Class History

Four short years ago it was that the learned class of June, 1917, entered the portals of West High School, bent on the pursuit of knowledge, and now for the last time those doors will close behind us. We shall be gone, but, we trust, not forgotten. It seems but yesterday that we came and saw, and at last we have conquered.

And how much has happened since then! How can anyone forget our Poverty Party, the first social function of our career, which was held during our second year of residence? Fearful and wonderful indeed were the costumes that made their appearance on the memorable occasion! Then came our sophomore sleigh ride with its accompaniment of frozen fingers and toes (though how some of those hands could have been cold, I can't see!) and its refreshments.

The two bright spots during the third year were the Junior Prom and the Junior Play. Shakespeare's "As You Like It" was presented and presented well, too. It was given instead of the usual farce to commemorate the tercentennary of Shakespeare's death and the farce was delayed until this, our last year, when "Her Husband's Wife" was given.

Both plays were exceptionally well acted and staged.

A few brief weeks ago, the class party took place—and it was a picnic at that. We had a vacation, while less fortunate beings were toiling in school, and in all the automobiles we could beg, borrow, or steal, we proceeded to Conesus Lake, where we spent the day at Miss Wetmore's cottage. It is said by those who know that the ride to the lake was all too short for some of our most dignified chaperons!

In between the many good times that our class has had, it has been doing its share in other lines of work. We have shown up well in debating and athletics, and have you seen our honor roll? Let it speak for itself!

And so it has gone. We have worked and we have played, but through it all we have kept our goal clearly before us and we have striven to do our best. Even as we have lived our life at school so may we, the Class of 1917, live our lives in the years lying before us, leaving behind us a record that all the world may see and may rejoice to read.

ELIZABETH G. SHEDD.

Class Poem

'Tis June again with all its joy and fun, But this June comes a parting of the ways; For we have reached the end of high school days And there are many paths beneath the sun.

The weak heart looks ahead and feels some fear; The brave heart views the future with a smile; He looks beyond the first uncertain mile And sees new friends with old ones still as dear.

To-day we close a door and backward peer To see the images of yesterdays So full of work and play and sunny rays And like our past, our future won't be drear.

Achievement there will be and wider scope, And good things gained, and better to be won, Which Alma Mater's teachings have begun And she'll be proud of all of us, we hope.

BACKWARD, TURN BACKWARD.

Backward, turn backward, oh, time in your flight,
Make me a Frosh again, just for to-night.
Hist'ry come down from your shelf as of yore
I'd welcome you now, tho' you then were a bore.
Algebra, oh, I do now long to greet
Though I hated you then
With a quite fervent heat.
Latin declensions were ghosts to me then
But, oh, with what joy would I learn them again.

Backward, turn backward, oh, tide of the years, I have grown weary of Cicero's fears, No visible recompense, study in vain, Take me and make me a Freshman again. I have grown weary of History Old, Weary of studying Cyrus, the Bold, Weary of reading of tragedy deep. Make me a Frosh again, gentle and meek.

AYE, AYE SIR.

January 1918

As the close of the term approaches it is fitting to refer to the many fine qualities of the members of the January 1918 Class. We are well represented in all branches of the school life. Socially we stand unexcelled. In athletic and literary activities, we also claim a high standard. Besides this we honor ourselves in having a number of our fellow members enlisted in farm and military service and many of the girls responding to the Red Cross work, which the government is so much in need of at this time.

This shows our always ready spirit that has heretofore distinguished us and always will.

FRANKLYN BURKE.

June 1918

The Class of June, 1918, has been very successful ever since it has been organized.

In the Sophomore year the "Sophomore Party" was the chief event. The January and June classes co-operated and the party was a great success.

This year the dance proved to be one of the best social affairs. Several members of the class took part in the "Junior Play." They were Mildred Hall, Sylvia Leary, Winifred Mergott, Bertha Kern, Evelyn Richmond, Doris Keenan, Ethel Edick, Bernice Torpy, Fred DeGelleke, James Howell, John Neun, Morris Cook, Harold Leary, Edmund Flack and Harold McFarlin.

The class was represented in soccer by Chester Kirchmaier and in debating by Edmund Flack and Evelyn Richmond were on the Occident Staff.

Class of 1918

January 1919

Two and one-half years ago there was brought forth in this school a new class, conceived in the grammar school and dedicated to the proposition that all Frosh and Sophomores are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great struggle between that class and its studies to decide whether that class or any other class, so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. It is entirely fitting that we should here honor the brave members of that class, both the quick and the flunked.

