dollars loaned on 635,776 farms on the last day of 1937.

The setup of the FCA is so far-reaching that it would require pages to explain it. At the bottom there are hundreds of farm loan associations and production credit associations. There are 2,000 producers operating purchasing and marketing associations. These produce credits and co-operative groups account for additional hundreds of millions of dollars in loans.

This is big business. At the top of it, as governor of the Farm Credit Administration, stands Bill Myers, former pupil of and later assistant to Doctor Warren, whom he is to succeed July 1.

** * *

It is natural perhaps for some persons not acquainted with these two men to ask why they, giants in the world of economics and finance, have not engaged in private business.

One is sure there has been plenty of opportunity. But both men essentially are teachers —

"Bill" Myers, as he is known from coast to coast, probably is the world's biggest financier. As head of the Farm Credit Administration, he directs the financial policies of a business so vast that it is difficult for the layman to appreciate it. The Federal Land Banks, one of the branches of the FCA, had nearly three billion dollars loaned on 635,776 farms on the last day of 1937.

The setup of the FCA is so far-reaching that it would require pages to explain it. At the bottom there are hundreds of farm loan associations and production credit associations. There are 2,000 producers operating purchasing and marketing associations. These produce credits and co-operative groups account for additional hundreds of millions of dollars in loans.

This is big business. At the top of it, as governor of the Farm Credit Administration, stands Bill Myers, former pupil of and later assistant to Doctor Warren, whom he is to succeed July 1.

** * *

It is natural perhaps for some persons not acquainted with these two men to ask why they, giants in the world of economics and finance, have not engaged in private business.

One is sure there has been plenty of opportunity. But both men essentially are teachers —

 Winning a cash award for the second highest average in his class, Truman O. Murrell, a former Times-Union carrier, was graduated from the School of Law, New York University, this month. He is the son of Hiram M. Murrell of 319 Pullman Avenue. He carried The Times-Union from 1928 to 1934. He attended Charlotte High School and won a four-year New York State cash scholarship.

Times-Union JUN 19 1937

 ---

Winning a cash award for the second highest average in his class, Truman O. Murrell, a former Times-Union carrier, was graduated from the School of Law, New York University, this month. He is the son of Hiram M. Murrell of 319 Pullman Avenue. He carried The Times-Union from 1928 to 1934. He attended Charlotte High School and won a four-year New York State cash scholarship.

Times-Union JUN 19 1937

---
George D. Morgan, 73
Signal Co. Aide Dies at Miami

G. D. Morgan, Signal Co. Aide, died in Miami Nov. 18, 1937.

Death Takes G. D. Morgan, Signal Head

Death today closed the long business career of George Dayton Morgan, 73, vice president of the General Railway Signal Company and one of its founders.

Born in Brockport, the son of Samuel Morgan and Susan Joslyn Morgan, he attended Brockport Normal School, Trinity Military Institute, Tivoli, and Greylodge Institute, South Williamstown, Mass. He later entered business with his father.

Medical reports stated Mr. Morgan had been able to continue his work until this morning, but when the attack came he was overcome. He was not expected to live.

In 1904 Mr. Morgan was active in the merger of his company with the General Railway Signal Company.

Lived in Miami

Mr. Morgan was a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, Rochester Historical Society, Lotos Club of Rochester, Genesee Valley Club, Endicott Yacht Club, 1,000 Islands Yacht Club, 1,000 Island Country Club, Bath Club, Bath Beach Club, Hobe Sound Yacht Club of Olympia.

Living in Miami for the past several years Mr. Morgan attended a summer residence at Altamont Bay. He formerly lived at East Ave. and Cuyler Rd. in Rochester.

Surviving are his wife, the former Elizabeth Berry; two brothers, Gifford Morgan and William F. Morgan.

Henry Morgan Expires After Short Illness

Henry Morgan, Pioneer Boy Scout Leader, Dies

Boy Scout Leader Dies

Boy Scout Leader Rites Set for Tomorrow.

Henry Morgan, 53, pioneer Boy Scout leader, died in Miami Nov. 18, 1937, at his home, 2567 East Avenue, at 3 p.m., following an attack yesterday in his home.

Born in Rochester

Boy Scouts of Rochester lost one of their best friends and the city, a leading manufacturer, in the death today of Henry W. Morgan, 74, at his home, 2567 East Avenue.

Henry Morgan had been in poor health two years, was president and founder of the Morgan Machine Company Inc., Culver Manufacturing Co. and Culver Machine Company Inc. He also won wide recognition as first president of the Rochester Council of Boy Scouts, which post he held from 1913 until his retirement in 1920.

