CHARLOTTE HIGH SCHOOL

ALMA MATER

Air : Maryland, My Maryland

Above the Lake, Ontario Lake,
Stands the High School of Charlotte,
Where the winds reverberate
Where the muses counterplot.
Amid the tall embowering trees
With branches swaying in the breeze,
Here upon this favored spot,
Stands the High School of Charlotte.

Year by year thy children turn,
Alma Mater, to thy halls,
Life's precious lessons here they learn,
Treasure find within thy walls.
Days at school soon pass away,
Ties of friendship last for aye;
Happy we whose anchor lay
In the harbor of Charlotte.

On festive days we gather round,
And our fealties renew;
Joy and gladness now abound,
Intercourse both fond and true.
Honor we ascribe to thee,
Alma Mater, fair to see;
May the richest blessings be
On our High School of Charlotte.

CLASS POEM

"On the Road to Knowledge"

As we stand and look behind us,
Down the long but broadening line,
We can see where we have trodden
Up the long, difficult incline.
It is the road to knowledge
Which we so plainly see
Wending its way through trials and
Troubles on to victory.

Years have passed since first we entered,
Classmates have fallen by the way,
But we held fast the road to knowledge
Ever struggling day by day.
Many times we felt discouraged,
But the next day brought us light;
And at last we arrive successful
To our graduating night.

As we look on toward the future
Past dear old Charlotte High,
We may see the road to knowledge
Leading on to standards high.
And thus though our paths may vary
And in different directions lie,
Our thoughts will ever tarry
With the dear old Charlotte High.

CLASS PROPHECY

June twenty-six, nineteen twenty-nine. It was just ten years since I had been graduated from old Charlotte High School.

I sat in an easy chair at my office after many calls on my patients, and wondered how my old class mates had turned out. I finally decided to attend a motion picture show and forget my thoughts. I was fortunate to arrive just in time to see the International News film.

You can imagine my surprise when on the screen I read the words "Miss Jones and her Russian ballet are making a great hit in Paris this year." When the picture flashed on the screen I saw besides Miss Jones in the cast only two other faces familiar to me Carolyn Butts and Gertrude DeYoung.

The next thing flashed on the screen was news of the United States. It showed the Capitol at Washington and the Attorney General, who was none other than J. Donald Whelehan who came down the steps after winning a great case for Senator Albert Whalen, who was about to be impeached for wanting to put track practice in the schedule for Congress. Mr. Whelehan stepped into his auto and was driven off at a rapid rate by his chauffeur, Earle Maynard. The next were views of our Army and Navy, which showed a great naval review before Rear-Admiral Dutcher and the review of the Army before Brigadier-General Slater.

The next picture was of a Teachers' Convention at Buffalo where Dr. B. F. Martin, D. D. S., was the chief speaker, his topic being "The Value of Preparatory Latin to Dental Students." Among the other speakers of the day were Helen Regensburger, Ph. D., of Vassar College, Prof. Lilles Hempel of Wellesley Seminary, and Miss Dorothy Seyfried, director of kindergartens in St. Louis, Mo.

The next picture showed a Convention of the National Agricultural Association in which Joseph McShea, the great cattle king from Montana, and Erwin Coy, the horse-radish prince, were the principal speakers.

The next was a picture of the great evangelist's tabernacle at New York City of Dr. Ferris, who had been converting sinners by the thousands.

Then came pictures of the sports of the country. The first showed a bout between "Scoop" Cross and the lightweight champion of the world in which "Scoop" knocked out his opponent in the first round.

Then came the basketball teams of Harvard and Yale Universities under stiff practices for their annual game, coached by Trapp for Yale and Wilder for Harvard.

After this entertainment I was still ill at ease so I entered Convention Hall to hear the music. I was greatly astonished to hear Miss Puffer, now a famous opera singer and Mr. Wignall, who has taken Elman's place as a peerless violinist, giving a great concert.

As I wended my way home that night I was vastly pleased with the accomplishments of my old class of June 1919 of Charlotte High School. Ah, yes, I forget to add, Mildred Pike is now private secretary to George Eastman.

CLASS HISTORY

It was four years ago that our illustrious and well-to-be-remembered class entered Charlotte High School as the Freshman Class of September, 1915.

Our class seemed to be marked, for as soon as we entered the portals of the good old C. H. S., we were hailed as "Freshies," "Farmers" and "Mamma's Pets," but why shouldn't we be? The boys were dolled up in their best Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes and their faces were shining from the use of soap and water, while the girls, who were also dressed up in their best bib and tucker, wore small aprons so that "mamma's darlings" wouldn't get all dirty. So do you wonder that we were marked? For awhile we were very shy, but after the Upper Classmen had given us our Hallowe'en Party and we had been "initiated," we decided to get even. Then came the excitement of our first meeting. At this meeting it was decided to give the Upper Classmen a return party which we carried off with colors flying, considering the size of us, but in this case "quantity and not quality" counted, and believe me we were there with the quantity. Thus ended our initial year in high school life.