It is fitting that all honor should be given to the class of 1919. In its Sophomore year it won the interclass basketball championship. Its girls were the interclass track and basketball champions. In school track, baseball, basketball and soccer we are represented with honor. Our Freshman Reception and Sophomore Party were the successes of the season. And we still have money in the treasury.

All honor to the rising power of the Class of 1919!

On a certain day in January, 1916, the truly remarkable Class of June, 1919, convened. At this meeting important elections were made to this effect:

President—LeRoy Beers. Vice-President—Frances Smith. Secretary—Dorothy Fisher. Treasurer—Brenda Glass. Class Advisor—Mr. Kennell.

Within the past school year Kenneth Boyer has been chosen to fill the office abandoned by Dorothy Fisher.

The most important event of the year was the Sophomore Party. This was, of course, most successful; owing, perhaps, to the fact that Gladys Von Deben, Elizabeth Barr and Kenneth Boyer composed the committee. On the side, though, it was due undoubtedly, to the excellency of our class as a whole. Also, our President has recently seen fit to desert us to do his "bit" for his country.

Thus we can prove ourselves any class's equal in patriotism and in furnishing and in enjoying our good times. As for the scholarly end of it please notice such examples as Ruth Arnold, Gladys Von Deben, Harold Palmer and Kenneth Boyer; or from an athletic point of view, the Roberson twins, Ethel Seymour, Ralph Allen and Francis Reynolds.

Then you must also not forget that Paul Whipple, a Sophomore, was the only person on the debating team who was not a Senior.

Last fall the Class of January, 1920, organized under the new plan of having the girls' and boys' classes separate for the first two years. The class pin proposition was handled in fine shape by Mr. Coon and a committee. In February we held a sleighride and party combined, which was a great success, as all said they had a fine time. Early Manley, as chairman of the committee, worked so hard that he broke even on the financial side of the question.

This term we came into possession of the right to have three representatives in the Executive Council, accordingly we elected Doris Rankin, Francis Remington and Lucius Smith. From the viewpoint of scholarship, we stand well, but our stars are too numerous to mention.

We are also well represented in athletics—in baseball by Chester Stadler and Herbert Rogers. a promising battery; in tennis by Oliver McCormick, Ellis Holden, and Weldon Hames; and in swimming by Roy Benson.

We are very glad we have been here a year and a half, but we're gladder still we're going to be here two and a half years more, and we wish West High the best of success.

If there be those who are skeptical as to the promising ability of our class, we refer them to the record of its super-basketball team, which conquered not only the noble "Sophs." but the husky Seniors as well. Among those of the team who deserve special mention is James Izo, a clever, durable player. And then again we have Ray Wegman, direct descendant of the Wegman family, and brother of Dick Wegman—noted for his versatility in the tennis line. In fact we have representatives in every line of endeavor, ranging from ball players down to marble players, all brilliant in their own respective classes. As to the vocal side of the question there is no doubt but what we have the lung power, as evidenced when our pliable Burke leads the cheering; as to the singing part of the matter, the writer is a trifle uncertain.

In closing we wish for the Seniors graduating, and for those who have enlisted in the army, luck, in each respective field of battle, and it is our hope that we shall be about to carry on the good work of the school, as faithfully and conscientiously as you have, in your four years of attendance.

Class of 1921

The Class of January, 1921, or at least the "better half" of it, sprang into existence as a social body on the afternoon of May 11, when we held our first party in the Girls' "Gym."

The affair was made a success by the following committees:

Stunts: Evelyn Davidson, Jean Masters, Elizabeth Lannin, and Lillian Sadden. Eats: Eleanor Nugent, Leota Root, Dorothy Fox and Lillian Kanter. Posters: Elorsa Lord and Evelyn Bailey. Guests: Violet Dintruff, Dorothy Green and Frederica Stark.

At a business meeting held on June 1st, the following officers were elected: President, Helen Goold; Vice-President, Eleanor Nugent; Secretary, Jean Masters; Treasurer, Dorothy Fox. We feel that our destinies are safe with such leaders. Soon we shall be seen about West High decked with our newly chosen colors—Old Rose and White.

Class of 1921

Class Prophecy

It is June 15, 1927, and I must hurry to my work. Through the influence of Carleton Tatlock, who is Congressman from this district, I am working in the Censor's office.

