PETER VAN DORN

PASSES AWAY

Herald Jan 7 1915

Livingston Pioneer Dies at Age of 95 Years.

Mt. Morris, Jan. 6.—The death of Peter Van Dorn, one of the oldest residents of this town, occurred to-day at the home of his son, Edgar Van Dorn, on the Creek Road, following a few weeks' illness. With the exception of Miss Jane McNair and Alfred Moss, Mr. Van Dorn was the oldest person living here, being 95 years old at his last birthday in November. Funeral services will be held Sunday from his late residence, and interment will be made in the Mt. Morris Cemetery.

Mr. Van Dorn was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Van Dorn, who came here from Monmouth County, New Jersey, in 1824, and Peter remembered vividly the hardships that confronted the early settlers in this section. The overland trip was made in a canvas covered wagon drawn by two large bay horses. It was a large wagon with bows and side boards, and contained beds for two children, Peter and Elizabeth. He often related an incident that occurred while stopping at a tavern on the way. In the night Elizabeth fell out of the wagon between the canvas and the side board. There was great excitement at once. Jacob, the father, who always found quick work difficult, was unable to meet the emergency. The good wife, Hannah, however, who was active and always had her wits about her, rescued the child, none the worse for the tumble.

The Van Dorn children were well used to bumps. Peter remembered passing the Great Bend, Ithaca, and the beech woods of Pennsylvania. At Ludlowsville in Cayuga County the family stayed for several years, and started for Livingston County in 1828. Peter remembered driving through the streets of Mt. Morris for the first time nearly ninety years ago. It was a primitive little backwoods settlement with few stores at that time, and fur traders and Indians were sunning themselves along the streets as the emigrants passed slowly through the village on their way to Brooksgrove, a short distance from this village, and located then on the "new" road.

The emigrants at once took a liking to the new country, and the children's lives were full of adventure. Peter's mother, Hannah, and her sister, Margaret Perrine, whom Peter described as "full of Cain," used to take the children and visit Mary Jemison, who was known as the "Old White Woman of the Genesee." Hannah would carry her salt, butter or lard, for which she seemed always very grateful.

Since the death of his wife, which occurred a number of years ago, Mr. Van Dorn had not conducted a farm, although he had not been idle at any time, and he credited hard work with having done a big part toward rounding out his great age. He worked on his son's farms considerably and only a few years ago husked corn all one winter, never being content unless working. A few years ago he was struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad train, and although he was badly cut and bruised and several ribs were broken, he soon regained his usual health, and with the exception of rather poor eyesight at times his faculties were unimpaired.

Besides the son with whom he resided, he is survived by another son, Harley L. Van Dorn of Waverly, Oregon, and one brother, Jacob Van Dorn of Rockford, Ill. Another brother, John Van Dorn, died two years ago.

MT. MORRIS WAS BACKWOODS TOWN AT HIS ARRIVAL

Oldest Citizen, Peter Van Dorn, Dead at 95.

HAD VISITED MARY JAMISON

Probably Was Last Person to See the Famous "White Woman of the Genesee," Came to Mt. Morris from New Jersey in Prairie Schooner

Mount Morris, Jan. 6.—The death of Peter Van Dorn, one of the oldest residents of the town of Mount Morris, occurred at the home of his son, Edgar Van Dorn, on the Creek road at 6 o'clock last evening, following an illness which had confined him to his bed for some five weeks. Funeral services will be held from his late residence Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Brown, of Nunda, will officiate, and interment will be made in the family plot in the Oak Hill cemetery.

Peter Van Dorn was born in Monmouth county, New Jersey, November 7, 1820, and in 1824 he went with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Van Dorn, to find a new home in New York state. The overland trip was made in a canvass covered wagon drawn by two big bay horses. It was a large wagon with bows and sideboards and contained beds for the two children, Peter and Elizabeth. The canvass was shirred with a string behind, for the purpose of affording ventilation, and Peter often related an incident which occurred while they were stoppign at a tavern on the way.

In the night Elizabeth fell out of the wagon, between the canvass and the sideboard, and there was an uproar at once. Jacob, who was slow and sleepy and who always found quick work difficult, was unable to meet the emergency. The good wife, Hannah, however, who was active and always had her wits about her, got out in a jiffy and rescued the child none the worse for her tumble.

Saw Indians on Commons.

At Ludlowville, in the Cayuga county, the family stayed for several years and then started for Livingston county in 1828. Peter remembered driving through the streets of Mount Morris for the first time in 1829. It was a primitive little back-woods settlement, with few stores at that time, and fur traders and Indians were sunning themselves on the commons as the emigrants drove slowly through on their way to Brooksgrove, where they settled on the "new" road.

It was then a new country and daily life was full of spicy adventure for children. Peter's mother, Hannah, and her sister, Margaret Perrine, whom Peter described as "full of Cain," used to take the children and visit Mary Jamison, the "White Woman of the Genesee," at Gardau. Hannah would carry her a little lard, salt or butter for which she was always very grateful, and the party fording the Genesee river would gather wild plums on the White Woman's land.

The Indians readily assented to this, reserving only a patch of especially fine plums which was fenced in. Here Margaret once put Peter up to trespassing on the reserve. While Peter shook the trees she gathered the forbidden fruit into a basket, as woman-kind have ever done since Eve's first famous poaching trip among the sheep-pens in Eden.

the midst of the trespass a savage, who seemed to the youthful Peter to be fully nine feet high, appeared suddenly out of the bushes and commanded the culprit to descend. This the latter did by diving headlong out of the tree and escaping through the underbrush. Margaret stoutly defended herself and held onto the plums.

It may be said here that Peter Van Dorn was probably the last person who ever saw Mary Jamison, who has gone down in history as the "White Woman of the Genesee," and whose grave now occupies a prominent spot at Glen Iris in Letchworth Park, Portage.

About 1851 Mr. Van Dorn moved to the river road, occupying a farm which was later owned by the George family for many years. He was then about thirty years old and was at the zenith of his powers as a cradler of grain, which was the great accomplishment in those days. He was a famous cradler. Almost a pygmy in stature, he "honey-combed" the big Alleghanian who came over from Elias Peterson's, and "bushed" George and Rob Williams, who worked in relief, long before the sun set. His six-foot swath was a pattern for a giant.

"Squire" Wisner, who sold him the farm, came up one day in gloves and high hat and undertook to use Peter's cradle. For twenty rods he cut a fine swath. Then his wind gave out and he had to stop. There were often one hundred acres to cut with cradles and seven cradles were used.

Loses Eyesight, Regains It.

Since the death of Mr. Van Dorn's wife, a number of years ago, he had never had charge of a farm altogether, although, he had not been idle at any time until recently. He assisted his son at various farm tasks and only a couple of years ago he husked a large amount of corn during the winter.

He retained all his faculties, with the exception of his eyesight. Some years ago he practically lost his eyesight, but strange as it may seem, it returned to him and he was able to see without glasses.

Several years ago he was struck by a train in the Pennsylvania Railroad, and although he sustained several broken ribs and bad bruises he entirely recovered, and with such a remarkable vitality it was thought that he might be able to round out a full century of a busy and well spent life.

Besides the son, with whom he resided, Mr. Van Dorn has another son, Harvey L. Van Dorn, who resides in Waverly, Oregon, and one brother, Jacob Van Dorn, of Rockford, Ill. Another brother, John Van Dorn, died at his residence in this village only a few months ago. With the exception of two persons, Peter Van Dorn was the oldest resident of the town, and he always claimed that hard work was responsible for his ability to round out 95 years.

One year, as a result, the average attendance was 200.

REV. T. W. HOPKINS, DEVOTED MINISTER AND TEACHER, DIES

Post- 1/25/16
Born 75 Years Ago—Singularly Devout—Once Pastor of Central Presbyterian Church.

In the death of Rev. Theodore W. Hopkins, whose funeral is set for to-morrow, Rochester lost one of those rare spirits whose shyness prevented his being more widely known, to the loss of the folk who would be the better for closer association with a man of such true piety and understanding in the things of the spirit.

Mr. Hopkins was born in Cincinnati seventy-five years ago, was graduated by Yale college in 1861 and from Rochester Theological seminary in 1864. He was a cultivated vocalist and during his seminary course sang in the choir of one of the churches. For seven years he was the beloved and faithful minister of Central Presbyterian church, resigning twenty-seven years ago. As a preacher he was able and persuasive with no letting down to the trend toward modernism in his doctrine. As a pastor he was sympathetic and effective. He organized the Young People's society in Central church and stood faithfully for the fulfillment of the pledge taken. "One who takes this pledge," he is quoted as saying, "should live up to it and not expect to have it brought down to his level."

Singularly devout and devoted in spirit, Mr. Hopkins was no less devoted to intellectual pursuits and was for a time professor of church history in Auburn Theological seminary. He never married and since his retirement from the chair of church history he has devoted himself to the study of his specialty. He was known as an authority in the intricacies of the growth of the church and church doctrines and was the author of several books on those themes.

The funeral will be private. Rev. C. Waldo Cherry, pastor of Central church, will officiate at 10:30 o'clock at 23 Rundel park. The pall-bearers will be George B. Miller, Harry Strong, W. J. Fuller, Charles F. Wray, R. Andrew Hamilton and Ole De Weerd. The body will be placed in the receiving vault at Mt. Hope cemetery for interment at the convenience of the family.

COL. COGSWELL DIES

Col. J. H. Cogswell.

A telegram has just been received announcing the death of Colonel J. H. Cogswell at his home in Titusville, Pa., last Thursday at the age of 87. His death will cast a gloom in the dwellings of many of the older residents of what was once the village of Brighton and also in the homes of many of the older Rochesterians, where he was often an honored and a welcome guest. He was born September 28, 1828, in a log cabin in the village of Brighton near the spot now occupied by the office of Brown Bros., nurserymen, in the Winton road. His father was Samuel Olmstead Cogswell and his mother, Sarah Eliza, was a daughter of Joseph Bloss, a pioneer settler, Revolutionary soldier and one of the founders of the Brighton Congregational church.

Colonel Cogswell received his education at Clover Street seminary and learned the printer's trade in the office of Benton & Andrews in this city. He then moved to Poughkeepsie and early in 1862 recruited Company A. for the 140th regiment, N. Y. S. Volunteers, took part in the battle of Gettysburg and marched with Sherman to the sea. He was promoted to lieutenant colonel and made brevet colonel at the end of the war. In 1865 he, together with Major William Bloss and Henry C. Bloss, established the Titusville "Morning Herald," the first daily paper published in the oil regions. In 1869 he was appointed by President Grant postmaster of Titusville and held that office for seventeen years. In later years he represented the Standard and Tidewater Oil companies in various places.

In 1853 he married at Clover Street seminary Miss Julia E. Brewster, who is a sister of Mrs. Charles C. Morse of this city. His wife died in 1893. It was a rule of his life to visit Rochester on Memorial days and march or ride with the Grand Army to the graves of his comrades.

Two daughters, Mrs. Alice Harley and Miss Louise Cogswell, of Titusville, and one son, J. Hubert Cogswell, of Protection, Kansas, survive him. The body will be interred in Brighton cemetery and add another name and another number to the soldier dead. He will be laid beside his grandfather, a soldier of the Revolution; his brother, a victim of the rebel prisons; his comrades and his cousins, who did what they could to make and keep the country an undivided republic, and were, according to his surviving comrades, "not too proud to fight." The notice of the funeral will appear later.

Rochester Man Dies in Florida While Visiting Friends—Gained Fame as an Inventor.

Asahel Todd, well known among the older residents of Rochester and of Wayne county, died yesterday at Petersburg, Florida, aged 89 years, while visiting old friends who are spending the winter in that place. Mr. Todd was born in Middlefield Center, N. Y., March 26, 1827. Sixty-six years ago he married Sarah M. McLouth, daughter of Dr. John McLouth, of Walworth. His middle life was spent in Pultneyville, N. Y., in the days when that hamlet was a thriving lake port, and among other activities he was for several years the collector of customs there. He was of an inventive turn of mind, which is characteristic of the family, and after retiring to live in Rochester he purchased several devices that bear his name and gained a national reputation. Among these are the Todd Mechanical Index Map, with the familiar numbered pointer pivoted in the center of the map to swing across its face and indicate street locations for ready reference. These maps were published for several states and a number of cities, including Rochester. There are a great many of them still in use to-day, although the inventor discontinued their publication years ago. Another of his inventions which was well known in this section was a drying device for apple evaporators. Mr. Todd's death was sudden. He was active, and very alert mentally up to the time of his death, even after the long journey by rail to Florida. He was a member of Genesee Valley Lodge, 109, F. and A. M. The surviving members of the immediate family are the widow, Sarah McLouth Todd; two sons, George W. and Libanus M. Todd, and one daughter, Ellen L. Todd. S. W. KINGSBURY

Former Prominent Canandaigua Merchant Dies at Family Residence at Age of 73 Years.

Jan 30 1916

By Special Dispatch to The Herald.
Canandaigua, Jan. 30.—Sherman W. Kingsbury, aged 73 years, who was a leading figure in Canandaigua's business life a generation ago, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Brooklebank in Howell Street, yesterday morning. Death came suddenly, although he had been suffering from heart trouble for some years. Mr. Kingsbury was much in the limelight in the late eighties, owing to a corner in hops in which he was the leading figure. He caused great quantities of the product to be stored here and held out for an unusual price. After he had refused what was considered a good offer the bottom dropped out of the market and he suffered heavy financial reverses.

Soon after this collapse he retired from active participation in business affairs, but of late years he busied himself in promoting natural gas enterprises. He was voted a franchise to sell natural gas in Canandaigua, but the grant was forfeited, owing to his failure to begin operations within the specified time. None of the gas wells he caused to be sunk in this neighborhood developed into paying propositions.

Mr. Kingsbury was the son of Hampton Kingsbury and Linda Totman Kingsbury and was born in Bristol on September 3, 1843. After his parents removed to Canandaigua he took up business life as a clerk in the grocery of George Phelps. Later he entered in partnership with Thomas C. Parkhurst for the purpose of conducting a produce business and in 1870 with his brother, Addison Kingsbury, and George A. Wells of New York established an extensive commission house, remaining as senior member of this concern for nine years. At the end of that period he retired from the firm and opened a grocery at the corner of Main and Beaman Streets, later purchasing and removing to the old Lincoln Block nearby.

In 1883 Mr. Kingsbury caused to be erected in Canandaigua what was then considered a palatial theater for a small village. It was known as the Kingsbury Opera House. For five years Mr. Kingsbury conducted the theater. During this period, also, and for some time thereafter, Mr. Kingsbury was actively associated with James McKechnie and Alfred Denbrow in extensive produce speculation. It was then that he was caught in the hop collapse. The theater Mr. Kingsbury established is now known as the Davidson Opera House and has not been used for some years.

In 1868 Mr. Kingsbury was married to Julia F. Jones of Canandaigua. Besides his wife he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Brooklebank; a brother, Addison Kingsbury of New York, who is a patient at the Canandaigua Health Home, and a sister, Mrs. Elihu Briggs of East Bloomfield.

The funeral will be held from the Brooklebank home Monday, Rev. Charles M. Eddy of the Methodist Church and Rev. H. L. Gaylord of St. John's Episcopal Church officiating.

He was then selected by the merchants of Fulton to go to Oswego and learn the telegraph business. He returned to Fulton and opened an office in connection with his work on the newspaper. He became an expert operator and was one of the first men to read the Morse alphabet by ear, all messages prior to that time having been recorded by the instrument on a paper tape.

In 1850 he became manager of the telegraph office in Buffalo and in 1852 was transferred to Rochester and managed the office in the Reynolds arcade for thirty years. During his service as an operator, he became acquainted with Thomas A. Edison and this acquaintance ripened into a friendship which lasted through life.

Before the incandescent lamp was put on the market, Mr. Edison sent him a present of three lamps, the first that ever came into Rochester.

Mr. Cheney was married in 1856 to Miss Fannie H. Husbands, a daughter of J. D. Husbands. Mr. and Mrs. Cheney celebrated their golden wedding in 1906, Mrs. Cheney dying six years later.

Mr. Cheney leaves his daughter, Mrs. Elwood; a son, George Cheney, of Detroit, and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

IMPROVED OIL PRODUCTION

Conceived and Executed Scheme to Avert Boiler Explosions—Introduced Steam for Disinfecting and Hot Air in Therapeutical Work

Word was received here yesterday of the death, at Front Royal, Va., on Thursday, of Austin Velorous Milton
Sprague, formerly of this city.

Mr. Sprague, son of the late Foster and Elvira Sprague, of this city, was born in Rochester on May 28, 1840. He received his education in the public schools and at Myron G. Peck's academy, afterwards continuing his studies in law, medicine and engineering.

In 1864, Mr. Sprague married Emily
E. Sherman, daughter of Dr. H. B. Sherman. His wife died in 1867, leaving a daughter. In 1869, Mr. Sprague married Mary E. Curtis, daughter of Mrs.
Amy P. Curtis, of this city. He learned a trade in the shops of his father, who was a hardware merchant and manufacturer of kitchen utensils, house-heating and ventilating devices.

Invents Many Devices.

In 1865, Mr. Sprague went to the oil fields of Pennsylvania and engaged in various enterprises: such as, improving methods of oil production. At that time, many boiler explosions were caused by the use of brackish water, and Mr.
Sprague conceived and executed plans for raising water of the Allegheny river to overcome an elevation of 70 feet in two and a half miles to a reservoir, whence it flowed by gravity to feed several hundred boilers with fresh water.

Mr. Sprague also was an inventor of household articles and of improvements of laundry machinery, and he was especially noted for inventions of disinfect-ors, sterilizers and apparatus for therapeutical work. He introduced steam for the sterilization of food and for the steam under pressure for the sterilization of food, etc. In 1890, he began experiments with dry hot air for therapeutical purposes, and in 1891 invented the Sprague aseptizer. He established a hospital in Forty-second street, New York, for the treatment of rheumatic patients by means of the dry hot-air system.

Health Failed Three Years Ago.

Since 1893, Mr. Sprague had been living in New York, where it was more practicable for him to carry on his inventions and in the time of his residence there, enjoyed robust health. For the last three years, however, he had been steadily failing, both in body and in mind. In December last, Mr. and Mrs.
Sprague went to Front Royal, Va., for the benefit of Mr. Sprague's health, and there on January 27th he died. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon in Washington.

Mr. Sprague leaves his wife and two daughters, Miss Estelle Sprague, of New York, and Mrs. Harry W. Austin, of Montreal, and a brother, George W.
Sprague, of this city. He was a member of the Society of the Genesee.

'GUS' ALEXANDER DEAD AT LE ROY AT AGE OF 102

Body of Colored Man Is Found in Schoolhouse.

WAS HIS HOME THIS WINTER

Born Slave but Escaped Following Outbreak of War — Well-Known in Village — Happy and Always Singing — Father of 16 Children
Post-Genesee 2/1/1916

Le Roy, Jan. 31.—Augustus Alexander, colored, familiarly known about town as "Gus," was found dead yesterday in the old Myrtle street schoolhouse, in which he had made his home this winter. It is thought that he had been dead since Saturday night, for no one had seen him about since that time.

About noon to-day Alexander's son, William Alexander, went to the door and, getting no response, forced it open and discovered the body on the floor beside a couch. Coroner Graney was notified and ordered the body removed to the undertaking rooms of H. Steuber & Son. It is supposed that death resulted from an attack of grip.

Augustus Alexander was probably the oldest person in Le Roy. He was born a slave and not until last summer could he learn his exact age. Last summer he went to Rochester and met his nephew, who had an old family Bible.
In it the date of his birth was given as April 14, 1814, which would make him nearly 102 years of age.

"Gus" was born in Campbell county, Va., and his mother died when he was three days old. He was sent to live with his mistress, a Miss Burt. They lived in Tennessee until the war broke out.

"Gus" finally escaped to Lynchburg and later went to Culpepper Court House, where he worked for five years.
He then came North and settled in Mumford, coming to Le Roy five years later.

He was one of the most familiar figures on the streets of this village for years, maintaining himself by doing odd jobs. He had a happy disposition and was always singing. His wife died eleven years ago. They had sixteen children, five of whom are living, as follows: William, Charles and Fred Alexander, of Le Roy; Clara Alexander, of Rochester, and Nannie Alexander, of Philadelphia.

JUSTICE ROBSON, OF APPELLATE DIVISION, IS DEAD AT AGE OF 65

Times

JUSTICE JAMES A. ROBSON.

Canandaigua, Feb. 1.—(Special).—At his home in Gorham this morning at 4 o'clock occurred the death of James A. Robson, aged 65 years, a justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Fourth Department, which sits at Rochester. Justice Robson had been ill for several weeks, his indisposition at the outset being due to a severe attack of jaundice which developed in December.

It has been said repeatedly of Justice Robson that he was the most beloved and respected of Ontario County's famous sons.

He was born in Gorham on January 1, 1851, the son of John and Isabella Telfer Robson. He attended the district school of Gorham until 1865. Then he became a student for one year at the Haveling High School at Bath and was at Canandaigua Academy during the next year. He matriculated at Yale University, from which he was graduated with the Class of 1873 with the degree of bachelor of arts.

From Yale he went to Columbia University and pursued a law course, being graduated from the law school in 1876, with a degree of LL. B. He immediately established himself in the practice of law in Canandaigua and was successfully engaged in it until October 19, 1903, when he was appointed justice of the Supreme Court for the Seventh District, filling the vacancy caused by the death of Justice William H. Adams.

In 1904 Justice Robson was elected for a full term as justice, which would have expired on December 31, 1918. On January, 1907, Justice Robson was appointed an associate justice of the Appellate Court, which position he held at the time of his death. Justice Robson is survived by four sisters, with whom he made his home at the palatial Robson homestead in Gorham. He was a trustee of Clifton Springs Sanitarium.

Justice Robson was next in line for appointment as presiding justice of the court. He was a polished gentleman, a broadly cultured scholar of the law, a profound thinker on all topics of worth, conservative but not narrow, of splendid equipoise of legal temperament and warmly genial, even charming in his manner. Those that knew him admired and respected him and by the Courts will probably recess tomorrow out of respect for him. The Appellate Division justices will meet late this afternoon to take action. Presiding Justice Frederick Kruse, of Olean, is in Florida, but efforts will be made to have him return for the funeral.

Expressions of profound sympathy were heard throughout the Court House. A few are quoted as follows:

Justice Arthur E. Sutherland said: "The death of Justice Robson is a great loss to the state and a deep bereavement to a host of friends. He had a thoroughly trained and logical mind and the judicial temperament and was absolutely devoted to his work. His brethren on the bench and bar were greatly attached to him. He was a gentleman in the truest sense of that word, and we share a common sorrow in his passing from among us."

Justice Nathaniel Foote was so overcome by the news of the death of his associate, with whom his relations were most intimate, that he could hardly express himself. "Justice Robson was a tower of strength in the courts of the state," he said. "His death is a personal loss to all who knew him. His was a great mind. His sympathies were broad and his personal charm endeared him to all his friends and associates."

Philetus Chamberlain, speaking from an acquaintanceship of 30 years with Justice Robson, said: "His was one of the grandest characters I have ever had the privilege of knowing. He had one of the best legal minds and he was the strongest man in equity cases who has ever sat on the bench of this district."

DEATH OF MRS. ROXANNA JOSLYN

Well-Known Spiritualist Dies After Illness of Many Weeks.

The death of Mrs. Roxanna H. Joslyn, aged 67 years, who was one of the foremost Spiritualists of this city, occurred Monday evening at her home, 136 Comfort Street. Mrs. Joslyn has been ill for some few weeks and death was not wholly unexpected. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Plymouth Spiritualist Church and Rev. Delvon A. Herrick, pastor of the church, will officiate. Interment will be in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Mrs. Joslyn was born in Canandaigua but came to this city when a child. About 35 years ago she interested herself in the Spiritualists' faith, and from the very beginning she was one of the leaders in this part of the state. Before there was a church in this city, she together with the little band of believers used to meet at the various homes in the city, as regularly as they now meet in their large edifice in Plymouth Avenue.

It was Mrs. Joslyn's cherished plan to have a modern church, and it was through her untiring efforts that such a church became a possibility. Her wonderful work among the Spiritualists won for the religion many converts, and her always gentle ways endeared her to all who knew her. Mrs. Joslyn maintained a cottage at Lily Dale, the big summer colony of the Spiritualists, and was active as a healer and medium until two years ago when she was obliged to give up lecture work. However, during the convention held in this city the past summer she attended each session, and her advice was often sought by the younger members of the sect.

Mrs. Joslyn is survived by her brother, Dr. Frank Hawley, of Canandaigua, and by her stepson, Myron L. Joslyn, of this city.

MEMORIAL OF JAS. A. ROBSON

Tributes by Members of Ontario County Bar.

FINDINGS SELDOM IN ERROR

Simplicity Will Mark Funeral Services
To Be Conducted in Family Home Friday Afternoon.

Feb 4 1916

By Special Dispatch to The Herald.
Canandaigua, Feb. 3.—At a largely attended meeting of the Ontario County Bar Association held in the Supreme Court room at Court House this afternoon there was adopted a memorial of Justice James A. Robson, whose death occurred at the family residence in Gorham Tuesday morning.

Judge Robert F. Thompson was chairman of the meeting and District Attorney Horace W. Fitch acted as secretary. Frank H. Hamlin, John Colmey and Willis C. Ellis of Short-sville comprised the committee to draft the memorial. Eulogistic remarks were made by Frank H. Hamlin, John Colmey, Mark T. Powell of Victor,
Henry W. Hamlin, Myron D. Short,
Willis C. Ellis and Judge Thompson.

Frank H. Hamlin presented the memorial, which is to be spread on the records of the court and those of the Appellate Division, Fourth Department, at Rochester. With reference to Justice Robson's ability as a jurist, the memorial sets forth the following:

"In the determination of equitable causes, he was without question a judge of pre-eminent abilities. His broad views of justice and right, peculiarly qualified him for this branch of jurisprudence, and suitors in his court soon recognized the fact that his findings were seldom in error.

"As a nisi prius judge, it was sometimes said of Justice Robson that he was not so effective as some of his associates in aiding jurors to arrive at proper verdicts in cases submitted to them in his court. So far as this criticism had any force, it no doubt arose from his conscientious unwilling-ness to invade what he deemed to be the privilege of a jury, which is to pass upon the facts without interference from the court. However, this may have been, there is no divided opinion of the bar upon his exceptional qualifications as a judge of the Appellate Court to which he was designated in 1907 by Governor Hughes. His extraordinary grasp of legal principles, his remarkable memory for details and cases, combined with a discriminating judgment and a judicial temperament, especially fitted him for the position which he so long and honorably filled."

Members of the bar have made arrangements to attend in a body the funeral of Justice Robson, which will be held from the family home in Gorham to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Simplicity so characteristic of the Robson family for generations will mark the obsequies. There will be no honorary bearers. Active bearers will be William Witter, Melvin Nelson, Charles Thompson, D. W. Marks, S.
Eddy Whitaker and William Mead, all residents of the town of Gorham and longtime and cherished friends of the late jurist. Rev. John McColl of Gorham, assisted by Rev. Louis F.
Ruf of Cleveland, O., will conduct the service, which will be very brief. Interment will be made in the Robson plot in the Gorham Cemetery.

TO MEMORY OF ROBSON

Bar Association Adopts Resolutions on Death of Appellate Justice.

Union 2/3/1916

At a meeting held at the Court House at noon to-day the Rochester Bar Association paid tribute to the memory of Justice James A. Robson of the Appellate Division, who died Tuesday morning. Resolutions were adopted and will be presented to the Appellate Division at its next session and also to his bereaved family.

The meeting was called to order by President Willis A. Matson of the Bar Association and Supreme Court Justice George A. Benton was chosen to preside. Eugene Raines was the secretary.

The following were named as a committee to attend the funeral: James S. Havens, Fletcher Peck, Joseph
W. Taylor, Arthur E. Sutherland and Willis A. Matson. The funeral will be held at the home of the late Justice, Spring Farm, Stanley, N.
Y. It is nine miles from Canandaigua and automobiles will be waiting at 1 o'clock to transport those attending the funeral from Canandaigua to the house. Those intending to go this way should notify Edwin C. Redfern, who is in charge of the arrangements.

The memorial committee was composed of County Judge J. B. M. Stephens, George A. Canaban, M. H. Mc-Math, James M. E. O'Grady and Richard E. White. Judge Stephens, as chairman of the committee, presented the resolutions. After briefly sketching the life of the deceased jurist the resolutions continued as follows:

Ideal Qualities of Judge.

"He had the ideal qualities of the judge. Perhaps the most notable of these was the atmosphere of dignified serenity, and calm strength, which ever pervaded his mind; a mind active and resolute, yet detached from the worries and strain of every day work, which so often overcome weaker men.

"Master of keen analytic powers, he paid a courteous deference to all opinions honestly held. Absorbed in the human aspects of every litigated dispute, he yet did not allow any theory of social justice to form or modify his judicial opinion on the law as it was. Prepossessions and prejudices were ruthlessly cast aside. From such equipment could proceed only sound, impartial, reasoned judgments.

"These great qualities gave to this commonwealth a judge who achieved justice in accordance with the forms of law. An enduring monument to his splendid judicial career is found in his opinions published in the reports. As his thinking was clear, direct and virile, so also was the expression of those thoughts. His opinions will live to instruct and inspire future generations of lawyers.

"We falter in the expression of our appreciation of him in his personal relations to those who came within the charmed circle of his companionship lost though we speak in impartial phrase, so modest was he, we should offend our sure conviction of what he would have us to do at this hour; he would not have us praise nor rather that each in his place should rather than with quickened step toward the realization of better ideals; but yet he would not deny to us the contemplation of those simple virtues that moulded a heroic personality in a frame of heroic proportions.

Hated Nothing But Hypocrisy.

"Doing kindly things was his habit;
he knew no other way; he was charitable in his thought of others, and reticent in blame; reserved, well poised, self-controlled firm in his friendships, unyielding except to the right, hating nothing but hypocrisy, loving all that is true; he was quiet with the quietness of the strong, and gentle with the gentleness of the great.

"Conscious of our own sense of loss we remember in generous sympathy the keener bereavement of his kindred whose comfort can be assured in the wealth of cherished memories that is theirs."

HIS HORSE SHOT FROM UNDER HIM

George Wright, Dead in Newark, a Veteran.

NOTED FOR HIS BRAVERY

Served Through Whole Civil War in Cavalry—Married the Day Before He Enlisted—Third Newark Veteran to Die in Five Weeks
D.V.C. — 2/3/16

Newark, Feb. 2.—The flag over G.
A. R. Hall was lowered to-day to half-mast out of respect to the third Civil war veteran to die in this village within the last five weeks. This latest death is that of George Wright, who died in his home in Siegrist street last night at 8:30 o'clock. Mr. Wright was born in Rochester, July 1, 1839. He enlisted on August 19, 1861, in Company J, Sixth United States Cavalry. The day before his enlistment, he married Barbara Andrews, of Rochester, who died seven years ago. After a short furlough before which Mr. Wright had served three years, he re-enlisted February, 1864, in the cavalry and spent two years and seven months more in the service of his country. He was in most of the important engagements of the war and could recall vividly his daring experiences.
Many times while he was riding to the attack, bullets flew all around him and killed his horse, leaving him unharmed.

It is written on his discharge papers that he was noted for personal bravery.
When he entered the service he was a private and when he left it he had been promoted to sergeant for valor. After the war he came to Newark, where he has lived ever since. When the West Shore railroad was built, Mr. Wright was foreman and had charge of some of the construction work. Later in his life, he was employed by the Northern Central railroad, as foreman.

Mr. Wright attended the fiftieth anniversary of Gettysburg three years ago and the day after he returned home he was stricken with paralysis. Although he improved in health he was never the same and since Labor Day he has been confined to his bed. The strain of his trip to the famous battlefield was too much.

Mr. Wright was a charter member of Vosburgh Post G. A. R., having been mustered into that post on July 15, 1879.
The only charter member of Vosburgh Post still living is Charles Burchard, of Newark. In politics Mr. Wright was a strong Democrat.

He leaves three daughters and a son.
Mrs. Henry Ernst, of Corning; Misses Frances and Carrie Wright and Luther Wright, all of Newark, and one grand-

CHARLES B. HATFIELD
Union 2/5/1916
Simple Funeral Service for Civil War Veteran and Inventor of Note Held This Afternoon.

The funeral of Charles B. Hatfield, Civil war veteran and inventor, who died yesterday, aged 77 years, was held this afternoon at 176 Atkinson street. Rev. W. C. Compton, rector of the Church of the Ascension, officiated at the service, which was of a simple character. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery.

Mr. Hatfield was born in Mechanicsville in 1838. He was a son of John Hatfield, an inventor and the first man in the country to manufacture matches.

In the shoe trade, Mr. Hatfield gained considerable fame by his writing on topics concerning shoe patterns, and under the name de plume of "Hat." He entered the pattern business as an apprentice when a boy and in his early manhood left his trade to go to the Civil war. He served in a Massachusetts regiment, but saw little active service, being discharged because of disability. On returning from the front, he again entered the pattern business and formed a partnership with Charles Kirk of Rochester, brother of the late Henry R. Kirk. The firm of Hatfield & Kirk was discontinued on the death of Mr. Kirk.

Mr. Hatfield manufactured paper boxes in Troy for a number of years and a little later went to Chicago, where he continued in that business. Fire ruined his business there and he went to Philadelphia, where he again embarked on a paper box enterprise.

At one time he visited the shoe factories in various parts of the country and lectured on topics concerning shoe patterns. He wrote several books on the subject, principal among which were "Radli" and "The Method of Grading Patterns."

In 1901, Mr. Hatfield was employed by the Shoe and Leather Reporter, of Boston, and later wrote for the Superintendent and Foreman and other trade papers.

Mr. Hatfield, a few years ago, manufactured motor trucks on a large scale in Elmira, being in business with his son, C. B. Hatfield, Jr., of Owego. A gas engine invented by him while in the automobile business is used throughout the United States and in European countries. Mr. Hatfield was not affiliated with any veteran association of Civil war survivors.

Mr. Hatfield is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. H. M. Bowman of Columbus, Ohio, and E. S. Carnes, and a son, Charles Hatfield of Owego.

BULLET WOUND CAUSES DEATH OF AUDITOR
Herald Feb 7 1916

Charles E. M. Hodge, auditor for the last 28 years for the Vacuum Oil Company, died in the Rochester General Hospital at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the result of having sent a bullet through his brain in his home at 758 Harvard Street on Monday morning. Ill health and overwork are believed to have affected the man's mind.

The hospital surgeons had little hope of saving his life from the time Hodge was brought to the hospital. He had brief spells of consciousness, but had little to say regarding his rash act.

Hodge, who was 52 years old, recently went with his wife to visit his mother in York Mills, Ont. He returned alone last Sunday and went to his home, where he met Herbert Baker, employed by him. Baker occupied a cot in Hodge's room that night. He left the room for a few minutes in the morning and, in his absence, Hodge obtained a revolver, stood before a mirror and shot himself in the head. The bullet entered over the right ear and came out through the side of the skull.

Coroner Thomas A. Killip was notified and is investigating the case.

Operation in Hospital.

Mr. Rooker was taken to the Rochester hospital ten days ago suffering from diabetic gangrene. It was found necessary to amputate his right leg above the knee, which operation was performed last week Tuesday. The patient rallied, but owing to his advanced age it was thought that he could not recover.

George Rooker was a son of the late John Rooker and was born on Jackson Street in this village February 4, 1845.

GEORGE ROOKER.

In June, 1868, he married Miss Magdalena Fisher, also of this village, who died in 1879. Mr. Rooker enlisted in this village in Company B, 27th New York Infantry, and at the time gave his age as 19 when he was only 17, so great was his desire to go to the front. He served as corporal of his regiment and re-enlisted in the 9th New York Heavy Artillery in which company he also served as corporal. He served with distinction throughout the war and participated in 32 engagements.