Born in Illinois

Born and educated in Galesburg, Ill., he came to Rochester as a youth with his parents and remained for a time in the printing trade.

After leaving the trade he went to work for the American Bank of Rochester, a position which he held until he became associated with his father's business.

In 1912, he was active in the Chamber of Commerce until his death, he was president in 1912 and chairman of the building committee when the Chamber building in St. Paul Street was erected.

With County Judge Henry D. Shoemaker, Mr. Morgan took the lead in organizing the Rochester Scout Council and later headed financial and camp building campaigns for the Boy Scouts of America as a member of the National Scout Council.

His work with the Scouts won him the Silver Beaver award for outstanding service in 1922.

Chest Director

He was also a director of the Community Chest, of the Rochester Civic Music Association and of the Bureau of Municipal Research for many years.

Henry Morgan's contribution to the community marked him as an outstanding citizen, whose death brings a wide sense of loss.

Henry W. Morgan

Rochester has a fair number of men and women whose personal success has given them the opportunity to make vital contributions to the community, and who have made such contributions. The most lasting contributions, moreover, generally come from those who, in the successful management of their own affairs, have developed a practical wisdom that contributes to the real success of the community efforts to which they lend their influence.

Rochester loses one of its leaders of this type in the death of Henry W. Morgan. Founder and leader of one of the city's important industries, his name is associated with the initiation and splendid growth of the Boy Scout movement, and with the development of the Chamber of Commerce into the community institution it is.

As president of the Rochester Scout Council from 1913 to 1915 he was a leader in the growth of that movement. He made contributions not only to the Rochester Council but to the national movement serving as a member of the national council.

In the Chamber he served as president in 1912, in the early days of the Chamber's modern period, and he performed important service as chairman of the committee which supervised the erection of the Chamber's splendid home.

Marked by a rugged integrity and sympathy with the poor, he and his wife, Mrs. Morgan, had a host of warm friends. His contributions to the city were broad and lasting.

Henry W. Morgan

Active in business affairs, as the founder and developer of the company which bears his name, Henry W. Morgan also made a valuable civic contribution in other ways.

He was especially interested in boys. Recognizing the worth of the Boy Scout organization, he associated himself with the establishment of the movement in Rochester.

From 1913 to 1939 he was president of the Rochester Scout Council.

He was also president of the Chamber of Commerce in 1912, a director of the Community Chest, of the Rochester Civic Music Association and of the Bureau of Municipal Research for many years.

Henry W. Morgan's contribution to the community marked him as an outstanding citizen, whose death brings a wide sense of loss.
Historic Scrapbooks Collection

DEATH CLAIM T. A. MORGAN, 83, WARD LEADER

D. & C. Mar. 14, 1936

Former Alderman
Long Sat in GOP Control

Funeral services for Thomas A. Morgan, 83, former alderman of the 19th Ward, will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at his home, 396 Arnett Blvd., where he died yesterday.

Mr. Morgan, who was for 32 years a prominent Republican in the city's political life as a first lieutenant of the late Mayor Joseph C. Wilson and for 52 years he was in the plumbing business at Spring and S. Fitzhugh Streets.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home at 2 p.m. today. Burial will be in Mt. Hope Cemetery. Mr. Morgan leaves his wife, Mrs. Minnie Thrall Morgan; two daughters, Misses Mabel A. and Bessie E. Morgan, and a brother, Benjamin W. Morgan.

Born in the 19th Ward Feb. 8, 1853, Mr. Morgan was for a quarter of a century, until he retired from active politics in 1931, treasurer of the ward and county committee, and also of the 19th Ward Republican Realty Co., which he organized when the Hawley St. clubhouse was built.

In 1934, he was appointed alderman to complete the unexpired term of John B. Mullan when the latter became a candidate for senator. Mr. Morgan served in the Common Council nearly 10 years, being elected for four successive terms.

As a score of years he was a member of the city's Examining Board of Plumber.

He operated a plumbing business at 37 Spring St. in 1888 under the firm name of Bascom & Morgan and after the death of his partners, he continued the business, which he conducted in the same location for more than half a century until he retired Aug. 1935, following an injury that he suffered in a fall at his cottage at Conesus Lake. In his long career he developed the Morgan Tract in the 19th Ward and was responsible for building 300 houses.

He was a life member of Valley Lodge, F. and A. M., Hamilton Chapter, Damascus Temple, Rochester Consistory, Lalla Rookh Grotto.

Surviving are his wife, Minnie Thrall Morgan; two daughters, Mabel A. and Bessie E. Morgan, and one brother, Benjamin W. Morgan.