As I open the first letter, I feel the day holds something unusual in store for me. Ah! It is from Dwight Vandevate, who has just finished revising his sixth encyclopedia. He is writing to William John Youden, Jr., who is the Principal of the Select Boarding School for Girls in Palmyra, asking him to use his book in the classroom.

Next I learn Doris Gillette is breaking in mules for the army!

Here is a letter from Howard Jones, manager of the Corinthian, engaging Arthur Colton for the next week! Art's act is known as "Colton's Clever Clan of Diving Darlings," who are Mildred Dean, Hannah Spencer, Dorothy Morse, Theo Knauss, Blanche Moore and Helen Coughlin.

Our old friend Charles Hedley is delighting large audiences—I knew he would—oh—at the five and ten! with Muriel Hamilton playing for him!

It is rumored, too, that she is on the "Brink" of matrimony.

My! the names in this troupe of ballet dancers sound familiar! Helen Ford! Ella Servis! Alice Hall! Rose Kingsley and Mary Beck! With Rachel Messinger as their leader! And heavens! Ted Bennett is their manager!

After this shock I glance through the Police Gazette, the editor of which is Carol Curtis. There I read that Roy Darron and Raymond Schafer are patriotically doing their bit at Sing Sing for house-breaking.

Edith Crennell writes that she is living a quiet, peaceful life married to a farmer. Under her care, Ruth Doty and Ruth Lowell have turned out to be excellent farm hands.

Here is a comic section of the New York Journal, drawn by Marion Joiner. It looks as if she took much of her material from old West High

Curt Wilczewski and Eilert Odde Wiig, those fiendish plotters, will meet their doom to-morrow at dawn. They were caught red-handed with plans to blow up an anthill. The firing squad they will meet consists of Donald Kinzel, William Barr, Fred Pfluke, Marshall Knox and Walter Forschler. "Best Results Guaranteed in Two Seconds, Sanitary and Effective—Try Us."

What a queer-looking case this is,—from Caledonia, addressed to Charlotte Smith, but I find on opening that it is empty-nobody home!

Next I open an advertisement of the Triangle Film Company. My! What a number of familiar faces stare at me! Lizette Knobles and Edward Emerson Hale are cast as stars in their new serial, "Her Last Gasp, or The Tragedy of the Swallowed Gum." They are supported by Leslie Wayman, Madeline Meeks, Helen Richmond, Hattie Kintz and George Armstrong.

Well! Here's an announcement of a quiet little wedding! Lois Ann Tibbitts to Eugene Alden Curtis. I see now where 'Gene may rest content on borrowed fame as Miss Tibbitts is already a writer of some great renown.

And do you remember smiling George Kingston? He has married Bessie Haldeman and is doing a thriving business as an undertaker!

Cheerful business, George!

Lois Paddock, I learn, is running a rouge factory. Yes, the very same kind she has been using for so many years. Marion Voke, Ruth Carpenter and Kathryn Fisk test every box before it leaves the factory.

Miner Taylor and Sam McKinlay are deadly rivals. They both run milk routes and are competing for the prettiest girls. At present they admit it is a tie.

Nellie White writes that she is the matron of a large orphan asylum. Augusta Schmitt does the cooking for the whole bunch. Nellie says she has had to dismiss Marjory Storey, who was working for her, because she was so cruel to the children. She actually bit a child's ear the other day!

And here is a letter from Harold Biggart, that talkative youth! He is a barker at a country fair. He says he has quite a few notables in his show. Mary Fillmore, the bearded lady, Doris Fullager, the wild woman from Borneo, and Doris Hamil, the snake charmer, are all worth the price of admission—but no more! Mabel Cross, Ethel Kingston and Mildred Steeves are the most daring bareback riders the circus world has ever known.

I see here a notice to the effect that Ralph Wilbur—jingling Ralph—will once more be visible to the public. He has bought a barber shop and has promised his long suffering friends that now he will shave more than twice a year as has been his custom of late.

And William Brown has started a rubber band factory that he may meet the necessary requirements, as he has exhausted his present supply.

What's this? Julia Willsea in the penitentiary? Well! She tried to ride free on a Genesee Street car! It might be interesting to notice that Ruth Miller and Wanda Baltzer were running the car at the time of her arrest.