In 1882 he established in Maple Street a grocery business which he conducted up to within two weeks of his death and during his 34 years of business life he held the confidence and respect of his customers and of the public at large by reason of his thorough honesty and courteous bearing. JOHN T. TROWBRIDGE, AUTHOR OF BOYS' STORIES, DIES AT ARLINGTON, MASS.

Was Born in Log Cabin at Ogden, N. Y., and Got His Education in District School and at Lockport.

Herald Feb 14 1916

Arlington, Mass., Feb. 13.—John Townsend Trowbridge, author of stories for boys, novelist and poet, died in his home here last night of bronchitis. He was 88 years old.

Until a month ago Mr. Trowbridge was in good health and seemingly as alert, physically and mentally, as ever. Then he contracted a severe cold, but until yesterday his condition was not regarded as serious.

He attributed his illness to the fact that, contrary to their custom, Mrs. Trowbridge and he did not go south this winter. They remained until late in the fall at their summer home, Spouting Rock, near Kennebunkport, Me. Mr. Trowbridge spent much of his time this winter in his library overlooking Spy Pond, the natural beauties of which led him to make his home nearby.

At the bedside of Mr. Trowbridge were his wife and three children, Mrs. Grace T. Yeames, wife of Professor Herbert Yeames of Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y.; Mrs. C. H. von Bauer of Long Island and Arthur T. Trowbridge of this town.

Born in Monroe County in Log Cabin.

Mr. Trowbridge was one of the last survivors of the famous group of authors who in the third quarter of the nineteenth century attracted the literary attention of the world to Boston and its environs. Springing from New England stock, he was born in a log cabin in the hamlet of Ogden, Monroe County, N. Y., in 1827. His parents were among the pioneer settlers of Western New York State.

Young Trowbridge attended a district school, and although he had to do farm chores many hours a day, he supplemented the scanty education he received there by obtaining books from a library in a nearby town.

Got Higher Education in Lockport.

By working from dawn until dark he managed to obtain sufficient funds to attend a classical school at Lockport, N. Y., for one year. Then he went to Illinois for a year, teaching school in the winter and working as a farm hand in summer. Returning to Lockport, he taught school for a few months and then decided to devote himself to literature, for which he early had evinced a fondness.

His first poem was printed in a Rochester paper in 1843. When a Chicago paper reprinted it young Trowbridge's ambition to earn his living by writing was fanned into a flame. Soon afterward he sold a poem to a New York paper for $1.50. About this time his father died.

In 1847 he went to New York City to try his luck with the publishers. He had a hard time selling his poetry, but managed to get a bare livelihood out of prose, selling most of it to Holden's Dollar Magazine, so called, because its subscription price was $1 a year.

"It earned a still further claim to its title," wrote Mr. Trowbridge, "by paying its writers $1 a page."

Later he went to Boston and he soon became widely known as a writer of stories and sketches under the pen name of "Paul Creyton."

Wrote Many Boys' Stories.

In his first book, "Father Bright-hopes," which was published in 1853, Mr. Trowbridge caught the fancy of the boys of that day. "Martin Merri-vale," his first long novel, was published a year later, but it was the publication of his anti-slavery novel, "Neighbor Jackwood," that gave him his place in the front rank of contemporary American authors. In 1857 he became one of the first contributors to the Atlantic Monthly and was the last survivor of the famous group of contributors to the first number, which included Lowell, Long-fellow, Emerson, Motley, Holmes and Mrs. Stowe.

During the course of the Civil War he wrote three war stories, of which "Cudjo's Cave" achieved the greatest renown.

In 1865 he began that phase of his career which made him most popular as editor of Our Young Folks, which lasted from 1865 to 1874, when it was combined with St. Nicholas. Here the first "Jack Hazard" stories were published.

The irresistible quality of his appeal to the hearts of the youth of the country, which, indeed, found a responsive echo in every corner of the globe, was the sap of nature that dripped from his pen. His characters were living beings, with all the traits, habits and yearnings of the hundreds of thousands of boys who were his eager readers.

His works for boys constitute a roll call, which for 63 years not only has fascinated the rising generation, but has stirred the hearts of graybeards and seemingly summoned back their irrevocable youth. Wherever love of travel and adventure exists (and in what boy does it not?) there Mr. Trowbridge ever will find worshippers at his shrine. His death will strike with a sharp sense of personal loss all boys who still take delight in reading wholesome stories and all men of whatever age in whom the romantic and imaginative spirit of boyhood lingers.

But there is not one in all this army of admirers who would not resent indignantly the thought that the lure and the magic of his enchanting tales will cease with his death, and that "Cudjo's Cave," "The Three Scouts," "Neighbor Jackwood," "The Pocket Knife," or "A Pair of Madcaps," the last of which appeared in 1909, will not continue to challenge the curiosity of coming generations.

Wrote of Flying Machine.

Mr. Trowbridge for many years edited Our Young Folks, which numbered among its contributors Dickens, Whittier, Mayne Reid, Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe and Miss Louisa M. Alcott. Although his verse does not show the enduring excellence that marked his boys' books, "Darius Green and His Flying Machine," written in 1870, proved him to have been unconsciously a prophet with honor.

When Mr. Trowbridge forty years afterward first saw an aeroplane fly, he said: "I never dreamed when I wrote that poem that such a thing as a flying machine was even a possibility in my lifetime."

His stories for boys were not of the Sunday school type, nor were they of a sensational character. His heroes were hard working boys, and their adventures were always within reason. Another poem which achieved great fame was "We Are Two Travelers, Roger and I; Roger's My Dog."

Since the termination of his connection with Our Young Folks Mr. Trowbridge brought out more than a score of books, and in 1903 published his autobiography. Its conclusion summed up fairly his experience of life. In part it says:

Riches I have not sought, and never found.
And fame has passed me with averted eye.
In creeks and bays my quiet voyage is bound While the great world without goes surging by.
No withering envy of another's lot.
Nor nightmare of contention, plagues my rest!
For me alike what is and what is not.
Both what I have, and what I lack, are best.

I keep some portion of my early dream.
Brokenly bright, like moonbeams on a river.
It lights my life, a far elusive gleam.
Moves as I move, and leads me on forever.

In his old age Mr. Trowbridge kept himself in fine physical trim by taking long walks, bicycling and working in his garden. The European war saddened him perceptibly. Recently he said to a caller:

"I have the utmost abhorrence of war, and the one thing I now wish to live for is to see militarism crushed, international peace established and the so-called Christian nations no longer madly destroying one another, but preparing to live together as unarmed, friendly neighbors should."

DEATH OF MISS SIDIA COAN

For Many Years Presbyterian Missionary to Hawaiian Islands.

Harrie Renwood Kennedy, of No. 248 Meigs street has received word of the death of Miss Sidia Bingham Coan, of the Hawaiian Islands, the last remaining member of the family of the first missionary to the islands years ago.

Miss Coan was the daughter of Rev. Dr. Coan, formerly of Churchville, the first missionary sent out by the Presbyterian Board of Missions and through whose influence the governor of the Sandwich Islands was converted. At about that time the women of the First Presbyterian Church in Auburn were arranging to send a box to Rev. Dr. Coan and Miss E. H. Donner, one of the workers, who later became Mrs. Kennedy and the mother of Harrie Kennedy, was anxious to take up missionary work in the islands, but owing to her youth, her wishes were strongly opposed by her parents.

Miss Donner's contribution to the box was half a dozen neatly made white shirts which she gave as a personal donation. Later, when the governor of the islands was converted. Dr. Coan presented him with one of the shirts, the first he ever wore. It so aroused his curiosity that he inquired of Dr. Coan who had made it, and later as a mark of appreciation sent Miss Donner a handsome shawl made of the barks of native trees the fibers of which were pliable and suitable for weaving. The shawl was long used as a piano cover by Miss Donner and is now the property of her son.

Many other beautiful gifts included a number of bulbs of the flower known as the canna or Indian shot. These bulbs are said to have been the first of the kind to be introduced into the United States. Mr. Kennedy has a number of war relics, as well as valuable letters and papers of people prominent fifty years ago, with whom his father and mother were intimately connected.

Miss Coan, for thirty years and up to the time of her death, was treasurer of the W. C. T. U. of the Hawaiian Islands and prominent in missionary and other religious work.

DAVID HOYT IS DEAD AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

HAD LONGEST SERVICE RECORD AS BANKER.

STARTED TO WORK AT 14

Was One of Founders of First Local Trust Company—Always a Democrat.

David Hoyt, 69, secretary-treasurer of the Monroe County Savings bank, State street, for more than a half century an official of that institution and the oldest banker in point of service in Rochester, died this morning at 3 o'clock at his home, 493 University avenue, after an illness of several months.

Mr. Hoyt celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his connection with the Monroe County bank, May 1, 1915, but on account of ill health was unable to be at his office. At a dinner given by him to the bank trustees soon after he was presented with a large silver vase on which his name and dates of his service at the bank were engraved, also the names of the trustees and officers.

He apparently recovered his health and was able to be at his desk at the bank occasionally until January 11th, when he was confined to his home. He suffered from a disease of the throat and although several specialists were visited no relief was obtained. A gradual decline set in until the end came.

Mr. Hoyt was born at 133 South Fitzhugh street, in the Third ward, February 18, 1846, the son of David and Mary M. Bullen Hoyt. He received his education in the public schools of this city. His father died when Mr. Hoyt was a boy and, at the age of 14 years, he entered the bank of Ward & Brother, a private bank then situated in State street.

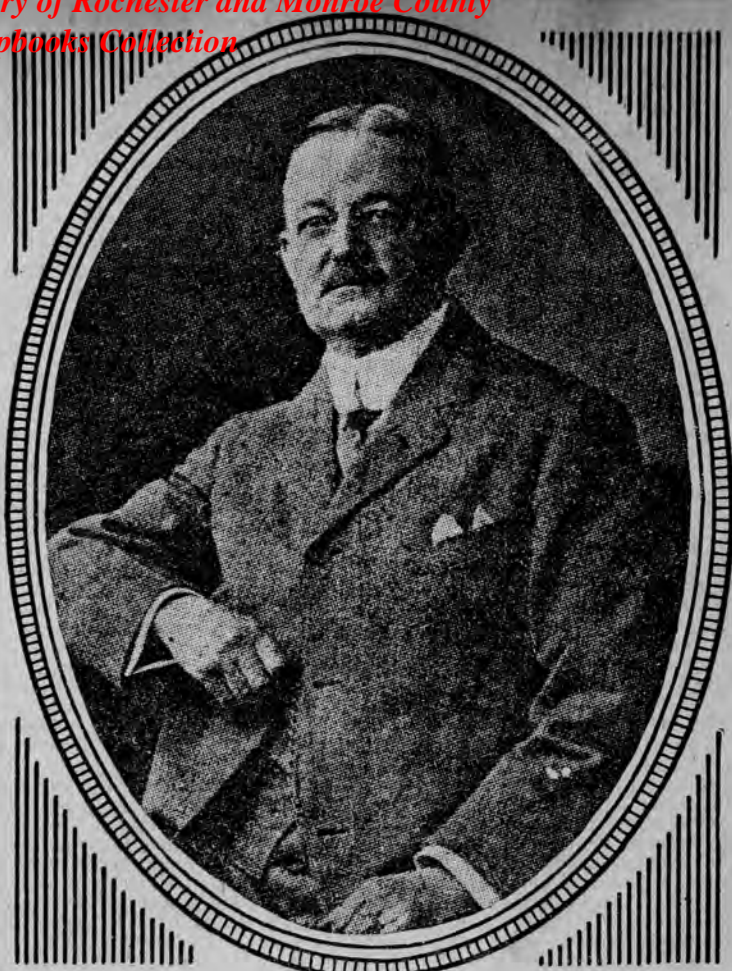

He was there five years, holding the position of head bookkeeper when he was invited to join the Monroe County Savings bank. On May 1, 1865, he accepted a position with the larger bank as bookkeeper. From the first his rise was rapid, his ability and enterprise winning consistent promotion for him.

In 1883 he was elected secretary and treasurer. During the years he had been connected with the bank he had seen the business increase many fold. When he entered the bank the deposits were but $1,528,000. To-day they are more than $25,000,000.

Helped Found Trust Company.

In addition to his work in developing the business of the bank, Mr. Hoyt helped to found the first trust company in Rochester. It was called the Rochester Safe Deposit company and was started in 1868 with a capital of $100,000. Until 1888 it occupied quarters in the Monroe County Savings bank and then changed its title to the Rochester Trust and Safe Deposit company, moving into its own building at Main street west and Exchange street. Mr. Hoyt was one of the original directors of this trust company.

At the age of twenty-three years, Mr. Hoyt was married to Miss Elizabeth R. Breck who survives him. He also leaves two sons, Martin B. and Burr C. Hoyt, of this city, and four grandchildren.

David Hoyt.

Mr. Hoyt was always interested in any civic or charitable movement that took place and was foremost always in any work that might lead to the betterment of others. He was always a democrat and was a prime mover in the organization of what was known in the time of the Civil war as the "Union Blues."

He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, also the Genesee Valley, Country, Rochester and Rochester Athletic clubs. He was a member of Christ Protestant Episcopal church from the time of its organization in 1855 and for many years had been one of its vestrymen.

As a banker and financier Mr. Hoyt was known throughout the state and his prominence in banking circles was indicated by the fact that he had been on the executive committee of the Savings Banks' Association of the State of New York since its organization more than twenty years ago and for a number of years had been a member of the executive council of the savings bank branch of the American Bankers' association. His death is a loss to the community and is regretted by many.

Geneva, Feb. 22.—The death of Lyman R. Gray, aged 88 years, of 283 Castle street, occurred to-day in the home of Edward Williams, No. 16 Pulteney street after an illness of a few days. He was a life-long resident of this city and for a number of years conducted a shoe repair shop in Main street next to the Gasper block.

Editorial David Hoyt, Union 2/16/1916

In the death of David Hoyt Rochester loses one of its substantial citizens, a man whose knowledge and skill in financial and business matters was of great service to the people. His reputation as a banker was not confined to Rochester, for he was recognized as a financier of ability wherever financiers were known. He was always interested in the growth and development of the city and by his sanity prevented much that would have made that growth and development of the mushroom or insubstantial kind. While his business interests were many, he found time to engage in work for the betterment of the community in other than financial ways and his name was not wanting to any good enterprise. He was pleasing in manner and by his kindly advice in matters of business gained many friends in a calling that often tends to the making of enemies. His loss must be deplored as that of a true friend and valued citizen of Rochester.

The career of David Hoyt of this city, engaged as he was for more than half a century in the business of banking, was not only unique in Rochester's financial history, but rare in the annals of his profession in America. ON DEATH OF MR. HOYT

Trustees of Monroe County Savings Bank Adopt Memorial.
At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Monroe County Savings Bank, held February 18, 1916, the following memorial to David Hoyt was adopted and ordered entered on the minutes:

The trustees of the Monroe County Savings Bank met to-day in the shadow of a great sorrow. David Hoyt, our associate on the board and the secretary and treasurer of the bank, died on the morning of February 16, 1916, just two days before his 70th birthday. He died in the harness, having been engaged in the daily performance of his customary duties up to the time of the annual meeting on January 11th.

Mr. Hoyt entered the bank on May 1, 1865, and thus had completed more than half a century of service. For the past 33 years of this time he had been secretary and treasurer, and it is not too much to say that he accumulated a fund of experience and a knowledge of usage and practice in the relations of savings banks to the people which is possessed by few other men. His position in the confidence of this community was assured, coming as he did come in daily helpful contact with so many of the depositors of the bank. And moreover his advice in the counsels of the New York State Association was always sought and he was at the time of his death, and had been for many years, a member of the executive committee of that organization.

We who survive to carry on the work of this bank for such period of time as may be given us to live will miss him greatly, now and always; for his was honest and conscientious work that as the years go by gives to an institution like ours a unique distinction. We mourn his loss but know that his works do follow him.

And there is real satisfaction in believing as we do believe that his long and honorable service as a banker in this community, his unflinching devotion to a high sense of duty in whatever responsibilities of life he was called upon to act, the absolute integrity of his convictions, and the more intimate qualities of mind and heart which endeared him to his many friends, will long be an influence for good in this city in which his life was spent.

Death of Miss Mary Pitts, Whose Grandfather Was a Pioneer.

Livonia, Feb. 19.—The death of Miss Mary Pitts, aged 77 years, occurred Thursday night about midnight in the home of her niece, Mrs. Edgar C. Barber.

Miss Pitts was the daughter of George W. and Mary Swan Pitts and was born November 10, 1838, in the old family homestead in the town of Richmond, about a mile and a half north-east of the village of Honeoye. Her father, George W. Pitts, was the son of William Pitts who with his father, Captain Peter Pitts, were the pioneer settlers of the town of Richmond.

In 1789 Captain Peter Pitts, his son, William, Deacon George Coddington and his son, Calvin Jacobs and John Smith, surveyed the towns of Richmond and Bristol. In the spring of 1790 Gideon and William Pitts began the improvement of their new possessions. They came with a four ox team, plowed a portion of the cleared land on the flats, sowed grain and planted corn. Here they built a log house preparatory to the coming of their father and the rest of the family.

Captain Peter Pitts, his wife and 10 children, left Dighton, October 11, 1790, arriving at their new home December 2. For three years his was the only white family in the town. His nearest neighbors were the Wadsworths in Genesee; Captain Taft in Bloomfield, and the Coddingtons in Bristol.

Miss Pitts leaves, besides Mrs. Barber, one other niece, Mrs. J. Wells Reed, of Bloomfield, and one nephew, George Pitts Reed, of Honeoye; two grandnephews, one grandniece and one great-grandnephew.

Death of Charles C. Moody,
Who Handed Out Journalistic Civil War "Beat."

Charles Clarke Moody, for many years a member of the firm of N. Osburn & Company, for a time the largest building contractors in this part of the state, died yesterday in St. Mary's Hospital, aged 87 years. He had been ill for two weeks. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. E. H. Plummer, six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mr. Moody was born in Rochester on January 30, 1829, the son of David and Caroline Moody. He married

CHARLES CLARKE MOODY.

Martha Jones, of this city, in 1852, at St. Luke's Church, where he had been baptized. He was appointed a clerk in the Rochester postoffice about 1852 and held the position for several years. He formed a partnership with C. A. Jones and subsequently joined N. Osburn & Company. While a member of the latter firm he built the United States customs house at Milwaukee, several government buildings in Washington, D. C., the City Hall in Detroit and the Capitol in Lansing, Mich.

The firm was dissolved after the death of Nehemiah Osburn, and Mr. Moody became the partner of Mr. Sanger, of Joliet, Ill., in the quarrying business. When with Mr. Sanger, he built the Joliet City Hall. He retired from business in 1895 and for fifteen years had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. E. H. Plummer, of No. 59 Oxford street.

Early in the Civil War Mr. Moody was engaged in constructing buildings in Washington. During this period the Battle of Bull Run was fought and a day or two thereafter he was in the vicinity of the battlefield and subsequently met several officers of the Thirteenth New York Volunteer Infantry, recruited in and about Rochester.

Mr. Moody, after the conversation with the soldiers, came directly to Rochester. He met George G. Cooper, one of the proprietors and local editor of The Union and Advertiser, in State street, near the Four Corners. In conversation with the newspaper proprietor Mr. Moody furnished the first complete casualty list of the Thirteenth Regiment.

In a short space of time the casualty list appeared in The Union and Advertiser and thousands of copies were purchased by citizens, relatives and friends of the soldiers in the Thirteenth.

The death of Mr. Cooper, which occurred in the eighties, severed a long friendship. In 1856, when the Daily Union and Advertiser were consolidated, Mr. Moody was presented the first copy of the publication printed at The Union and Advertiser.

For seventy-five years Mr. Moody was a reader of The Union and Advertiser.

ONE OF WARSAW'S FIRST CITIZENS

Death Comes to John W.
Montgomery at 89.

A SHOE MANUFACTURER

A Village Trustee, President of Cemetery Association and Ruling Elder of Presbyterian Church Since 1873—Noted for Integrity

Warsaw, Feb. 20.—John W. Montgomery, one of Warsaw's first citizens, died in his home in Court street about 9 o'clock Friday evening.

Mr. Montgomery has been failing in health for about three months. Until late in the past year, he was a familiar figure in the business life of the village. He was the oldest merchant, having been in continuous business in Warsaw since 1850, with the exception of three years as a farmer in Wetherfield.

Mr. Montgomery was a native of County Antrim, Ireland. He was born May 4, 1827, a son of James and Elizabeth Montgomery. He came to Warsaw in the spring of 1850 and worked for about two years for Isaac Bronson in the shoe business. In the year 1852 he succeeded to the business and soon employed six men making boots and shoes to order. At that time sale shoes were almost unheard of. Later he put a small stock of women's and children's shoes.

He was married February 9, 1860, to Anna Crawford, who died just a year ago. Mr. Montgomery united with the Presbyterian church in Ireland when he was 14 years old and brought his letter with him to this country, uniting at once with the Presbyterian church here in 1850, under the pastorate of Rev. A. T. Young. He was the oldest member of the church and was ever one of its strongest supporters. He was elected ruling elder in 1873 and was the last of the strong session under Dr. Nassau's pastorate.

Mr. Montgomery has been a village trustee and at the time of his death was president of the Warsaw Cemetery Association. He was consequently a member of the "square deal" and was large number of persons with whom he did business in this country. He was elected, with John B. Smallwood and M. D. Chase, the first no-license commissioners under the old local option law, nearly forty years ago. His honorable business career of upwards sixty years, his devotion to the highest ideals of the home, his loyalty to his village in all its worthy enterprises and progressive endeavors, and particularly his exemplary Christian life, makes his death a distinct loss to Warsaw.

He leaves four sons, Edward T. J. Frank, John A., and Charles H., of Warsaw; six grandchildren and one great grandson, John Keeney, of Pittsburgh; one sister, Mrs. Malcom Service, of Le Roy. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home.

ONE OF BEST KNOWN WAYNE COUNTY MEN
A. & C. 2-24-1916
Patrick Maloney Dies in Home in Red Creek.

Wolcott, Feb. 23.—Patrick Maloney, one of Wayne county's most prominent business men, died suddenly last evening in his home in Red Creek, after an illness of only four days.

While Mr. Maloney had been in poor health for several years, he was rarely absent from his place of business. Last Friday morning, upon arriving at his store, he was greatly shocked to read of the death of the late Dr. Elsner, of Syracuse, who had been his physician. Soon afterwards he went to his home and never returned.

Mr. Maloney was born in Ireland, and, with his parents, came to America when 4 years of age. The family settled in Red Creek, and he has always lived in that village. In his early life, he experienced many hardships owing to the fact that his parents were very poor. He received his education at the Red Creek Academy, and when very young, he commenced work as a tinner at a salary of about $5 per month in the same store which his name afterwards made famous.

His industry, honesty and perseverance won him rapid promotion. He became a partner in the business. Later he purchased the entire ownership, and then, by years of effort, he built up what is said to be the largest retail hardware business in Western New York, outside of the cities.

Mr. Maloney was a man to whom the citizens of Red Creek, and of Northern Wayne county, pointed with pride. He had a striking personality, and it is probable that no man in this part of the state had more warm personal friends. During his business career, he accumulated considerable wealth, and people from near and far were accustomed to go to him for financial assistance.

In politics, Mr. Maloney was a Democrat and was prominently identified with his party. He served many years as president of the village, and as president of the school board, and might have received many other honors, except for the fact that he constantly refused to accept office.

Mr. Maloney was 69 years of age. He leaves three children, Fred R. Maloney and Miss Grace Maloney, of Red Creek, and Mrs. Ernest L. Brinkerhoff of Wolcott, and one brother, Michael Maloney, of Red Creek. Mr. Maloney's wife died of heart failure on the street in Wolcott three years ago. The funeral service will be held from his late home Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

GRAMMAR AND HIGH SCHOOLS

Death of Miss Minnie R.
VanZandt, After Illness of Several Years.

Union Feb 26-1916

Miss Minnie Ruth VanZandt formerly a well known teacher in the Rochester public schools died yesterday afternoon at the Rochester General Hospital following an illness of several years. Prior to her death, Miss VanZandt had been at the General Hospital for more than a year.

Miss VanZandt was born in Rochester, October 7, 1859, the daughter of the late John J. and Mary A. Van-

MISS MINNIE RUTH VANZANDT.

Zandt. She was educated in the public schools of Rochester and was a graduate of the old Free Academy.

Following her graduation, Miss VanZandt taught in No. 12 and No. 18 Schools, at the Free Academy and high school annex in Chestnut street and at the East High School after that institution was completed. In her high school work, Miss VanZandt taught mathematics and she was very successful as a teacher.

Miss VanZandt is survived by two brothers, Llewellyn H. and Clarence H. VanZandt, both of this city; by four nieces and two nephews. The funeral will take place from the home of Clarence D. VanZandt, at 95 Rutgers street, Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Tributes to Miss Van Zandt.
Joseph P. O'Hern, assistant superintendent of schools, was shocked when told of the death of Miss Van Zandt. He said: "You can not say too much about that wonderful character. She was a woman who wanted to die in the harness. She never retired from her work. She was a woman of strong character, big-hearted and generous to all with whom her duties brought her in contact. She commanded not only respect but the friendship of all."

Frank E. Glen, deputy city controller, who taught Miss Van Zandt in the Free Academy and who was later associated with her as a teacher, paid this tribute to her memory:

"Miss Van Zandt was a student in my classes in the old high school and later taught in the school for a number of years. Her work as a teacher was always characterized by its thoroughness. If she discovered that a student found the work too difficult and that special assistance was necessary she was always ready to sacrifice her own strength and time.

"She didn't consider that the school sessions ended with the ringing of the last bell, but was always willing to remain and help members of her classes. Many times she remained in the building until 6 o'clock. All of the students wanted to be assigned to the classes taught by Miss Van Zandt, because they knew just how thorough she was.

"She didn't believe that work entirely made up the life of a student. She entered into the life of the students from their viewpoint. There was not a party, dance or fraternity affair held by the students that she did not attend. She entered into the spirit of the affairs.

"Miss Van Zandt also supported the students in their athletic programmes. I recall the first excursion of the football team to Buffalo when the Central High School team of that city was played. Miss Van Zandt was the one member of the faculty who organized a party of girls and accompanied them to the Windy City.

"She was the best liked teacher in the high school faculty. Her relations with other members of the faculty were always of the most pleasant."

He also held Presbyterian pastorates in Cortland, at St. Peter's, Rochester, from 1877 until 1895, and at Corning from 1895 until 1906. JUDGE WERNER LOSES IN LONG FIGHT FOR LIFE

JWC. 3-2-1916
Sudden Change Quickly Followed by Death.

WON HIS WAY TO EMINENCE

Deceased Jurist, Left Orphan at 13 Years, Struggled for Livelihood and Education and Was Unusually Successful in Chosen Profession

After a serious illness that developed more than a year ago, William E. Werner, associate judge of the Court of Appeals and one of Rochester's most distinguished men, died yesterday morning at 7 o'clock in the General Hospital. The immediate cause was a pleurisy that followed an operation to remove his spleen. Back of that cause, however, was a long fight against pernicious anaemia. He was 60 years old.

Despite the long illness and the nature of the disease, Judge Werner's death came as a shock. The operation, performed to check the anaemic condition, seemed to have been successful. From February 9th, the day of the operation, until twenty-four hours before the end, the reports of his condition were generally optimistic. A few hours before the pleurisy developed his physician, Dr. Frederick W. Zimmer, announced that his chances for recovery were slightly better than ever.

In Pain Before Death.

The relapse came late Monday night, and with it a great deal of pain. One of the last things Judge Werner said was:

"I had rather die than suffer so."

During the last year, Judge Werner had spent little time on the bench. The anaemic condition first developed about a year ago, and upon the advice of his physician he spent the latter end of the winter in Florida. Returning in the early spring, he went upon the bench for the first time on his birthday, April 19th, but the Court of Appeals adjourned shortly after.

He was in better health after his return from the South and continued to improve during the summer. In August he went to Canada for a month. He was not as well when he returned, and from that time until his death his condition was always fluctuating. At times the number of red corpuscles in his blood would be normal; but such periods of improvement were always broken by sharp declines.

Transfusions of Blood.

Last October the Judge's physicians began to fight the loss of red corpuscles with blood transfusions. His brother and daughters volunteered for this. More recently blood was secured from students at the Rochester Theological Seminary. In all, fourteen transfusions were given but they afforded only temporary relief. The operation for the removal of the spleen, which was destroying the red corpuscles through improper functioning, was decided upon as a last resort.

Judge Werner's family and relatives were with him when he died. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Lillie Boller Werner; three daughters, Clara Louise, Marie and Caroline Werner; one brother, Christopher C. Werner, and a sister, Mrs. Lena Betz.

JUDGE WILLIAM E. WERNER.

The funeral service will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Third Presbyterian Church. Judge Werner's associates in the Court of Appeals will act as honorary bearers. Burial will be made in Mount Hope and will be private.

Senate and Assembly Adjourns.

Albany, March 1.—Widespread regret is expressed here at the unexpected death of Judge William E. Werner. While it was known he was ill, news had been received here to the effect that his condition had improved and hopes were felt that he would return to his judicial duties when weather conditions were more favorable.

His associates in the Court of Appeals were too overcome with emotion to discuss the death of their colleague, but resolutions of respect were adopted. In the Assembly, Majority Leader Adler and Minority Leader Callahan spoke feelingly of the merits of Judge Werner. The Assembly then adjourned in his honor. Senator Argersinger and Majority Leader Brown, of the Senate, also expressed regrets in feeling terms and the Senate also adjourned.

It is probable that many persons will go from here to attend the funeral.

Began Life a Poor Boy.

Those who knew Judge William E. Werner only as the able jurist always found it difficult to believe the story of his early days, even though it is fairly common in the careers of successful Americans. He ended life as associate judge of the Court of Appeals and with the prospect of eventually succeeding to the chief judgeship, which he missed so narrowly in 1913. He practically began life as an orphan, with no opportunities and no greater ambition than to learn a trade; before he studied law he was dependence League opponent, Judge Willard Bartlett. Early returns on the voting gave Judge Werner the victory, and not until many days after election day did the final revision of figures prove he had lost to the present chief judge.

Judge Werner was born in Buffalo on April 19, 1855. At the age of 13 years he was left an orphan and without means. He left public school and went to work, first as an errand boy and then, acting upon the advice of friends, as molder's apprentice with the intention of learning the trade. Never a rugged man, young Werner found that work too taxing, and he went from the foundry to a farm in Cheektowaga, a town near Buffalo.

There he did "chores" for his board and clothes, and there in the district school he got his first vision of the value of an education. He attended district school during the winter term, and the next year returned to Buffalo, where by day he worked in a tin stamping factory and by night studied in evening school. He studied bookkeeping and commercial law and read freely in a public library. In the meantime he left the tinworks and became clerk and bookkeeper for a wholesale grocer.

Took Up Law in Rochester.

In 1877, when he was 22 years old, young Werner came to Rochester. The legal profession had begun to appeal to him, and he came here to qualify for it. In June of that year he entered the office of W. H. Bowman as a law student. After a year in Mr. Bowman's office he went to D. C. Feely. A year later he was appointed clerk of Municipal Court. In 1880 he was admitted to the bar and at once resigned his court clerkship and formed a law partnership with Henry J. Hetzel. He had already begun to interest himself in Republican politics, and had even gained something of a reputation for oratory.

His ability and his sunny temperament gained him many friends during his first years in Rochester, and in 1884 he was mentioned favorably as a candidate for the office of special county judge. In the party caucus that followed he was nominated on the first ballot, by a vote of 134 out of a possible 175. In the campaign that followed he ran 2,000 votes ahead of his party and defeated the Democratic candidate by a majority of 7,000, the largest majority ever given to any public official in Monroe county up to that time.

No Opposition to Election.

In 1887 he was renominated by acclamation and at the election received more than 21,000 votes out of 22,000 cast, his Democratic opponent having withdrawn his name a few days before the balloting. In 1888 County Judge Morgan died and Judge Lynn was designated to fill the vacancy. From the day of Judge Morgan's death, however, it was apparent that Judge Werner would, at the next election, be chosen for the place. He was nominated in the Republican county convention and endorsed by the Democrats, receiving, consequently, an unanimous election.

Judge Werner served five years as county judge, and then, through the death of Supreme Court Justice Macomber, became a candidate for the higher office. Judge George F. Yeoman, who had been appointed to fill Justice Macomber's place temporarily, was also a candidate. Friends of both men began a vigorous campaign for their favorites, and for a time the rivalry was close. After a few primaries had been held, Judge Werner's chances increased over those of his opponent, and when all the returns had come in it was found that he again had added laurels to his record as a "vote-getter." He carried every one of the thirty-nine towns and wards in Monroe county.

He succeeded by the usual route of hard work, plus a natural aptitude for his profession. And however difficult and discouraging his earlier days may have been, his life from young manhood on was a steady march forward. He was a special county judge of Monroe county at the age of 29 years, county judge at 34, justice of the Supreme Court at 40, and associate judge of the Court of Appeals just five years later. An excellent speaker, he was a well liked man from the start of his public career. When he ran for special county judge he received more than 21,000 of 22,000 votes cast.

Twice Defeated at Polls.

Twice only in his thirty years in public office was he defeated. In his first campaign for associate judge of the Court of Appeals a partisan issue was raised against the Republican party and voters were sufficiently influenced by it to elect Judge Werner's opponent, Judge John Clinton Gray, Democrat, of New York.

It has been said that his second defeat was a consequence of the opinion he wrote on the first state workmen's compensation law. A test case was begun under the compensation law and carried to the Court of Appeals. The court as a unit decided the statute was unconstitutional, and Judge Werner wrote the opinion. A master of lucid, English, his associates frequently chose him for such work; but the result in this instance was to make him a foe of labor, in the minds of men who wanted the law kept on the statute books.

In 1913 he was nominated for chief judge of the Court of Appeals to succeed the venerable Edward M. Cullen. The campaign was not a weight of labor was against him, and he lost by a small margin to his Democratic and In-

The other counties in this judicial district followed Monroe's lead, and Judge Werner, not yet 40, was nominated unanimously for Supreme Court justice at the Republican convention of 1894.

Appointed by Roosevelt.

Judge Werner's elevation to the Court of Appeals came first through designation. Instead of election. He had served five years on the Supreme Court bench, from January 1, 1895, until January, 1900, when Theodore Roosevelt, then governor, appointed him for two years of temporary duty in the highest court in the state. The occasion for the appointment arose from the clogged condition of the Court of Appeals calendar. There were 880 appeals pending when a constitutional amendment was passed which permitted the governor to name Judge Werner, Judge Landon, of Schenectady, and Judge Edgar M. Cullen, of Brooklyn, as assistants to the judges of the higher court.

When he was a justice of the Supreme Court Judge Werner presided at a session of a special Grand Jury in New York which indicted violators of the election law. In designating Judge Werner for temporary work in the Court of Appeals, Governor Roosevelt stated that the appointment was in recognition of his capable conducting of the trial of the election fraudsters.

Nominated for Full Term.

In 1902, his acquaintance much larger and his ability more widely known, Judge Werner was nominated by the Republicans for the full thirteen-year term as associate judge of the Court of Appeals. His opponent was Judge John Clinton Gray, of New York, for whom the Democrats expected a unanimous nomination. When the Republicans failed to indorse him a partisanship issue was injected into the judiciary campaign, with the result that Judge Werner was defeated. He retained his place in the Court of Appeals by gubernatorial designation, however, and in 1904 he was renominated by the Republicans and received the indorsement of the Democrats.

In 1913 Judge Werner suffered his second defeat, a defeat so narrow that at one time his election was apparently confirmed and remained so for days. With the retirement of Chief Judge Edgar M. Cullen, the Rochester jurist was nominated for the highest office in the highest court in the state. The Democrats named Judge Willard Bartlett, who was also indorsed by the Independence League. It was in this campaign that Judge Werner's connection with the old workmen's compensation law was used as political capital, and it is conceded that his defeat was chiefly attributable to the use of it. Judge Bartlett will retire in 1916, and it is believed that Judge Werner would have succeeded to the place had he lived.

From Heart of the People.

