ABOUT CYCLOPEDIAS.

"The Columbian Cyclopaedia seems to me to strike a happy medium between the loose, superficial works and the too elaborate and profound ones, which few are competent or desirous of using. Most of the larger general cyclopedias are overloaded with a mass of technical science and official detail that is embarrassing and useless to ordinary readers. The Columbian is eminently practical, sufficiently full, and carefully compiled, well got up, convenient in form and extent, remarkably cheap, and, as I should judge, admirably adapted to families and general consultation. I think that if properly presented to the public it will have a very wide sale, and be an exceedingly useful work. There is ample room in the market for a Cyclopaedia like this, which combines, likewise, the advantage of being an excellent Dictionary of the English Language." —Prof. James Strong, S. T. D., Editor of McClintock & Strong's Cyclopaedia of Biblical, Ecclesiastical, and Theological Literature.

THE ÆGIS,

PUBLISHED BY THE

BETA CHAPTER

OF THE

GAMMA SIGMA FRATERNITY,

ROCHESTER FREE ACADEMY.

JUNE, 1891.
Dedication.

With wishes for its success, this book is dedicated to the Class of '91, which has done so much for our Alma Mater.
Preface.

THE AEGIS held out to you, O patient reader, is new in form and title; but its contents are old; what has always been, and we hope always will be, dear to the heart of every academy boy and girl, whether he be an alumnus of '59 or a freshman of '94, the praise and glory of R. F. A.

To this end care has been taken to put in everything that would interest her friends abroad, and leave out all of a private or personal nature.

To our inexperience must be attributed many errors, but pardon these as you think of the old school we both love and try to serve, and think only of the spirit which prompted it.

'91's Autobiography.

Four long years have passed away since first we entered these sacred halls of learning—years full of joy and sorrow, toil and pleasure; but at last we have reached our final goal and are about to withdraw from the race. We had hardly become enrolled as students of the R. F A. before the faculty cut down the classical from a four to a three years' course, and so at the beginning of the second year, the class was greatly enlarged by the addition of a 'college prep.' During the third year, we inaugurated a geometry cremation and some innovations, for which we received the blessings of the faculty, and their autograph cards. At the close of the third year, we held a successful Field Day, and in all the contests the mahogany and blue floated victorious. During the last year, our enthusiasm was all centered on class rings, receptions and suppers, but yet we found time to organize a students' athletic association, and to hold another successful Field Day.

In our classes we have made a mark (o) long to be remembered, as we probably will be (with sorrow). For four [excuse us]; for three years we have been going through the grind, and now are about to be ground out. [Will be pleased to see you at the Commencement exercises, Lyceum Theater, June 25th and 26th, 1891. Music by the band.]

'92's History.

To slash the mighty goose-quill and demolish a rival class is a joy that brings with it sorrow; days of retribution will follow. To the class who has gained the immortal distinction of being the first (faculty permitting) to follow after '91, the school-life has been most favoring, the social-life most attractive.

In her chemistry supper and reception, at the Field Day and in the class-room, '92 has shown herself peerless. May her banner continue to go higher and higher until the sun in all his glory shall shine on our school, whose proudest boast shall be that it graduated the Class of '92.

'93's History.

For miserable common-placeness, god-forsakeness and insignificance generally, the class of 9 T 3 receives the fan. She is without any claim whatever to distinction, unless it be that she is the first example of a vacuum filling space.

She is a conglomeration of remnants, job lots and misfits. Auction sale under the auspices of the sheriff, June 24 and 25, 1893, at ten o'clock in City Hall.

Ninety-three bought a blacking brush—part of her did—in her freshman year, and she was so puffed up in consequence that she has not descended yet, and as we were unable to get her to talk of anything else, we have been compelled to wear out our pencil trying to write a history of a class that hasn't done anything yet.

'94's History.

ALMA MATER'S own little tootsy-wootsy, the Class of ’94, is just shedding his milk teeth. This captivating babelet has passed successfully through the different stages of D Algebra, Latin and General History without serious or lasting afflictions, and is now beginning to creep and talk a little.

That troublesome question, "where shall the baby's dimple be?" so perplexing to mammas, has been effectually settled by Nature in '94's case—it is in the top of his head.

His childish prattle and gleeful crows, when telling of what he did at the Field Day, and his own little literary exercises, are quite entertaining. Baby is now suffering from a change of complexion. The first flush of youth is gradually fading into a less striking, but no less attractive, shade.

The pet name, "kid," to which he is accustomed to answer, is sufficiently prophetic of his future.
Class of '94.

COLORS—Orange and Black.

GNOTHI SOPHIAN

LITERARY SOCIETY.