Our little friend Donald Mitchell has set up a weight-reducing establishment right next door to Ada Mahan's hair dressing apartments. Looks suspicious, Donald! Laura Olmstead and Margaret Schutt are working for Ada. This may give some clue to Don's actions.

What have I here on official paper? Well! Raymond Murphy and Floyd McDermott have become convinced that they are of Spanish descent and are at the head of the Dual Monarchy set up by them in Mexico.

Good luck, boys!

Here is encouraging news. Norma Bader is one of the foremost evangelists of the West and is doing wonderful work there! Helen Pidgeon, Laura Martin and Lorraine Craw are kept busy counting the money that pours in.

Oh! Earl Jones advises everyone whose house needs painting to consult him on account of his careful and artistic selection of colors.

Here is a letter from gay Sea Breeze! Who can it be? Why! Iona Atkin, Helen A. Christine Edson, and Louise Mehserle are wild adventuresses at that lakeside resort!

Alan Davis is captain of the licorice-carrying Ontario I. I hope that now Alan can have his full of trips to Cobourg. But a shortage in the cargo has been reported at the end of each trip, so the company has put the two world famous sleuths, Eugene Bradt and Eleanor Wilson, at work. Look out. Alan!

Here are some cartoons. Why, Raymond McDonald and Elmer Merz are posing as Mutt and Jeff! They make good ones, too!

Dorland Alan writes that he is very happy on his farm for he never works more than three days at a time without a long, long rest! Something like old times, Dorland!

Ding! Dong! An advertisement of Walter Metcalf's! Ding! Dong! Scissors! knives! scissors! Scissors sharpened! I always did think Walt was an ambitious youth!

As to our girls, Gladys Baxter, Laura Miller and Mary Saxe are selling popcorn and peanuts at Sea Breeze! We sure did have a wonderful class!

But in contrast, it seems good to hear that Sanford Slocum is a pillar of one of the best churches in New York. Keep up the good work, Sandy!

And Joseph Conroy is a corpulent political boss! I always did think you had it in you, Joseph!

Here is a letter from across the waters. Florence Brown, Geraldine Swartout and Florence Schneider say they are having a wonderful time flirting with the soldiers! They are Red Cross nurses, you know. And what do you suppose? They say that Don Saunders has distinguished himself by his fine and untiring service as an army chaplain! And Clyde O'Brien has been made commander of all gas attacks against the Germans! They also mention that Helen Spinning and Dorothy Roth are noted for recklessly driving their ambulances under fire, thus saving the lives of many soldiers.

What's this on West High paper? Anita Bennett is taking the place of Miss Wetmore and Elmer Way is Principal. He has already abolished soccer and basketball, deeming them too rough for gentlemen, and will soon put the ban on marbles and chess. He thinks they are conducive to swearing.

The next letter contains sad news. Lucile Simpson Crittenden is in the State Hospital, South Avenue! This was the fate given her by her name and she couldn't escape it.

Ah! Perfumed paper! and a gold monogram, "W. M. S." Yes! It is Warren Sperry! He and Thurlow Southwick are in the highest of society at Newport! Dear, debonair, Warren!

But look! Louise Elliott is on the program of a New York theater as a Salome dancer. Well, Louise, it paid to take all those lessons!

Ah! An announcement of the formal opening of the Reed and Martin School for Dancing, modern, aesthetic and Hawaiian. They refer everyone in doubt to Irving Brooks, who once studied under them and who is now the most popular Hula dancer of the stage!

Here are the "Confessions of Paul Ansley MacGhee." What can they be? He says: "I was once a cigarette fiend, but Don Saunders took me and made a man of me and I am about to enter the ministry." Fine, Paul!

And listen! Catherine Robinson writes that she is working in a button factory on starvation wages just because the owner, Harry Whipple, refuses to give the girls any more money and makes them work harder! Poor T. T.!

Milton Merz openly admits that since his marriage to Elizabeth Shedd his business has improved! He's an osteopath, you know!

Well, what a sad tale! Helen Upham, dainty, fair-haired Helen, is a scrub woman at West High! Poor Helen, how she must feel it!

Finally I have come to the last letter and soon I may go home. How queer! It is written on wrinkled, torn wrapping paper! Why it's from the old president of our class, Horace Scott Thomas!—morphine ruined him, he says, and now—now—well, he's a rag man!—without a home,—without money,—and without a friend, and what's worse, without a girl. What a sad, sad, ending!

Ho! hum! But hasn't this day in the Censor's office been an interesting one?