As a man, Judge Werner's personality was portrayed by the Monroe county delegate who put him in nomination two years ago for chief judge of the Court of Appeals:

"The candidate for chief judge I have the honor to name represents my ideal of a judge. He is not an intellectual prodigy, but just a harmonious blending of the human and the intellectual, a union of discretion and firmness, a combination of strength, moderation, learning and industry. That is a fair picture of William E. Werner.

"Tempered by the fires of early adversity, deprived in childhood of his parents, and tried in the school of experience, he has stood that test in one judicial office after another. He comes from the heart of the people. His early struggles against poverty have been to him a finer inheritance than wealth. He knows the value of character and friendship and has proved his right to both."

MOURN LOSS OF BELOVED JURIST AND FELLOW MEMBER.

MORE THAN 150 GATHER

Willis Matson, President of Association, Calls Meeting to Order—Justice Benton Presides.

Rochester lawyers met in the court house at noon to-day to pay tribute to their associate William E. Werner, justice of the Court of Appeals. More than 150 lawyers, members of the Rochester Bar association, were in attendance at this meeting, said to be the largest assembly of its kind ever held in the court house.

Willis A. Matson, president of the association, called the meeting to order. George A. Benton, justice of the Supreme court, was unanimously elected chairman, and Homer Dick was elected secretary.

Committee Appointed.

Arthur E. Sutherland, former Supreme Court justice, suggested that a committee of five be appointed to draft a suitable memorial on the death of Judge Werner. Justice Benton appointed Mr. Sutherland, J. L. Hotchkiss, Joseph M. Feeley, Stephen J. Warren and Charles B. Bechtold.

Justice Benton then appointed this committee to represent the association at the funeral: M. H. McMath, H. G. Pierce, C. D. Kiehl, C. C. Davy, W. A. Matson, D. C. Hebbard, E. J. Dwyer, George Harris, Thomas Raines, H. V. Woodward, W. W. Webb and John D. Lynn.

Mr. Sutherland then read the memorial and moved its adoption. It was decided also to send copies to Judge Werner's family and to the Appellate division and the Court of Appeals.

Career Recounted.

The memorial follows:

"In June, 1877, William E. Werner came to Rochester to prepare himself to be a lawyer. He came equipped with a strength of purpose and a courage developed in earlier struggles against adversity, and with a capacity for hard work that made his effort to gain a high place at the bar certain of success. He was admitted in 1880, and from that time until the end came his career has been unsurpassed in professional achievement.

"Elected special county judge of Monroe county in 1884, re-elected in 1887, and elected as county judge in 1889, and as a justice of the Supreme court in 1894, designated by Governor Roosevelt to sit in the Court of Appeals in 1900, and elected as a permanent member of that great tribunal in 1904, where he served until his death; this is his judicial record as regards mere chronology. We cannot make here any adequate memorial of Judge Werner's judicial service. It is written large in the volumes of reports that are illumined by his learning and enriched by his remarkable and classic diction. His opinions in the many leading cases in which he has been chosen to speak for the court will be studied and followed as guides for lawyer and judge alike in the discharge of their duties in the practice and administration of the law. His incessant labors, at last overtaking, have greatly strengthened and broadened the foundations of our jurisprudence.

Courage as Judge.

"Throughout this commonwealth there will be stately and appropriate eulogies pronounced upon his public career. Men will refer with admiration to the clarity of his reasoning and to the fine and appreciative discrimination in the use of words with which he was gifted, or which he had gained by the refining process of constant application. His courage as a judge, upholding the constitution when a departure from basic principles of the organic law might have been, for the time, more popular, will be referred to as an enduring proof of the value to free institutions of the judicial establishment as conceived by the founders of the American republic. But by this group of men here assembled, who lived with him as comrades in the days of his early student and professional life in Rochester, or though admitted into the guild of lawyers since he attained his fame, have had the opportunity to come under the charm and compelling influence of his personality, it is more fitting that words should be spoken concerning the human ties and the intuitive impulses that united men to him in the bonds of fraternal affection. And yet, these are the words that are hardest to speak.

"The love of men for their fellows does not come as the result of processes of reasoning. We only know that in some men we place unbounded trust; that toward them our affections go out; that in them we find qualities which we do not analyze scientifically, but which attract us irresistibly. In this brother we found spontaneous sympathy, generous comradeship, gentleness of spirit, modesty of manner, charity in judgment of the faults of others, and a purity of life and integrity of character that would make each of us wish that our sons might grow up to be such men in these respects as he was.

"We lawyers in his home city, standing to-day in the shadow of a deep bereavement, do now record our sense of the obligation of the state for the eminent service of William E. Werner, our profound admiration of him as a member of our profession, and our affection for him as a friend."

Mrs. Bannister is survived by one sister, Mrs. Clarissa Bannister of Custer, Wis. The funeral will be held Friday, Rev. Pierre Cushing, rector of St. Mark's Church, officiating, and the burial will be made in Lake View Cemetery at Cleveland, Ohio.

Judge William E. Werner

The death of Judge William E. Werner, of the Court of Appeals, which occurred at an early hour this morning, will come as a shock to the people of this community and of the state. It was known that he had been ill for many months, and that during the last few weeks his malady had assumed a very dangerous condition, but his friends hoped his indomitable will might conquer, and that he would fight his way back to health even against great odds. The battle, however, was more than his pluck and grit could win, and he was forced to surrender to the grim inevitable.

The career of Judge Werner is one of which this community, and a great host of friends in every part of the state, are very justly proud. He began life with many obstacles to overcome, and faced difficulties which would have discouraged one of a less determined character. But the very hindrances which confronted him seemed to stimulate him with a firmer determination to gauge his metal against the odds, and to inspire him with a belief in his own powers. It was this same confidence in his ability to bring things to pass that led him to take up the study of the law and to enter with zest into the mastery of its intricacies. The whole bent of his mind was toward the legal profession, and he became a profound student of the principles and practice of the law.

As a lawyer with a constantly growing practice, he naturally found his way into public life. He was interested in the affairs of the community, and made friends rapidly, until he had a wide clientele who perceived that he was destined to mount to the high places in his profession. Scarcely had he succeeded in building up a practice which bid fair to prove congenial and lucrative, than he was called to the bench of the Special County Court, where he did such excellent work, and showed such plain aptitude for judicial labors, that he was elected county judge, was then elevated to the Supreme Court, and finally reached a place on the bench of the highest court of the state, the Court of Appeals.

But Judge Werner was not only a brilliant lawyer and a profoundly studious judge. He was a thoroughly representative citizen, interested in the affairs of the community in which he lived and conversant with all public questions pertaining to the welfare of the country. Since his elevation to the bench of the higher courts he has never actively participated in politics, but his judgment was relied upon as sound on all public matters, and he was considered an invaluable adviser by political leaders. He was a lifelong Republican, but never a bitter partisan, having many close friends in the other parties. He also possessed excellent business judgment, and his opinion was sought by those who direct large industrial and commercial undertakings.

But it was as a friend and neighbor that Justice Werner will be missed the most. He made friends because he was a friend, and the demands which were made upon his time in many different ways never quenched the warm friendship of the perfect candor of his friendship. And this fact was not known alone to a circle of select and choice friends, it was recognized by those with whom he seldom came in contact. For his sympathies were wide and deep, and it was his nature to like everyone. He possessed a singularly forceful personality, quiet, scholarly, of profound convictions, and of high mental attainments. He rose to the first position of his profession, and he won a distinguished place in the affairs of life. But with it all he remained the same faithful friend, the wise counselor of those he trusted, and the sympathetic champion of those who were less fortunate and needed his aid.

TRIBUTE PAID TO GREAT JURIST BY LOCAL BAR

Times — 3-2-1916

Firmness in Constitutional Crisis Case Pointed as Achievement of Life.

TRAITS OF CHARACTER

Personality and Temperament Qualities Which Endeared Him to Friends.

Members of the Rochester bar gathered in large numbers this noon in Trial Term room, Supreme Court, to pay tribute to the memory of Hon. William E. Werner, associate judge of the Court of Appeals, who died yesterday. The room was too small to contain the attorneys who tried to be present. All available space was filled and there was an overflow into the corridor at both doors.

The meeting was called to order by President Willis A. Matson, who suggested that Supreme Court Justice George A. Benton act as presiding officer and the suggestion was made into a resolution and carried unanimously. On suggestion of Eugene J. Dwyer, Homer E. A. Dick was named as secretary.

Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur E. Sutherland moved that a committee of five be named to draft resolutions, and this committee was appointed: Arthur E. Sutherland, James L. Hotchkiss, Joseph M. Peely, Stephen J. Warren and Charles B. Bechtold.

It was suggested by Morrison H. McMath that a committee of 12 be named to attend the funeral, as representative of the bar, and the following named lawyers were appointed for this purpose:

Morrison H. McMath, Horace G. Pierce, C. D. Kiehel, Cassius C. Davy, Willis A. Matson, Delbert C. Hebbard, Eugene J. Dwyer, George H. Harris, Thomas Raines, William W. Webb, John D. Lynn and Harry V. Woodward.

Resolution of Sympathy.

The following resolution, adopted by the committee, was feelingly and impressively read by Justice Sutherland:

came to Rochester to prepare himself a lawyer. He came equipped with strength of purpose and a courage developed in earlier struggles against adversity, and with a capacity for hard work that made his effort to gain a high place at the bar certain of success. He was admitted in 1886, and from that time until the end came his career has been unsurpassed in professional achievement.

Elected special county judge of Monroe County in 1884, re-elected in 1887, and elected as county judge in 1889, and as a justice of the Supreme Court in 1894, designated by Governor Roosevelt to sit in the Court of Appeals in 1900, and elected as a permanent member of that great tribunal in 1904, where he served until his death: this is his judicial record as regard mere chronology. We cannot make here any adequate memorial of Judge Werner's judicial service. It is written large in the volumes of reports that are illuminated by his learning and enriched by his remarkable and classic diction. His opinions in the many leading cases in which he has been chosen to speak for the court will be studied and followed as guides for lawyer and judge alike in the discharge of their duties in the practice and administration of the law. His incessant labors, at last overtaking, have greatly strengthened and broadened the foundations of our jurisprudence.

Throughout this commonwealth there will be stately and appropriate eulogies pronounced upon his public career. Men will refer with admiration to the clarity of his reasoning and to the fine and appreciative discrimination in the use of words with which he was gifted, or which he had gained by the refining process of constant application. His courage as a judge, upholding the constitution when a departure from basic principles of the organic law might have been, for the time more popular, will be referred to as an enduring proof of the value to free institutions of the judicial establishment as conceived by the founders of the American republic. But by this group of men here assembled, who lived with him as comrades in the days of his early student and professional life in Rochester, or though admitted into the guild of lawyers since he attained his fame, have had the opportunity to come under the charm and compelling influence of his personality, it is more fitting that words should be spoken concerning the human ties and the intuitive impulses that united men to him in the bonds of fraternal affection. And yet, these are the words that are hardest to speak.

The love of men for their fellows does not come as the result of processes of reasoning. We only know that in some men we place unbounded trust; that toward them our affections go out; that in them we find qualities which we do not analyze scientifically, but which attract us irresistibly. In this brother we found spontaneous sympathy, generous comradeship, gentleness of spirit, modesty of manner, charity in judgment of the faults of others, and a purity of life and integrity of character that would make each of us wish that our sons might grow up to be such men in these respects as he was.

We lawyers in his home city, standing today in the shadow of a deep bereavement, do now record our sense of the obligation of the state for the eminent service of William E. Werner, our profound admiration of him as a member of our profession, and our affection for him as a friend.

Judge Rodenbeck's Tribute.

The following message was received from Albany by The Times this morning:

"Judge Adolph J. Rodenbeck, of the Court of Claims, today said:

"In the death of Judge Werner, the city of Rochester has lost its most eminent citizen and the bar a distinguished and learned member of the highest court of the state. It is a source of great regret that his services to jurisprudence and to the state should be cut off at a time when, in the fullness of his experience, they were of the greatest value to the people of the state. His untimely death, in the prime of life, is the price he paid for his devotion to the performance of his public duties as a citizen, and as a member of the great court with which he was connected. The community in which he lived and the state of New York have suffered a great loss in the death of this distinguished citizen and great jurist."

Expressions of Sympathy.

A committee of the Society of the Genesee in New York City, composed of Elon Huntington Hooker, president; Eugene M. Moore, secretary; and Abraham Benedict, William J. Moran, David Rumsey, Eldridge L. Adams, A. E. Harrell, Sidney Lowenthal, Waldo C. Morse, A. Masters MacDonnel, Harry C. Michaels, Judge Peter Hendrick and Louis Wiley, prepared the following tribute:

Editorial Comment on the Death of Judge William E. Werner

The officers and members of the Society of the Genesee have learned with deep sorrow of the death of their fellow-member, William E. Werner, associate judge of the Court of Appeals of the State of New York. The Society records its sense of bereavement and its appreciation of the Judge's gifts as a jurist, his uprightness and impartiality, and the invariable kindness that distinguished his association with his fellow men. The Society extends its sincere sympathy to the members of his family and trusts that their sorrow will be mitigated by the knowledge of the veneration and affection felt for him by his friends and the public generally.

Message From the Governor.

From officials of the state and those who had held state offices came earnest tributes to Judge Werner. Some of these are:

Governor Charles S. Whitman: "I desire to express my sincere sympathy in your bereavement. The people of the state have suffered a great loss."

W. N. Dykman, secretary to former Chief Judge Edward M. Cullen of the Court of Appeals: "Judge Cullen is in Bermuda. For him and myself I tender profound sympathy. The state has lost in Judge Werner a great lawyer and a public servant of proved integrity and great devotion to the public business."

Court of Appeals Judge Frank H. Hiscock: "The judge's death shocks me more than I can tell you."

Alton B. Parker: "Please accept the sympathy of myself and family. Will be with you on Friday afternoon."

Rev. Charles C. Albertson: "We grieve with you the loss of a noble Christian gentleman."

In Syracuse, where two of Judge Werner's former associates live, keen regret was evidenced. Former Court of Appeals Judge Irving Vann said: "In the death of Judge Werner the bench has lost an able and accomplished jurist, the state a public spirited and useful citizen. Judge Werner was a clear and original thinker, an indefatigable worker and a careful student. He had an unusual facility of expression and his opinions rank among the best, both for their soundness of reasoning and their literary style. Ease in writing sometimes leads to careless thinking, but he always considered what he wrote so carefully that neither he nor the court had to retract obiter statements made by him. At such a time one thinks more of the qualities of the heart than of the head. He was a delightful companion, an agreeable associate, a lovable friend, a manly man."

Nathan L. Miller, also a former judge of the Court of Appeals, said: "His opinions will be read and studied by the bar for generations. His warm heart and noble nature endeared him to all who had the privilege of association with him."

Justice William S. Andrews of Onondaga County said: "He was an able and efficient judge and one of the strongest members of the Court of Appeals. His death is a great loss to it and to the bar of the state."

Justice Leonard C. Crouch of Syracuse said: "Judge Werner's death deprives the state of one of its ablest jurists. His opinions, particularly in more recent years, have been models of legal reasoning and pure, concise English."

WEISSINGER—Entered into rest, Friday, March 3, 1916, at his home, No. 143 Broadway, Charles F. Weissinger, aged 72 years. He leaves his wife, Mary A. Weissinger; one daughter, Mary R. Weissinger, of this city; one sister, Mrs. Katharine Gaeber, of Ann Arbor, Mich. Funeral services from the home, No. 143 Broadway, Monday afternoon, March 6, 1916, at 3:30 o'clock and 4 o'clock at Mount Hope Chapel. 3-5-1916

From the New York Times, Dem.—

The Court of Appeals bench sustains a serious loss in the death of William E. Werner. His associates of that court know better than the outside public can know the high value in their deliberations of his ripe learning and long experience, but to all the people of the state he has been known as a judge exceptionally well qualified by ability, temperament, habit of mind, and mastery of the law.

His service upon the bench began more than 30 years ago when he was elected county judge. He was afterward a justice of the Supreme Court and after serving upon the Court of Appeals bench by appointment he was elected to that court in 1903, having the support of both parties. Knowledge accumulated by such experience, when added to natural fitness for judicial duty, constitutes the best equipment. Judge Werner was more than a good judge, he was a good citizen, always responsive to the demands and the duty of citizenship, and throughout the state he was held in very high esteem.

From the Albany Journal, Rep.—

Death has taken from the bench of the Court of Appeals of this state one of its best qualified members, Associate Judge William E. Werner. The soundness of his opinions, coming of thorough knowledge of law and virtually inerrant interpretation and application of it, had gained for him the esteem and admiration of all who hold to the principle that courts must do justice and not dispense favor.

His death recalls a conspicuous incident of his life.

His close adherence to the proper functions of a judge brought upon him the animosity of some who were contending clamorously, a few years ago, under the leadership of one who was seeking to revolutionize existing order, for the shaping of judicial decisions to conform with the demands of one class or another of the population, instead of with the constitution and statutory law; and for the punishment of judges who would refuse to subject themselves to such domination.

In 1913, when Judge Werner was the Republican candidate for chief justice of the Court of Appeals, his defeat was accomplished through the nomination of a third candidate to whom votes were diverted which otherwise would have gone to him. That was after a proposal from a leader of the misguided ones who then constituted the late Progressive party, that the party would support him on condition that he repudiate his opinion in the Ives case, accompanying the decision of the Court of Appeals declaring the Workmen's Compensation act of 1910 to be unconstitutional, had been indignantly spurned by him as a matter of course.

Governor Hughes, when he signed that act, intimated doubt as to its validity, but decided that the question ought to be determined by the courts.

Because the highest court determined it as it did, for the reason that the law before it conflicted with the constitution, and Justice Werner wrote the opinion in which the majority of his associates concurred, and then because he would not dishonor himself to gain the support of opponents of legal and orderly procedure, they turned against him and helped to elect his Democratic opponent.

William E. Werner was a man of honor, an able and just judge. So he will be long remembered.

From the Syracuse Journal, Pro.—

Announcement of the death of Judge William E. Werner, of Rochester, will bring sadness to hosts of people who met the distinguished jurist either professionally or socially. He had had an illustrious career, first upon the common pleas bench and later as a member of the Supreme Court. He was designated as a Judge of the Court of Appeals by the Governor in 1900 and in 1904 was elected to that place. His 15 years on the bench of this great tribunal were spent to the fuller credit of the judiciary and the lasting benefit of justice.

From the Syracuse Herald, Dem.—

Judge Werner ranked as one of the ablest members of our highest state court. He had a keenly analytical mind and his intellectual processes were rapid. The equipment he derived from an usually long judicial service for a man of his years, and from constant study, was made the more valuable to the State by his remarkably equable, well poised judicial temperament. Though his judicial labors had the first place in his affections and his thoughts, his intellectual interests in other directions took a wide range and his information on subjects outside of the judicial sphere was broad and varied. The people of New York honored him as a wise and good judge, and his untimely death will bring sorrow to a host of friends throughout the state.

From the Buffalo Express, Rep.—

Judge William E. Werner, of the Court of Appeals, died yesterday. Judge Werner was so well known in Buffalo that he was regarded almost as a Buffalo man. In fact, he was born here and received his early education in Buffalo schools. He became a special county judge in Monroe county only four years after he was admitted to the bar, so his long legal career was almost entirely on the bench. It is needless to say that his was a very distinguished career and that lawyers throughout the state will learn of his death with regret.

From the Syracuse Post-Standard, Rep.—

Judge William E. Werner was 60 less than a year ago. Yet he had been more than 30 years upon the bench. Through all these years Judge Werner has gained steadily in reputation as a profound student and a painstaking and conscientious interpreter of law. He had not what has been termed disparagingly a "legalistic mind." He was keenly conscious of changing social and economic conditions. He kept closely in touch with the progress of the world. He applied the law to human affairs, not as one to whom all excepting law books were alien, but as a well-informed citizen of the world.

Judge Werner was senior member of the Court of Appeals. By his death the court loses an unusually able and erudite judge, whose scholarly opinions will remain his memorial, whose judicial record is worthy the traditions of a court which, next to the Supreme Court of the United States, is the most honored and distinguished in the country.

From the Troy Times, Rep.—

William E. Werner, associate judge of the Court of Appeals, who died in Rochester yesterday, was one of the ablest and most honored jurists in this state. He was a native of Buffalo, where he was born in 1855, and worked his way to a high place at the bar after an education in the public schools. He had been a special county judge and county judge of Monroe County when he was elected a justice of the Supreme Court. His record there attracted the attention of Governor Roosevelt, who in 1900 appointed him to fill a vacancy in the Court of Appeals. Later he was elected to the same position. His term would have expired December 31, 1918. Judge Werner was noted for the care which he gave to the consideration of the cases brought before the highest court of the state and for the clearness and force of the opinions written by him.

From the Albany Knickerbocker-Press, Rep.—

The untimely death yesterday of William E. Werner, associate judge of the Court of Appeals, removes an eminent jurist. Judge Werner was one of the most learned among the many men of brilliance and erudition who have sat upon the bench of New York state's Court of Appeals. He was much more, however. His splendid qualities of heart matched those of his mind and endeared him to thousands.

The story of Judge Werner's rise is another chapter added to the long roll of Americans who have ascended from obscurity. At the age of 14 he was compelled to leave school to earn his own living. After working in a foundry, he obtained employment as a chore boy on a farm and attended a country school. Such learning as he was able to get at night, while employed in an office a little later, comprised the total of his education, except for the schooling in the law which he gave himself. Nevertheless, he became a fine English scholar, a master of words, a man of culture, with a profound knowledge of the law. Moreover Judge Werner was a gentleman, the most modest and unassuming of men, with interests as fresh and keen and a heart as kind as a child's.

Time was when Judge Werner was known personally to every soul in Rochester and its vicinity. He was the favorite son of that locality—the idol of all, irrespective of party. In recent years his time was devoted so continuously to the work of the Court of Appeals that he lost, to some extent, his personal touch with his home folk. To the work of that wider field, however, he devoted every quality of his great personality. The administration of justice, most sacred of worldly tasks, has seldom had an abler servant, and never one more worthy.

Walter R. Betteridge, Professor of Hebrew at the Rochester Theological

REV. WALTER R. BETTERIDGE.

Seminary, died this morning at 9:45 o'clock at his home, 161 Barrington Street. He had been suffering from heart trouble for the past two years and about a week ago was ordered to bed by his physician.

Prof. Betteridge was born at Riga, N. Y., on Dec. 16, 1863. He graduated from the University of Rochester in 1888, and from the Rochester Theological Seminary in 1891. He was a student at the University of Goettingen and Berlin in 1895 and 1896. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred on him by the University of Rochester in 1906. In 1891-2 he served as instructor in Hebrew at the Rochester Theological Seminary, and he was assistant professor of the Hebrew language and literature in 1892-1900, acting professor in 1900-01, and Professor from 1901 until 1916. From 1901 to 1913 he acted as librarian of the Seminary.

Thus for 25 years Dr. Betteridge has given instruction in Old Testament studies, and for half this period has served as librarian of the Seminary. When the task of reorganizing the library was undertaken he did not hesitate to deprive himself of summer vacations in order personally to supertreatment of the numerous and intricate details of a library. Prof. Betteridge has been aptly described as a gentlemanly scholar; always superlatively truthful, always limited by the data at hand. Those who tested him as a friend need not be reminded that he was as a brother to them. During all the years of his connection with the Seminary, he threw the weight of his influence in favor of every movement making for its advance. But the transformation of the library will remain, perhaps, his greatest contribution to the Seminary.

Prof. Betteridge is the author of the commentary on Exodus and the commentary on Deuteronomy in the American Commentary on the Old Testament.

MATTHEW WIARD

Union 3-2-1916
Most Prominent Farmer in Livingston County Died Suddenly at His Home in Avon.

AVON, N. Y., March 2.—Matthew Wiard of Avon, without exception Livingston county's best known farmer, died very suddenly at his home in Avon this morning at 2 o'clock, following an attack of acute indigestion. Mr. Wiard had been sick for a couple of years with diabetes, but a trip to the mountains of California last fall was productive of a returning vigor, and his death was unexpected.

He is survived by one brother, Frank Wiard of Rochester; two nieces, Mrs. Cora MacMullen of Avon, and Mrs. Clara Tomlin of Fresno, Cal., and two nephews, Floyd and Seth Wiard of this place.

Deceased was the second son of Seth and Achsah Wiard, pioneers of East Avon, and was born in that place sixty-five years ago. The first half of his life was passed in that vicinity, in various pursuits, mostly agriculture. Thirty-six years ago he married Miss Marion Hunter of York, whose death occurred a short time later. Thirty-two years ago this spring he leased of Herbert Wadsworth the old Hartford farm of 720 acres, just north of the Avon corporation line, and since that time he had conducted that farm, with profit not only to himself, but he has built up the farm until to-day the "Wiard" farm, as it is now generally known, has the reputation of being one of the best in the entire state.

Politically, Mr. Wiard was a Republican. He was adverse to accepting office, although during the years 1909-10 he acted as supervisor, and his record shows an administration of more than usual success. Later he was elected a school director of the town. He was a member of Rochester Lodge of Elks, of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce, and several of the state organizations of farmers, breeders, dairymen, etc. He was a man with a big heart, and his acts of charity on every hand endeared him to the Avon community, and he will be greatly missed on every hand.

Union Mrs. George P. Kellogg, 1916

BATAVIA, N. Y., March 7.—Mrs. Helen Kellogg, wife of George P. Kellogg, died on Sunday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank H. Roberts of 17 Dellinger avenue, from the infirmities of age. She had been in ill health a long time. She was born in Herkimer county in 1834, but the greater part of her life had been spent in Springville. Besides her husband and daughter she leaves a son, Roy P. Kellogg of Castle. Private funeral services were held at Mrs. Roberts' home this afternoon and the remains will be taken to Springville for burial to-morrow.

ONE OF THE BEST KNOWN FARMERS OF THE GENESEE

D. & C. 3-2-1916

Matthew Wiard Dies Suddenly in Avon Home.

BELIEVED IN GENESEE VALLEY

Always Ready to Work for Its Interests—Introduced New Methods into Board of Supervisors—Affiliated with Many Societies—Director

Avon, March 2.—Matthew Wiard, of this village, a farmer known throughout Western New York, died very suddenly in his home one mile north of this village, at 2 o'clock this morning, aged 65 years. Although Mr. Wiard has been suffering with diabetes for the past two years, yet a long trip through the West last summer so improved his health that when he returned he was feeling finely, and looked better than he had for some months. Yesterday, he attended the auction sale at the W. W. Whitney farm in Lakeville, and returning, went to bed as usual. At 1 o'clock he was awakened by a sharp pain in his side, and almost before medical assistance could be secured, he was dead. Acute indigestion caused his death.

He leaves one brother, Frank Wiard, of Rochester; two nieces, Mrs. Clara Tomlin, of Fresno, Cal., and Mrs. Cora MacMullen, of Avon, and two nephews, Floyd and Seth Wiard, both of this village.

Mr. Wiard had always lived in Avon. He was born in East Avon, the second son of Seth and Achsah Wiard, well known residents of that town, who had come to Avon with their parents when very young children. All of Mr. Wiard's boyhood days were passed in East Avon, and he engaged in agriculture until he was about 30 years of age, when he married Miss Marion Hunter, of York, who died a short time after the wedding. Thirty-two years ago Mr. Wiard leased the old "Hartford" farm, owned by Herbert Wadsworth, in Rochester street, just over the village line, and he has since conducted it. A productive farm was the old Hartford place when Mr. Wiard took it, but during all these years he has used methods in advance of the times, and the result is that the "Wiard" farm, as it is now generally known, has a reputation of being the best large farm—there are 720 acres of it—in all Western New York.

An Old-Time Republican.

Mr. Wiard was an old-time Republican, one of the type who never failed to vote for every candidate on the ticket, and always worked as hard as possible for their success. He was supervisor of the town of Avon in 1909 and 1911, and received the commendation of every member of the board upon the methods he introduced in that body. Later he was elected a school director from this town.

He was a member of Rochester Lodge of Elks, and the Rochester Chamber of Commerce, the Livingston County Historical Society, and practically all of the state and national agricultural and breeding associations, of all of which he was a highly valued member.

He was generous to a fault, and for years his charities have been extended to friend and stranger alike. He believed thoroughly in the Genesee Valley as the greatest agricultural country in America, and he believed in the future of Avon, and was always ready to work for the best interests of the community.

He was a strong man, a man who made any community the better by reason of his having lived in it, and his death has saddened the entire community.

The Funeral Sunday.

The funeral will be held from the home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Samuel Wilson Steele, D. D., pastor of Grace Church, Oswego, a former pastor of Avon Central Presbyterian Church officiating. He will be assisted by the Rev. Charles Noble Frost, D. D., pastor of Central Church, Avon. Interment will be in the Avon cemetery.

MRS. SUSAN B. PINDER.

Resident of Lima for Sixty Years Is Dead—Born in England.

Lima, March 2.—Mrs. Susan Barnhouse Pinder, one of the oldest residents of Lima, died early this morning in her home in Elm street.

Mrs. Pinder was a native of Braintree, Devonshire, England, where she was born August 6, 1823. Mrs. Pinder came directly to Lima from England in 1850, and was married to Lawrence W. Pinder in 1855. This village had been her home for over sixty years.

She leaves two sons, Warren W. Pinder, of Rochester, and Charles Pinder, of Buffalo; a sister, Mrs. Ellen B. Weller, of Lima, and six grandchildren.

W. R. BETTERIDGE TAKEN BY DEATH

Arc. — 2-3-1916
Seminary Professor Dies
Suddenly at His Home.

AN INSTRUCTOR SINCE 1891

Long Service Energetic and Effective, Dr. Barbour Says—Gave Up His Vacations to Reorganize Library.
Wide Knowledge of Literature

Dr. Walter R. Betteridge, professor of Hebrew at the Rochester Theological Seminary, died of heart failure at 9:45 o'clock yesterday morning at his home, No. 161 Barrington street. He had been ill for the past two years, and was ordered to bed a week ago by his physician.

Dr. Betteridge was born at Riga on December 16, 1863. In 1888, he graduated from the University of Rochester, and in 1891, from the Theological Seminary. During the years 1895 and 1896 he studied at the University of Göttingen and Berlin. In 1906, the University of Rochester conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Dr. Betteridge served as instructor in Hebrew at the seminary in 1891 and 1892; as assistant professor of Hebrew language and literature from 1892 to 1900; as acting professor in 1900 and 1901, and as professor from 1901 to 1916. He was librarian of the seminary from 1901 to 1913.

Reorganized Library.

In order that he might personally supervise the work of reorganizing the library, he did not hesitate to deprive himself of his summer vacations, and this work is considered his greatest contribution to the seminary. In appreciation of him, Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, president of the seminary, said last night:

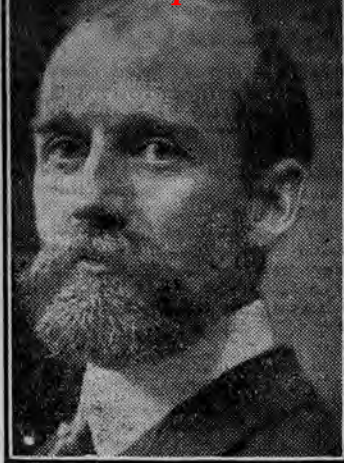

"Dr. Betteridge was not only my colleague on the faculty, and my intimate friend for nearly thirty years, but was my classmate in the seminary in the class of 1891. For three years, we sat side by side in the classrooms and roomed near to one another in Trevor Hall. He was then, and has continued to be, a student of remarkable industry, judicial intellect and constructive power.

"His wide and profound knowledge of literature was supplemented by his observations in extensive travel. His knowledge of the Old Testament Scriptures was profound and discriminating. He was a remarkably successful teacher, and was held by his classes in great respect and affection. His character was transparently beautiful.

Toiled to Limit of Strength.

"The thought of anything in him unworthy of the highest Christian integrity and devotion was impossible. He lived a life of simple and straightforward service to his fellow-men. He was independent in thought but eminently considerate of the conclusions of others. Reluctantly he came to recognize his physical limitations in these latter months, and he surrendered each task with deep regret, toiling to the full limit of his strength to the very end.

"He had been granted leave of absence by the trustees of the seminary for the third term of the current year, and it was hoped that he would be able to get away to the milder climate of the South for recuperation. He himself had hoped that he would resume his work at the opening of the seminary year in September, but it was not to be.

Dr. Walter Betteridge.

"He leaves a stainless name and a gracious influence which will long abide. He belonged to the highest type of the Christian scholar and gentleman."

Funeral Will Be Private.

The funeral services will be held privately at his home on a day and hour that will not be publicly announced. The bearers will be six members of the senior class, and the middle and junior classes will be represented by three members each, chosen by the classes. Two hymns will be sung by the seminary quartette. Rev. Arthur C. Baldwin, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist Church, of which Dr. Betteridge was long a member, will be in charge of the service. Members of the faculty and of the Executive Committees of the trustees, and a few personal friends of the family, will be present.

A memorial service, to which the public is invited, will be held in the parlor of Alvah Strong Hall next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. President Barbour will preside and will give one of four brief addresses. The other speakers will be J. W. A. Stewart, dean of the seminary; Professor Walter Rauschenbusch, and Professor Conrad Moehle. Other members of the faculty will take part in the service.

In honor of the memory of Dr. Betteridge, all seminary exercises will be suspended to-day and the library will be closed all day.

MANY TRIBUTES TO MEMORY OF JUDGE WERNER

R. & C. — 3/3/1916
Great Jurist and Splendid Man, All Messages Say.

FUNERAL AT 4 P. M. TO-DAY

Body of Distinguished Rochesterian to Lie in State in Third Presbyterian Church; Services Will Be Simple; Judges Honorary Bearers

The body of William E. Werner, associate judge of the Court of Appeals, will be taken from the family home, No.
399 Oxford street, to the Third Presbyterian Church at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon and will lie in state until 3 o'clock.
The funeral will take place at 4 o'clock, Rev. Paul Moore Strayer officiating. The church service will be simple. Burial will be made in Mount Hope cemetery and will be private.

The bearers will be John F. Weis, Charles W. Weis, Jr., Rudolph Weis and Richard Smith, of Buffalo, and Atkinson Allen and Douglas Townson, of Rochester. The first four young men are nephews of Judge Werner.

Judges and former judges of the Court of Appeals will act as honorary bearers.
They are: Willard Bartlett, William H.
Cuddeback, John W. Hogan, Frederick
Collin, Frank H. Hisecock, Samuel Seabury, Emory A. Chase, Cuthbert W.
Pound and Benjamin N. Cardozo, present judges; Alton B. Parker, former chief judge; Nathan L. Miller, and Albert Haight, former associate judges, and Irving G. Vann.

Many other men prominent in public life are expected to attend the services this afternoon. Scores have sent tributes to the members of Judge Werner's family. Some of them follow:

Great Loss, Governor Says.

Governor Charles S. Whitman—"I desire to express my sincere sympathy in your bereavement. The people of the state have suffered a great loss."

Willard Bartlett, chief judge of the Court of Appeals—"You have the assurance of the profound sympathy of myself and associates in your bereavement. I have expressed in court the sense of loss sustained by the public."

Alton B. Parker—"Please accept the sympathy of myself and family. Will be with you on Friday afternoon."

Frank H. Hisecock, associate judge of the Court of Appeals—"The Judge's death shocks me more than I can tell you."

W. N. Dykman, secretary to Edward
M. Cullen, formerly chief justice of the Court of Appeals—"Judge Cullen is in Bermuda; for him and myself, I tender profound sympathy. The state has lost in Judge Werner a great lawyer, and a public servant of proved integrity and proved devotion to the public business."

"Most Eminent Citizen."

Adolph J. Rodenbeck, presiding judge of the Court of Claims—"In the death of Judge Werner, the city of Rochester has lost its most eminent citizen and the bar a distinguished and learned member of the highest court in the state. It is a source of great regret that his services to the state and to jurisprudence should be cut off at a time when, in the fullness of his experience, they were of the greatest value to the people of the state. His untimely death is the price he paid for Frederick E. Wadhams, secretary of the State Bar Association—"The death of Judge Werner is a great loss to the bar of this state. He was the senior member of the Court of Appeals as it is at present constituted, and for many years was one of the most able jurists in the great court. He was ever ready to lend his efforts in the advancement of jurisprudence and in the needs of his profession. He was untiring in his efforts in the performance of his duties as a member of the Court of Appeals. It is entirely through his efforts that the old state house was obtained for the use of the Court of Appeals."