1890.
History.

When Gamma Sigma was founded, over twenty years ago, the question arose, "Shall it follow the eastern or the western fraternities?" The advantages of both were discussed, and it ended in the adoption of the western plan. At the same time the Gnothi Sophian Literary Society was founded. When the Crescent and Triangle came to Rochester, the literary society followed it, and in one month after the chapter's establishment, the work was begun of training future orators and statesmen. The society has witnessed a large addition to its original library, an increase of interest among the members, and is now in a most flourishing condition, striving to cause its members to live up to its name and traditions.

Despite the rain and wind, nearly twelve hundred people shivered in and around the grandstands, to witness the second annual academy Field Day, and they were not disappointed, for enthusiasm made up for the gloominess of the weather, and what threatened to be a dismal failure, turned out to be a glorious success.

At the close of the exercises, Gamma Sigma and her lady friends made a tour of the city in two six-horse drags, to celebrate the occasion.

The records, it must be remembered, were made on a raw, chilling day, and most of them in the face of the wind. The walking match, shown in the engraving, was the feature of the occasion.

The artist has produced a very weird effect by depicting the setting which occurred near the Ridge Road.

The person standing on his head is Myers, the globe near the tree is supposed to be the moon. The artist has left town temporarily.
ALMA MATER.
At the urgent request of many we insert an engraving of a plaster cast of the late deceased Pi Phi Goddess. She pined away, grieved at the early demise of so many of her chapters and died in that same atmosphere she had so long breathed—she went up in smoke.

Conducted, as it was, by the class of '91, it could not fail of success. The supper was far more pretentious than many a spread to which the name of "banquet" is attached. The reception was the most brilliant the school has ever seen. To one who attended, no words could be as pleasant as his recollections of it; to those who were not there, no words could describe it.

'90 Camp.

The history of the first season is a record of an outing which will always be held in pleasant remembrance by those who were so fortunate as to attend it. Other years will undoubtedly see more convenient quarters and more distinguished instructors, but they can never derive more pleasure, nor, for that matter, profit, than did the boys of '91.

To attempt to give even the merest outline of the principal events would fill more space than is at my disposal. Each day brought something new with it—each hour, almost, something unexpected. From the fatigue duty to the scientific trip, all had its attraction—the sulphur springs, the intended moonlight excursion, the carry-all ride to Seneca Point—all these bring hosts of memories with them.

Prosperity to the Camp, and may it long continue to afford summer recreation to the boys and girls of R. F. A. is the wish that will be seconded by every (permit the expression) '90 N. S. C. alumnus.
THE END.
RECORD

BOYS AND GIRLS

—OF—

R.F.A.

1859—1890.
"I have had classmates, I have had companions in my happy school days, in my days of youth."
THE alumni list is mainly the list compiled in 1889, by Prof. F. E. Glen, '70, W. H. Sullivan, '82, and I. M. Brickner, '87. This has been corrected and completed up to date. The record of the former students has been compiled from the school records, but, unfortunately, it has been impossible to find any list of students, not graduates, from '57 to '61. There are undoubtedly some mistakes, and for these we ask your indulgence. We are under obligations to Prof. Glen for many corrections of the former compilation.

Rochester Free Academy.

Early in the forties the idea was first suggested in this city, which finally developed into the modern high school system, but it was not until Sept., 1857, that the Central High School organized, and five years later this institution was admitted by the Regents as the Rochester Free Academy.

Yet as far back as March 15, 1827, a school known as the Rochester High School, No. 2, was chartered and was admitted to the University of the State of New York in 1831. This school according to the Regents' Centennial Report, grew into the Rochester Free Academy.

The present building was erected in 1873, at a cost of about $130,000.

THIS is possible. Use Madame A. Ruppert's world-renowned Face Bleach.

A perfect complexion commands more admiration than regularity of features or symmetry of the form. While we cannot change our features, nor without years of constant training our figure, yet we can, and with little attention, secure and retain that perfection of the skin which is so much prized by every woman. You ask "how can this be accomplished?" I will tell you the only way it can be done without injury. Moth patches, freckles, pimples, blackheads, liver spots, and in some cases birth-marks, are either in the outer skin or directly beneath it. These discolorations or impurities must be drawn out of the skin, and in order to do this thoroughly, we must scale off the dead surface of the cuticle which covers the pores. The only article which has yet been discovered that will do this harmlessly is Mme. A. Ruppert's Face Bleach. This article has such wonderful merit that its sale has reached proportions larger than all other preparations for the skin combined. Nothing but legitimate merit has achieved this. Thousands who may read this have made up their minds to investigate what Face Bleach is, but when down town, from time to time, have neglected to do so. It will cost you nothing to call, and let me say to you that a visit to the parlors of Mme. Ruppert will well repay you. The new book, "How to be Beautiful," recently published by Mme. Ruppert, will be presented to you free of cost, and the ideas advanced in this little volume are invaluable to every woman who appreciates perfection of the face and figure. The next time you are on Main street call on this specialist; or if you live at a distance, write to her and enclose six cents postage, and you will receive promptly her book, also all information. The price of Mme. A. Ruppert's Face Bleach is not high, when its merit is considered. One bottle costs $2, which will show improvement, and in some cases a cure; or three bottles (usually required to clear the complexion) $5. Call or address