Well-me for home and mother.

CONSTANCE WINTHROP PRATT.

Dramatics

Tradition at West High was rudely upset when the curtain was rung up on the Senior Play, "Her Husband's Wife."

Instead of the old green "set" that has graced so many productions, was a new, modern set of scenery. The play was staged under the direction of Mrs. Ellis.

The characters were taken exceptionally well by the cast. Helen Upham was excellent in the part of the wife. Helen Edson, as the "prospective" wife, certainly displayed a wonderful amount of talent. Marion Miller, although her part was small, proved very entertaining.

The boys who took part were Horace Thomas, Howard Jones and Eugene Curtis. They were all good and deserve the highest commendation.

When the Juniors produced their first theatrical effort on the night of May the eighteenth they broke several West High principles. In the first place they were the first to stage plays written by members of the school, and in the second place they produced four independent playlets.

The playlets were written by members of the Class of June, 1917. They were full of interest and showed a great deal of dramatic promise. "For the Stars and Stripes" was written by Miss Muriel Hamilton, "Safe" was the work of Marjory Storey, "Domestic Economy," the big laugh getter of the evening, was the effort of Mildred Dean. The fourth play, "The Streak of Yellow," was written by Elmer Way.

As usual Mrs. Ellis directed the production; her work in the playlets was very difficult as they were presented on short notice and the cast of characters was large. Miss See designed the scenery which was modeled on the New Theater idea.

The work of Mildred Hall, who played the lead in "For the Stars and Stripes" was easily the best of the evening. The characterization of Mr. Knowal by Howard Jones, who happens to be a Senior, was very good. James Howell also made good in the role of the midnight guest in "Safe" and Sylvia Leary as Mrs. Knowal in "Domestic Economy."

Debating

For the first time in two years a West High Debating Team has won a debate. Our Lafayette team consisting of Whipple, Youden, Southwick and O'Brien, alternate, under the able coaching of Mr. Spinning received a unanimous decision over a team from Lafayette High of Buffalo on the negative of the question, Resolved: "That the United States should adopt the Swiss system of compulsory military training." The work of the team was excellent; Southwick in his rebuttal speech drew round after round of applause, and Whipple is also to be complimented for his speaking.

The East High team, composed of Longes, Sperry, Thomas and Flack, alternate, debated back and forth by telephone, letter and telegraph with the East High aggregation for three months over definitions and agreements on the Swiss military training question and at last gave it up as an impossible job and called the debate off. Anything we proposed was not acceptable to East High, and they refused to debate on the bare question without agreement. We fear that the Amherst cup must remain at East High until next spring, and then—well, we shall see!

Horace S. Thomas, Debating Manager.

Soccer

West High's various athletic teams have been a source of a great deal of disappointment to the student body this year, not because they could not win, but because we have no clear claim to a single championship. East High disputes the soccer title with us; the one game that counted most in basketball was stolen from our team in an extra period of play by East High; both Cathedral and East High have dropped baseball on account of the war, and as our track team has been given up for the same reason, there is no chance for honors in either of the spring sports.

Soccer is at last firmly intrenched as a major sport in West High and it seems in a fair way to outclass baseball as the leading outdoor sport. There were thirty on the squad last fall and the games were attended by real crowds. There were also plenty of girls in the stands, who more than once showed the boys what real spirit is. There were nine games played, of which number two resulted in defeats, four in ties, and three in victories. Manager Reed is to be thanked for adding Canandaigua and St. John's to the schedule.

While East High contests the championship on the grounds that they won one game from us, regardless of the fact that the title has always been given to the team winning two out of three games; we consider our claim as good, since we played more teams and came out better with the teams both schools played than they did. We also desired to play off the series regardless of the weather conditions.

The team started out badly, having but four veterans to build upon, but in time Mr. Conyne whipped it into shape, so that they proved too much for other scholastic teams who failed to score in five games. The credit for the scoreless games goes to Walter Metcalf, Carl Chamberlain, and Clyde O'Brien. O'Brien played goal and Metcalf and Chamberlain played full and half back respectively. Walt Metcalf was in almost every play and was ever ready to inject some American football into the games much to the delight of the crowds who consider soccer tame. He was the best player on the team.

Nine of the players are members of the January and June Classes of 1917 and therefore will not be in school next season.