His First Employer.

Rev. Charles C. Albertson—"We grieve with you the loss of a noble Christian gentleman."

Charles Lamy, of Buffalo, Judge Werner's first employer—"While he was still in his teens he was undoubtedly the brightest boy that I ever had behind my counter."

Irving Vann, of Syracuse, former associate judge of the Court of Appeals—"Judge Werner was a clear and original thinker, an indefatigable worker, and a careful student. He had an unusual facility of expression and his opinions rank among the best, both for their soundness of reasoning and their literary style. Ease in writing sometimes leads to careless thinking, but he always considered what he wrote so carefully that neither he nor the court had to retract obiter statements made by him."

Nathan L. Miller, former judge of the Court of Appeals—"His opinions will be read and studied by the bar for generations. His warm heart and noble nature endeared him to all who had the privilege of associating with him."

Bar Association Meets.

A meeting yesterday of the Rochester Bar Association, at which resolutions were adopted on the death of Judge Werner, was the largest of its kind in the history of the association, it was said. George A. Benton, justice of the Supreme Court, presided.

The following committee of twelve was appointed to represent the association at the funeral this afternoon: M. H.
McMath, Horace G. Pierce, C. D.
Kiehel, Cassius C. Davy, Willis A. Matson, Delbert C. Hebbard, Eugene J.
Dwyer, George Harris, Thomas Raines,
Henry V. Woodward, William W.
Webb, John D. Lynn.

The bar association memorial said in part:

"The love of men for their fellows does not come as the result of processes of reasoning. We only know that in some men we place unbounded trust;
that toward them our affections go out;
that in them we find qualities which we do not analyze scientifically, but which attract us irresistibly. In this brother we found spontaneous sympathy, generous comradeship, gentleness of spirit, modesty of manner, charity in judgment of the faults of others, and a purity of life and integrity of character that would make each of us wish that our sons might grow up to be such men in these respects as he was."

The Board of Supervisors of Monroe county and the Society of the Genesee, of New York city, of which Judge Werner was a member, also adopted memorials.

D. J. C. Mrs. Deborah A. Rush.

Geneva, March 5.—Mrs. Deborah A. Rush, aged 73 years, formerly in the millinery business in Seneca street, died in the City Hospital yesterday. The body was taken to the home of her niece, Mrs. Frank Baird, of No. 8 Putney street, from where the funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. W. W. Weller, of the First Presbyterian Church will have charge. The body will then be taken to Newark for interment.

Post-JUDGE WERNER.

The Court of Appeals bench sustains a serious loss in the death of William E. Werner. His associates of that court know better than the outside public can know the high value in their deliberations of his ripe learning and long experience, but to all the people of the state he has been known as a judge exceptionally well qualified by ability, temperament, habit of mind, and mastery of the law. Judge Werner was more than a good judge, he was a good citizen, always responsive to the demands and the duty of citizenship, and throughout the state he was held in very high esteem.—New York
"Times."

He had lived an industrious life. He had not spared himself. And the vastly important issues to be passed upon by the court of last resort, in the greatest state of the Union, had always for the best that was in him of legal learning, of steady poise, of broad sympathy. He was a kindly, courteous, dignified character, a friend worth having. His place will indeed be hard to fill.—Brooklyn "Eagle."

Judge Werner was a jurist respected by the legal profession of the state for his fairness and sound judgment. He had many friends in Buffalo.—Buffalo "Commercial."

An eminent jurist, a popular public man, a good neighbor and a man of wide culture, the demise of Judge Werner at the age of 61 is widely regretted. He rose from poverty and orphanhood to a seat on the bench of the court of last resort.—Brooklyn
"Standard Union."

His was a very distinguished career and lawyers throughout the state will learn of his death with regret.—Buffalo "Express."

Judge Werner ranked as one of the ablest members of our highest state court. He had a keenly analytical mind and his intellectual processes were rapid. The people of New York honored him as a wise and good judge, and his untimely death will bring sorrow to a host of friends throughout the state.—
Syracuse "Herald."

The soundness of his opinions, coming of thorough knowledge of law and virtually inerrant interpretation and application of it, had gained for him the esteem and admiration of all who held to the principle that courts must do justice and not dispense favor. William E. Werner was a man of honor, an able and just judge. So he will be long remembered.—Albany "Journal."

Announcement of the death of Judge Werner will bring sadness to hosts of people who met the distinguished jurist either professionally or socially. His fifteen years on the bench of the great tribunal were spent to the full credit of the judiciary and the lasting benefit of justice.—Syracuse "Journal."

Justice Werner was a judge of unusual ability. He had, moreover, a personality that lifted him above the ordinary run of high judicial officers, and was held in great affection by laymen. His courage in many decisions caused him to be criticised severely, but he held tenaciously to the conservative ideals that must necessarily have their strongest expression in the judiciary branch of government.—Auburn "Citizen."

The court loses an unusually able and erudite judge, whose scholarly opinions will remain his memorial, whose judicial record is worthy the traditions of a court which, next to the Supreme Court of the United States, is the most honored and distinguished in the country.—Syracuse
"Post Standard."

William E. Werner was one of the ablest and most honored jurists in this state. He was noted for the care which he gave to the consideration of the cases brought before the highest court of the state and for the clearness and force of the opinions written by him.—
Troy "Times."

Judge Werner was one of the most learned among the many men of brilliance and erudition who have sat upon the bench of New York state's Court of Appeals. He was much more, however. His splendid qualities of heart matched those of his mind and endeared him to thousands. The administration of justice, most sacred of worldly tasks, has seldom had an abler servant, and never one more worthy.— Albany "Knickerbocker-Press."

His distinguished service to the state is indelibly inscribed upon the records of its courts and the fine qualities of his noble manhood are graven forever upon the hearts of his friends, not to be dimmed by passing time.—Jamestown "Post."

ON DEATH OF JUDGE WERNER

Union — 3-3-1916
Memorial Adopted by Directors of Stecher Lithographic Company.

Resolved by the Board of Directors of the Stecher Lithographic Company, that the following expression of esteem, of sympathy, and of loss, in relation to the death of William E.
Werner, be spread upon the minute book of the corporation, and that a copy thereof be sent to his family:

The Stecher Lithographic Company, its Board of Directors, and its stockholders have experienced a critical loss in the death of William E. Werner.
Associated as he was with the affairs of this company from its very beginning, he contributed to its success by his splendid and farsighted counsel, and by the exercise of a judgment which has been esteemed and valued and respected by those who have had charge of the destinies of our city, our state and our nation.

It was at the time of his own humble and modest beginning that he first took part in our affairs, and it is with a pardonable and justifiable pride that we have watched his rise from the position of a poor boy, with no advantages save those of indomitable courage, steadfastness of purpose, industrious application, and a natural talent of mind to see things clearly and to grapple successfully with the problems which lie between the very bottom of accomplishment and success.

The modesty and simplicity of manner which graced him as a young man remained with him to charm his associates and endear him to them through all his subsequent achievements. The dignity and honor which he won with truth and candor and kindness never drew the veil between him and the places and the persons whom he had known before. He was unostentatious and unassuming; he was a natural man. Possessing a keen intellect, having acquired a vast fund of knowledge; with a ready wit and a broad experience in the most important affairs, he nevertheless met others upon terms of social and intellectual equality, and with no pride of opinion, he was ready to consult the ideas of others, and without arrogance to learn from all.

It is for others to record his public virtues, his benefactions, and his contributions to the welfare of the people of our state, and although they will find it difficult to do him justice in these respects, we leave the task to them. We keenly feel the loss of our friend and our companion. We appreciate what it entails to us to lose the benefit of counsel and a judgment so profound, that in a host of instances it has been sought in the solution of problems involving the general welfare.

Cherishing the memory of his many virtues, and acknowledging our debt for the good which he has done—with tenderness and love, we bid to him our last farewell.

Stecher Lithographic Co.,
By its Board of Directors.

STATE AND CITY PAY TRIBUTES TO JUDGE WERNER

D.C. — 3/18/1916
Funeral Services Marked by Impressive Simplicity.

— 2/4/1916
GOVERNOR AND JUDGES HERE

Associates of Late Judge on Court of Appeals Bench Honorary Bearers—City and County Officials, and Rochester Friends Fill the Church

Impressive simplicity marked the funeral services for William E. Werner in the Third Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon. There was no eulogy of the dead judge of the Court of Appeals; only a reading from the Psalms and a prayer by Rev. Paul Moore Strayer, three hymns sung by the congregation, and an organ prelude.

Many men prominent in public life attended the services, among them Governor Charles S. Whitman, Attorney-General Egbert E. Woodbury, Alton B. Parker, Job E. Hedges, present and former judges of the Court of Appeals, justices of the Supreme Court, state senators and assemblymen, and scores of county and city officials. Friends of Judge Werner in private life filled the large auditorium.

From 1 until 4 o'clock the body lay in state before a background of floral tributes that covered the rostrum and the front of the organ loft. Across the casket drooped a great sheaf of white lilies. The body of the judge was clothed in the robe of a judge of the Court of Appeals.

Governor Early at Church.

Governor Whitman was one of the first to reach the church. Accompanied by Mayor Hiram H. Edgerton, Corporation Counsel William W. Webb and the mayor's secretary, Bernard I. Haggarty, he entered the auditorium at 3:30 o'clock, and was ushered into seats reserved for representatives of the state and municipal government. Justices of the Supreme Court, and present and former judges of the Court of Appeals, who acted as honorary bearers, arrived in a body.

Services were not begun until nearly 4:30 o'clock and were concluded before 5 o'clock. While the church was filling, John Adams Warner was at the organ. Rev. Paul Moore Strayer opened the services with a reading from the Psalms and ended them with prayer. The three hymns, selected by Mrs. Werner, were "For All the Saints Who from Their Labors Rest," "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand," and "Abide with Me," Judge Werner's favorite.

Judge's Honorary Bearers.

The honorary bearers were: William Bartlett, of Brooklyn, chief judge of the Court of Appeals; Associate Judges Frank H. Hiscock, of Syracuse; William H. Caddenback, of Buffalo; John W. Hogan, of Syracuse; Benjamin R. Cordozo, of New York city; Emory A. Chase, of Catskill; Frederick Collin, of Elmira; Samuel Seabury, of New York city and Outhbert W. Pound, of Lockport; former Chief Judge Alton B. Parker, former associate judges; Nathan L. Miller, of Cortland, Albert Haight, of New York city and Irving G. Vann, of Syracuse.

LAST HONOR FOR DISTINGUISHED ROCHESTER JURIST.

The upper picture was taken as the casket, inclosing the body of Judge Werner, was borne out of the Third Presbyterian Church by four nephews and two family friends. Typifies American Life.

Hon. Job E. Hedges expressed himself this morning on the death of Judge Werner as follows:

"Judge Werner was a rare combination of the normal man and upright judge. He was self-made without worshipping himself as creator. He typifies American life in showing what may be accomplished by thorough unrelenting application, self-denial and conduct predicated on principle.

"The bench has lost a rarely balanced and judicially valuable member. The bar will long feel his taking off. Rochester and the state have lost a potential modest citizen. His friends have a sense of real bereavement. His family will have a monument of his memory in the place filled in the thoughts of all who knew him. Judge Werner commanded respect, he won affection."

Tribute by Judge Parker.

Alton B. Parker, who was chief judge of the Court of Appeals when Judge Werner entered on his work there, paid the following tribute to Judge Werner at the Hotel Seneca this morning:

"When Judge Werner took up his work in the Court of Appeals, which was new to him, he worked with such untiring energy and so industriously that he soon got his feet in the stirrups, although all the other judges had had years of experience.

"I came to admire him greatly and watched his development with great interest. He grew every day he lived, and when he died he was splendidly equipped for his work. I never knew him to quit in any kind of a fight. Judge Werner's ability was so well recognized that a great movement was started for him as chief judge, and I am happy to say that I had a part in that movement, which was non-partisan."

His Opinions Will Long Endure.

Associate Judge Samuel Seabury, of the Court of Appeals, when seen at the Seneca this morning, had the following to say with reference to the deceased judge:

"Judge Werner was one of the ablest judges that ever adorned the bench of the Court of Appeals of this state. His death is a great loss, not only to his brothers in the court, but to the bar and the whole people of the state.

"In addition to his great ability, he possessed many charming personal characteristics. His judicial opinions will long endure as a fitting monument to his life's work."

Court Officers' Resolution.

Acting Surrogate John A. Barhite adjourned court until Monday as a mark of respect to the dead jurist. The Court House attaches adopted a resolution and filed it with Supreme Court Justice George A. Benton at noon.

The resolution follows:

The Court Officers' Association of Monroe County have learned with profound sorrow of the death of the Hon. William E. Werner, associate justice of the Court of Appeals, and take occasion to present at this time to the Trial Term, now in session, a tribute of the respect and affection in which we held this distinguished jurist.

Resolved, That in the death of Hon. William E. Werner, this association has lost one of its best and most faithful friends. Many of our members have served under him through his long career as justice. He was appreciative and sympathetic in the presence of need and distress in all their varied forms. He was active and indeed masterful in the important concerns that occupy and engage our best citizenship. We found it a pleasure at all times to serve him because he was always kind and considerate of the feelings of others, and none of those who came in close contact with him and enjoyed his confidence ever asked him a favor in vain. He was cordial and friendly, and had the good will of every one, and those who were nearest and dearest to him will feel his loss most keenly.

Resolved, That this association tender their sympathy to the wife and family of our deceased friend, and that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the association, and a copy thereof be transmitted to the family of the deceased.

PAY TRIBUTE TO LATE PROFESSOR

A. & C. — 3-8-1916
Memorial Service Held for Dr. W. R. Betteridge.

ADDRESS BY DR. BARBOUR

President of Seminary Says Walter Betteridge Was Gentleman, Scholar and Christian — Letters Read from Dr. Strong and Some Others

"There will be no atmosphere of gloom here to-night," said Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, president of the Rochester Theological Seminary, last evening, at the memorial service for Dr. Walter Betteridge, who died last Thursday and who was professor of Hebrew at the seminary. "His passing has caused deep sorrow to those of us who were closely associated with him, but we are glad in the knowledge that he has gone from a life of faithful service into a great happiness.

"I remember well the attractive life and the high scholarship of Walter Betteridge as a pupil, for he and I were classmates, and we were both members of a prayer circle that met in the chapel on Friday afternoons. In the seminary he was very human, and very greatly loved. Every task was wrought with the utmost care and thoroughness.

"It was easier then—it is easier now—to live a life of steady purpose because he was one of us. It is hard to conceive of one more gracious or without stain. He was a gentleman, a scholar and a Christian. Messages of appreciation have come in a flood and the news of his going shall reach farther and ever farther."

Former Associates Write

Professor George H. Cross read letters from Rev. David Bovington, formerly of the seminary, and now at the University of Chicago; Rev. Cornelius Woelfkin, former professor of homiletics at the seminary and now pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, New York, and Dr. Augustus H. Strong, former president of the seminary, who wrote from Deland, Florida.

"The news of his death greatly affects me," wrote Dr. Strong, "for he was one of my pupils. He was a man of singular modesty and sweetness of spirit, and he was never censorious of those who could not agree with him. The liberal and conservative were united in him by reason of his loving spirit. He was a stand-by and a burden bearer in the seminary."

Dr. Woelfkin said in his letter that Dr. Betteridge was an illustration of the text, "Thy gentleness hath made thee great."

High tributes were paid to the life and character of Dr. Betteridge by Dr. Joseph W. A. Stewart, dean of the seminary; Professor Walter Ranschenbusch, Professor Conrad H. Moehlmann, and George Middleton, of the senior class, who was selected to speak for the students.

Order of Service.

The service was opened with a hymn, followed by a prayer by Dr. Barbour. Professor John P. Silvernail read the part of the Bible that was last read by Dr. Betteridge in public, at the time Dr. Barbour was installed president. Professor Henry B. Robins closed the service with an invocation.

Among the many others who filled the parlor of Alvah Strong Hall were Dr. John R. Slater, professor of English at the last president of the Rochester Theological Seminary, and Dr. Joseph W. A. Stewart, president of the Board of Trustees of the seminary, and Kendall B. Castle, attorney.

William Henry Rogers, a former member of the Genesee and Central New York Conferences and at one time a Methodist minister in Sodus and other Western and Central New York charges. He was a lineal descendant of John Rogers, the first martyr of the Marian persecution in England. His American ancestors came from Connecticut, settling in Pitcher, N. Y., where the deceased was born October 21, 1834. At 25 years of age he was graduated from Alfred University and soon afterward began his life work as a clergyman and academic principal. Afterwards he received the degree of A. M. from Syracuse University. He married Miss Martha Elizabeth Brownell July 9, 1861, her father, Rev. Veranus Brownell, being one of the early itinerant Methodist preachers of Western New York.

When the Civil war increased in intensity Mr. Rogers enlisted in the 189th New York Volunteer Infantry, of which regiment he afterwards wrote a history. His schools included Red Creek Seminary, Nunda Academy, Spring Mills Academy, Troupsburg Academy, Griffin Institute and Portland Academy and Female Seminary.

His pastoral charges included East Palmyra, Dundee, Red Creek, Sterling, Canoga, Ledyard, Rose, Fleming Troupsburg, Sodus, Newfield, Boliver, Whitesville and Ashville. He retired from active pastoral work in 1897 and lived at his old homestead near Wells-ville. In 1912 Mr. and Mrs. Rogers went to California where he homesteaded a soldier's quarry section in the San Joaquin Valley, Cal. In spite of their advanced years they undertook this task in the spring of 1913. Mrs. Rogers died in 1914 and was buried in Los Angeles. The shock was a severe one to Mr. Rogers, but he recovered sufficiently to finish the required work to homestead the land in November of last year. The arduous work told on his declining years and he continued in broken health until death came upon him in a Los Angeles hospital.

He leaves three sons, two of whom are Methodist ministers. Rev. John Brownell Rogers, the oldest, is a member of the Central New York Conference, but in recent years has been engaged in lecturing and scientific research. The second son, Rev. Lowell Lincoln Rogers, is a member of the Genesee Conference and is district superintendent of the Olean district. The third son, William Claire Rogers, of Albany, has been in the state service since 1903. All three sons are graduates of Syracuse University.

One of the last religious activities of the deceased was the organization of a Methodist Church in Lucerne Valley, Cal., this being the first church enterprise in that section of reclaimed desert land.

Thundercloud, Chief of Blackfoot Indians, Dies Here Union — 3-10-1916

Chief Thundercloud, famous Indian, whose features appear upon the United States $5 and $10 gold pieces, died suddenly this morning about 10 o'clock in a rooming house at 18 North Washington street, where he had been stopping for six or seven weeks. Death resulted from tuberculosis. Coroner Killip, who was notified, ordered the body removed to the morgue. He communicated with the chief's wife, who resides at Dingman's Ferry, Pike county, Pa.

Chief Thundercloud, who was 65 years old, was born on the plains of Kansas. For the first fifteen years of his life he lived in a savage state with his people. When 16 years old he came in contact with settlers in Kansas and adopted some of the customs of his paleface brothers. During the early part of his life the distinguished Indian traveled extensively in the United States and Mexico. He never had the advantage of a school education, but was an earnest student and boasted that he was well informed. He often pointed with pride to the fact that he was self-educated. Thundercloud's father was chief of the Blackfoot Indians and upon his death the son succeeded to the important position in the tribe.

During the Civil war Thundercloud was a scout in the Union army. He participated in some of the important battles of the great conflict and was wounded three times.

For fifteen years Chief Thundercloud was in charge of the Indians with the Barnum and Bailey circus and during that time visited many cities in the United States. He appeared in circus parades in Rochester. He was a personal friend of Colonel (Buffalo Bill) William F. Cody, who claims Rochester as his home, and Wild Bill Hickok, a celebrated frontier fighter.

Chief Thundercloud enjoyed the distinction of having posed for many noted artists. He wore his hair, slightly tinged with gray, long and presented a picturesque scene as he posed in studios in many cities of the country. Among the men who painted the features of the Indian are Frederic Remington, celebrated artist, and Frank D. Millet, who lost his life when the Titanic sunk. Rochesterians who attended the Panama-Pacific Exposition may recall having seen the features of Chief Thundercloud reproduced in statuary. He posed for the exposition artists in New York, and at one time posed at the studio in Mechanics Institute.

Besides his wife, Chief Thundercloud is survived by a daughter, who is studying dramatic art in New York city.

It was learned that the chief came to Rochester from Pittsburgh. For several days he posed for Edward S. Siebert, an artist, of 37 East avenue. "He never talked about his people," Mr. Siebert said, "and I know very little about his personal affairs, although I became very well acquainted with him in the last few weeks."

The chief often visited Rochester and numbered among his friends a Mr. Wells, of 160 North Union street.

W. W. OSGOODBY TAKEN BY DEATH D.Y.C. — 3-15-1916 Supreme Court Reporter for Fifty Years.

AUTHOR OF SHORTHAND BOOK

Improved Isaac Pittman System.
Reported Speech of Lincoln at Kalamazoo in 1856 — Notes So Legible Others Transcribed Them

William W. Osgoodby, who was court stenographer for half a century, the originator of the Osgoodby system of shorthand, and author of text books on the subject, died yesterday at his home, No. 510 Monroe avenue, aged 82 years.

Mr. Osgoodby was born in Rochester on April 16, 1834. He began the study of shorthand at the age of 14 in Nunda, and later, when he was 18 years old, he reported for newspapers here. The following year he went to Detroit, where he joined the staff of the Detroit Daily Advertiser. One of his important assignments was the Michigan, Indiana and Ohio campaign of the Republican party for Fremont. In 1856 at Kalamazoo, he reported an address of Abraham Lincoln. In those days, copy was written in longhand, and there were no city editors, but instead there was a man known as the local reporter who handled the news that is distributed among half a dozen reporters to-day. For three years, he was official reporter in the Michigan House of Representatives.

System Is Widely Used.

In May, 1862, Mr. Osgoodby came to this city and reported court proceedings for Judge James C. Smith, of Canandaigua. Rochester then had a population of about 75,000. He covered the Sixth and Seventh districts, comprising eighteen counties, until 1871, when the law prescribed one Supreme Court reporter for each district.

One of Mr. Osgoodby's first aims in his work was to make his notes so legible that they easily could be read by others. By 1868 he had so well accomplished this that since from that time on he never transcribed any of his notes. His system of shorthand, one of the numerous improvements on that of Isaac Pittman, whose services as originator of phonographic writing he always acknowledged, has long been in the courts of New York state, in almost every state of the Union and in many foreign countries.

Outside of his work, he was interested in science, particularly astronomy, and had a good telescope in his house.

Mr. Osgoodby was first president of the New York State Law Stenographers' Association, formed in 1876, and as such was active in securing salaries of $2,500 a year, and mileage and transportation fees for court reporters. His name was classic among shorthand writers, for he was author of a system and of various stenographic text books that had a large sale.

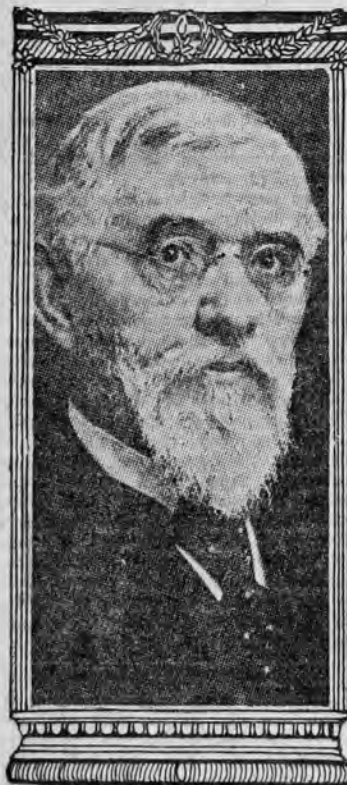

Honored by Bar Association.

Publications devoted to phonography have frequently reviewed his career, and a great deal of space was given to his biography when he handed in his resignation on December 31, 1912, to the Supreme Court Justices of the Seventh District. They received it with regret, and expressed warm appreciation of his services.

VETERAN COURT STENOGRAPHER AND SHORTHAND SYSTEM INVENTOR DIES Mar 16 1916

William W. Osgoodby, inventor of the Osgoodby system of shorthand, and for half a century a court stenographer, died yesterday at the home at 510 Monroe Avenue, aged 82 years.

Mr. Osgoodby was born in Rochester on April 16, 1834, and at an early age moved with his parents to Nunda, where he began the study of shorthand. His first employment was as a reporter for Rochester newspapers.

WILLIAM W. OSGOODBY.

In May 1912, when the veteran celebrated his fiftieth anniversary as a court reporter, the Rochester Bar Association planned to give a dinner and smoker in his honor. He contracted an illness, however, and was confined to his bed for some time, and the banquet was postponed at his request.

Mr. Osgoodby leaves his wife, Electa Irwin Osgoodby, and two daughters, Mrs. Myra E. Starr, of this city, and Mrs. Georgia E. Frasher, of Yonkers. The funeral will be held from the house at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday morning. Rev. C. Waldo Cherry, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, of which Mr. Osgoodby was long a member, will read the service.

Canandaigua — Herald John Johnson — Mar 17 1916

John Johnson, aged 93 years, died of general debility this morning at 6 o'clock at his home in Cheshire. He was born August 19, 1823, and all his life resided on the farm where he died.

He leaves three sons and two daughters, John A. Johnson of Academy, Mrs. W. S. Johnson of the west lake road, L. D. Johnson of Rochester, E. H. Johnson of Geneva and Mrs. William Hicks of Holcomb. The funeral will be held Saturday.

Later he was employed in the same capacity in Detroit, where he also studied law. When he returned to Rochester in 1860 he was admitted to the bar and began practice in Hornell.

In 1862 he took up the work of court reporting, and when in 1865 a law was enacted providing for official stenographers, he was one of the first to receive appointment, and for twenty years was the only official court reporter in the Seventh Judicial District.

Mr. Osgoodby had been well fitted for the work of court reporting, for, aside from reporting speeches of Lincoln, Wells, Chase, Chandler, Cass, Breckenridge, Dickinson and other great speakers, he had been official stenographer of the Michigan House of Representatives, and so well did he serve that he was offered appointment as stenographer in Congress.

As an author and inventor of improvements in the art of shorthand Mr. Osgoodby was known throughout the world. From his own experience in courts he compiled a phonetic shorthand, based on the old Pitman system. In 1884 he published his first manual and twelve editions soon followed. This first manual was followed by other text books until the author's name was known wherever shorthand is written.

In 1912, on the fiftieth anniversary of his appointment as court stenographer, Mr. Osgoodby retired from active business. He had been honored by many societies, including the New York State Stenographer's Association, of which he was the first president, and the Shorthand Society of London, which made him foreign associate.

In 1857 Mr. Osgoodby married Miss Electa L. Irwin. He leaves, besides a widow, two daughters, Mrs. Myra E. Starr of Rochester and Mrs. Georgia E. Fraser of Yonkers.

The funeral will take place from the home on Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

TOM KARL, NOTED TENOR SOLOIST, DIES SUDDENLY

Herald 3-19-1916

TOM KARL.

Tom Karl, former member of the Bostonians, whose rich tenor voice was heard throughout this country and in many European cities, died yesterday at his home at 51 Prince Street.
Though he had been suffering from kidney trouble for a long time, his condition was not deemed serious and death was unexpected. He leaves a sister, Miss Margaret Karl of Rochester. While arrangements have not been completed, it is expected the funeral will take place on Wednesday.

Born in Dublin, Ireland, on January 19, 1842, Tom Karl was known as tenor soloist in many parts of the world.
Early in life his rich, clear tenor voice won recognition and he was sent to England to study music. From there he went to Italy to continue his studies.

It was in the Scala Opera House in Milan, Italy, in 1870, that Tom Karl made his debut in grand opera. The following year he came to the United States, making a concert tour of this country. Karl later returned to Europe and was heard in many of the larger cities in different countries.

Mr. Karl retired from the stage about ten years ago. Two of his best known parts while with the Bostonians were in "Robin Hood" and "The Serenade," operas in which he was seen all over the country. For many years he was prominently connected with the old Bostonians traveling opera organization, making up the trio of stars then known as Barnabee, Karl and McDonald.

Karl came to Rochester nearly five years ago, and since had been prominent in musical circles. He also took a keen interest in musical efforts of Rochesterians, and in April, 1912, appeared as a principal in "Patience," presented under the direction of the Rochester Dental Society for the benefit of the free dispensaries.

For a number of years Tom Karl was an instructor of vocal music in the D. K. G. Institute of Musical Art. Upon the celebration of his 74th birthday on January 19 last, Mr. Karl was presented a handsome silver loving cup by the faculty of the Institute.

Catholic church has shall be at his funeral, for his death came at the close of a beautiful life."

Long Public Career.

The career of Tom Karl as a public singer covered a period of forty years. He possessed a tenor voice of exceptional purity and beauty. Mr.
Karl's voice weakened but slightly in the last years of his life and he gave his friends much pleasure by singing frequently. Upon his retirement to private life a number of years ago
Mr. Karl came to Rochester to pass his remaining days.

Mr. Karl was born in Dublin on January 19, 1842. Early in life his voice won recognition and he was sent to England to study. Later he continued his studies in Italy, remaining in that country seven years.

In 1870 Mr. Karl was chosen by Ericeo Petrella, who was then at the height of his fame as a composer, to sing the tenor role in "La Contessa d'Amalfi." After a successful debut he sang in all the large Italian cities for a whole season at Scala Milan and subsequently in most of the other Eu-

Came to U. S. in 1871.
Mr. Karl came to New York with Parepa-Rosa in 1871, and then returned to Europe, where he toured Italy and other countries for several seasons. During his career as a grand opera singer he sang with many of the greatest artists of the time, Gallette Antoinetta Fricci, Pauline Lucca, Christine Nilsson, Annie Louise Carey, Adelaide Phillips, Ilma di Murska, Clara Louise Kellogg and others. He studied more than 150 operas. Appreciating the great field open to English opera, Mr. Karl was an organizer and for many years a manager as well as the leading tenor of the most successful of English opera companies, the Bostonians.

Mr. Karl's last song in public was over the wires of the Trans-Continental Telephone Company, last year, when at a dinner given by the Rotary Club he sang to be heard in San Francisco. His voice was distinctly audible in that city. He sang the old English ballad, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes."

He sang for a group of friends on New Year's night, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Burr, where a dinner was given in his honor. His last appearance on the stage in Rochester was in 1913, in the opera "Patience," which was first presented for the benefit of the Free Dental Dispensary, and was repeated at the request of citizens and those who took part as a compliment to Mr. Karl. In this he was assisted by Mr. Burr. The occasion was advertised as "Tom Karl Night."

Instructor in Local School.

For a number of years Mr. Karl was an instructor of vocal music in the D. K. G. Institute of Musical Art. Upon the celebration of his 74th birthday last January Mr. Karl was presented a handsome silver loving cup by the faculty of the institute.

Mr. Karl lived with Dellon M. Dewey in the Prince street house. The two men, both bachelors, had lived together for forty years. Mr. Dewey was business manager for the Bostonians for a number of years. His friendship for Karl ripened into love and they were more like devoted brothers than friends.

Mr. Karl is survived by one sister, Miss Margaret Karl, of this city, who for thirty-six years resided in Australia, coming to the United States with her brother ten years ago.

Editorial Times Tom Karl 3-21-16

The death of Tom Karl yesterday morning removes an interesting figure from the city in which he chose to spend the last years of his life and in which he had so large a circle of friends to whom he had endeared himself. His was a kindly nature and in him there lurked always the soul of the gentleman as well as the soul of the artist. Peculiarly was he free from the sort of jealousies that so frequently mar the nature of men in his profession; by kind word of advice or encouragement he welcomed to the ranks of music those whom he felt had talent or possibilities. His acquaintance with the great in the artistic world was wide and yet his courtesy of mind and the gentle simplicity of his nature ever kept from his manner the disagreeable idiosyncrasies of the artist. So, too, none of his personal successes was allowed to become oppressive to those with whom he came in contact. Rather were they made the means of drawing men to him.

Those who worked with him here in the amateur productions to which he gave such valuable aid will readily recall the interest and energy that characterized his assistance. Nothing in the line of endeavor to which he had devoted his life was too small or unimportant to demand his co-operation and the broad experience afforded by his long career. Mr. Karl retired from the stage about 10 years ago, having sung many times in opera in Europe and having been closely affiliated with that famous organization, The Bostonians, which contributed in such delightful fashion to the realm of American light opera for many years.

vices for Tom Karl, noted opera singer. Many of the seats in the big edifice were occupied by men and women prominent in the business and social life of the city.

At 10 o'clock Rt. Rev. Thomas F.
Hickey, accompanied by other priests who participated in the solemn pontiffical mass of requiem, met the remains at the main entrance of the church. The casket was placed in front of the sanctuary where it remained during the mass.

Officers of the Mass.

Bishop Hickey, who was a friend of Mr. Karl, personally made arrange-celebrant of the mass. The assisting Beautiful Floral Tributes.

"When I die I will be in a to his sister, Miss Margaret Karl. The wish was fulfilled. Flowers of every description were sent by friends residing in this and other cities. A large cross of white lilies, a tribute from Mrs. Bates of Washington, widow of Brigadier General Bates, United States

Army, covered a section of the casket.

A large cross was also sent by Mrs.
Frederick S. Watt of New York. Other floral tributes were as follows:
Sweet peas and forget-me-nots, Mrs.
Charles Parsons of New York; a large wreath of American Beauty roses tied with ribbon bearing the words "Cousin Tom" in letters of gold, from cousins in New York; a wreath of orchids and lilies of the valley from Dr. and Mrs.
Frank Northrup of the same city; a blooming plant sent by a little girl who had received free instruction from Mr.

Karl.

Several hundred persons called at the residence of Dellon M. Dewey, mained until a short time before the tery. At the funeral service this forenoon at 10 o'clock at St. Patrick's Cathedral Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Hickey, bishop of the Diocese of Rochester, will celebrate a solemn pontifical mass of requiem. Rev. Dennis J. Curran, vicar general, will be assistant priest; Rev.

When the funeral cortege approaches the Cathedral at 9:45 o'clock the bell will begin to toll, and this will continue fifteen minutes. It will be heard again when the body is being taken to the ce-mentery. When the bearers reach the Cathedral door the casket will be met by the priests who are to assist in the mass and will be taken to the front of the sanctuary, where the body will rest while the mass is celebrated. The Gregorian chant of the mass of requiem will be sung by the students of St. Andrew's Seminary, about seventy-five young men, under direction of Professor Eugene F.

Bonn, and the Cathedral choir.

All Friends May Attend.

Bishop Hickey was a friend of Mr.
Karl and has given personal attention to arrangements for the funeral. Mr. Karl's friends were drawn from every denomination. Rev. R. P. Hart, rector of St.
Mark's Episcopal Church, was a life-long friend of the singer. Clergymen of the Catholic Church express the wish that all Mr. Karl's friends will feel at liberty to attend the funeral.

In the home where Tom Karl spent his last days, brightened by association with his companion, Dellon M. Dewey, are many evidences of loving regard.
During Monday a hundred persons called, and scores of others came yesterday. The flowers are of rare beauty.
Expressions of sorrow come by telegraph and with floral pieces from distant points. On the casket is a large cross of white lilies sent by Mrs. Bates, of Washington, widow of Brigadier-General Bates, U. S. A.

From Friends in New York.