When we returned our second year we were quite a changed class, bent on the pursuit of knowledge, and for the first part of the term had very few activities, but we came to our senses the last part of the term and the girls went into the Glee Club and I don't see how the Glee Club could have been anything of a success without the marvelous singers, Helen Jones, Florence Barnes, Beulah Puffer and Carolyn Butts. This year the operetta "Feast of the Red Corn" was given very successfully by the Glee Club with the aid of some of the boys. This had such participants as Helen Jones, Carolyn Butts, Florence Barnes, Lilles Hempel and Beulah Puffer, while they were aided by such boys as Patchin, Wilder, Whelehan, Coy and Maynard, all members of our class. Then the boys, not to be outdone, went in for athletics, and among our successful athletes were "Ira" Wilder, "Joe" McShea, "Bub" Martin, "Hank" Dutcher and "Pat" Patchin. This term was brought to a close by the upper classmen giving the Freshmen their initiation.

Our third year of high school life was nothing like the first for we were no longer shy and innocent. This year we nearly all were in the Glee Clubs and very successfully gave a patriotic concert, the leading parts of which went to the Senior Class. This year McShea, Wilder and Patchin gained laurels for themselves in basketball and baseball. Soccer was started for the first time during our Junior Year. During the latter part of the year our class entertained the graduating class at a lawn party given at the home of Arthur Wignall. Thus ended our third year.

But the last and never-to-be-forgotten year was the year from September, 1918, to June, 1919. It was the happiest, yet most anxious year of all. We started out by giving the Annual Party to the Freshmen for their initiation. This year it was the most successful event in some years. This year our class was augmented by such members as "Dick" Slater, the only human baby elephant, Edwin Cross, a featherweight pugilist, Newell Ferris, the doctor and giraffe of the class, and the famous "Hank" Dutcher, the athlete and editor of the Senior Class Book. The class also contained such members as "Joe" McShea, the farmer, the only man able to pitch hay with the speed of lightning, Lloyd Patchin, the modern Slim Jim, Clyde Warren, the man of muscle, Bob McCrae, the wild man of Borneo, Ira Wilder and Don Whelehan, the Latin sharks, Arthur Wignall, the modern Ole Bull, Erwin Coy, horse radish king, "Bub" Martin, the grind, and Leo Trapp, the industrious.

The girls consisted of Helen Jones, singer and amateur actress, Beulah Puffer, the girl who is never alone, Helen Regensburger, Carolyn Butts, the quietest girl of the class, Florence Barnes, the class bluffer in studies, Gertrude De Young, the flaxen-haired beauty, Helen Finnegan, the class cut-up, Lilles Hempel, Dorothy Seyfried and Mildred Pike.

Our activities started off this year with the Soccer Team headed for the City Championship when we had our "Flu" vacation. Next came the Glee Clubs' celebration of Washington's Birthday at Convention Hall. Now Basketball teams in which the boys of the Senior Class made good records. Then came the Senior Ball which was a crowned success due to the efforts of the girls of the class. Note must also be made of the operetta "Sylvia," which was given by the Glee Clubs, the title role being taken by Beulah Puffer, with Helen Jones as the Farmer's daughter. The leading masculine roles were taken by Marion Wilder, Merritt Vaughan and James Twamley. The rest of the principal parts were taken mostly by members of our class. But here we must not forget to mention the 1919 Baseball team on which there were nearly all the boys from the Senior Class. Next on the program of activities came the Senior Play, "A Strenuous Life," which was very successful. Then the Senior Class Day and the Boys' Banquet, both memorable events. And so on up to our graduating day, our last day of high school life.

Such was the course of events of the class of Nineteen, the largest and most illustrious class which ever entered the portals of C. H. S., the members of which made a record which never can be erased from the annals of time.

May this history help the members of the Class of Nineteen Nineteen and others to keep in memory the happy days which the Class of Nineteen Nineteen spent in dear old Charlotte High.

“Ye’ll try the world soon, my lad;
And, Andrew dear, believe me,
Ye’ll find mankind an unco squad,
And muckle they may grieve ye.
For care and trouble set your thought,
Ev’n when your end’s attained;
And a’ your views may come to naught,
Where ev’ry nerve is strained.”

Charlotte started Soccer with a rush last fall and kept rushing until the influenza epidemic broke out. The Soccer team in the beginning of the season was the best in this section of the country, and it proved this assertion by defeating West High and holding East High to a tie. During the entire season the team worked entirely without friction.

The Soccer team wish to thank the people of Charlotte and others who helped them through the season by encouragement and support.

The Basketball team represented the school well this season. They defeated several well-known teams in this vicinity. Our star forwards worked together with machine-like precision, while the center and guard positions were held by capable and experienced men. We wish to thank all who have given their support to us.

The real worth of the team was shown at the end of the season when Newark bowed to the Green and White and we tripled the score on Nazareth Hall, contenders for the city championship.