This is the famous ALLEN REPRINT of the great ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA. It is the only complete reprint. It is a full and accurate copy of the latest English (the ninth) edition. The matter it contains is word for word, and page for page exactly the same. It includes all of the American articles, and all the marginal notes and sub-indexes. All the eight thousand maps and illustrations, colored maps—everything without omission or addition. It is as easily read, and looks in every respect about as well, as the One Hundred and twenty-five Dollar English edition, and is, in fact, more durably bound than is that costly edition. This famous ALLEN REPRINT is the only un mutilated, ungarbled and accurate reprint of the great work on the market.

The American supplement, in five volumes, covers American ground which has not been done by the other twenty-five volumes of the BRITANNICA, and is the work of American writers and specialists of highest ability and standing. It also contains forty-nine new maps, showing the very latest accessions of new States, the division of Dakota into North and South Dakota, etc., all specially prepared for this work. This supplement treats also of the very latest development in invention, discovery and scientific progress, and includes biographies of such men as Gladstone, Bismarck, Stanley, Edison, Blaine, etc. because biography of no living man is admitted in the BRITANNICA.
This Full Set of the Encyclopedia Britannica Contains:

Information equivalent to that of a library of a thousand volumes, so condensed as to furnish the information in the least possible space, without omitting anything necessary to the fullest understanding of the subject. It treats of over 250,000 subjects. Each article is thoroughly exhaustive.

This Encyclopedia has long held the foremost place among works of reference, in scope and authority. Since the publication of the First Edition, in 1771, it has undergone steady improvement, and the English Edition, finished in 1860 was everywhere accepted as the most complete work of the kind ever devised.

This Ninth and latest Edition, complete in twenty-five volumes, including an index volume, far surpasses all previous ones. Several thousand new subjects have been added, and the classification and arrangement have been greatly improved. Fully nine-tenths of the articles have been re-written, so as to embrace the advances made in every department of knowledge within the last quarter of a century.

A new and clearer type has been used throughout, and the greater part of the maps and illustrations, numbering more than eight thousand, have been engraved for this edition.

The actual cost of an edition of The Cyclopaedia Britannica, including all literary and mechanical work, reaches into the millions of dollars. Besides, there are the five grand volumes of the American Supplement; total, 30 volumes.

OUR GRAND OFFER! Open to Subscribers.

To all who own a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica, with the American Supplement included, for $45.00, with the American Supplement, for $45.00 for the same, payable by installments, as follows: $15.00 when you notify me that the books are ready for delivery; $10.00 in two months; $10.00 in six months. A Rochester Woman's Opinion of two of the Flower City Schools.

TEACHING SHORTHAND.

BY M. JEANETTE BALLANTYNE.

"The word teacher, at once suggests a person so well versed in whatever art or science he teaches, that he has become a master of such art or science—an expert or specialist—thus enabling him, in the most fitting way, to impart his knowledge to others; yet we find scores of instructors who are teaching the "Mystic Art" in the various shorthand schools and colleges throughout the country who have proven themselves utterly devoid of a knowledge of the very first principles of this all-important study. To illustrate. A pupil, from the most advertised College of Shorthand in this city, came to me (after having expended about thirty dollars for instruction in said college) scarcely able to write correctly the consonant outlines of the alphabet, and knew nothing, whatever, of the vowel sounds. She told me she had been writing for speed ever since she had entered the college. (What a sacrifice of knowledge for 'speed.') Within the past year, a teacher came to me with the words "you" and "yew" which are found in the first exercise for writing, in one of our standard Manuals of Shorthand, and said that she could not distinguish any difference in the sounds composing the two words; yet this teacher is a graduate of the Free Academy, having pursued the entire course of study laid down in that institution, prides herself on her knowledge of elocation, is always ready to criticise the pronunciation of others, yet, what practical stenographer, whose ear must have been educated to detect the slightest variation of sound in order to have made him a successful reporter, can fail to see that such a person is unfitted for the technical teaching of shorthand. Through such channels of learning as the one just referred to, and through such advertisements as the following: 'Shorthand taught in twelve easy lessons' (etc.) we pass over without notice; only saying that the ferocious attack which the writer makes upon this school, as well as upon the Free Academy, would excite our indignation, did it not seem to us, that, by thus noticing her improvident remarks, we should be flattering her; while we have been fully prepared, by the articles (which have appeared from time to time in the phonographic journals) from her pen, to expect nothing better from such a source. Journals stooping to publish such articles, are little better than the articles they publish.\n