Another large cross came from Mrs.
Frederick S. Watt, of New York; sweet peas and forget-me-nots from Mrs.
Charles Parsons, of New York; a large
wreath of American Beauty roses tied
with ribbon bearing the words "Cousin Tom" in letters of gold, from cousins in New York; a wreath of orchids and lilies of the valley from Dr. and Mrs. Frank Northrup, of the same city; a wreath of carnations and narcissus from the Rochester Dental Society; a wreath of Killarney roses from the Seventh District Dental Society; a wreath of American Beauties from Mrs. James Sibley Watson; a piece of calla lilies from Mr. and Mrs. George D. Morgan, of East avenue.
Mrs. Morgan before her marriage was Miss Eloise Morgan, of the Bostonians.
The faculty of the Dossenbach-Klingen-berg School of Music, where Mr. Karl taught until a short time before his death, sent a large piece of American Beauty roses. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Burr and other Rochester friends sent flowers.

There was one floral gift, a small blooming plant, that touched the members of Mr. Karl's intimate circle more than almost any other. It came from a little girl to whom Mr. Karl had given lessons without charge.

"Uncle Tom" to Young Pupils.

Miss Norma McKelvey was the last pupil whom Mr. Karl taught. This was on Thursday afternoon. To her and other young musicians of the city he was "Uncle Tom."

Mr. Karl owned a Boston bulldog, Barney, that was his pet for ten years and traveled with him. The animal moves about the home like one with a human knowledge of what has befallen his master.

In a talk with his sister, Miss Margaret Karl, Mr. Karl once said that he hoped when he died he would "lie in a bed of flowers." Money spent for flowers isn't wasted, he added, for "they are specimens of God's handiwork." The singer's wish is fulfilled.

Members of Academy of Medicine Eulogize Co-worker.

FINDS HAY FEVER CURE

Makes Young Women Happy by Correcting Nasal Deformities; Older Ones by Curing Rheumatism.

Eloquent tributes to the memory of Dr. John Orlando Roe, who died in Rochester on Christmas Eve, in the 67th year of his age, were paid last night by his co-workers in this and other cities at a special meeting of the Rochester Academy of Medicine in the association rooms at 33 Chestnut Street.

Dr. Joseph R. Calkin, president of the academy, in an introductory outline sketch of Dr. Roe, spoke of him as "a leader in his profession, a great surgeon and a gentleman." Dr. Eugene H. Howard, chairman of the committee on resolutions, read the minute adopted in memory of the deceased surgeon, and told of the utter inadequacy of words to express the sentiments of the committee.

A portrait of Dr. Roe, presented by members of his family, was accepted on behalf of the association by President Calkin, who directed that it be hung in the gallery of former presidents of the academy. A paper on "The Scientific Contributions of John O. Roe" was read by Dr. Bradford A. Richards, his associate and successor. Dr. Richards spoke from an intimate and active association with Dr. Roe for over three years.

Tribute to Achievements.

"He never shirked the toughest surgical work," declared Dr. Richards. "Patients from all over the world came to him in Rochester, New York, as they now go to Rochester, Minnesota. Dr. Roe was particularly successful in correcting deformities of the nose, and many was the young woman whose diffidence to appear in polite society because of a pug or flat nose he cured and sent home rejoicing. He was the originator of the theory of the cure of rheumatism by the removal of diseased tonsils. His method of curing hay fever by slight operations upon the nose has been universally adopted and brought much solace to suffering humanity. As president of the State Medical Association and of the Rochester academy, and as corresponding member of many foreign medical societies, Dr. Roe won international fame." Dr. Richards flashed on the screen pictures of patients before and after treatment at the hands of Dr. Roe.

Of Dr. Roe as a scholar and a man, and of his personal characteristics and worth, Dr. Wendell C. Phillips of New York City, a former president of the state association, spoke feelingly. He said he had come to Rochester as a labor of love to pay a mental tribute to his comrade and friend. Among the out of town surgeons who attended the meeting were Dr. Francis Sargent Snow of Syracuse and Dr. Joseph R. Creveling of Auburn. The preliminary arrangements for the memorial service were in charge of Dr. Charles W. Hennington, secretary of the association.

By Special Dispatch to The Herald.

Manchester, April 2.—A fatal accident occurred at 6 o'clock to-night where the Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks cross South Avenue in this village, the victim being Supervisor Edmund W. Smith of Clifton Springs, who was struck by passenger train No. 1 as it was entering the yard limit and Mr. Smith and a team of horses which he was driving were instantly killed.

Mr. Smith, in company with Attorney W. C. Ellis of Shortsville, visited the G. M. Vandervort farm east of Shortsville, being the executors in charge of that estate, this afternoon and later Mr. Smith took Mr. Ellis to Shortsville and started for his home. The street taken is often called "Back Street" and connects Manchester and Shortsville villages.

As Supervisor Smith came to the Lehigh crossing several people saw him stop his team and wait for a freight train going east to pass along. When the freight passed he drove on the tracks and was struck by a passenger train going west. The train stopped and took the body to the station. Coroner D. A. Eiseline of Shortsville was called and ordered the remains removed to Stoddard's undertaking rooms, where an inquest will be held.

Mr. Smith had held many offices of trust among them being Supervisor of the town of Manchester, now on his ninth year, and previous to that he was Town Assessor for three years. EX-SENATOR DIES AT 96

Stephen K. Williams One of Best-Known Men in Wayne County.

Newark, N. Y., March 30.—Hon. S. K. Williams died at 4:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon, March 29, at his home on Scott Street. He was born May 9, 1819, and would have been 97 years old on the 9th of the coming May. Death resulted from pneumonia which set in only a few days ago.

Stephen Keyes Williams was born at Bennington, Vt., May 9, 1819. His father was Dr. Richard P. Williams of

HON. STEPHEN K. WILLIAMS.

Newton, near Boston, Mass., a descendant from Robert Williams of Roxbury, of Pilgrim fame. His mother was Lucy Fletcher, daughter of Jesse Fletcher of Ludlow, Vt. The Fletchers were a prominent Vermont family.

Mr. Williams's father taught him not only the common branches of education but also Latin and Greek, at an early age. After attending school at Newark, when he was 10 years old his father sent him to the Palmyra Academy. He then went to Union College, at Schenectady. On his graduation in 1837 he was one of those selected to deliver an oration at the commencement. Later, his Alma Mater conferred on him the honorary degree of LL. D.

After his graduation Mr. Williams spent a year in Newark and at Adrian, Mich., purchasing wheat for a Newark firm of merchants, and then entered the office of Hon. Lyman Sherwood of Newark, then County Judge of Wayne County, and commenced the study of law. He remained in his office for two years, and then, on the removal of Judge Sherwood to Lyons, entered the office of Hon. George H. Middleton, of Newark, who succeeded Judge Sherwood as County Judge. He remained with him as a student until he was admitted to practice law. Then he entered into a partnership with Judge Middleton which continued for about two years. He then opened an office by himself in the practice of law and has been in continuous practice ever since. He was successful with his cases even as a young lawyer. After his son, Byron C. Williams, had graduated from Harvard, studied law and was admitted, he was soon taken into partnership with his father, which partnership has since continued, the firm of S. K. & B. C. Williams having a reputation beyond the boundaries of Wayne County.

In the early years of his practice Mr. Williams was district attorney for three years. When the Civil War broke out Mr. Williams was an active factor in promoting the cause. He served as chairman of the war committee of the town of Arcadia, was a member of the war committee of Wayne County, and with S. B. Gavitt and Eron N. Thomas served on the Military Finance Committee of Wayne County throughout the war. Elected State Senator.

In 1863 Mr. Williams was nominated and elected to the office of State Senator from the district consisting of Wayne and Cayuga Counties. He was twice re-elected, holding office for three terms of two years each. In 1865 Senator Williams was a delegate to the national convention that nominated Lincoln for his second presidential term, and before he went to the convention he went to Washington to consult his friend, Secretary of State William H. Seward. He aided in the admission of the Louisiana delegates to that convention, whom he regarded as entitled to representation there.

Senator Williams was married in early life to Angeline, daughter of Judge Crane, a late well known citizen of Montclair, N. J. She died in September, 1910. There are four children living, Byron C. Williams, Mrs. Frances Trowbridge and Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, of Newark, and Miss Cora May Williams, of Los Angeles, Cal., who is a well known writer. One daughter, Iola, died many years ago. The late Fletcher Williams, for many years president of the First National Bank, was a brother.

Judge Werner.

Bench and Bar.

4-1-1916
Judge Werner was a remarkable man. He was a conscientious man, a sincere man; an earnest and an upright man. He was ambitious, but not for worldly power or material successes or badges of success. He was ambitious to attain to his own lofty ideals of unselfishness and of consecration to and usefulness in the public service.

His was a gentle, lovable, sensitive spirit. His brain was strong, but it did not run away with his heart's best blood. He gave all that was in him to the performance of life's duties as it was given to him to see the path. And he saw clearly and calmly and courageously, with a generous vision for the broad realities. He was frank with himself and toward all. He was thorough. The narrow things, the petty, the superficial, the ulterior and concealed, found no place in eye or mind or heart.

It has been said of Judge Werner that he was a self-made man. Let this be said of him again and again, to his eternal glory and for the inspiration and encouragement of the thousands of lowly toilers, who seeing above their station, struggle and strive through darkness and obscurity up toward the cloudy pinnacles of light, attained by few, and by fewer still held in trust sacred for the honor and betterment of mankind.

Judge Werner never ended his work of self-making and development, never wholly rested, relaxed and self-satisfied, from the labor and responsibilities of his office of burden and power. His brain was ever active, ever spurred upon the way of daily toil; his sympathies never flagging, ever responding, ever broadening.

Judge Werner's memory will long be cherished by devoted friends in all walks of life. And his name must stand enduringly for the fullest measure of faithful devotion to those ideals and obligations which an exacting and unsparring sense of duty impelled him to acclaim and discharge.

FUNERAL OF D. M. GARSON
D.T.C., 4-3-1916
Takes Place from Home in East Avenue—Rabbi Wolf Officiates.

David M. Garson, president and treasurer of the D. M. Garson Company, was buried yesterday afternoon in Mount Hope cemetery. The funeral took place from the home, No. 630 East avenue. Rabbi Horace J. Wolf, of Temple Berith Kodesh, officiated. Persons from all walks of life attended the services, and the floral tributes were numerous.

Rabbi Wolf spoke of Mr. Garson's interest in philanthropic enterprises, to many of which he contributed liberally, and especially of his love for children. Scores of boys and girls would miss him, the speaker said. Monroe county had recognized his interest in the welfare of infants and other children where it made him a member of the commission for the administration of widowed mothers' pensions, said Rabbi Wolf. He referred to the loyalty of Mr. Garson's employees to him.

The rabbi said that Mr. Garson was one of the oldest members of his congregation, not in years, but in point of affiliation, being the son of one of its founders, the late Leopold Garson. The younger man had a genius for making friends, he said.

Employees of the Garson store were bearers.

Mrs. Mary Krenger died yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, No. 376 Magnolia street, aged 84 years. She leaves three daughters, Mrs. L. Sizer, Mrs. L. Johnson and Mrs. Krochenberger, and a son, Ernest Krenger. A.T.C. 4-5-1916

MAN WHO FED THE NEWSBOYS

Keen Business Man, His Acumen Built up Big Retail Clothing Business.

Rochester lost one of its best known business men yesterday, in the death of David M. Garson, president and treasurer of the D. M. Garson Company, retail clothiers at Main Street East and South Avenue. Mr. Garson had been ailing for more than two years with heart trouble and hardening of the arteries. Shortly after noon yesterday the end came at his home at 630 East Avenue. Although he had been ill for so long, his death was not expected and was a shock to his family and acquaintances, who had not believed his condition to be so serious. He had never been confined to his bed for any length of time. He was taken ill yesterday morning, and suffered a number of fainting spells. The end came at 2 o'clock. Mr. Garson was 59 years of age. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Amelia Koch Garson; three daughters, Mrs. Joseph Baer of this city, Mrs. Bernard Loveman of Chicago, and Mrs. Harry M. Lasker of New York City; two brothers, Moses Garson of Pittsburgh and Eli Garson of New York City; three sisters, Mrs. Tobey Meyer, Mrs. J. L. Rice, and Mrs. Edward Levy, all of Rochester, and a number of grandchildren. The funeral will take place from the home in East Avenue, the time for the services to be announced later.

David M. Garson had endeared himself to the heart of many Rochesterians. His was a pleasing personality, and he was a man whose charitable deeds were countless. He long ago gained the reputation of being a man who never refused to give to charity. He always gave something; he was not in him to refuse.

Grew up with Business.

Mr. Garson was the son of a well known, honored and respected man in the city of Rochester, Moses Garson, late of the Garson-Meyer Company. He grew up in the business, which afterward became his own business in life, and to which he devoted 33 years. David M. Garson was born on September 29, 1856, in the old Garson home-stand, which then stood across from the present site of the Sibley, Lindsay & Curr Company's store. He lived all but two years of his life in Rochester.

After a public school education, Mr. Garson entered the employ of his father, then in the Garson-Meyer Company. The company at that time had a retail store along with its factory. After a short time with his father, Mr. Garson went in business for himself in Buffalo. After two years he returned to Rochester and became a member of the firm of Garson, Meyer & Company. He was with the company seven or eight years.

Later Mr. Garson withdrew from that firm, and then bought out the retail business of the company, which he kept until his death. His brother, Joseph Garson, became his partner, and they occupied the store which still remains under that name in the Chamber of Commerce Building. They moved into that place in 1895.

Shortly before his return to Rochester, Mr. Garson married Miss Amelia Koch, daughter of a well to do and honored citizen of Cleveland, Ohio. Three daughters were born to them.

Dinners to Newsies.

Among the many philanthropic services that Mr. Garson did in the city of Rochester, and the one by which he will be long remembered by hundreds of young men and women, was his giving of a yearly dinner to the newsboys of Rochester. Mr. Garson acted as host on many Thanksgiving Days and on New Years Days. He generally gave tickets to all newsboys who applied at his store, and on the appointed day, hundreds would flock to partake of turkey, cranberries, sweet potatoes, coffee, fruit and nuts. The happiest of all at the big tables was David M. Garson himself. Several times the dinner was held at the old New York State Armory, now Convention Hall. One year the drill hall was crowded with newsies and hundreds of on-lookers also, for the occasion came to be recognized as almost a civic affair.

Mr. Garson did not stop with the newsboys, however, but carried his charitable work into other fields. He was particularly active among the Jewish people, and devoted his time and energy, and gave money to many poor. He was interested in the Jewish Orphan Asylum, and was always willing to serve in any capacity for its benefit. Mr. Garson was called upon many times to act on committees which worked on municipal affairs. He was never found wanting. It has been said of Mr. Garson that "he never said 'no' when the question involved charity."

Mr. Garson was a member of Temple Berith Kodesh congregation. He was active in Masonry. He was a member of Rochester Lodge 600, F. and A. M.; Hamilton Chapter, R. A. M., and the Mystic Shrine. He also was a member of the Rochester Club and the Century Club of Charlotte.

A Useful Citizen.

The late David M. Garson was for more than a generation a familiar and respected figure in the commercial life of Rochester and Western New York. Moreover, his name, inseparable from the business which with energy and persistence he had founded and developed, was known far beyond the range of his personal acquaintance, wide as that was. In both a personal and a business sense, the loss of this community in his death will be long and keenly felt.

There is another field of activity, too, in which the end of Mr. Garson's untiring service will be mourned. In the Jewish charitable organizations and committees he was an indefatigable worker, whose zeal neither business cares nor failing health could lessen. Of his means, his time and his effort Mr. Garson gave to these philanthropic purposes of his race, and he was also a generous supporter of other worthy enterprises of relief and aid. A citizen alike conspicuous and valuable is lost to Rochester with the end of this useful career.

GAINED FAME AS BUILDER OF RAILROADS

Heart Disease Causes Death of W. E. Hoyt, N. Y. C.

Consulting Engineer.
Union 4-3-1916

William E. Hoyt, consulting engineer of the New York Central railroad and a former health commissioner of the city of Rochester, died last evening at the family residence, 50 Westminister road, aged 71 years. Death resulted from chronic heart disease. He is survived by his wife, Susan Rogers White Hoyt, whom he married in 1876, and two children, Dr. C. Wentworth Hoyt and Mrs. C. Henry Mason, both of this city.

William E. Hoyt was born in Portsmouth, N. H., on July 3, 1845, and prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy. He was admitted to college in 1865, but, becoming dissatisfied with a strictly classical course, he left at the end of his sophomore year and entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. There he continued his engineering studies through the regular course, and was graduated from the institute with the degrees of civil engineer and bachelor of science.

Mr. Hoyt's first experience in professional work began several years before his studies at the engineering school. During his summer vacations while at the academy and in college he was employed on the government fortifications which were then being built at the entrance to Portsmouth harbor. Alfred M. Hoyt, Mr. Hoyt's father, had charge of this work of construction under Colonel J. N. McComb of the United States army engineering corps.

Began Railroad Work in 1868.
Mr. Hoyt's connection with railroad work began in 1868 on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, where he was employed for a considerable time in making surveys for branch lines. He then took charge of building an important branch line in Iowa. Upon the completion of this road he returned to Illinois and built two divisions of the Dixon, Peoria & Hannibal railroad, a subordinate organization of the Burlington. After this Mr. Hoyt was engaged for some time in the examination and inspection of new railroads which had been built for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad in Illinois and Iowa.

In 1873, at the time when activity in railroad building had in some degree abated, Mr. Hoyt went to Europe for the purpose of familiarizing himself with English and Continental engineering practice, and to study the best examples of engineering work abroad. Considerable time was spent in England, Austria, Switzerland, Italy and France, especially in the mountainous districts, where railroad building had been attended with unusual difficulties on account of great natural obstacles.

After gaining valuable knowledge and experience in this way, he returned to the United States and established himself as a civil and consulting engineer in Boston. Soon he received an offer from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to devote part of his time to the instruction of the students of the Engineering School. The departments of field engineering and of bridge and roof construction were put into his hands. In addition to the regular outside work of his office, Mr. Hoyt superintended these departments of the institute for several years until other matters demanded his attention away from Boston, and he was obliged to devote himself to more active occupation.

Engineer for B., R. & P.

In 1880 Mr. Hoyt was employed to inspect railroads in Canada in the interests of eastern capitalists. Subsequently he entered the service of the Lake Erie and Western Railroad as locating engineer of its proposed branch from the main line to St. Louis.

In the spring of 1881, before the surveys on the Lake Erie and Western were completed Mr. Hoyt was appointed chief engineer of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railway, a position he held for twenty years.

In 1900 Mr. Hoyt entered the service of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company to take important assignments in the engineering department. In the year 1901 he was sent to Mexico to study railway systems and to make a report on their condition, capacity and their prospects.

In 1905 he was sent to the International Railway Congress in Europe as an official representative of the New York Central lines and made an extended contribution to the discussions of that body.

From 1892 to 1897 Mr. Hoyt served as health commissioner of Rochester. He was a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Railway Engineering Association, the Society of Colonial Wars and the National Geographic Society. In Rochester he was a member of the Genesee Valley Club, the Country Club and the Fortnightly Club, and in New York City the Transportation Club.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from the house. Interment will be made in Portsmouth, N. H.

GLANTSCHNIG—At the family residence, No. 400 Alphonse street, Wednesday morning, April 3, 1916, Thomas Glantschnig, aged 76 years. He is survived by two sons, Andrew and Thomas Glantschnig; four daughters, Mrs. George Schmidt, of Webster, Mrs. E. M. Scheid, Mrs. A. Foster and Mrs. H. S. McKillop, and thirteen grandchildren.
—Funeral Friday from No. 400 Alphonse street. Burial private.

William E. Hoyt. 1916
William E. Hoyt, whose death came suddenly at his home in this city on Sunday, had a long and distinguished career in the profession of a civil engineer. Beginning this work, as he did, nearly half a century ago, it was his fortune to be a part of the development of several of the greatest railroad systems of the world. The Burlington, the Pennsylvania, the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh and the New York Central, all owe something, and some of them a great deal, of their success in surmounting difficulties in construction to Mr. Hoyt's skill and counsel. One of these roads he served nearly twenty years and another sixteen, either term being in itself a career of no mean distinction.

Mr. Hoyt was a graduate of one of the best technical institutes in this country, but this course, though the basis of his education, was far from being its completion. His mastery of the science of engineering was broadened and confirmed by experience in a variety of practical applications and by extensive studies in engineering problems in Europe as well as in this country. He studied at first hand as an employee the execution of national defensive works and of harbor and river improvement. He investigated the types and methods of railway construction in the mountain regions of Central and Southern Europe, and derived from this study much that was later revealed in the solution of like problems in American railway building. To the end of his industrious and useful life Mr. Hoyt retained a rich measure of enthusiasm, energy and confidence that was reflected in his cheerful and easy manner. He had reached the Psalmist's limit of years, but few of his acquaintances were aware of it, and one may doubt that he was himself conscious of anything more than its numerical meaning.

illness. Mr. Anderson was unusually alert for his age and his faculties were clear up to the time of his death.

Mr. Anderson was born in County Cork, Ireland, March 23, 1828, of Scotch-Irish parents. His father's death occurred before he was born. When four years old his mother brought her family to America, settling in Canada where they lived for two years. They then came to this city.

Mr. Anderson was educated in the public schools. He was of a roving nature and when young started out to visit different countries of the world, working his way on the old-fashioned sailing and whaling vessels. His trips took him through South America, China, Africa and all quarters of the globe, one of his many interesting experiences being in the Sandwich Islands when King Calico was ruler. He also made several trips around Cape Horn.

Mr. Anderson was one of the first to answer the call to the gold fields of California in 1849. He spent two years in this region. After his return to Rochester he "settled down" and entered the employ of the city water-works department, retiring ten years ago. Among the most treasured articles he leaves behind are diaries in which he kept account of the many interesting experiences of his life. For many years, under the name of "Argonaut," he contributed articles to The Post Express, which, in 1886, published several poems written by him.

WILLIAM E. HOYT, NOTED ENGINEER, DIES SUDDENLY

870, — 4-3-1916 Advised New York Central and Other Big Roads.

BORN IN PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

Learned Rudiments of Profession as Boy Helping to Build Fort Constitution; Resident of Rochester 35
Years; Death Due to Heart Trouble

William E. Hoyt, consulting engineer for the New York Central lines and widely known in his profession both in this country and abroad, died suddenly last evening at his home, No. 50 Westminster road. Death was due to heart trouble of a chronic nature. He was 71 years old.

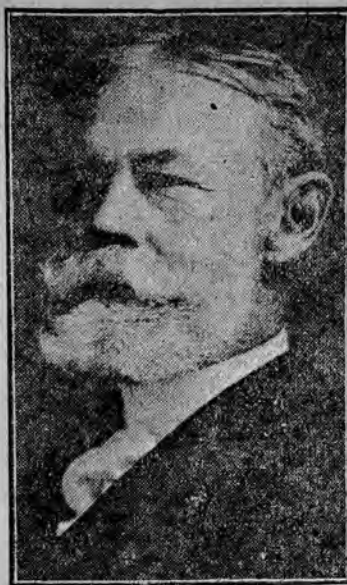

Several sharp attacks of heart trouble during the last few years had forced Mr. Hoyt to restrict his activities, but he was a very active man and his concessions to illness were limited. His offices were in New York and he visited them frequently, the last time within two days of his death. Yesterday he seemed in unusually good spirits. In the early evening he went to his room to work on a paper to read at a meeting of the Fortnightly Club. He was taken ill while alone and died shortly after he pressed a bell summoning his wife. He had lived in Rochester about thirty-five years.

William E. Hoyt was born in Portsmouth, N. H., on July 3, 1845, and was fitted for college at Phillips Exeter Academy. He was admitted to college in 1865, but, becoming dissatisfied with a strictly classical collegiate course, he left at the end of his sophomore year and entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. There he continued his engineering studies through the regular course, and was graduated from the institute with the degrees of civil engineer and bachelor of science.

Helped Build Fort Constitution.

Mr. Hoyt's first experience in professional work began several years before his studies at the engineering school. During his summer vacations while at the academy and in college he was employed on the government fortifications which were then building at the entrance to Portsmouth harbor. Alfred M. Hoyt, Mr. Hoyt's father, had charge of this work of construction under Colonel J. N. McComb, of the United States army engineering corps. For the protection of the harbor and adjacent coast, three forts were built, Fort Constitution, Fort McClary and another extensive earthwork on the east side of the Piscataqua river. The experience gained in this work of massive construction was of great value to the young engineer.

Mr. Hoyt's connection with railroad work began in 1868 on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, where he was employed for a considerable time in making surveys for branch lines, and afterward he was sent to take charge of building an important extension in Iowa. Upon the completion of this road he returned to Illinois and built two divisions of the Dixon, Peoria & Hannibal railroad, a subordinate organization of the Burlington. After this Mr. Hoyt was engaged for some time in the examination and inspection of new railroads

which had been built for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad in Illinois and Iowa.

Studied European Railroads.

In 1873, at the time when activity in railroad building had in some degree abated, Mr. Hoyt went to Europe for the purpose of familiarizing himself with English and Continental engineering practice, and to study the best examples of engineering work abroad. Considerable time was spent in England, Austria, Switzerland, Italy and France, especially in the mountainous districts, where railroad building had been attended with unusual difficulties on account of great natural obstacles.

After gaining valuable knowledge and experience in this way, he returned to the United States and established himself as a civil and consulting engineer in Boston. Soon he received an offer from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to devote part of his time to the instruction of the students of the Engineering School. The departments of field engineering and of bridge and roof construction were put into his hands. In addition to the regular outside work of his office, Mr. Hoyt superintended these departments of the institute for several years until other matters demanded his attention away from Boston, and he was obliged to devote himself to more active occupation.

Chief Engineer of B., R. & P.

In 1880 Mr. Hoyt was employed inspecting railroads in Canada in the interest of Eastern capitalists, and subsequently he entered the services of the Lake Erie & Western railroad as locating engineer of its contemplated branch from the main line to St. Louis.

Early in the spring of 1881, before the Lake Erie & Western surveys were completed, Mr. Hoyt was appointed chief engineer of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railway Company, in charge of construction and maintenance, and this position he held for almost twenty years.

Under his administration important extensions of the road in New York state and in Pennsylvania were surveyed and built, with the result of increasing its length more than threefold with a corresponding gain in carrying capacity and in earning power.

In 1900 Mr. Hoyt entered the service of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company to take important assignments in the engineering department. In the year 1901 he was sent to Mexico to study the railway systems and to make a detailed report on their presented Central Abroad.

In 1905 he was sent to the International Railway Congress in Europe as an official representative of the New York Central Lines and made an extended contribution to the discussions of that body.

Mr. Hoyt was health commissioner of Rochester from 1892 to 1897. He was a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Railway Engineering Association, the Society of Colonial Wars and the National Geographic Society. In Rochester he was a member of the Genesee Valley Club, the Country Club and the Fortnightly Club, and in New York city of the Transportation Club.

In 1876 Mr. Hoyt married Susan Rogers White, of Boston. He leaves his wife and two children, Dr. C. Wentworth Hoyt, and Mrs. C. Henry Mason, both of Rochester.

HAD DONE MUCH FOR HOME

Started Penny a Month Banks among Children and Raised Funds for Many Improvements in Baptist Home — Been in Bed Ten Years

Fairport, April 11.—Mrs. Anna Kidder, aged 79 years and 2 months, died in the Baptist Home last evening. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home at 2 o'clock, Reverend A. W. Beaven, pastor of the Lake Avenue Baptist Church, of Rochester, and H. R. Saunders, pastor of the Raymond Baptist Church, of this village, officiating with burial in the home lot in Mt. Pleasant cemetery, this village.

Mrs. Kidder was born in the town of Rush. Her husband, Chiseldon Kidder, died a few years ago. Mrs. Kidder spent the greater part of her life teaching school in this section of the state and was greatly loved by all of her pupils and it was through their loyalty, that when Mrs. Kidder had given herself for others for so many years that her health was practically gone, a home was found for her in the Baptist Home in this village where she has been for the past eleven years, coming here from Webster.

She has been an invalid for about ten years and confined to her bed, the most of the time being unable to lie down but "Aunt Sunshine" as she was called by her hundreds of friends has brought cheer and comfort to many persons by her pen.

Soon after she came to the home she started in to write letters soliciting pennies for the home and in this way she has raised thousands of dollars, asking only that each scholar in the primary department of the Baptist Sunday-schools of this county put a penny once a month in the "Sunshine Bank." In this way she has installed electric lights in the home, paid for their maintenance, built the partitions in the rooms of the old building, bought a large kitchen range for the home, installed a force pump that is used in the home and other articles. Her letters have been read by thousands and the work that she has done will be undoubtedly carried on by some one in the home as "The Anna Kidder Memorial Fund."

Mrs. Kidder leaves two cousins, Del Boughton, of Webster, and Mrs. Mary Gleason, of Brush, besides other cousins, nieces and nephews in the West.

yesterday as that of William B. Garlick, 65 years old, of 773 Main street east, who disappeared on December 8th. The identification was made by a son, Dr. Frederick J. Garlick, who for weeks searched territory for miles in all directions from Rochester for a trace of his father. Members of the police department and private detectives were engaged in the hunt, but were unable to find any trace of the missing man.

For a year or more preceding his death Mr. Garlick had suffered from chronic kidney disease and at times showed mental weakness. He was in the best of spirits on the day he left home, and it is thought that he lost his reason a short time later. Dr. Garlick is of the opinion that his father may have jumped or fallen into the Genesee river, and that the flood water carried the body to the lake.

Mr. Garlick was an expert swimmer. He was once found swimming in Allen's creek with all of his clothes on. Another time he was found wandering in Genesee Valley Park by the police.

Mr. Garlick came to Rochester from Fall River, Mass., where for many years he was superintendent of a large printing establishment. He leaves his wife, who resides with Dr. Garlick; one brother, Joseph H. Garlick of Albany; three sons, Dr. William E. Garlick of Wappingers Falls, and Howard J. and Dr. Frederick J. Garlick of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. J. L. Presbrey of Fall River, Mass.

ON DEATH OF MR. CARPENTER.

Memorial Adopted by Associates in the Laundry Industry.

With a suddenness that has doubly pained and shocked us, his associates in the laundry industry, death has come to claim George W. Carpenter, April 26, 1916.

It is our wish to pay a last sad tribute of respect and love to the memory of our brother laundryman.

Born in Rochester more than seventy-four years ago, Mr. Carpenter lived to see a great change in the city he loved. In both public and private life he labored unceasingly for the advancement of the city and his friends. He gave moral and financial support to whatever he believed would best serve the common good. In all public matters as well as in his private business his voice was ever lifted in behalf of the cause he believed to be right, honorable and just.

Personally Mr. Carpenter was large-hearted, genial and sympathetic. He was a companion and friend who will be deeply missed by all who truly knew him, and it is our desire that all should know in what esteem he was held by his associates in the laundry business.

TWO GRAND ARMY MEN ANSWER LAST CALL IN ONE DAY—ONE IN ELEVATOR, ONE IN BED

Herald
Apr 29 1916

Two names were crossed off yesterday from the roll of the fast thinning ranks of Rochester's veterans of the War of the Rebellion. Both old soldiers passed away suddenly within only a few hours between the final call of each. Heart trouble was the cause of death in both cases.

When the proprietor of the hotel at 181 Front Street went yesterday morning to call Nicholas Martin, 74 years old, a former inmate of the Soldiers Home in Bath, the aged veteran was found dead in bed. He had evidently passed away several hours previously, as the body was cold.

Martin was a member of the celebrated old 13th Regiment, which won glory on many Civil War battlefields. He visited Rochester frequently and had many friends here. He leaves two sons, Nicholas, Jr., and Eugene Martin of this city, and five daughters, Mrs. Clara Akey, Mrs. Teresa McGuckin and Miss Matilda Martin of this city, and Mrs. Mary Strebb and Mrs. Linnie Meschule of St. Louis, Mo.

Joseph Zwenger, 72 years old, of 456 Cottage Street was the other veteran. He was found dead in the elevator in the factory of Williams, Hoyt & Company at 4 Commercial Street at 11 o'clock. Zwenger had been employed by the company for a week only.

Coroner Thomas A. Killip investigated both cases and gave certificates of death.

ROCHESTER MAN DIES IN BATTLE
D. & C. — 4/28/1916
Ernest Kelly Killed While Fighting for Allies.

ADVANCED ONLY MONTH AGO

English Newspaper Gives Meager
Accounts of Casualty—Lived Here
Seven Years with Brother—Others from Here Killed or Wounded

Lance Corporal Ernest J. Kelly, who left Rochester on September 28, 1914, for Halifax, where he enlisted in the Scotts Guards, has been killed in battle abroad. Word of his death, with no details, has been received by his brother, William Kelly, of No. 43 Nellis park with whom he lived for seven years. He is the third or fourth Rochester man to meet death in the armies of the Allies.

Kelly was 24 years old. He was an Englishman and his mother is in England. At one time he was a member of the Eighth Separate Company. He worked here as a carpenter. He was advanced to the rank of lance corporal about a month ago.

When he left Rochester he was accompanied by Edward Williams, a brother of Mrs. William Kelly, who lived with the Kellys. Williams is doing garrison duty in India. Kelly left many friends in Rochester.

Others Killed or Wounded.

James Gordon Newell, formerly of Rochester, was officially reported killed in action at Landemark, Belgium, on April 22, 1915, while serving in a Canadian regiment in France.

Edward W. Gallagher, a Rochester boy in the Canadian overseas army, was drowned at the Thorold training camp in January of this year. Gallagher, who was but 18 years old, formerly worked for Meteorologist Dey in the Rochester observation station of the Weather Bureau.

Alonzo Peters, of Rochester, was reported missing in a list of casualties issued by the Canadian Militia Department in Ottawa, on May 16, 1915.

ERNEST J. KELLY,
Young Englishman who lived here killed in battle in France.

Whether he was killed has not been determined. His death was reported coming from his unit.

Leo Saunders, son of Mrs. John Foley, of No. 145 Portland avenue, was shot in the leg in action in the Western theater of war in July, 1915.

Stories from English Papers.

The Hoylake and West Kirby News, an English newspaper published in the part of England in which Kelly was born, has this account of his death:

"Well may one exclaim, in the words of a famed writer, 'Ah, Liberty! the crimes that are committed in thy name.'
West Kirby again mourns the loss of one of her sons, Ernie Kelly, a bonnie lad, and one whom it was a pleasure to know, has gone to that 'bourne from whence no traveler returns.' He died fighting for his country and the cause of freedom, and we who chatted with him on the occasion of his last—and in fact only—furlough, well remember how he laughingly said he would see that he stopped no German ammunition.

"Ernest J. Kelly was killed on March 17th, and the official notification arrived on Sunday last. With the notice from the records office came a letter from his company sergeant major, Donald Mc-Kenzie. The latter, by the way, was a very great friend, for never a letter arrived but what there was some mention of Donald McKenzie.

Praise from Superior.

"The gist of the latter's communication was:

"It is my painful duty to inform you that Lance-Corporal Ernest Kelly was killed in the field on March 17th. I feel the loss of poor Kelly very much, as he was one of the N. C. O.'s in the company.
The cause of death was wounds received in action. When I get out of the trenches
I will send such further particulars as I can obtain."

The News reminds its readers that Kelly once "had a bullet settle in a soap-box in his haversack."

A copy of an English newspaper received here last June contained a letter written by Kelly to his mother, in which he told of being in a battle and of being so covered with blood that he thought he was hit.

"They say this is the beginning of the end," he said at that time, "and I can only hope it is so, for people at home cannot realize what it is like out here. I thought it would be bad, but nothing like this."

PALMYRA'S MOST VENERABLE MAN

James Galloway Dies as Result of Fall.

OF A PIONEER FAMILY

Born on Galloway Farm Where He Died and Where Ancestors Lived Before Him—Will Be Buried in Mausoleum on the Same Farm
D.C. 5/2/1916

Palmyra, May 1.—James Galloway, Palmyra's most venerable resident, died in his home, the Galloway Farms, at 10 o'clock on Saturday night. Mr. Galloway was born in the house where he died October 15, 1821, the son of the late James and Nancy Foskett Galloway, who were among the pioneers of Palmyra, then part of another township.

