ROCHESTER CITY LINE

The arrangements of this line are completed, and on the opening of Canal Navigation we shall again have a consisting of the best class of Boats on the canal. By personal attention on our part to the business here, and attentive Agents and Shippers in New York and Albany, we trust we shall continue to receive the patronage of the public. The Line will run as last year—to and from the Swiftsure Line of Tow Boats on the Hudson River.

DAILY LINE,

AGENTS

JOHN REDFIELD & Co., 16 South-st., New York, and 82 Courtlandt street, New York.

F. M. ADAMS, with Van Saunvoord & Co., 112 pier, Albany.

WILDERS' PATENT SALAMANDER SAFE, IMPERISHABILITY SECURED.

THE Metal portion of these Safes consists of the stoutest and toughest wrought, bar and plate Iron, and the space between the outer and inner surfaces is filled with chemical preparation which is the most perfect non-conductor of heat yet discovered, and which cannot be affected or penetrated by fire. This fact has been established beyond question by the results of many experiments, attested by persons of the highest respectability. In every trial to which the genuine Salamander Safe has been subjected, whether accidental in burning buildings, or by agreement for the purpose of competition, its fire proof properties have proved immeasurably superior to those of any (so called)

FIRE PROOF SAFES EVER MANUFACTURED.

By an improvement upon the original Salamander, recently introduced by the present owner of the patent right, the interior is now rendered wholly impervious to damp, and books, papers or jewelry, can be preserved in one of these safes for a century without contracting a blemish from mould or mildew.

To guard against counterfeits, every safe from the manufactory of the subscriber, and sold by him or his agents, has a brass plate in front, bearing his name; each is also furnished with one of Chubb's Thief Detector Locks, which is a good guarantee against robbery.

SILAS C. HERRING,

THE RIDER IRON BRIDGE

Having now been fully tested on the Harlaem Railroad, by constant use for about eighteen months, and found to answer the full expectations of its most sanguine friends, is now offered to the public with the utmost confidence as to its great utility over any other Bridge now known.

The plan of this Bridge is to use the iron so as to obtain its greatest longitudinal strength, and at the same time is so arranged as to secure the combined principles of the Arch, suspension and triangle, all under such controlling power as causes each to act in the most perfect and secure manner, and at the same time impart its greatest strength to the whole work.

WHEELER'S PATENT

IMPROVED

Portable Rail Road Horse Power,

—AND—

OVERSHOT THRASHER AND SEPARATOR.

The advantages of the above Horse Power are—1. They occupy but little more space than a single horse. 2. They can be moved by the weight of the horse only, by placing them at an angle of 19 or 15 degrees. 3. They are comparatively light and portable, and can be easily transported. 4. They are simply constructed, and not liable to get out of order, and move with little friction, the revolving plane gearing without any complex or intermediate wheels, directly into the pinion upon the shaft on which the pulley belt runs.

THE THRASHERS

consist of a small spiked cylinder with a concave plane over it, and a level feeding table. There are several improvements in the Overshot Thrasher.

1. They admit of a level table for feeding, thus enabling the tenders to stand erect, and control the motions of the horse and machine, by means of a brake, by which accidents are avoided.

2. In consequence of the spikes lifting the straw and doing the work on the top, heavy substances, such as stones, blocks, &c., drop at the end of the table, and are not carried between the spikes, by which they and the machine are broken.

3. The overshot cylinder does not scatter the grain, but throws it within three feet of the machine.

4. This arrangement also admits of attaching a SEPARATOR high enough from the floor or ground to allow all the grain to fall through it, while the straw is deposited by itself in the best condition for binding.

5. Neither grain nor straw are broken by this machine.

6. The cylinder is longer, which admits of faster and more advantageous feeding; it is smaller and with fewer teeth than ordinary Thrashers, thus admitting of more rapid motion and faster work with less power; and the diminution of teeth in the cylinder is fully made up by those in the concave, which is stationary.

7. The Separator is a great advantage in diminishing the labor of raking out the straw, as it leaves the grain in the best condition for the Fanning Mill.

Three men, with a single Power, can thresh 75 to 100 bushels of Wheat or Rye; or four men, with a double Power, 175 to 225 bushels of Wheat or Rye, or double that quantity of Oats or Buckwheat per day.

All the above are compact, and can be carried where wanted complete, or they may be readily taken apart and packed for distant transportation by a wagon or otherwise.

The price of the Double Power, Thrasher, Separator, &c., complete, is $145, including rights of using. The above are sold singly or together as desired.

The above Power is warranted to work well and to give satisfaction.

ARNOLD'S PATENT WINDOW SASH LOCK.

PA - ENTED MARCH 27. 1849.

This article, designed as a fastener for Windows, is the most desirable thing of the kind ever invented, and meets with universal favor wherever known. All who examine the Lock, admire its simplicity and adaptedness to the purpose intended. The object of this circular being to call the attention of the public to an examination of its merits, the Patentee will substitute for any description or endorsement of his own, the following certificate signed by the Mayor and Postmaster of Rochester, the First Judge of Monroe county, the editors of the several newspapers, the various Hardware Merchants, and other scientific and business men of Rochester.

CERTIFICATE.

We, the undersigned, citizens of Rochester, being acquainted with the Window Sash Lock recently invented by Mr. WM. E. ARNOLD, of this city, take pleasure in recommending it to the public, it being in our opinion, decidedly preferable to any other we have seen. The principle on which it operates appears to be correct.—The bolt moves by its own weight, and yet lies horizontal, or nearly so,—is only enclosed by a box of Russia sheet iron, forming a perfect Window Fastener, holding the window up or down, without the aid of a spring or screw. It is adapted to any common sized sash, and when put in, which is very quickly and easily done, has no appearance of ever getting out of order, and works with the most perfect ease. The difficulties which necessarily arise from springs, and also those that have heretofore been made to move by their own weight, being entirely obviated in this. It only needs to be known to go into general use.

Certificates from D. C. McCALLUM & HENRY SEARL, Distinguished Architects.

The undersigned would represent, that for the last fifteen years he has used, and has been familiar with the various kinds of Window Fastenings which have been from time to time invented, all of which have been imperfect in some particular. I have recently examined and tested a Window Fastener invented by Wm. E. Arnold, of this city, which for ease of attachment, durability, economy and adaptation to the purpose, exceeds any thing of the kind which has come under my notice.

Rochester, April 25th, 1849.

D. C. McCALLUM.

Having examined the Sash Lock recently patented by Wm. E. Arnold, of this city, I give it as my opinion, that it possesses qualities that render it far superior to any thing of the kind that I have yet seen, and that it will so recommend itself to the public, and that it will go into general use.

Rochester, May, 1849.

HENRY SEARL.

WM. E. ARNOLD, Patentee and sole Manufacturer, Main, corner of Alexander Street, Rochester, N. Y. Letters addressed to him, post paid, will receive prompt attention.