Basket Ball

The basketball team, captained by Harold Bartlett, will go down in the history of West High sport as one of the best which ever wore the Orange and Black. Out of the hardest schedule ever played by West High teams only two games were lost. The wonderful record of the team was caused by several reasons, the chief of which were, Mr. Gray's coaching, Manager Thompson's schedule, and the fact that there were nine men in school who could play real basketball.

Captain Bartlett showed that he was one of the best captains West High ever had and that he was by far the best center in the history of the school. "Bart" almost always got the tip-off and a few moments after a game started the opposing center found out that he had no chance of scoring if he half tried to keep his eye on "Bart," who was the high point getter for West High. While the rest of the team played faultless basketball, they were merely lesser lights revolving about a star whose brilliancy outshone their hardest efforts. To pick the next best man is a dangerous thing to do. Walter Metcalf played a thrilling and agressive game and in the minds of many should receive second place, but when we remember how often Earl Jones was guarding two men and the numberless passes which he intercepted it seems proper to divide the honors. Of the forwards Howard, Wegman and Zietler all come in for their share of praise, with Neil Howard the favorite on account of his size and wonderful floor work. Howard has been elected captain for next year.

Baseball

When it comes to baseball nothing very certain can be said. The schedule has been changed several times up to date and new schools have been added by Manager Howard Jones. The team was badly hurt at the beginning of the season when several good players left for military or farm service and as there are only nine on the squad at the time when this book goes to press there is a chance of the giving up of the schedule.

AN ODE.

'Twas a dark and stormy night, The clouds were rolling high. (There ain't no sense to this thing! No one knows it better than I.) Along the darkened highway The villain plodded thru the mud; He had O'Sullivan's upon his heels, But his feet came down with a thud. Then from the wayside inn, the hero Steps gaily on the scene; His eyes were full of sin and he said, "Take this back, it's oleomargarine." The heroine 'mid the horses' clatter Cried in horror, "Whoops, my girlish laughter."

The villain was a Mexican, One of the fiendish runts. His labor was in a pig-iron factory A-wheeling out the grunts. The heroine was a youthful prize Of forty years or round-a-bout. The hero was a buxom lad With hair the color of-the sands And the muscles in his scrawny arms Were strong as rubber bands.

The villain seized the heroine. But would she stand for this? No! She put her arms around him And asked him for a kiss. The hero grabbed the villain And threw him to the ground And there he lay a-yelling And never made a sound. He finally jumped up to his feet And then the fight began; They met each other half way And then both turned and ran. We now come to the end of this ditty. This pitiful, heart-rending flight. Will Wrigley's keep its flavor On the bed-post over night?

Anonymous. (There's a reason.)

I. Brooks: "You know, I haven't slept for eight days." G. Kingston: "You haven't? You must be nearly dead."

I. Brooks: "Oh, no. I sleep at night."

The young man whispered soft and low "I never loved another." Then spoke the maid, "I didn't know, Ananias had a brother."

So she closed his eye with her woman's right.

Miss Pratt (in Cæsar): "How would you write, 'Cæsar having been defeated?""

E. Rountree: "With a pencil."

H. Jones: "Did you hear about the awful accident in the lunch room to-day?"

Carol: "Why, no; what was it?"

Howard: "A girl was electrocuted."

Carol: "How?"

H. J.: "She was eating lunch, and just before she finished she ate a bun with a currant in it."

It's all over the school!

What?

The roof.

After Graduation, What? Physical Education Teachers Wanted

The demand for teachers of physical education is growing, the work pleasant, satisfying and WELL PAID.

By recent legislation Physical Training is made obligatory in every school in New York and New Jersey, Pennsylvania, north and South Carolina and Other states have bills pending. This is the only School of Physical Education Chartered by the University of the State of New York (under the Regents). Best course in Physical Education for MEN AND WOMEN, and Strongest Faculty in this country. The course includes all kinds of Games. Dancing, Athletics and Gymnastics, as well as Anatomy, Physiology, Hygiene and Methods of Teaching, etc. See Catalogue.

The Savage School for Physical Education 308 West 59th St., New York City

can accommodate fifty young women, graduated from West High School this year, in Household Arts and Applied and and Fine Arts Courses, both normal and professional.

As many or more young men of the class of 1917 will be accepted in Normal Industrial Training, Co-operative engineering and Professional Fine Arts Courses.

There would be no excuse for this advertisement had West High graduates of years past failed to make good as Mechanics students and later as Mechanics graduates.