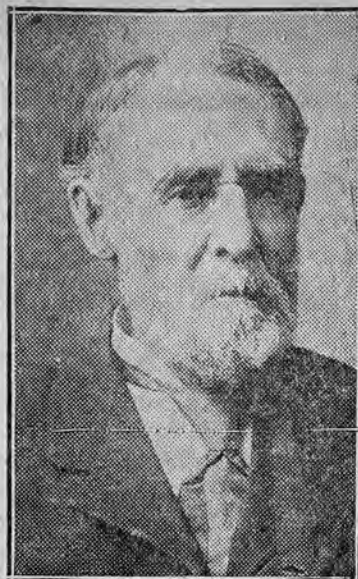

Mr. Galloway pursued the occupation of farming, and never removed from the homestead lands. He was singularly successful in all business ventures and accumulated large holdings in real estate. Everyone liked "Uncle Jim," as he was termed by his intimates and their children and grandchildren. He was a man of wide reading and mental culture and brilliant intellect, which was bright up to the time of his death. Despite his great age he was active and spent much time motoring and enjoyed to the full all modern achievements.

He was an extensive traveler and took long trips each year, visiting distant friends. Mr. Galloway was one of, if not the oldest member of the Masonic fraternity in the state, and it was the custom of Palmyra Lodge to send a delegation to the Galloway Farms to celebrate his birthdays each year. These occasions were looked forward to and enjoyed by him.

He was twice married, his first wife, Mrs. Caroline Reeves Galloway, dying many years ago. By her he had seven children, all of whom are living. In later years Mr. Galloway married Miss Mary B. Palmer, of Rochester, besides whom he leaves three sons, Jerome, George and Frank Galloway; four daughters, Mrs. Caroline Cunningham, Mrs. Mary Parker, Mrs. Celia Wilcox and Mrs. Julia Matteson, all of Palmyra.

The immediate cause of Mr. Galloway's death was a fall suffered when passing from one room to another in his home. Several ribs were fractured and internal injuries sustained and he failed to rally from the shock, gradually becoming weaker, until the end.

The funeral will take place from the Galloway Farms on the East Palmyra road on Wednesday, May 3d, at 2:30 o'clock, and will be under Masonic auspices, the Rev. Dr. Henderson, of Rochester, conducting the religious service. Burial will be in the Galloway tomb, on the Galloway graveyard site, where are entombed the remains of Mr. Galloway's ancestors. In olden days it was customary to inter the dead of a family in the land belonging to their homes. In accordance with this custom Mr. Galloway erected a marble mausoleum on a field set apart for the purpose, and surrounded with trees and flowers. No expense was spared, and the tomb is an elaborate memorial of Mr. Galloway's love and veneration for those who preceded him. Here he, too, will rest among his kindred in the fields he loved, and where his life was spent.

of Palmyra.

MRS. EMMA L. BIXBY DIES AT ST. LOUIS Post-5/3/1916 Nearly Ninety-two Years of Age—Was First Pupil at Ingham University.

Le Roy, May 3.—Mrs. Emma Louisa (Keeney) Bixby, whose death occurred at St. Louis on Monday night, was born on the Keeney farm, a mile west of this village, on October 6, 1824. She was the youngest and the last survivor of the ten children of Joseph and Mary (Bishop) Keeney. With six children, the parents came to Le Roy in 1815, making the journey in two wagons, one drawn by a pair of oxen and the other by a horse. Allen Keeney was the oldest of the children. Nicholas B. Keeney, whose death occurred here a few years ago, was the eighth. When a girl, Mrs. Bixby attended the first public school in Le Roy; she then went to the famous Round House, and when the Le Roy Female Seminary—the predecessor of Ingham University—was opened she was the first pupil in attendance. She was so eager for knowledge that she walked to school early in the morning, and waited on the steps an hour or more for the doors to be unlocked for the first time. She graduated from this institution in 1845. Among her classmates were the late Mrs. John R. Olmsted and Mrs. A. W. Moore, who is still a resident of this village.

The young graduate went West at once to earn her living as a teacher and settled at Adrian, Mich., where for four years she was principal of a young ladies' seminary and for two years preceptress of the high school. On October 19, 1851, she married Alonzo F. Bixby, Esq. He was born at Batavia, July 6, 1818, and had gone to Michigan and established himself as an able and successful lawyer. His death occurred at Adrian, April 18, 1870. Mrs. Bixby is survived by four of her five children—David A. Bixby of St. Louis, secretary of the American Car and Foundry company; William K. Bixby, a retired manufacturer of St. Louis, who is well known throughout the country as a collector of books, a philanthropist, and the liberal patron of educational institutions; Mrs. William H. Holmes, of Buffalo, are nieces of Mrs. Bixby, and Calvin N. Keeney, of Le Roy, is a nephew. Mrs. Bixby also leaves nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Bixby ceased to be an actual resident of Le Roy sixty-eight years ago, but she was a frequent visitor. At an early age she joined the Presbyterian church and was an active member of that denomination till her death, holding many offices in the various church societies and contributing liberally to their support. Her long life was full of devotion to the happiness of others, and she was an unusually fine type of noble American womanhood.

The funeral was held in St. Louis today, and the interment will take place in Adrian, Mich., her former home.

WHISTLES AND BELLS HUSHED; DEATH DEFIANT

PRAYERS AND PRECAUTIONS FAIL TO SAVE JOHN CALEY.

UNUSUAL DEVOTION SHOWN

All Brighton Joins in Mourning Loss of Man Stricken with Heart Disease.

Prayers and unusual precautions were blended by the good people of Brighton in vain hope of saving the life of John T. Caley, whose death occurred at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning. The funeral of Mr. Caley takes place this afternoon, and on account of the wide acquaintance and popularity of the man the sad occasion was universally mourned. Men, women and children in all walks of life, stood in dignified and reverential silence as the body was borne out of the family home at 17 Winton road.

All Brighton joined in sorrowful prayer at the sudden illness of Mr. Caley, and fervently hoped for his recovery from the attack of heart disease, which crumbled the stalwart frame of the man. All the time he was lying in bed at home, bravely attempting to resist the attack, his neighbors and fellow citizens bowed their heads in gloom.

Never was a hero treated more considerably by his associates than was Mr. Caley in his fatal illness. Mr. Caley had lived all his life, sixty-five years, within the vicinity of Brighton; had seen and participated in the building up of that pretty section and at all times had been foremost in advancing civic betterment. And Mr. Caley was noted for his charity.

So reverential were the feelings of Brighton folk when Mr. Caley's illness became noised about that immediate steps were taken to avert any noises which may have annoyed the afflicted. The bell of Schoolhouse 1 was not tolled during Mr. Caley's illness, and the pupils tiptoed their way past the house. For the first time in many years the bells of the Brighton Presbyterian church did not peal the hour for devotional services. Even the factory whistles of the Selden and Sullivan Motor Car companies were subdued so as to be audible only a short distance away.

Mr. Caley had been a carriage builder and blacksmith in Brighton many years, and was known to every resident of that section. The men acquaintances of Mr. Caley, and they were legion, heard with tear-stained eyes news of his death. They had hoped for the best and humbly relieved their friend's last sufferings by muffling all noise up to the fatal moment.

Last Sad Rites—Herald 5/6/1916
The funeral of Mrs. Cecelia Burrud was held from her late residence on Palmyra Street Thursday afternoon and was attended by a large company of relatives and friends. Rev. Chester J. Oxley, pastor of the Baptist Church, conducted the service, which consisted of Scripture reading, remarks based on the text, Proverbs 14:18, and benediction by Mr. Oxley. Prayer was offered by Rev. W. W. McWilliams, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Thomas F. Young sang two selections. Rev. Mr. Oxley spoke of the beautiful Christian character and cheerful, courageous spirit of Mrs. Burrud in her eventful life of 85 years; of her remarkable fortitude as wife and mother while her husband, Captain John B. Burrud, was serving in the Civil War, and of her kindly interest in her home town, where she had passed nearly all of her life.

The passing of Mrs. Burrud severs one of the few links connecting the present with the interesting past of the Baptist Church of this place. Captain and Mrs. Burrud were keen lovers of music, a faculty which their descendants have inherited, and for years Captain Burrud was organist and chorister of the church choir, and also leader in other musical circles. Mrs. Burrud retained pleasant memories of those days, which she delighted to recall till the last. Mrs. Burrud had survived her husband 33 years, her death occurring on the anniversary of his burial. Her remains were buried in the family lot in Marion Cemetery, witnessed by three generations.

JOHN MARTIN
DIES SUDDENLY

Former Hamlin Supervisor
Succumbs to Pneumonia.

WELL KNOWN HERE

Member of Elks and of Pioneer Association. Noted Apple Buyer.

John Martin, formerly supervisor of the Town of Hamlin and one of the best-known apple buyers in Western New York, died suddenly this morning at his home in that town, after an illness of one week, and the news of his death shocked many friends he had in this city.

A week ago Mr. Martin was in this city on his weekly business trip and wore a pair of shoes which cramped his feet and caused him serious inconvenience. When he returned home he complained of illness and was confined to his room. Next day a physician diagnosed his ailment as kidney trouble. He apparently was recovering until Thursday, when a severe attack of pneumonia developed and he gradually sank until death came at 4 o'clock this morning.

JOHN MARTIN.

Although always a Democrat in politics and Hamlin an overwhelmingly Republican town, Mr. Martin was three times elected supervisor, due to his personal popularity and broadness of views. His first term was in 1906-7 and he was twice re-elected for two year terms, retiring from the board in 1911. While on the board he was honored with membership in the most important committees and was a member of the County Building Committee.

"He was one of the most popular and lovable men in his time in the Board of Supervisors and he had a host of friends," said Clerk B. N. Chamberlain today.

Mr. Martin was very well known in this city, both politically and commercially. For 20 years he was engaged in the apple brokerage business and knew practically every fruit farm in the county. For years he represented big warehouses in New York, Newark and St. Louis. He was a member of the Elks and of the Executive Committee of the Monroe County Pioneers' Association. He attended the last meeting of that body a fortnight ago at the Hotel Bristol.

He was born March 22, 1865, on the farm in Hamlin which he owned at the time of his death. On March 4, 1886, he married Catherine Donovan and is survived by her and three children, Ethel, William and James Martin. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

BODY WAS THAT OF LE ROY MAN

Le Roy, May 6.—The body of the man which was washed ashore at Williamson from Lake Ontario on Thursday morning was to-day identified as John Adams, the aged employee of the General Crushed Stone Company, who mysteriously disappeared from his home in this village on January 25. Word was sent to Rochester regarding the unidentified man and the description somewhat resembled that of Mr. Adams.

Relatives of the missing man in Le Roy were notified and his son, Marlin Adams, went to Williamson, where he identified the remains as those of his father. The body was brought to Le Roy to-day and buried in the Mumford Cemetery.

Mr. Adams' disappearance was a peculiar one, in that the aged man was never known to leave his home without first telling his family. He was a home-loving man and had never entered into any family disputes. He had been employed by the General Crushed Stone Company, four miles east of this village, for many years, and he was one of their most trusted employees. On the afternoon on which he disappeared he was last seen at the home of John Nejd, who resides near the crusher, and about 5 o'clock he said he was going home. It was later learned that he had been at Lime Rock, a hamlet, four miles east of here, and he was last seen to enter a piece of woods nearby. Search was started by relatives and it was learned that a man answering to the description of Mr. Adams had been seen driving towards Avon with a stranger. A diligent search was made and as a last resort a reward of $50 was offered for information leading to his whereabouts.

It is thought that Mr. Adams reached Avon and fell into the Genesee River, where the body remained lodged in the ice until the spring freshet, when it was washed into Lake Ontario. Foul play is not suspected, as Mr. Adams had but $2 when he left home.

Mr. Adams was born in Williamsbury in 1845. He was a veteran of the Civil War, and a member of Staunton Post, G. A. R. Besides his wife, he leaves a son, Marlin Adams of Le Roy, and three daughters, Mrs. Hugh Hannah of Lime Rock, Mrs. Clarence Converse of Chili and Miss Harriett Adams of Le Roy.

Tribute to Dr. Samuel Brickner
5/11/1916 Times

Under the caption, "Met Death With Calm Eyes" the New York Times prints the following editorial on Dr. Samuel Brickner, son of Max Brickner, of this city, who died last Friday:

"There has just died at Saranac Lake, and of the malady from which so many have there found relief or cure, a man who, a few years ago, while still in early life, had attained eminence among the surgeons of this city. His professional career, who closed, of course, when he was driven to the mountains, but he retained no little of ambition and of mental energy, and though he had small hope of recovery and was for most of the time forbidden indulgence in any physical activities, he retained his cheerfulness and activity of mind.

"The letters written by Dr. Samuel Brickner to friends in the city never referred to his health except now and then in reply to insistent questions, and always briefly, as if his interest in it was slight. What did interest him was the magazine he had started, devoted to the humorous and picturesque sides of medicine as found in its history, ancient and modern, and the production of verses that often were of notable excellence. At the time of the unveiling at Saranac Lake of the Stevenson memorial tablet Dr. Brickner sent to the Times a still-remembered poem that only to those who knew the circumstances hinted the special sympathy of its author for the other victim of the White Plague. To others it seemed but one of many appreciative tributes to the Scotch genius. Only a few weeks ago came another and last set of verses, entitled, significantly, 'The Feast.' They are reprinted here now as showing how a brave man met what he perfectly well knew was the near approach of death:

There is no more Lucullan feast than this
At which I daily sit:
Laughter and sunshine, love, a tender kiss—
These are the sweets of it.

If, by some chance, black storm clouds
Lowly bend
My unresisting head,
It is no symbol that my joy shall end,
For still my feast is spread.

A day will come with laughter just as sweet,
The sun will fill the air,
Love still be young, but other lips will meet:
I shall have had my share!

To others it seemed but one of many appreciative tributes to the Scotch genius. Only a few weeks ago came another and last set of verses, entitled, significantly, "The Feast." They are reprinted here now as showing how a brave man met what he perfectly well knew was the near approach of death:

There is no more Lucullan feast than this
At which I daily sit;
Laughter and sunshine, love, a tender kiss
These are the sweets of life.

If, by some chance, black storm clouds
Lower behind
My anorecting head,

It is no symbol that my day shall end
For still my feast is spread.

A day will come with laughter just as sweet,
The sun will fill the air,

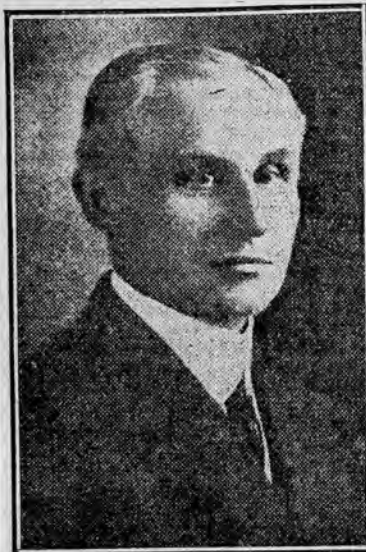

Love still be young, but other lips will meet;
I shall have had my share!

MISS MARGARET CAMPBELL
Death of Caledonia Woman, Foremost in Every Good Work.

Caledonia, May 14.—On Friday night at the Campbell homestead, one-half mile north of this village, occurred the death of Miss Margaret A. Campbell, aged about 68 years. Miss Campbell had been in failing health for a year, and for the past six months had been confined to her home. She was born in the home where she died and her entire life, with the exception of two years spent in Baltimore with her brother, Rev. Dr. John P. Campbell, had been spent here.

No person in the community will be more missed than she, as she was foremost in every good word and work. Being a woman of unusual ability and intelligence she was a force for any cause she espoused. In the First Presbyterian Church, of which she became a member nearly fifty years ago, she was especially active, being a teacher in the Sunday-school for over forty years and for the past three years, superintendent of the Home Department, which she brought to such a state of efficiency that it was the largest in Livingston county.

She was a charter member of the Woman's Missionary Society which was organized forty-three years ago; a charter member of the Library Association founded over forty years ago and a charter member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. In all of these societies she was a leader, devoting much time and thought to their activities. She leaves four brothers, James, of this village; Rev. John P. Campbell, D. D., pastor of Grace Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, Md.; Alexander, of Mumford, and Dr. Duncan Campbell, of Woodbury, N. J. and six sisters, Kate, Elizabeth and Eva at home; Mrs. James Annin, of this village; Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Genesee, and Miss Christabel Campbell, a teacher in Denver, Col. Miss Campbell was a daughter of Peter P. and Margaret McKenzie Campbell, who came from Scotland about 1798 and took up the land still owned and occupied by his descendants and through which the celebrated Spring creek flows.

For seventeen years, during the early part of 1800, the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church worshiped in the homestead, which at the present day is one of the pleasantest and most commodious in the town.

Miss Campbell's death affects a large circle of relatives in this town, York and Wheatland, practically all the members of Clan McIntyre being related. LAWYERS HONOR THE MEMORY OF DEAD ASSOCIATE
Post 5/19/1916
Adopt a Resolution by Rising Vote Upon Death of George Truesdale.

Members of the Bar association met at noon to-day in the Supreme court rooms to honor the memory of George Truesdale, who died yesterday morning. Surrogate Selden S. Brown presided and Homer E. A. Dick was secretary of the meeting. The memorial committee consisted of Ednor A. Marsh, William H. Beach, Herbert Menzie, David M. Salisbury and William DeGraff.

The resolution, of which the following is an excerpt, was adopted by a rising vote:

"Ripe in years and rich in experience, George Truesdale, for more than fifty years a familiar figure among us, has passed on to the great beyond. As we pay our affectionate tribute to his memory, we need not, as we often must, pause to wonder at Providence's mysterious ways, for he was well past the goal of four-score years; and those who knew him best can in their mind's eye see him, as he passed out of this life, do so with a cheery wave of the hand, simply because his work was done.

"In his career at the bar, covering the unusual span of fifty-eight years, he not only won for himself an enviable record for industry, ability and integrity, but performed some very distinguished services. In his conduct of the famous Standard Oil conspiracy cases, tried at Buffalo while he was in the prime of his strength, he greatly enhanced his reputation and few lawyers have received such a tribute to their ability and learning as is found in the reports of these cases with regard to Mr. Truesdale.

"Kind, genial and honorable, full of sunshine and good humor, no one ever came from his presence without having felt the radiance of these splendid qualities, and by them he endeared himself to all who knew him in an unusual degree. Complete as his life was, he will be greatly missed by his brethren of the profession."

The funeral will be held at his late residence, 135 Fulton avenue, to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The committee appointed to attend is: John D. Lynn, Arthur Warren, John R. Fanning, Erwin Shutt, Horace G. Pierce.

Death Comes to Gottlob Bastian in Dansville; Retired in 1900.

Dansville, May 24.—The death last evening of Gottlob Bastian removes an interesting figure from Dansville's business, social and intellectual life. He was born in Koblenz, Prussia, May 16, 1835, coming to Dansville September 22, 1852. He was then only 17 years old but was a man in intellect and was drilled with German thoroughness in the profession of pharmacy. He was considered one of the best German scholars in Western New York, and his English attainments were along broad and progressive lines.

When the two school districts of Dansville were consolidated in 1883 a school board was elected, of which Dr. Gottlob Bastian was made president. Through the troublous period of building the Union school, when a bank failure scattered most of the money collected for the new school, in the face of opposition, Dr. Bastian stood like a rock.

He succeeded E. N. Niles in the drug store which was established in 1854, conducting the business from August, 1870, until 1900, when he retired in favor of his son, E. N. Bastian, a namesake of E. N. Niles, who was taken into the business at an early age.

Since his retirement from active life, Dr. Bastian has led a quiet domestic life in his home, at No. 32 Liberty street, where he died at 5:35 last evening and from where his funeral will be held Friday afternoon. He leaves five children, E. N. Bastian, of Dansville; Carl E., of Oakland, Cal.; Mrs. F. R. Driesbach, of Dansville; Henry G., of New York city, and Gottlob, of Hoboken, N. J. There are three grandchildren, Fred G. and Carl E., of Dansville, and Mrs. George E. Anderson, of Buffalo, and one great-grandchild, Bradley Anderson.

Conductor Dies After Stepping Off Train Here.

John E. Bolger, of 96 Rugby Avenue, who died after stepping from an Auburn Division train on the New York Central Railroad in this city at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was one of the oldest conductors in the employ of the company. He is 55 years old, and has been employed by the company for 35 years.

Previous to his being appointed conductor, he was baggage agent at the old station and later held the position of night trainmaster. For the past 20 years he had been a conductor, most of the time in charge of trains on the Auburn branch.

When Mr. Bolger left Syracuse he appeared to be in the best of health, but when the train arrived in Skaneateles he complained of a severe pain in his head. At Geneva, Dr. Knickerbocker treated him and he resumed his journey to Rochester. Mr. Bolger was well known, and well liked by his employers as well as his workmates.

Coroner Thomas A. Killip was notified and gave a certificate of death due to natural causes. The body was removed to his home.

A PIONEER IN THE OIL COUNTRY

James Corbett Tennent Dies
D+C. in Caledonia.

6/2/1916
HELPLESS FIFTEEN YEARS

Blind for Three, but Has Worked Out Some Good Inventions and Has Dictated Interesting Reminiscences of the Bradford Oil Field

Caledonia, June 1.—In his home in East avenue this village last night occurred the death of James Corbett Tennent, a prominent resident of this village, after nearly fifteen years of helplessness from rheumatism. His death was not unexpected, as he had been in a serious condition for a number of weeks.

Mr. Tennent has been a resident of Caledonia for twenty-three years. He was born in Avon, January 6th, 1852, shortly after the arrival of his parents from Scotland, sixty-four years ago. He is the eldest son of a family of nine children. His early years were spent in Beulah, and his education was obtained in the "old district school" there.

When fourteen years old he desired very much to enlist in the Civil war, but was too young to be accepted. Instead of joining the army he went with another young man down to the then new oil field in Pennsylvania, and followed the first oil excitement in Petroleum Center and vicinity. Having a severe attack of measles he was compelled to return home, where he remained for two or three years, when he again went to the oil country and entered the employ of Wesley Chambers, of the Bradford field. Afterwards he was employed by the Bradford Oil Company, on various leases as superintendent, during which time he married Miss Belle Peck, only daughter of A. H. Peck, of Bradford.

JAMES CORBETT TENNENT, of Caledonia.

During the great oil excitement of '82 and '83, and the opening of the oil exchange, his company sent him as their special "scout" to investigate new wells and report direct to them. Many a "mystery" was unravelled. It was during this work that he contracted the disease from which he suffered many years. Thinking his health might be improved, he went with his family to Hazelton, Kansas, with a number of other oil counscented oil, however, and he drilled out a salt water well in the present oil belt there. One well was turned into a salt manufactory and the best salt in the west now comes from this well at Anthony, Kansas.

His health not proving any better, and the hot winds being disastrous to crops at that time, he returned East and again went into the employ of his old company, the Bradford Oil Company. This time he was sent to investigate the rumors coming from West Virginia that oil was likely to be found there. Sure enough; during the years of 1901-2-3 Mr. Tennant secured some valuable leases, drilled some test wells, and found the Sistersville oil field, one of the richest and best in the world. All of these oil leases he turned over to his firm, and they netted them many millions of dollars.

His health by this time was still so poor that he determined to return to his old home country and give up the game. The family therefore moved to Caledonia in the summer of 1903, since which time he has entered various local enterprises with varied success. Not being able to "be on the spot" however, was always a great drawback in conducting business. Some of the things Caledonia will remember him for, however, are noteworthy. The discovery of natural gas with which the town was lighted and heated. The establishment of the First National Bank, of which he was the first president, and the erection of the Bank block; investigation of the uses of "marl" and the establishment of the "Marl Co." which later went into the hands of the Buffalo Fertilizer Co.; the organization of the Caledonia Chemical Co. for the making of disinfectant (Crel Oil), the organization of the "Tennant Fire Hose Co." and the development of the School Park. In fact no enterprise that came along and asked for aid was refused.

For the past three years he has been blind, though previous to that he was a great reader, and always up on current topics. He has not been able to walk for many years or leave his room. Being of an inventive turn of mind he always had some theory or model to work on, some of which have proved valuable. For some time past he has interested himself in writing reminiscences of the oil country, dictating his work to one of his sons. These stories have been published in the Oil City Derrick, whose editor was a personal friend. Later they were issued in book form. To show they were appreciated by the oil men, he received a very flattering check and letter from the President of the Standard Oil Company, Mr. Archibald. A wonderful memory for facts, names and places was always his. It is told of him that when a mere boy he climbed down a very deep well in order to prove his teacher's assertion that the moon and stars were visible in the daytime. He saw the moon shining at midday.

His hopefulness and cheerfulness during all these years of invalidism would put many a well man to shame. He surely fought a good fight. Eunice Lodge voted him a life membership several years ago. And as he has said in one chapter of his book, he has gone to "solve the last great mystery."

He leaves besides his wife six sons, Alphaus H. Tennent, of Meadville, Pa.; Elbert, David and Donald, of Canada; Kirkpatrick, of Quebec, Canada, and Walter, a teacher of manual training in the public schools of Norfolk, Va.; one daughter, Mrs. Maude Woods, wife of Ralph A. Woods, of Oklahoma, before her marriage a Y. W. C. A. secretary in Rochester and later in Syracuse. He also leaves two brothers, Andrew, of Towlville, and David, of this village, and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Matteson and Miss Margaret and Martha Tennent, of this village.

The funeral will be held from his late home on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with interment in Mumford.

Mrs. Emma C. Sweezy—

Mrs. Emma Crane Sweezy, widow of George M. Sweezy, died at 6 o'clock Saturday morning at her home on Buffalo Street, after an illness of five months, due to heart trouble. Mrs. Sweezy had failed rapidly the past month and her death was not unexpected. Mrs. Sweezy was the daughter of David and Catharine Stolp Crane, and was born near Aurora, Ill., on June 22, 1847, coming to Marion at the age of 10 years with her mother and stepfather, Rev. Edgar Galloway. On March 7, 1867, she was married to George M. Sweezy of this town. With the exception of three years' residence in Lyons, while Mr. Sweezy was Sheriff of Wayne County, and several seasons spent in Washington, D. C., and Albany, N. Y., where her husband held political offices, their married life was passed in Marion. For twelve years they were in charge of the Atlantic Hotel. Mr. Sweezy died February 3, 1915, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Edgar T. Luce, where they passed their last days.

Mrs. Sweezy was a member of the Presbyterian Church and of the Woman's Relief Corps. She had endeared herself to a large circle of friends in this community. Two daughters survive, Mrs. Edgar T. Luce of Marion and Mrs. Frank S. Mosher of Palmyra, and one grandson, Howard Mosher of Palmyra. Of a family of seven children, two brothers are left, Edgar Galloway Crane of Aurora, Ill., who has spent the last week in Marion, and David Henry Crane of Marion. WILLIAM G. BELL, A

For Many Years Catered for Society Events in Historic Old Hall of Corn Hill Section.

William G. Bell, a descendant of one of the pioneer families of Rochester, died yesterday at his home, 62 Glasgow street, as the result of a stroke of apoplexy suffered Saturday night, aged 88 years, 5 months and 19 days. He had been in feeble health for the past three years but had been active about the house until a week ago.

William S. Bell.

Mr. Bell was born in the Corn Hill section of the city in 1828 and had lived there practically all his life. His father, Dr. William Bell, was a well known physician in this part of the state and was proprietor of the old Corn Hill tavern at the corner of Plymouth avenue south and Adams street when Plymouth avenue was the stage coach road to Scottsville.

On the death of his father Mr. Bell ran the tavern for several years and then entered the grocery business in the Kennedy block, Plymouth avenue and Greig street. Later he started in the catering business, erecting a building opposite Tremont street, which was known as Bell's hall. Many of the large social functions of the city were given there. He retired from this business on the death of his wife.

Mr. Bell, his wife, Mrs. Mary Bell, and sister, Mrs. Martha Thorn, were members of the Society of Friends, and were prominent in the work of the Quaker church, in Hubbell park, until it disbanded several years ago. They were beloved by all who knew them and through his sterling qualities and upright dealing with those he came in contact, Mr. Bell won a host of friends. His death comes as a shock to many in this city.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the house. Rev. Dr. Troward T. Marshall, pastor of the First Unitarian church, where Mr. Bell was an attendant since the abandonment of the Quaker church, will officiate. Interment will be made in Mt. Hope cemetery.

She leaves two sons, George and Victor Frauel; two daughters, Mrs. L. C. Dow and Mrs. Norton Mulkin; six grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Frauel was born in Alsace on November 12, 1826. At the age of 20 she was married to Francis Xavier Frauel. They took their wedding trip to America in a sailing vessel. Rochester had been a city but ten years when the Frauels settled here. Mrs. Frauel saw the northeastern section grow from forest to a thickly settled residence section.

In the early days of their residence here, Mr. and Mrs. Frauel used to drive into the city to the French church, in Elm street. Later they were among the organizers of St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Mrs. Frauel was an earnest church worker and is said to have been interested in the establishing of nearly every Roman Catholic church in the northeastern section.

Mrs. Frauel spoke and read French and German in Alsace and upon her arrival here taught herself English. About nine years ago, finding difficulty in reading with her glasses, she went to an oculist and to her joy learned that she need not wear glasses any longer. She was able to read fine print without artificial means.

MRS. ELIZA HALL

Mt. Morris Woman Dies in Her 96th Year.

Mt. Morris, June 14.—Mrs. Eliza B. Hall, widow of the late William Hall, who resides with Miss Helen Tallman in Chapel Street for the past several years, died yesterday morning. Mrs. Hall, who would have been 96 years of age had she lived until next month, had been in her usual health, and Miss Tallman was assisting her in dressing when the end came.

MRS. ELIZA B. HALL

Eliza B. Cowover was born at Niles, Cayuga County, July 23, 1820, being one of the five children of Aaron Cowover and Katherine Hall. She resided with her parents in Cayuga County, and in 1835 her father came to Mt. Morris to visit his daughter, Mrs. James Conklin. He was so well pleased with the country that he returned to Niles, disposed of his farm there and started for his future home in the Genesee Valley.

On the farm purchased here was a log house and log barn. During the first year timber was cut and a new barn erected, and the next year one of the first frame houses in that vicinity was built. Shortly after the Cowover family removed to this county William Hall also came here, and in 1838 he was united in marriage to Miss Eliza Cowover. Mr. Cowover and Mr. Hall assisted in the building of the first church at Tuscarora, and for a number of years they were elders of the society. During the first years that the family resided on Dutch Street, Indians would come down from Allegany County to assist in the harvest, and one year a number of squaws also came with the braves, bringing large quantities of berries for the white folks.

Mrs. Hall often recalled in a vivid manner the opening of the Genesee Valley Canal, and the great enthusiasm manifested by persons residing along the waterway over the wonderful piece of work. Although it was the custom of most of the farmers to ship their grain to market over the canal the Cowovers always drew their grain to Genesee.

Of the seven children born to Mr. and Mrs. Hall, three are now alive, Mrs. L. O. Wight of Salt Lake City, Utah; Nicholas Hall, who occupies the larger portion of the old homestead, and Harmon Hall, who resides on a smaller tract of the land purchased by his grandfather in 1835. There are also four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

HUSBAND OF LOCAL GIRL DIES IN BATTLE

LAWRENCE De K. STEPHENS IS SLAIN IN FRANCE.
Post-6/10/1916
WEDDED MISS HUNTINGTON

Was in 42d Battalion of Fifth Royal Highlanders—Fatherless Children in This City.

The many Rochester friends of Lawrence de K. Stephens of Montreal were shocked to learn of his death last Tuesday when in action with his regiment, the 42d Battalion of the Fifth Royal Highlanders, in which he was a first lieutenant. Lieutenant

Lawrence de K. Stephens.
Stephens was well known here. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Mrs.
Henry F. Huntington, of 136 West avenue. Their two children, Shelson and Francis Danforth Stephens, are at the Huntington residence in West avenue. The wife is in London.
Lieutenant Stephens was an advocate in Montreal, a member of the firm of Weldon & Stephens. Shortly after the outbreak of the war he enlisted and was commissioned one of the officers of the 42d Battalion. His wife journeyed to England to be as near as possible to her husband.
He was reported killed in action earlier in the week but that report later proved to be untrue. Mrs.
Stephens cabled relatives in Rochester last Tuesday that her husband was alive and well. Thursday night the Military department in a casualty list published in Ottawa made official announcement of Lieutenant Stephens having been killed in action last Tuesday in the battle near Ypres.
His business partner in Montreal at first discredited the report. He too, had received a cable from Mrs.
Stephens denying the earlier report and presumed that this referred to the same rumor.
Later Mrs. Stephens cabled to relatives in Rochester corroborating the announcement of her husband's death.

MRS. SUSAN JANE PATTERSON

M. Aller, of Leavenworth, Kan., is now living. Mrs. Patterson was of sturdy New England stock, her grandparents coming from New Haven, Conn., to Thompkins county when that part of the country was considered almost a wilderness.
She was married to David Curtis Patterson in Jacksonville, N. Y., July 16, 1843. She leaves three children, Clinton
A. Patterson and George W. Patterson, ally failing for some time.

HAD BEEN CITY BUT TEN YEARS Times June 6 1916 When Mrs. Theresa Frauel, Who Died This Morning, Settled Here.

EARLY RECOLLECTIONS

Possessed Wonderful Memory of Historic Events and Keen Interest in Present.

The death of Mrs. Theresa Frauel, one of the oldest residents of this city, occurred this morning at 10:50 o'clock, at the family residence, 2 Carl Street.
Mrs. Frauel has been ill for several months and death was not wholly unexpected by her relatives in this city.
Mrs. Frauel was born in one of the small towns of Alsace on November 12, 1826, and was married at 20 years of age to Francis Xavier Frauel, the wedding trip being a seven weeks' journey

MRS. THERESA FRAUEL.

in a sailing vessel to this country. Coming immediately to Rochester, the couple settled in what is now Clinton Avenue North, then a wilderness of trees and meadow land. In the house at the corner of Clinton Avenue and Norton Street Mrs. Frauel lived for 42 years, then moving to 2 Carl Street.
Blessed with a memory unusually good, Mrs. Frauel was able to tell of the early days of Rochester, which had been a city but 10 years when she first knew it, and often entertained her children and neighbors by describing the visits of the Indians to her home, the falling of the Carthage Bridge and other notable events in the first years of her life here. During her life time she saw the Northeastern part of the city develop from a forest, where the houses were two or three miles apart and the chief landmarks were the old tannery where Brewer's Dock now stands, the Carthage Cemetery near the Ridge Road; change to a thickly settled neighborhood with suburbs of its own and with little to recall the old order of things save the wooded slopes left on the banks of the river in Seneca Park.

On first coming to the city Mrs.
Frauel and her husband used to drive into the city to attend services at the French church on Elm Street and later they were among the organizers of St.
Joseph's Catholic Church. Mrs. Frauel was always an earnest and energetic church worker and it is said that she was concerned in the establishing of practically every Roman Catholic church in the northeastern section of the city, giving liberally of her time, means and strength in the work.

There were 10 children born to Mr. and Mrs. Frauel, two of them dying in infancy and one son, a boy 17 years of age, from illness contracted in the Civil War. Four children are now living, George Frauel, of 2 Carl Street;
Victor Frauel, Mrs. L. C. Dow and Mrs.
Norton Mulkin. There are also six grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Born in Alsace, Mrs. Frauel spoke and read both French and German, and on coming to this country taught herself to read and write English as well. She was a subscriber to The Rochester Evening Times, which she had taken since its establishment, and was keenly interested in current events, reading eagerly the accounts of the war and discussing political happenings with keen understanding. About nine years ago Mrs. Frauel found that she was having difficulty in reading with the glasses that she was using and went to an oculist to get others of greater strength. After spending much time in adjusting various glasses, none of which seemed to be right, the oculist suggested that Mrs. Frauel try to read the examination card without glasses and discovered that she was able to decipher the smallest print on it. Since that time Mrs. Frauel never used any artificial aid in reading, rejoicing in her second sight, and taking great pleasure in reading for her sons and daughters print that they needed glasses to decipher. She also delighted to use her "new eyes" in sewing on fine handkerchiefs, a number of which she made last Summer for her daughters and friends.
Until the sunstroke which was responsible for her illness she was active and energetic, and was able to walk and to busy herself about the house in a manner which many persons of many less years envied.