Former Alderman of the 19th Ward, of which he was a lifelong resident and in whose development he had an important part, Thomas A. Morgan died yesterday morning (Mar. 14, 1936) at his home, 396 Arnett Blvd., at the age of 83 years.

Mr. Morgan was for many years a Republican political power in the city, having served as first lieutenant of the late Mayor Joseph C. Wilson and for 52 years he was in the plumbing business at Spring and S. Fitzhugh Streets.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home at 3 p.m. today. Burial will be in Mt. Hope Cemetery. Mr. Morgan leaves his wife, Mrs. Minnie Thrall Morgan; two daughters, Misses Mabel A. and Bessie E. Morgan, and a brother, Benjamin W. Morgan.

Born in the 19th Ward Feb. 8, 1883, Mr. Morgan was for a quarter of a century, until he retired from active politics in 1931, treasurer of the ward and county committee, and also of the 19th Ward Republican Realty Co., which he organized when the Hawley St. clubhouse was built.

In 1934, he was appointed alderman to complete the unexpired term of John B. Mullan when the latter became a candidate for senator. Mr. Morgan served in the Common Council nearly 10 years, being elected for four successive terms.

For a score of years he was a member of the city's Examining Board of Plumber.

He operated a plumbing business at 37 Spring St. in 1888 under the firm name of Bascom & Morgan and after the death of his partners, he continued the business, which he conducted in the same location for more than half a century until he retired Aug. 1935, following an injury that he suffered in a fall at his cottage at Conesus Lake. In his long career he developed the Morgan Tract in the 19th Ward and was responsible for building 300 houses.

He was a life member of Valley Lodge, F. and A. M., Hamilton Chapter, and also belonged to Damascus Temple, Rochester Consistory, and Lalla Rookh Grotto. He was a member of Asbury-First Methodist Church.

Retirement today of George J. Moran as deputy chief of the Fire Bureau brought to an end 42 years of service that won the commendation of his superiors and associates.

"His record as a fireman entitles him to all the credit his fellow Rochesterians can bestow on him," Safety Commissioner Tom C. Woods said, in accepting Moran's application for retirement because of his physical disability.

To fill the vacancy Woods appointed for Slattery, 40-year-old lieutenant of the late Mayor Joseph C. Wilson and for 52 years he was in the plumbing business at Spring and S. Fitzhugh Streets.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home at 3 p.m. today. Burial will be in Mt. Hope Cemetery. Mr. Morgan leaves his wife, Mrs. Minnie Thrall Morgan; two daughters, Misses Mabel A. and Bessie E. Morgan, and a brother, Benjamin W. Morgan.

Born in the 19th Ward Feb. 8, 1883, Mr. Morgan was for a quarter of a century, until he retired from active politics in 1931, treasurer of the ward and county committee, and also of the 19th Ward Republican Realty Co., which he organized when the Hawley St. clubhouse was built.

In 1934, he was appointed alderman to complete the unexpired term of John B. Mullan when the latter became a candidate for senator. Mr. Morgan served in the Common Council nearly 10 years, being elected for four successive terms.

For a score of years he was a member of the city's Examining Board of Plumber.

He operated a plumbing business at 37 Spring St. in 1888 under the firm name of Bascom & Morgan and after the death of his partners, he continued the business, which he conducted in the same location for more than half a century until he retired Aug. 1935, following an injury that he suffered in a fall at his cottage at Conesus Lake. In his long career he developed the Morgan Tract in the 19th Ward and was responsible for building 300 houses.

He was a life member of Valley Lodge, F. and A. M., Hamilton Chapter, and also belonged to Damascus Temple, Rochester Consistory, and Lalla Rookh Grotto. He was a member of Asbury-First Methodist Church.

Few boys are there who, at some time in their youth, have not been firmly convinced of the superiority of a fireman's career over all others.

Not many, however, achieve that ambition. As a result of parental pressure or force of circumstances, they adopt some more prosaic calling such as banker, lawyer, garage man, salesman.

One who "followed that impulse," however, was George J. Moran, who is retiring full of fireman's honors and thrilling experiences as deputy chief of Rochester's department after 42 years of service.

It is tragic and ironic after the thrilling experiences Chief Moran had gone through in his career, that it was an automobile injury which hastened his retirement.

Both associates and city officials pay him honor high for his services. As the public safety commissioner well says, "His record as a fireman entitles him to all the credit his fellow Rochesterians can bestow upon him."

May he long enjoy the leisure to which his service to the city entitles him.