FIREMAN

CRUSHED

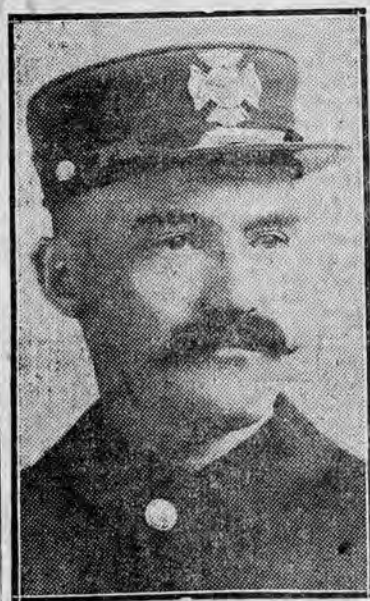

Union TO DEATH

6/19/1916

Alfred Gracey Fatally Hurt as Truck Swerves Against Door Casing.

Injuries received when he was crushed between ladders on the truck and the door casing of the fire house at 11:33 o'clock yesterday morning resulted in the death at St. Mary's Hospital forty-five minutes later of Alfred Gracey, of Truck 5, Genesee street. A fractured rib punctured his lungs and death was caused by hemorrhage.

At the hour mentioned an alarm was sounded from box 361, Maple and Hague streets. Truck 5 is stationed in the district and was responding to the call when the accident occurred. It is said that Gracey, who was the tiller-man for the company, stood on one of the ladders with one hand grasping the big steering wheel. The truck swerved suddenly to the right and Gracey was crushed before he could change his position. Had he been in his seat the accident would not have occurred. One report says that the horses pulled out of the barn before Gracey had time to reach his seat.

But little time was lost in calling the ambulance from St. Mary's Hospital, which is located one block north of the fire station. As soon as the fireman was placed in the ambulance the company proceeded to the fire.

Coroner Thomas A. Killip took charge of the case and ordered the body taken to the morgue, where he performed an autopsy. It was thought at first that Gracey received a fractured skull, as he fell from the truck after being crushed and struck his head on the curb at one side of the driveway, but the autopsy did not reveal a fracture of the skull. Seven ribs were broken and several of them punctured the lungs.

Gracey occupied apartments at 425 Main street east, having moved recently from 81 Main street east. The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 10:30 o'clock from the home at 731 Main street east. The body will be taken to Port Hope, Ont., for burial. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Lena Nolan Gracey, and a son, Ernest Gracey, of Chicago, Ill.

Coroner Killip will conduct an inquest at a date to be announced later.

The fire was in the dwelling and tailor shop of Joseph Guck, 11 Klueh street, and damage estimated at $1,000 was done before the flames were extinguished. The cause of the blaze is unknown.

He arrived in Geneva on an investigating trip on Thursday. Mr. Benham took a room at the Kirkwood Hotel, where he has stopped for years. Thursday evening. He was about as usual Friday and Friday night was heard about the room and his deep breathing was heard by several who passed his room during the night.

Yesterday morning he failed to come down stairs. He was not an early riser, but the maid being desirous of changing the linen in the room, made an effort to enter late in the morning. There was no response and she summoned Charles Ketchel, the clerk. Mr. Ketchel climbed on a chair and, looking through the transom, saw Mr. Benham lying on the floor. Entrance to the room was forced and as soon as the body was reached it was seen that he was dead. Coroner Flint was notified. The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of Kennedy and a complete examination was made by Dr. Grove, who pronounced death due to a stroke of apoplexy. It was stated by George M. Benham, his only son, that Mr. Benham had suffered one or two slight strokes on previous occasions.

ADVERTISING MAN DIES SUDDENLY FOLLOWING ATTACK OF HEART TROUBLE

Herald 6/26/1916

One of the best known, best liked, and most capable newspaper and advertising writers in Rochester passed away Saturday night, in the death of John Eber Mable, who succumbed to an attack of heart trouble at his home at 4 Livingston Park. Mr. Mable had the benefit of a wide newspaper experience when he came to Rochester nine years ago and joined the editorial staff of The Rochester Herald. He once had been the editor and owner of a newspaper in Salamanca. Later he had traveled over most of the United States and had engaged in newspaper work in a number of places, including Pueblo, Col., and Montpelier, Vt.

After seven years in the editorial rooms of The Herald, Mr. Mable became associated with the counting room of the newspaper, where his abilities soon gained for him the position of assistant advertising manager. His devotion to his chosen work was unflagging. He was zealous, untiring and intensely loyal. His wholesome qualities of heart and manner not only made for him a legion of personal friends, but made him one of the most valued employees a newspaper could have. He was of an engaging and sunny disposition, and he had a depth of heart that responded at once to any appeal to its sympathy. He was active in charitable deeds, of which he said nothing. No man ever went in distress to John Mable that he was not aided and made to feel that his trouble was lighter after the meeting.

While he was a reporter, Mr. Mable was thrown in contact a great deal with the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic in Rochester, and he always was their sworn friend. Old eyes always brightened at the sight of "Jack" Mable, and tremulous voices always responded eagerly to his hearty, "Well, how are you, comrade?" His motto through life was "Play the game—and play it square." And he played it that way.

Sudden Seizure.

For a number of years Mr. Mable had been a sufferer from the malady that brought about his death. He did his work as usual Saturday, and had not complained of any unusual pain. He had gone home and made ready to retire for the night when he was seized with a paroxysm of acute dilation of the heart. He fell and died before medical aid could be summoned.

Mr. Mable was active in the Masonic fraternity. He was a member of Rochester Lodge 660, F. and A. M.; Ionic Chapter, R. A. M.; Cyrene Commandery 39, Knights Templars; Rochester Consistory, A. A. S. R.; Damascus Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S.; Salamanca Lodge, I. O. O. F., and the Rochester Ad. Club. He was 41 years old. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Belle Mable; an infant son, Hamilton Mable, and a sister, Miss Ettabelle Mable of Buffalo. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock from Mt. Hope Chapel. Services will be in charge of Cyrene Commandery 39, Knights Templars, and Rochester Lodge 660, F. and A. M. Interment will be made in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

J. W. Engle Drowned in Atlantic Near Norfolk Life Guards Fail in Struggle to Save Rochester Man from Powerful Undertow.

J. Whitman Engle, 30 years old, was drowned on Wednesday at Virginia Beach, about fifteen miles east of Norfolk, Va., on the Atlantic ocean. He lived in Selye terrace, near Dewey avenue.

Engle, who was regarded as an exceptionally strong swimmer, had gone in bathing in the afternoon, according to a dispatch from Norfolk. As he swam farther and farther from shore, the coast life guards tried to attract his attention, for there is a strong undertow at that point.

At length it was seen that he was in distress. Two of the guards went to his assistance, but the struggles of the drowning man and the pull of the undertow loosened him from their grasp, and they were obliged to strike out for shore to save their own lives. A search was made for the body, but it was not until last night that reports were received from the Southern city that the body had washed ashore.

In the pocket of Engle's coat was found the address, "J. W. Engle, Belfast, N. Y." The young man came here a few years ago from that place. The Norfolk authorities notified the Belfast police, who got into touch with Richard

B. Engle, a brother, of No. 215 Albe-marle street, who is employed in the post-office.

Engle leaves, besides his brother, his mother, Mrs. Martha J. Engle, and a sister, Miss Florence Engle. Mrs. Engle is in ill health. He was a draughtsman in the offices of Leon H. Lempert & Son, theater architects, at No. 149 Cutler building.

Leon Lempert, Jr., first learned the news of his employee's death from a reporter.

"Whit was one of the finest young fellows imaginable," he said. "He wanted very badly to enlist with Troop H when the call came for the National Guard to mobilize, but his mother's condition forbade it. He was a first-class swimmer."

Engle left the city a week ago Wednesday night, intending to take a vacation of two weeks. He took the Hudson river trip from Albany on Thursday, a week ago, and intended to leave New York the following day for Richmond, by way of Washington. He was in Richmond on Tuesday, it was learned. He had promised his employer to notify him of his next address, and Mr. Lempert was expecting word from him yesterday.

AS SOLDIER; GIRL GRIEVES AND DIES

Miss Ruby S. Lasslie Hides Sorrow as Much as Possible—Previously Ill.

Back of the formal announcement of the sudden death of Ruby S. Lesslie, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Lesslie, 205 Hazelwood terrace, lies the grim shadow of war, interlaced with a sister's devotion.

Miss Lesslie had not been in good health for some time, but there were no indications that death was near at hand. Indeed, the indications were that she was recovering from her malady. Though she grieved at the departure of her young brother, J. Clifford Lesslie, Company H, Third Regiment, for Camp Whitman, Saturday night, there was no real sign of how deeply the sorrow had cut until she was taken suddenly and fatally ill late Sunday night, death ensuing shortly afterward. She was a young woman of sunny disposition and a temperament that kept its worries and sorrows to itself. Her friends knew that the going away of her soldier brother was a genuine matter of grief to her, but believed that she would become reconciled to it, and that her optimistic nature would make her see the hopeful side of his enlistment.

All day yesterday, and for several days before Assemblyman Powers, worked with the military authorities for a furlough for Clifford Lesslie, and late yesterday afternoon came word that he had been granted three days' leave, to attend the funeral, which will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the chapel in Mount Hope cemetery, the body having been placed there yesterday. The services will be conducted by Rev. Edward P. Hart of St. Mark's church.

Early this morning, Charles Lesslie, another brother whose home is in San Francisco reached Rochester. Clifford Lesslie will reach here to-morrow morning. Under army regulations it will be necessary for him to be in camp when the regiment is mustered or he will lose membership and the chance to participate in the movements. To-morrow will probably be the latest date at which the mustering can be done.

Miss Lesslie is survived by her parents, four sisters, Annabelle, Helen and Georgia Lesslie, and Mrs. C. A. Schwab; and three brothers, Charles, A. Paul, and J. Clifford Lesslie.

Friends are invited to be present at the funeral services at Mount Hope cemetery to-morrow afternoon.

DESIGNER OF MACHINERY

Frank A. Stecher, President and General Manager of North Goodman Street Plant, Dies.

Frank A. Stecher, president and general manager of the Stecher Lithographic Company, Inc., and recognized dean of the lithographic business of the country, died yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the home at 1132 East Avenue, following nearly six months illness. Death was due to heart trouble.

Mr. Stecher was born in Achern, Baden, Germany, in 1849, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Metchler Stecher. At the age of 10 years he came to this country with his father and brother, Charles Stecher. They all three located in Boston, where both sons obtained employment as lithographic apprentices with the Charles Meisel Lithographic Company. Some time later Charles Stecher came to Rochester, and his brother Frank entered the employment of the W. F. Forbes Lithographic Company of Boston.

Found Big Rochester Enterprise.

Having saved nearly $2,000 from his wages, Frank A. Stecher took a trip to New York City and Rochester, where he visited his brother and other relatives, in 1870. In this city the young man found an opportunity to enter into business. He became associated with Charles F. Muntz and Anton Rahn in the purchase of the lithographic plant of Adolph Molte and Frederick Cook, lithographers and printers.

It was in a single room, containing two presses and a desk, that the new firm, known as Charles F. Muntz & Company, began. In 1874 Mr. Rahn retired and Charles F. Mensing bought out Mr. Muntz's interest in the firm, the name changing to Mensing & Stecher. Mr. Mensing retired from the business and went to California in 1880, selling his interest to Mr. Stecher. The business then was conducted as the Stecher Lithographic Company, which was incorporated in 1886.

Business Grows Rapidly.

From the little room in the Market Street building, the business expanded to larger quarters in the present building of the Union and Advertiser in Exchange Street. Later a building was erected in St. Paul Street. That was enlarged a number of times, and in 1900 the company erected its present plant at 274 North Goodman Street.

In 1894 the company was printing all the boxes for a large cigarette manufacturing company in Japan. The owner of the plant came to Rochester the same year and persuaded Mr. Stecher to return to Japan with him to organize a lithographic company. With the Japanese as his partner, Mr. Stecher formed the first lithographic company in Japan, making a number of trips to the Far East in the interest of the business. The American Tobacco Company became interested in the proposition and prior to 1900

Plant Example of Efficiency.

Set up as a standard of workmanship and efficiency in management, the Stecher Lithographic Company, Inc., is known throughout the United States, as well as in many foreign countries. The firm for a number of years made all the boxes for the Kimball cigarettes, sending a number of carloads of the boxes to the Rochester plant each week. At present it makes virtually all the seed envelopes used in this country, as well as a large share of the colored postcards, seasonal cards, fruit can labels, and folding boxes.

Mr. Stecher was the first lithographer to use a two color offset press and he also devised a five color press, which receives the paper in one end and turns out completely colored fruit can labels from the other. Recently Mr. Stecher added to the plant a machine for coating the rough paper preparatory to stamping the labels. In 1906 he organized the National Association of Employing Lithographers, becoming president of the organization. He held that position for three terms, retiring in 1909.

Prominent in Other Enterprises.

In addition to the lithographic business, Mr. Stecher was identified with other enterprises in Rochester. He was a director and member of the finance committee of the Lincoln National Bank, and a director of the Genesee Valley Trust Company. He was prominent in all business gatherings in Rochester, and his advice was sought by financiers in many regards.

Mr. Stecher was well known in fraternal and club circles also. He was a member of the Rochester Club, the Oak Hill Country Club, the Knights of Pythias, and was a member of Masonic bodies, including Germania Lodge, F. and A. M., and the A. A. Scottish Rite Masons. He was one of the founding directors of the Rochester Dental Dispensary, being one of the prominent Rochesterians who subscribed to a fund to make possible the terms of George Eastman's gift.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Lencha M. Schlegel of Rochester and Mrs. Lulu Skuse of Los Angeles; two granddaughters, Miss Jane Skuse of Los Angeles, and Miss Helen A. Schlegel of Rochester, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Shedley of Boston. The funeral will take place from the home on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

DEATH CLAIMS
F. A. STECHER

President and General Manager of Stecher Lithographic Company.
Times May 23-1916

LEADER IN BUSINESS

Was Pioneer and Developer in American Field. Prominent Citizen.

Following an illness of six months, Frank A. Stecher, president and general manager of the Stecher Lithographic Company, Inc., died at his home, 1132 East Avenue, at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Death was due to heart trouble. Mr. Stecher came to this country when 10 years old with his father, Mechier, born in Achern, Baden, Germany, in 1849, arriving in the United States, they settled in Boston, where the two sons obtained employment with the Charles Meisel Lithographic Company. Some time later the older brother, Charles, came to Rochester, and his brother, Frank, entered the employ of the W. F. Forbes Lithographic Company, of Boston.

Mr. Stecher is known throughout the world for what he has done for the lithographic trade in this country. With $2,000, a sum which he saved from his wages since coming to this country, Mr. Stecher went to New York in 1870. He included Rochester in his travels in search of an opportunity to invest his money, and was informed that Adolph Molte and Frederick Cook were conducting a printing and lithographing company in this city. Believing that lithography had a big future in America, he purchased that end of the Molte-Cook business with Charles F. Muntz and Anton Rahn as partners.

The new firm, known as Charles F. Muntz & Company, began operations in one room, in the building at Market and Mill Streets. The room contained only two presses and a desk. In 1874 Mr. Rahn retired from the business, his interest being bought out by Charles F. Mensing. The firm name then changed from Charles F. Muntz & Company to Mensing & Stecher. In 1880 Mr. Mensing retired from the business and went to California, selling his interest to Mr. Stecher. The business was then conducted as the Stecher Lithographic Company, which was incorporated in 1886.

The business gradually developed under the guidance of Mr. Stecher and soon new quarters were sought in the Union and Advertiser Building, in Exchange Street. Later the company built a plant in St. Paul Street. Several enlargements were added, but in 1900 the business had increased so much that a new permanent home was thought necessary. The result was the building of its present quarters, in North Goodman Street. The lithographic business is one of the largest growing businesses in America, and at the present time the Stecher Lithographic Company is turning out practically every form of lithographed articles.

That Mr. Stecher has the leadership in American lithography is an undisputed claim. The trade freely acknowledged him as such. Through the inventions and untiring efforts of Mr.

Stecher, lithography in this country is on a basis to compete with that of Germany, the home of Mr. Stecher. Other lithographers of the country found the ideas of Mr. Stecher practical and often put them to use several months after they first appeared at his own factory. Even German competitors have put his ideas to use.

In addition to his being recognized as the head of lithographers in this country, he was the father of lithography in Japan. A Japanese cigarette manufacturer, who purchased his boxes from Mr. Stecher, told of the opportunities in the Orient. Mr. Stecher was persuaded to make a trip to Japan, and there started the Oriental Printing Company. So great was the success of the foreign establishment, that the American Tobacco took over its interests when it purchased the tobacco competitors of the Island Kingdom.

Mr. Stecher was the prime mover in the organization of the National Association of Employers and Lithographers, in 1906. He was the first vice president and subsequently was re-elected several times. Besides his activities in the lithographic field, Mr. Stecher was a director and member of the Finance Committee of the Lincoln National Bank, director of the Genesee Valley Trust Company, director of the Clinton-Mortimer Corporation, the firm which is erecting the Piccadilly Theater, at Mortimer Street and Clinton Avenue North, and was financially interested in Great Lakes shipping.

He was exceedingly generous, although the majority of his gifts were not made public. With nine other Rochesterians, he contributed enough to meet the provisions of the George Eastman gift, in the establishment of the Rochester Dental Dispensary. His friends knew him as a warm-hearted and affable man. He was a member of the Rochester Club, Oak Hill Country Club, Scottish Rite of Masonry, Germania Lodge, F. and A. M., Knights of Pythias, Automobile Club of Rochester and other social organizations. He was somewhat of a bowler, and enjoyed other amusements.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lencha M. Schlegel, of 1132 East Avenue, and Mrs. Lulu Skuse, of Los Angeles; two granddaughters, Miss Helen A. Schlegel and Miss June Skuse, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Shedley, of Boston. His brother, Charles, died in this city some time ago. The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home, 1132 East Avenue.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the house.

Stedman and Dr. John F. W. Whitbeck. The active pallbearers will be Nelson Sage, George C. Gordon, William C. Barry, Jr., Fred G. Barry, Harold D. Bentley and George Motley.

Mrs. Allen was one of ten children and was born in this city December 1, 1860, the daughter of Freeman and Henrietta J. Ward Clarke. She was married to Frederic P. Allen November 25, 1874. Mr. Allen died May 2, 1905. He was a man of considerable prominence in business. Among the positions held by him was that of cashier of the German-American bank, now the Lincoln National bank.

The family of which Mrs. Allen was a member is one of the oldest and best known in the city and various members have engaged in public work, some holding offices of prominence in the nation. Mrs. Allen's father was Freeman Clarke, once a member of congress, comptroller of the currency and a man recognized as a financier of unusual ability.

Mr. Clarke came to Rochester from Albion, where he was cashier of the Bank of Orleans. Here he became largely interested in banking and in organizing railroad, telegraph and other large corporations. He organized the Rochester bank for himself under the general banking law of the state, and was chosen treasurer and one of the trustees of the Monroe County Savings bank.

In the panic of 1857 he organized and became president of the Monroe County bank, holding this office until appointed comptroller of the currency. The bank later was changed to a national bank and was called the Clarke National bank.

Mrs. Allen's mother was Miss Henrietta J. Ward, youngest daughter of Dr. Levi Ward, who was married to Mr. Clarke in 1833. The Wards came to Rochester from Bergen in 1817. She was president of the Ladies' society of St. Peter's Presbyterian church and up to a few years ago was connected with the Industrial school, in Exchange street, and the Rochester Orphan asylum.

Impaired health, attributed to her unremitting work for the unfortunate, caused Mrs. Allen to sever her connections with the last two organizations. She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Colonial Dames and of several other bodies.

FOR HALF CENTURY IN SHOE BUSINESS
7/1/1916
William H. Wood, Veteran Manufacturer, Dead.

There was buried at Mount Hope cemetery this week one of the best known men in the Rochester shoe industry. William Henry Wood, aged 71 years, a veteran of the Civil war and for nearly a half century a manufacturer and salesman of shoes. Mr. Wood had a wide acquaintance in the shoe and leather industry of the United States. His work on the road began in 1866, and in 1868 he was selling shoes throughout the West for J. T. Stewart & Company, of Rochester, a firm long since out of business.

Mr. Wood claimed to be the first salesman to sell shoes from a grip. He was driven to that method when in St. Louis, in 1869, because of his impatience while waiting at the 'Planters' Hotel for the shoe buyers to come into his sample room. The older and better known salesmen registered at the hotel received the attention of the buyers first. Mr. Wood bought two large satchels and filled them with his samples. The next morning, before the sample rooms of his competitors were opened, he was out calling on the buyers and taking their orders. This system has since become quite popular.

Mr. Wood for a quarter of a century traveled to the Pacific coast for E. P. Reed & Company. Later he manufactured infants' soft-sole shoes under the name of W. H. Wood & Company. The firm name was several times changed. In 1910 Mr. Wood sold his interests in the Wood & Johnson Company to William T. Morris, of Penn Yan. He for several years manufactured an arch support, which he had patented, and later, up to the time of his illness, he manufactured steel shanks.

Mr. Wood leaves his wife and several daughters. His death occurred after a prolonged illness at the home of a daughter at Richfield Springs, N. Y. The funeral on Monday at Mount Hope Chapel was attended by many friends, including a number of shoe manufacturers and salesmen of Rochester.

DO ANYTHING NILES IS DEAD; FELL AT OSHKOSH

Crowds, Believing Daring Rochester Aviator Is Trying to Amuse Them, Applaud When His Monoplane Breaks.

Oshkosh, Wis., June 26.—Ten thousand persons gathered at an auto and motorcycle matinee here yesterday afternoon and saw Charles F. Niles, of Rochester, N. Y., featured as a sensational aviator, take a fall from his monoplane that resulted in his death at 6.15 o'clock this morning in a local hospital.

Charles F. Niles.

Niles had performed and had about completed his act after executing a variety of dare-devil feats such as looping the loop, flying upside down and numerous spiral glides, when suddenly it was noticed that some object had become detached from his machine and was falling. He was then about 2,500 feet in the air. The crowd began applauding as it was believed the object was a "bomb" aimed at a target.

Those with autos, including several doctors, reached the man shortly after several gardeners living in the vicinity were able to render first aid. He was found unconscious and the engine of the machine sunk three feet into the ground. Blood was flowing from a deep gash on the head.

An examination was delayed until the man could be taken to the hospital, where it was found the left clavicle was broken, the brain crushed and the entire left side badly bruised. Internal hemorrhage was feared and that is what caused death several hours later.

Niles's wife was among the spectators at the time. He had shown here a year before and his exhibition this year attracted a record crowd.

Niles was married last Friday at Chicago to Miss Lucille Goddard, whom he met in the Philippine Islands. He was 26 years of age.

A Daring Aviator.

The plane continued to descend, somewhat fantastically, but yet the crowd thought this was only the continuation of the thrilling exhibition. When about five hundred feet in the air and when the outlines of the plane could be seen distinctly it righted itself so that one plane followed the engine, and it was noticed that the other plane was broken off. It was then realized that Niles had had an accident. The plane fell rapidly at an angle of about thirty degrees, having been carried about two miles away from the place of exhibition. Crowds from the grand stand immediately rushed for the place where Niles had fallen.

Niles's manager will bring the body to Rochester. Arrangements for the funeral will be made later.

Rochester is his birthplace and has always been his home town. Niles was one of the most daring of airmen. He astonished the crowds of New York by his flights around the statue of liberty and his looping the loop feats on Long Island, and served for some time as an aviator in Carranza's army when he was fighting Villa and Huerta.

The number of times Niles has escaped death by apparent miracles of nerve, skill and luck has ceased to be counted by persons who have followed his meteoric career. When flying for Carranza he performed feats which made the Mexicans regard him as a man under the special protection of Providence, and last winter when flying in Japan he was decorated by the Mikado and won the applause of the entire Island Empire for his feats in the air.

February 2, 1914, when Niles was flying over the Hempstead plains in Long Island, he was nearly killed. He was flying upside down, strapped into his seat, when the gasoline supply of his monoplane gave out. The machine began to fall rapidly, tail first and the watching crowd gasped in the expectation of one of the tragedies which dot the brief history of aviation. "Do Anything" however, kept his nerve and by extraordinary exertions succeeding in righting his machine and making a safe landing.

Niles has been injured several times. The most recent accident in which he was hurt was last summer at San Francisco, when he was making an exhibition flight. He fell into San Francisco bay, fracturing his jaw, and suffering injuries from the shock and long submersion in the water.

However, perhaps the most interesting part of this modern adventurer's career was when he was serving Carranza against Villa when the two Mexican leaders were fighting for the supremacy in the southern republic. When interviewed upon his return from Mexico, in April, 1915, he spoke in frank disgust of the conditions prevailing in Mexico, saying:

"Mexico is about done for. She's in the hands of a crowd of looters and bandits, whose battles affect most the element that wants peace—and they always lose. There isn't a man among the present leaders big enough, or caring enough to bring about order; and if the Wilson administration chooses to refuse to intervene, I don't see any result short of ruin. Famine is beginning to touch the country now."

"Huerta Capable Man."

Niles was asked if he knew of any man capable of restoring peace and a semblance of order in Mexico.

"Huerta," he said promptly. "Huerta could do it. He had the better element with him, and he had the right ideas about government. He knew the country needed peace before any other reform could be brought about. That isn't my opinion; I've heard that from foreigners and Mexicans without number."

The aviator disposed of the claims of the present leaders briefly.

"Villa," he said, "has magnificent control of his men. They do what he tells them. He doesn't drink and he doesn't let his soldiers drink. Beyond that he's just an irresponsible bandit who takes what he wants—lives, money—when he wants it. Carranza means well, but he's the goat for his crooked chiefs. Obregon is a pleasant, interesting man, but he's out for what's in it for himself. Zapata is probably the best of the lot. I know he is popular in Mexico City because he wouldn't let his men loot. But he isn't big enough to lead Mexico out of her trouble.

"President Wilson has no friends in Mexico. The responsible element can't understand why the administration can't yet see that it is necessary to do something more than watchfully waiting.

"Intervention is about the only thing that will serve Mexico. And prompt intervention, too.

"Carranza made me some pretty good offers if I'd stay," he said, "but I wasn't tempted. I'm through. It's a bad business down there."

A graphic account of Niles's conquest of the Japanese from the pen of a Japanese correspondent of the New York "Sun," was published last February in that newspaper. Some of the expressions used by the writer add to the article's interest.

Glorious Success Attained.

"I am greatly pleased," writes Toha Hachino, the zealous correspondent, "to have this opportunity to report to the American public what a glorious success in aviation was attained by Mr. Charles Niles, on December 11th and 12th in parade ground Aoyama Tokyo, to the indescribable amazement of the 300,000 of Japanese spectators who have never expected or thought possible anything like such dangerous performances in such tremendous height on such a frail and obstinate machine.

In describing Niles's performance in the air, Toha Hachino wrote:

"Of all the attracting sights I have seen in the past none surpassed in boldness and manliness and faultlessness what was displayed by Mr. Niles. The same must have been the case with all the other speakers. Their cheers and applause literally 'shook the pillars of the firmament and the axis of the earth' (a familiar Japanese expression). For a moment they lost themselves in ecstasy of admiration over the incredible wonders they have for the first time seen displayed by an American. One and all, as if by previous arrangement, shook their hats, crying out like people who have gone crazy. These Americans would be ashamed to talk of the Japanese expulsion any more, if only they personally witnessed it."

William Patrick Eagan. 1916
SAVANNAH, N. Y., July 5.—Patrick Eagan died last evening at the home of Irving Ashmore. Mr. Eagan was born in Ireland 76 years ago and had been 60 years in this country, having lived most of this time in Elbridge, N. Y. He leaves four daughters, Mrs. Irving Ashmore, Mrs. Daniel Lyon, Mrs. Michael Doyle, all of Savannah and Mrs. James Boggs of Syracuse, and one son, Frank Eagan of Morrisville. Funeral was held this morning at Jordan.

NILES GAVE UP $50,000 TO SERVE HIS COUNTRY

About to Get a Commission in United States Army When Death Ended Career of Noted Rochester Aviator—Young Widow Gives Account of His Fall.

Charles F. Niles gave up $50,000 to be of service to his country. Provided with a proper aeroplane, he was to have had a commission in the aviation corps of the United States army; he had expressed his willingness to accept a commission and was making a final exhibition flight before entering the Federal service when he fell and was fatally injured at Oshkosh, Wis., Sunday. Examination of his effects showed contracts offered him which would have netted him $50,000, but he gladly passed them by "to do his bit." Death prevented him from carrying out his intention.

He had a premonition of what would happen to him and as he walked toward the aviation ground with his young wife Sunday afternoon he talked about accidents for a moment, but soon put the idea from him with the remark, "Let's talk about something else." The widow, who came to Rochester with the body of her husband, is heartbroken. They had been married only a few weeks.

When Niles returned from Japan a short time ago, after a series of notable exhibition flights, he met on the steamer Empress of Asia Miss Lucille Goddard, of LeGast, P. I., the daughter of a prominent attorney, on her way to school in the United States. Their acquaintance developed into a courtship and they were married. Her honeymoon has been transformed into a period of mourning for her husband.

Niles's body is at the home of his sister, Mrs. L. J. Barth, 73 Monroe avenue, surrounded by floral tributes from his many admirers in Rochester and other places.

Funeral To-morrow.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. David L. Ferris, rector of Christ church, will officiate. The bearers will be Charles and A. J. Bath, Harry Stanton, George Strickle, George Powers and Harold Acker. Interment will be in the cemetery at Ontario, N. Y., to-morrow afternoon.

Niles made a brave and skillful fight for his life, according to Mrs. Niles, who saw the accident. He had just finished what is known in aviation parlance as the "tail slide" in which the machine is allowed to descend tail first, having slowed down the revolutions of his engine. This completed, he applied more power and started to ascend. The machine was at a height of about 2,000 feet and the machine was tilted a bit. This feat Niles is said to have originated and he was proud of it.

As the machine responded and started to right itself, the little bride, seated in the grandstand, anxiously watching her husband high in the air, saw the tip of the right wing crumple. Her description of what followed was gripping because of its simplicity.

"Charlie tilted the machine the other way," she said, "and started to come down. There was some excitement and everyone feared that he would fall. He came down lower and lower and was within a short distance from the ground when the machine dropped."

Fights for Safety.

The story told by Max Friedman, manager of Mr. Niles, to the dead aviator's relatives, gave more details. Undaunted by what had occurred, Niles tried to land safely. He jockeyed his machine so as to avoid the release of air pressure because of the broken wing. Other aviators at the field, according to the reports coming to Rochester, were astounded at the display of aerial skill and believed that Niles would land without harm to himself. He was within thirty feet of the ground when the machine dropped, a mass of wreckage. Had he had thirty feet less to fall his life might have been saved. Niles had been flying a monoplane and was strapped to his seat in the fuselage, the pit behind the engine.

"We are told that if he had been flying a biplane instead of a monoplane, he would have escaped with minor injuries," one of his relatives said to. "He would have been thrown clear of the wreckage and would have escaped. As it was, he was crushed under the wreckage. He landed in a field only a short distance from the aviation field. Several nearby residents hurried to his assistance. He was unconscious and bleeding."

A passing automobile was requisitioned and he was hurried to St. Mary's hospital in Oshkosh. Friends cared for the bride, who was taken to the home of J. A. Powers, father of an aviator friend.

Hopes Held Out.

Niles's condition appeared to be good when taken to the hospital in Oshkosh and at first hopes were that he would ultimately recover. He was delirious at times and in his delirium would repeat the actions incident to his attempt to save himself when his aeroplane went wrong earlier in the day. Later Sunday night an operation relieved a blood pressure on the brain. In six hours he was expected to have passed the crisis, but by 6 o'clock Monday morning his condition was seen to be hopeless and he died twenty minutes later.

Tokens of Esteem.

Niles was of a modest, pleasant disposition and told his relatives but little of the honors which came to him. After his death tokens found in his effects indicated the high esteem in which he was held by airmen in various parts of the world. Photographs showed him greeted by members of the Japanese royal family and some of the Nipponese nobles. In his trunk was found a samurai sword of beautiful design and great value, which the mayor of Tokio had given him. A photograph depicted the presentation. This sword is presented for great feats of daring.

From Baron Sakatani, vice-president of the Imperial Aero club, of Japan, he had received a gold screen. The students of the University of Japan had honored him after a flight in the university grounds at Kagashima. Of all this he said little and came back to this country, eager to do what he could for his own country in that line of endeavor in which he excelled. He had hobnobbed with men of noble birth. To-day many of the humbler walks of life called at the Barth home to pay a last tribute of respect to "Charlie," as they called him.

FUNERAL OF CHARLES F. NILES;
INTERMENT AT ONTARIO.

TELEGRAMS AT HOME HERE

Messages from Japanese Noble, San Francisco Mayor and Others to the Young Widow.

With simple ceremonies, funeral services were held this afternoon at 3 o'clock for Charles F. Niles, noted in many parts of the world as an aviator of unusual skill and daring, who met death in a fall at Oshkosh, Wis. His manager, one of his aviator associates, his grief stricken widow and a few of his old friends assembled at 73 Monroe avenue, the home of his sister, where the body was brought after his death. Rev. Dr. Robert E. Brown, pastor of Asbury M. E. church, officiated at the simple service.

The body was taken to Ontario, N. Y., where interment will be made in the Niles family lot. The bearers were Charles Barth, A. L. Barth, Harry Stanton, George Strickle, George Powers and Harold Acker.

Niles was known but little in his home town. He kept himself in the background, according to his friends, and did not court notoriety. Expressions of condolence received since his untimely death indicate that in other places he was much sought after and honors were thrust upon him.

Mayor Telegraphs.

His widow has received a telegram of condolence from C. C. Moore, president of the Panama-Pacific exposition, at which Niles's flying was one of the big attractions. Mayor Rolph, of San Francisco, telegraphed his expression of sympathy. So many telegrams were received at the offices of his managers in Chicago that it became necessary to employ a man to answer them.

Mrs. Niles received a cablegram to-day expressing the sympathy of Baron Osakasahi, publisher of the "Asahi Shimbun," the greatest newspaper in Japan. When Niles was in Japan the nobleman took great interest in his feats and later published in his newspaper a history of Niles's life. His correspondent at San Francisco cabled the information of the death of Niles to the home office of his paper in Osaka, Japan, and the cable of condolence followed speedily.

Other cables came from high Japanese officials who knew Niles and admired his daring. The dead aviator had been honored in Japan. He was decorated with the order of the Rising Sun, one of the greatest honors a Japanese can bestow upon a foreigner. According to the reports of his manager, Niles was a popular idol with the Japanese and all united to do him honor. The princes of the imperial family frequently visited his hangars and through an interpreter had the workings of his aeroplane explained to them.

The "Niles" Pen.

One progressive manufacturer of fountain pens made a new brand which he named the "Niles." With one of the "Niles" pens, named in honor of her dead husband the young widow was acknowledging expressions of condolence to-day. To her the full realization of what has occurred is just beginning to come.

"It seems years since last Sunday," she said to-day. "I had heard so much of his flying from others, but had never seen him fly before. I looked forward to it and was so anxious, but I never dreamed that the outcome would be so terrible." Despite her efforts to restrain herself, the tears came.

Her situation is pathetic. The brief happiness of her short married life is turned to grief, and she is thousands of miles from her parents. The sister of the dead man, Mrs. L. J. Barth, is caring for her and after a short visit she will go to distant relatives in Ohio to remain with them until her return to her home in the Philippine islands.

The death of Niles may mean the end of "looping the loop" and other aerial "stunts" presented for the enjoyment of sensation seekers, according to Max Friedman, manager for Niles. "Niles was the best man at that kind of work," Mr. Friedman said. "Now he has fallen and I believe it will put a stop to that kind of aerial work, which is attended by unnecessary risk and does not demonstrate anything but a man's ability to control his machine provided it does not break."

The manager gave a new side to Niles's character of which the dead aviator said little or nothing. "He did not use liquor or tobacco," the manager said, "and was clean in every way. In foreign countries the missionaries recognized his high type of manhood and invited him to speak to their converts. The men who worked with him were fond of him because he was unaffected and unspooled by his great success."

WIDELY KNOWN PHYSICIAN DIES AFTER SEIZURE

D+C, 7/4/1916
Heart Attack Ends Life of Dr. J. F. W. Whitbeck.

PROMINENT IN PROFESSION

Made Name for Himself as Surgeon and Served as President of State Society — Son of Physician and Leaves a Son Also a Physician

Dr. John F. W. Whitbeck, one of the best-known physicians of Rochester, died yesterday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock at his home, No. 800 East avenue, after an illness of about three hours. Early in the forenoon Dr. Whitbeck seemed in excellent health. He went to his office, in Park avenue, and later to the office of another physician for a call. About 10:30 o'clock a heart attack seized him. He was taken to his home, and about two hours later he died.

For many years Dr. Whitbeck was president of the staff of the General Hospital, and he was known throughout this state as a surgeon. He was born in Lima seventy-two years ago. His parents were Dr. John F. and Elizabeth Ward Whitbeck. The elder Dr. Whitbeck later came to Rochester, and here had a large practice for more than forty years.

Studied Three Years in Europe.

Dr. Whitbeck attended Rochester schools and the University of Rochester, where he finished in 1867. He took up the study of medicine in response to his father's wish. He entered the Medical College of the University of Pennsylvania and was graduated in 1870. Then he went abroad and studied for three years, much of the time in Germany. He specialized in surgery and in gynecology.

Dr. Whitbeck began to practice in this city in 1873, and success came quickly. For twelve years, from 1892 to 1904, he conducted a private hospital in Park avenue. While he became one of the leading surgeons of the state, he was slow to recommend an operation, if medical treatment would serve. He would say, "All operations are serious."

Served as State President.

Dr. Whitbeck was at one time president of the Medical Society of the State of New York. He served as president of the Rochester Academy of Medicine, and was a member of the Pathological Society of Rochester and the American medical Association, and a fellow of the American College of Surgeons. At the time of his death he was president of the staff of the General Hospital and president of the Board of Managers of Iola Sanatorium. Dr. Montgomery E. Leary, superintendent of the sanatorium, said last evening:

"He was dean of the fraternity in this city. Whatever was done at Iola was not the spirit of the sanatorium, but the spirit of Dr. Whitbeck. I know of no one who can fill his place."

In addition to his professional affiliations, Dr. Whitbeck was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, the Genesee Valley Club and the Country Club of Rochester.

DR. J. F. W. WHITEBECK.

Dr. Whitbeck was one of four children, one sister, Mrs. Frances Whitbeck Parsons, who was the wife of Senator Cornelius R. Parsons, died two years ago. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Fannie Van Hoesen Whitbeck; one son, Dr. Brainerd H. Whitbeck, of New York; a sister, Mrs. Morris H. Merriman, of Seattle, Wash., and a half-sister, Mrs. Jane Whitbeck Henry, now in California. One son, Caleb Whitbeck, a newspaper man of New Jersey, died a few years ago. Dr. Brainerd Whitbeck is expected to arrive from New York this forenoon.

PHYSICIAN'S LIFE IS MEMORIALIZED BY HIS COLLEAGUES

Professional Friends and Co-workers with Dr. John F. W. Whitbeck Mourn Loss of Brilliant Doctor.

The sudden death of Dr. John F. W. Whitbeck has cast a gloom over the city for he was well known and esteemed by his professional brethren as well as by many friends among the laymen. The Monroe County Medical society and the Academy of Medicine members have passed suitable resolutions on his death.

The Monroe County Medical society resolution is:

"Resolved, That through the death of Dr. John F. Whitbeck the Monroe Medical society has lost one of its most distinguished members. Son of a prominent surgeon, thoroughly equipped for his professional career by the best schools at home and abroad, he early won recognition as a painstaking diagnostician and skillful operator. Loved by his patients, trusted by his brother practitioners, who constantly sought his advice and assistance, he soon became known throughout Western New York as one of the wisest of consultants. His professional career, won without the least degree of jealousy or ill-feeling, culminated in an honor which brought distinction to the Monroe County medical society as well as to himself, the presidency of the Medical society of the state of New York."

D. G. Hastings,
E. B. Angell, Committee.

Members of the Academy of Medicine adopted this resolution:

"Inasmuch as Dr. John F. W. Whitbeck has suddenly been called from us by death, we, his fellow members, resolve that in the death of Dr. Whitbeck the Rochester Academy of Medicine has lost one of its most illustrious fellows, a surgeon of greatest skill, a physician of wisest judgment, a friend of fullest sympathy."

"His career from the time of his student days in Germany to the year when he was chosen president of the largest state medical society in the United States was full of activity—a life devoted to the interests of the medical calling. Dr. Whitbeck was a charter member of the academy, early a president of the organization, and always deeply interested in its welfare. We mourn the sudden termination of a useful and active life, the loss of one who was ever known for his extreme kindness to his fellow practitioners, particularly the younger members of the profession."

ONE FUNERAL IS HELD FOR THREE BOYS IN CHURCH

Victims of Drowning Are Laid to Rest Together.

BOY SCOUTS HONOR GUARD

John Cherry, Warner and Lawrence Clark, Who Lost Their Lives in Silver Lake, Are Buried; Many Attend Service—Mass of Flowers

P. & C. 7/8/1916
Widespread sorrow and sympathy was shown by a great audience that gathered yesterday afternoon at Central Presbyterian Church for the funeral of three boys who lost their lives by drowning in Silver Lake on July 4th, John Douglas Cherry, son of Rev. and Mrs. C. Waldo Cherry, and Warner and Lawrence Clark, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Clark, of No. 203 Electric avenue. All the lads were members of Troop 16, Boy Scouts. Warner Clark and John Cherry were members of the church and Lawrence, the youngest, was in the Sunday-school. The two older boys were 16 years old and Lawrence was 13.

Three small caskets rested in front of the pulpit, almost covered with flowers. Between one and two hundred floral pieces were arranged about the rostrum with palms in a way that gave the appearance of an altar rising high above the platform. Guards, ushers and bearers all were Boy Scouts dressed in the uniform of their organization. Two large American flags were back of the pulpit. Members of the boys' own troop, No. 16, constituted a guard of honor.

Three Ministers Officiate.

Before the services were begun, the guard moved to the front of the church, near the caskets, under the direction of the scoutmaster, Rev. Leo Alvin Gates, assistant pastor of Central Church. All in this guard wore badges of mourning on their sleeves. Delegations from every troop in the city were in attendance as escort, with Rochester's Scout commissioner, Henry D. Shedd, in charge. Colonel Samuel P. Moulthrop, chief scout of the city, was present. Referring to the funeral, Colonel Moulthrop said:

"If we could have reached all the Boy Scouts in the city, every one would have been there with head uncovered."

Three clergymen officiated. Rev. Henry H. Stebbins, former pastor of Central Church; Rev. William R. Taylor, pastor of Brick Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Clarence A. Barbour, president of the Rochester Theological Seminary, Dr. Taylor read from the Scriptures; Dr. Stebbins made the address, and Dr. Barbour offered prayer and the benediction. The Rochester Male Quartette, John W. Singleton, first tenor; George W. Walton, second tenor; J. Guernsey Curtis, first base, and Herbert L. Tracy, second base, sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and "Oh, Love That Will Not Let Me Go." Norman Nairn was at the organ.

Graves Near Each Other.

While the caskets were taken from the church, Boy Scouts formed two lines, one on either side of the Church-street entrance, where they remained until the mourners of both families had left the church. The Scouts also were at the cemetery.

ing lots in Riverside cemetery, the Clark boys' caskets were placed in the far away. The three ministers who officiated at the church conducted the burial service. So many flowers surrounded the graves that it seemed as though the lads were to lie in a garden.

The bearers were as follows:
For John Cherry—Grant Clements, Richard Reiner, Jack Wilson, Donald Turner, Angus Turner, Robert Loghes.
For Warner Clark—Austin Brown, Homer Crusier, Earl Farnum, George Norman, Henry Searle, Ralph Anderson.

For Lawrence Clark—Elliott Hague, Carl Morrison, Earl Manley, Austin Tait.

Companion Sends Flowers.

Among the flowers were three pieces, one for each casket, sent by Elliott B. Hague, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Hague, of Main street East, who was in the boat with the boys who lost their lives. The boys in the guard of honor were Austin Brown, James Carr, Homer Crusier, Grant Clements, Earl Farnham, Elliott Hague, Clinton Haines, LeMoyn Kelly, James McInnis, Carl Morrison, Earl Manley, Eugene Mackwood, Ernest Miles, George Norman, Richard Reiner, Henry Searle, Clarence Spencer, Harvey Van Allen, John Wright and Jack Wilson.

Post 7/8/1916

Mr. Gates Makes Statement.

Rev. Leo Alvin Gates, scoutmaster of the troop and in charge of the boys' camp at Silver Lake, has issued a statement trying to clear up the facts concerning the drowning of the three lads. He explains the arrangements of the ball game between his charges and the scouts of a Niagara Falls troop. He says he arranged to have a motorboat take the scouts across the lake to the Niagara Falls boys' camp, but that the motorboat did not come in time to allow the boys to get across the lake to start the game on the scheduled hour. He said in part:

"It was about one-thirty. No boats of any sort had arrived. Doing our best with the boats we had, I knew we could not get there in time for the game at two-thirty, and decided to start with two boatloads, and in case help did not come to send one boat back for the other boys who were to play and Warner Clark, who was to return on the train leaving there at 5.17. Five boys, Walston Brown, Richard Reiner, Henry Searle, James McInnis and Jack Wilson, put off in one boat. About ten minutes later I put off with four more, Walter Cherry, Homer Crusier, Elliott Hague and Carl Morrison. All these boys were to play, one as substitute.

"I was still looking for a motorboat or rowboats to come and help us, and watched as we crossed the lake. To save time if the boat should need to return, we rowed directly across the lake to Fairview; the other boat was rowing up the lake to the Military school. There was a moderate swell, so that we rowed somewhat into the teeth of the wind. We got a few splashes of water, but probably did not ship so much as a teacupful. If anyone felt the smallest alarm, it was not expressed. My fault lay in the fact that I felt none.

"The wounds that have come to our hearts I pray a gracious God to heal, and that He may, as he can, make even of their terrible sorrow a gracious ministry. This is all hard, but it is the way of the Atonement. We are to be 'made perfect through sufferings.' Without life-giving there is no redeeming the world. Mr. Crusier said to me Tuesday night in camp that this would be the price of making twenty better men. May the price not have been paid in vain!"

DEATH OF HOPE WRIGHT BROWN

Former Mail Carrier Passes Away at His Home.

IN SERVICE FOR 33 YEARS

Although He Had to Relinquish Work Six Years Ago, Deceased Is Believed to Have Stood Next to W. H. James in Length of Service

P. & C. 7/10/1916

Hope Wright Brown died yesterday morning at his home, No. 21 Evergreen street, after an illness of four days. Mr. Brown was known to many persons in this city, as he was a letter carrier long in the service. It is believed that next to William H. James he had served the postoffice longer than any other man in the city, thirty-three years.

Mr. Brown was born sixty-three years ago in Dansville. He was educated at the Penn Yan Academy, and, after having completed his course there, he came with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Brown, to Rochester. He had lived here about forty-five years. At the age of 23 he married Miss Emma Wurtz, of this city.

Saw Service Expand.

There were only twenty-two carriers at the postoffice when Mr. Brown went there in 1877. Now there are at least six times that number. The present building is little like the quarters in the Reynolds Arcade where Mr. Brown obtained his first knowledge of postal work. No eight-hour laws prevailed in those days, and he sometimes worked sixteen hours a day. One of the men at the office said yesterday that Mr. Brown was held in the highest regard for both his character and his service.

Six years last April Mr. Brown was stricken with paralysis in St. Paul street when delivering mail. Although he recovered so that he was able to be about, and his mental faculties were unimpaired, he was not able to resume his work. He spent much time in his garden, cultivating fruits and flowers. Blossoms from his garden will be placed about him when he is laid to rest.

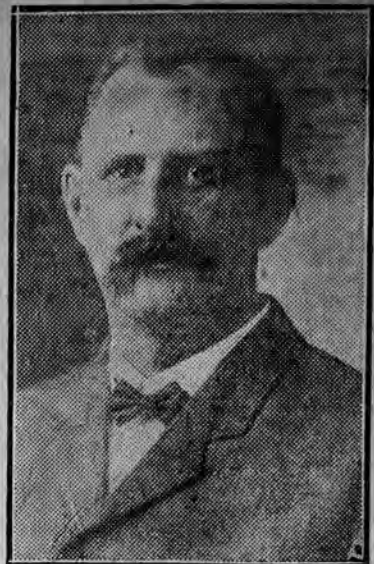

Made Friends in His Work.

Although Mr. Brown had not been in the postal service for six years, persons whom he had come to know in his work retained a warm regard for him. Every Easter and Christmas since he left his route cards have come from some of those he once served as a carrier. Even during the few days of his last illness flowers were sent by such acquaintances.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home. Rev. Frederick Frankenfeld, pastor of Salem Church, will officiate.

Mr. Brown was a member of Yonnon-dio Lodge, F. and A. M., and of Siegel Tent, of the Maccabees. He was active in the old Hedding Methodist Church, which was merged into Grace Church.

Mr. Brown leaves his wife, Mrs. Emma Wurtz Brown; three daughters, Mrs. Bertha A. Cook, of Lockport; Mrs. Mae Hodges, of East Rochester, and Miss Ella Louise Brown, of Rochester, and two grandchildren, Elizabeth Hope Cook and Wright Vernon Hodges.

Victor, July 14.—The death of Edward Boughton, a lifelong resident of Victor, occurred at his home on Main Street in this village at 8:15 o'clock last evening at the age of 79 years. Mr. Boughton's health had been in a precarious condition for a long time and two weeks ago his condition became more serious and a heart affection hastened the end. On August 28, 1837, Edward Boughton was born in a little log house in pioneer days, the son of Levi and Rachel Gillis Boughton. That first log home was situated on a hill in the township of Victor about three and a half miles northwest of the present prosperous village, and there a commodious home was erected many years ago, where his son, Linus Boughton, has resided for several years. Edward Boughton's father, Levi Boughton, cleared and settled that first farm, and in primitive ways planted his first crops, and there the boyhood of Edward Boughton was passed.

November 27, 1861, the marriage of Edward Boughton and Miss Harriet Farnum, also of Victor, took place, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Jobe Pierson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Victor. Mr. and Mrs. Boughton resided at the old homestead until 1899, when they moved into the village of Victor, where they have lived for seventeen years in the home where he passed away. HER HUSBAND FOUNDER OF SANITARIUM

Death of Mrs. Henry Foster Comes Unexpectedly.

PROMINENT IN CLIFTON SPGS.

A Member of Board of Control of Sanitarium Since Its Establishment — Interested in International Missionary Union Meetings

Clifton Springs, July 14.—The residents of this village and vicinity were deeply shocked this morning by the announcement of the death of Mrs. Mary Edwards Foster, widow of Dr. Henry Foster, founder of the Sanitarium. Although it had been known for several days that Mrs. Foster was seriously ill, her death was not expected.

Mrs. Foster was the daughter of William W. and Helen A. Edwards, and was born on June 8, 1837, in Hunter, N. Y. After receiving her early education, she was graduated with high honors from Miss Porter's famous school in Farmington, Conn. In 1872, at the age of 34, she married Dr. Foster in the Edwards' summer home at Hunter. Following her marriage she came directly to this village, where she had since made her home.

She had always wielded a great influence for good, and her ideals were of the highest. She was always deeply interested in all local charity, religious and temperance work, and was a strong supporter of all missionary work, having for many years taken an active part in the annual meeting of the International Missionary Union, in this village.

The early part of this year Mrs. Foster contracted a severe cold, and in February she went to her winter home in Florida, but she never entirely regained her health. On May 29th she underwent an operation in the Sanitarium Annex, which was successful, but owing to complications which developed, and her being unable to take solid nourishment, her strength gradually failed until the end came last evening.

Mrs. Foster had been a member of the Board of Control of the Sanitarium since that body was established by Dr. Foster. The meeting of the board held on Thursday was the first one which she had ever missed, and last evening she received a report of the same and seemed much interested in its proceedings.

Mrs. Foster leaves one sister, Mrs. Anthony Gilkison, and a niece, Miss Gilkison, of New York city, who have been with her during her illness.

The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Sanitarium chapel, and will be conducted by Rev. A. B. Richardson, D. D., acting chaplain of the Sanitarium. The remains will be placed by the side of Dr. Foster in the Clifton Springs cemetery.

---Only One Saved.

BY SPECIAL WIRE TO THE HERALD.

Troy, July 15.—Mrs. George J. Shanley and Mrs. Edward H. Engert, her sister, of Rochester were drowned in Crooked Lake, Averill Park, at 6 o'clock, and Mrs. William J. Wiley of Albany, who went to the rescue of her sisters, was rescued by her young son, Joseph Wiley, and her uncle, Dennis J. Flood of Albany.

The two Rochester women were guests of Mrs. Wiley at her camp. While in bathing, Mrs. Shanley stepped off a ledge into deep water. Mrs. Engert went to her assistance. After both had gone down Mrs. Wiley got into the deep water in trying to aid them. Her son and Mr. Flood obtained life preservers and by means of oars got her to the shore.

Choir boys of St. Joseph's Church of Troy, who were in a nearby camp, dove for the bodies, and Mrs. Shanley was brought to the surface ten minutes later and Mrs. Engert in twenty minutes.

Dr. Dickinson of Troy and Dr. Fiske of West Sand Lake, who were at the lake, worked over the women in an attempt to resuscitate them, and a pulmotor from the Troy Hospital was rushed to the scene. It arrived within an hour after the accident and was used by the physicians and Dr. Thomas A. Ryan of Albany, who came with Mr. Wiley, for half an hour, until the hope of saving the women's lives was abandoned.

Each of the sisters was about 30 years old. Mrs. Engert leaves her husband, a Rochester coal dealer, and three small children. Mrs. Shanley leaves her husband and one child. Mrs. Wiley was formerly of Rochester and is the wife of William J. Wiley, who conducts a meat market at 348 State Street and lives at 214 Lark Street.

WAS FAMOUS NATURALIST

James Laird an Authority on Insects, Flowers and Other Specimens.

DIES AT AGE OF 44
Delighted in Making Trips in Search of New and Rare Objects.

James Laird, one of the best-known lovers of nature in this section of the country, died yesterday morning at the General Hospital. The body has been removed to the family home, 522 Birr Street. The funeral will be held Thursday morning from the home at 8:30 o'clock, and at 9 o'clock from Holy Rosary Church. Interment will be made in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Enthusiastic, a deep student and an authority on insects, flowers and other specimens of nature, much of Mr. Laird's quiet life was spent in many trips to various parts of the state in search of wild flowers and ferns, many of which he transplanted and added to his wonderful collection.

His principal search was for flowers, and in company with his wife, who was his constant companion, his vacations were spent in field work and the studying of bird life. In addition to his collection of flowers and ferns, which is said to be the largest and best in New York State, Mr. Laird had a collection of various insects and other objects naturalistic.

Mr. Laird was born in Trenton, Ontario, Canada, on June 14, 1872. In company with his father, mother and sister, he came to this city about 20 years ago. Securing a position with the Stecher Lithographic Company as pay roll clerk, he gradually worked himself up to the position of estimator.

His quietness and honesty with his friends soon won him many friendships, which were never lost, and all join in mourning his loss. From a business standpoint, Mr. Laird was one of the most trusted employees of the Stecher Lithographic Company. One of his most beautiful traits of character was his confidence in his fellow workers.

Not long ago he presented a collection of more than 1,500 mounted specimens of insects to the University of Rochester botanical collection, and this set is still viewed and studied by the students taking this course.

A better idea of his prominence as an authority on nature specimens can be gained from the fact that he has entertained any number of naturalists from Europe and various parts of the country, who not only came here to view his collections, but to talk over new and rare objects.

He was a member of the C. R. and B. A., the only social organization. He was vice president of the Botanical Section of the Rochester Academy of Science, a position which he held for the past year. He was also a member of the Entomological and the Burrows Nature Audubon Club, as well as the Rochester Academy of Science, and several national associations and clubs.

FUNERAL OF SISTERS WHO WERE DROWNED Post-7/19/1916

BISHOP THOMAS F. HICKEY CELEBRATES PONTIFICAL REQUIEM MASS.

MANY PRIESTS ASSISTANTS

Throng in Blessed Sacrament Church Weeps at Pathetic Sight.

Blessed Sacrament church in Oxford street to-day was the scene of the most solemn and pathetic service since its erection when the double funeral of Mrs. Margaret A. Engert, who heroically gave her life in a futile effort to save her elder sister, Mrs. Katherine Shanly, from being drowned in the waters of Crooked lake near the summer camp, Pine Point, of their third sister, Mrs. William J. Wiley, of Albany, last Saturday. Mrs. Wiley, who was almost drowned when she went to the rescue of her sisters was present at the service.

Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Hickey, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Rochester, celebrated the impressive pontifical mass of requiem, which is not usual at funerals of the laity. Bishop Hickey is a close friend of the Engert and Shanly families. He was assisted by Rev. Thomas F. Connor, as assistant priest; Rev. Simon FitzSimmons, of St. Mary's church, deacon of honor; Rev. J. Francis O'Hern, of St. Patrick's cathedral, acolyte; Rev. W. E. Cowan, deacon of the mass; Rev. D. V. Lane, sub-deacon; Rev. Joseph Esser, master of ceremonies, and Leo Schwab, book-bearer. The Gregorian mass was sung by a quartette composed of William F. Predmore, Angelo Newman, Robert Hall and Charles Geyer. The ceremony was very impressive.

The church services at 10 o'clock were preceded by services at the home of the drowned women's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Maher, 36 Wilmington street. The church was crowded with hundreds of men and women—relatives and friends of the families. Ushers were unable to find seats for many late-comers and others had to stand outside on the steps of the church. Mrs. Shanly's body was the first to be carried into the church and several paces behind came the casket containing the remains of Mrs. Engert, followed by the relatives of the dead women. Many women wept throughout the services.

Only Margaret Engert eldest of the surviving children of the two women, was present at the services. She had to be supported by her father and George Shanly, her uncle.

The pallbearers were: For Mrs. Shanly, George E. Noeth, George Lennon, Thomas Richardson, William Graigan, Charles Doyle and Victor Yawman; for Mrs. Engert, Frank W. Hahn, Francis J. Yawman, John Maloney, Charles Staud, Henry Kimmel and George Plen.

Mrs. Engert leaves, besides her parents and sisters, Mrs. W. J. Wiley and Miss Anna Maher, her husband, Edward H. Engert, of 244 Barrington street, two daughters, Margaret, aged 8 years, and Suzanne, 5 years, and one son, George E., 11 years. Mrs. Shanly leaves, besides her parents and sisters, her husband, George Shanly, of 244 Barrington street, and one son, Edward Jr., aged 4 years. Interment was made in the Maher family plot in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

The funeral of James Laird, eminent naturalist who died Monday, was held this morning at 8:30 o'clock from the home, 533 Burr street, and at 9 o'clock from Holy Rosary Church. Burial was made in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Mr. Laird was a keen student of plant and insect life. He took many trips, gathering flowers and insects. In this way he got a remarkable collection, and his fame spread abroad, for many times he received letters from the old world asking for information about nature.

In his vacations Mr. Laird went into the fields and studied bird life. Although he had a collection of insects, his most valuable collection was of ferns and flowers, said to be the largest and finest in New York state. Only a short time ago he presented to the botanical department of the University of Rochester a collection of more than 1,500 mounted specimens of insects.

Mr. Laird was born forty-four years ago in Trenton, Ontario. He came to Rochester about twenty years ago with his parents and sister. He made an army of friends, and it is said that he never lost one. He was a member of the Entomological and Burroughs Clubs, Rochester Academy of Science, and several national associations. He was also a member of the Catholic Relief and Benefit Association.

MORTUARY RECORD. Herald July 22 1916 Mrs. Fannie Southgate.

Mrs. Fannie Southgate, wife of Fred M. Southgate and formerly of Rochester, died suddenly yesterday morning at 7 o'clock at the home at Railroad Mills, near Flehlers, aged 60 years. Mrs. Southgate was born at Cambridge, England, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Banham. The family came to this country in the Civil War period, settling in Rochester. Mrs. Southgate had lived in Rochester or nearby since then.

For many years Mrs. Southgate was one of the best known and loved members of Memorial Presbyterian Church. She was active in Sunday school and missionary work, and had a host of friends both in and out of Rochester, who were endeared to her by her lovable and cheerful disposition. Her husband, Fred Southgate, was one of the founders of The Herald, retiring about seventeen years ago and removing to the country, where they had since made their home and where they had lived in earlier life.

A year ago last May Mrs. Southgate was run down by an automobile in State Street and suffered injuries which caused her confinement to the house for many weeks, and which left her general health impaired. An attack of bronchitis and asthma last winter still further reduced her health, although of recent months she had been much improved. A sudden return of the ailment caused her death.

TRIBUTE TO JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

Union 7/27/1916

He dwelt not on some lofty height,
Apart, in starry space,
But down in fields and country lanes,
With children face to face.

"Knee-deep in June" when roses bloom,
"At Old Aunt Mary's," too
A boy whose heart was always young,
The heart of youth he knew.

And if some token I might place
Above his peaceful rest,
I'd send some children from the fields
With wild flowers he loved best.

Some "Orphant Annie" and the lass
Who "ain't a goin' to cry,"
And boys who know
"The swimmin' hole"

Beneath the summer sky.

JUDSON W. PAYNE

Funeral of Former Manchester Hotel Proprietor for Many Years Successful as Cattle Dealer.

July 31 1916

By Special Dispatch to The Herald. Manchester, July 30.—The funeral of Judson W. Payne, the last of the pioneer cattle buyers of this locality, who died Thursday, was held from the undertaking rooms of J. M. Stoddard & Sons of Shortsville Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Donald H. MacKenzie, pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Payne was a son of the late Allen and Sophrona Payne, and was born in the town of Farmington December 6, 1831. At an early age he showed great shrewdness in judging the value of live stock. His first purchase, made at the age of 11 years, consisted of five sheep, which he soon sold at a fair profit. He kept on investing his profits in both cattle and sheep until at the age of 17 years he was able to purchase a large drove of cows and calves, which he took to Little Falls and realized handsomely on.

Later he carried his speculations to Western fields, returning with his purchase to Eastern markets. This he kept up for a long period of years, and often stated that he never purchased any cattle on which he did not realize at least a fair profit, and although at times he lost money through other sources, cattle dealing always brought him gold, which was often looked upon and spoken of as "easy money."

In the days of his trading he was always engaged in some other pursuit, which was sometimes changed, but was usually farming, hotel keeping or the livery business. During the palmy days of the old Manchester Hotel, he was landlord at two different periods, in 1862 and 1863, and again in 1871 he had charge of this well known hostelry. He owned a large livery stable with twenty horses in the village of Clifton Springs, which was a source of revenue to him for many years.

Several years after leaving the Manchester Hotel, he went to Michigan to reside and later returned and took up his residence in Shortsville and three years later came to Manchester and later to Farmington.

MRS. A. ROZELLE

Herald Aug 17 1916
Granddaughter of Moses Fellows, Who Was with Washington at Valley Forge, Dies at Her Lyons Home.

Lyons, Aug. 16.—Mrs. Albert Rozelle died at the home of her son, William H. Rozelle on Broad Street, in this village, this afternoon at the age of 91 years. Death was due to a fall which Mrs. Rozelle suffered in her home several months ago, when she broke her right hip. Up to this time Mrs. Rozelle had kept house for her son, George, and had never seen a sick day and had performed all the household work herself and attended the sewing and mending.

She was born in Livonia December 23, 1824. In 1840 she was united in marriage to Albert Rozelle of this village, who had been making regular trips from Lyons to Livonia selling straw cutters. In the spring of 1841 Mr. and Mrs. Rozelle removed to Lyons and began housekeeping in what is now the Mrs. George F. Sturges house on Butternut Street. Mr. and Mrs. Rozelle later moved to a farm in the Fellows district in West Lyons, now occupied by Jacob Metz. Later they purchased the Rozelle farm, on which they resided until the death of Mr. Rozelle in 1897.

When Mrs. Rozelle was 90 years of age she fell down a flight of stairs, a distance of fourteen feet, sustaining only a few bruises, none serious enough to interfere with her daily duties. She had never been obliged to wear glasses and there was not a gray hair in her head. Up to the day of her death she followed closely the developments of the European war. Her grandfather, Moses Fellows, who was born in Salisbury, N. H., was a Revolutionary War soldier. He took a leading part in the battle of Bunker Hill and was an expert marksman. In the midst of the battle Moses Fellows' supply of bullets ran short. He had selected a redcoat that he thought too active in killing off the American patriots. Fellows used his ram rod as a missile and fired. The redcoat fell never to shoot again.

Mrs. Rozelle's grandfather served throughout the Revolution. He was with Washington at Valley Forge, spending the winter there. A brother of Moses Fellows was one of the party that captured Major Andre, the British spy, and was with General Sullivan's army in the advance through New York State to Livingston County. Mrs. Rozelle was the mother of seven children, for of whom survive her, two sons, William H. Rozelle and George H. Rozelle of this village, and two daughters, Mrs. Miles Hyde of Newark and Mrs. Elmer Barclay of North Lyons. Thirteen grandchildren and twenty great-grandchildren also survive. Mrs. Rozelle's grandmother lived to be 108 years old and her grandfather 98 years old. The funeral will take place Saturday.

LONG AND EVENTFUL LIFE

Teaching School as Young Man, and Shooting Oil Wells To Gain Money for His Medical Education.

By Special Dispatch to The Herald.
Mumford, Aug. 21.—Dr. Lucius W. Byam, a physician and surgeon of the village of Mumford and vicinity for nearly forty years, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lucia J. Powell, 251 Arnett Boulevard, Rochester, N. Y., Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Byam had not been in the best of health for several years, but was around among his friends until two weeks previous to his death. He was born in Warsaw, N. Y., January 1, 1844, and was left an orphan at nine years of age. His early life was passed in teaching school in various neighborhoods around Moscow, Fowlerville and Wyoming, in which places he had scores of friends among his former pupils.

To obtain the means to secure a medical education at Buffalo University, from which institution he graduated in 1870, he "shot" oil wells, going from place to place in the oil regions of Ohio and Pennsylvania with the nitroglycerine. It was while in this work that he met Miss Augusta J. Brady of Tidoute, Pa., to whom he was married in 1873, and who died about five years ago. After he obtained his medical diploma he practiced his profession in Wyoming, Geneseo and Dansville, this state, at that time becoming a member of the Livingston County Medical Society.

He came to Mumford in 1876, living in the house back of what was then Alex F. McPherson's drug store, later moving to the "Spith House," now occupied by Simeon McDonald, then purchasing the house "under the hill," where he lived for over ten years, then going "up on the hill" to the "Harvey House," where he and his family resided for about twenty years, dispensing hospitality to the friends whom they made and ministering to the needs of the body of many people for miles around.

A country doctor's life is one of hard service and the long rides he took in every direction testified to the confidence and the esteem which the people had in him. He and his wife were among the first members of the United Presbyterian Church, he serving as trustee for several years and retaining his membership there to the time of his death.

Dr. Byam was a zealous worker for the cause of temperance and he believed that the Prohibition party was the nearest approach to bringing right in that cause. He was also interested in the movements for the betterment of the community and served several terms as trustee of the village school. For over thirty years he was secretary of the Mumford Rural Cemetery Association, resigning that office on his removal from town, three years ago this month. His fellow members then honored him with the presidency, from which he resigned last June, feeling that one nearer could do better service. During the existence of The Fortnightly Club in Caledonia, Dr. Byam was a valued member, people enjoying on many an occasion his wit and humor. He was a man full of life in word and deed and a great lover of baseball, being score-

REV. P. E. SMITH
Herald, Sept. 19-1916
Oldest Minister in Seneca County Both in Point of Years and Continuous Service Passes Away.

Seneca Falls, Sept. 18.—The career of Rev. Pulaski E. Smith, the oldest clergyman of Seneca County, both in point of years of continuous service and in age, came to a close this morning. He died at his home on Clinton Street, at the age of 87 years. His last illness was but of four days and just previous to that he officiated at a funeral of a lifelong friend, Rev. Mr. Smith was most respected and esteemed by the residents of Tyre and Junius, among whom his active years of ministry were spent. He had made Seneca Falls his home, however, for several years before actually severing his connection with the Baptist Church at Magee.

Rev. Pulaski Smith was born in Tyre in 1823, the son of Jason Smith and a grandson of Asa Smith, a pioneer from Vermont. His early years were spent in Tyre. He fitted himself for the ministry and his first and only pastorate was in the church near his home, the Magee Baptist Church. Rev. Mr. Smith continued his work until about seven years ago and even then his retirement was only in part because for some time he kept in close touch with his church and parish, although not preaching at all services.

Five years ago he preached his final sermon in the church and severed his connection officially after 48 years of continuous service. Since that time he has performed most of the marriages and conducted most of the funerals among the families who have lived in that section of the county for very many years. Rev. Mr. Smith took great pride in telling young people in recent years of having married their parents and in some instances, grandparents. His funeral will be held from his home here Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A friend of many years, Rev. V. A. Sage of Clifton Springs, will conduct the service. Burial will be in Tyre. Rev. Mr. Smith is survived by one son, Edward P. Smith of North Tonawanda, and one daughter, Mrs. L. D. Bettiss of Rochester and several grandchildren.

ANOTHER ROCHESTER BOY

DIES, A HERO, IN FRANCE

Sept. 30-1916

Mrs. Arvilla M. Lottridge of 171 Alexander Street yesterday morning received a telegram from Major General Samuel Hughes of the Canadian War Office at Ottawa informing her of the death of her nephew, Lew Melvin Finch, who, as announced in The Herald yesterday, was killed on Tuesday in France in the heavy fighting on the Somme front.

When the war broke out in Europe, Mr. Finch lived with his aunt, who had given him a home since the death of his mother, ten years before. He was born in Hamilton, Canada, and soon after the beginning of hostilities abroad the young man went to Toronto and enlisted in the First Canadian Overseas Contingent. From the many letters received from him by Mrs. Lottridge, it is learned that he first was assigned to the Signal Corps. Last May, while in that branch of the service, he was wounded in the arm and was very ill for a time with blood poisoning. Upon his recovery, he was transferred to the medical corps. The dispatch from General Hughes to Mrs. Lottridge states that the gallant young soldier lost his life while endeavoring to aid a wounded comrade. It was a part of his duty to remove wounded soldiers from the trenches and place them in ambulances which carried them to places of safety.

After he was brought to Rochester by Mrs. Lottridge, young Finch attended No. 15 School and subsequently attended East High. He will be remembered by his former schoolmates as a likable, clean minded youth, who loved to work as well as to play, and there will be general sorrow among his many acquaintances because of his untimely death. He was 22 years of age.

BOY KILLED

Times 9-29-1916

Lewis M. Finch Shot While Hurrying to Aid of Wounded Soldier.

According to word received in Rochester this morning from the British war office, Private Lewis Finch, a member of the First Canadian Overseas Contingent, lost his life in the drive on the Somme front on Tuesday. The dispatches state that Finch, who was a member of the Dominion Medical Corps, was with the British during three of the hardest weeks of fighting in the whole war. He did excellent work in rendering aid to his injured comrades, and just as the Teutons were evacuating the stronghold Finch was killed.

At the time of his death, Finch was performing Red Cross duty. That particular part of his work included removing the wounded from the trenches and placing them in ambulances to be taken to the field hospitals. The firing on Tuesday was about the heaviest of the entire drive. Finch was trying to reach a dying soldier when he was shot.

Finch was well known here to the younger set, and his many friends received letters from time to time from him. All showed him to be in a cheerful disposition and confident that the Allies would be victorious eventually.
