PREFACE

Following the custom of former senior classes, we the members of the Class of June, 1911, have published this Senior Annual as a memorial of our last volunteer work in East High School. If you find pleasure in reading this volume, we shall feel that we have given you our best and that our work has been successful.

mrs. Charles Pary . 5-16-39

To

MISS ALICE NEWMAN GIBBONS

IN TOKEN OF OUR ESTEEM AND APPRECIATION FOR HER INTEREST AND WORK IN OUR SCHOOL, WE, THE CLASS OF JUNE, 1911, TAKE GREAT PLEASURE IN DEDICATING THIS VOLUME

ALICE NEWMAN GIBBONS

Academy in 1894, Miss Gibbons was one of the commencement speakers. In 1898 Miss Gibbons completed her course at Vassar College and again received the honor of being one of the few who were chosen to speak at commencement, and was also elected to the society of Phi Beta Kappa.

In January, 1899, Miss Gibbons entered upon her duties as teacher of history in the Rochester High School, and in September, 1906, was appointed head of the history department in East High School. Miss Gibbons is most vitally interested in the welfare of her department and from the beginning has exerted every effort for the successful development of her chosen subject.

ALMA MATER

Sweet be thy memory,
High School of ours;
Fair be thy destiny,
Fadeless thy flowers;
Hearts that have loved thee
Have won in life's fight,
Names that we honor
Thy standard holds bright.

Our Alma Mater dear,
To thee we sing;
May all thy future years
New honors bring;
May friends thy banners raise,
Thy foes grow less;
All love and praise
To our old E. H. S.

CLASS HISTORIAN

Classes have come to East High, have passed through the school quietly and have gone out from East High. They have had histories, yes, but the class of June, 1911, has a far more wonderful history than any of them, for our class is one that has made history ever since it entered East High four short years ago. East High rejoiced to receive us; it gave us a hearty, a cordial, a warm reception on that far away September morn when we were young. The school viewed us and stood amazed, awestricken with the greatness of June, '11. The first Clarion contained snapshots of various influential members of our class. There was Dwyer struggling away from the lunch-counter with his milk and doughnuts. There was Shrimp Brown, perched on seven books, trying to reach the water-fountain. Then there was another of us snapped by the kodak man, as he rushed into the arms of his Teddy Bear. When someone took a group picture of the class, producing an unmarked negative, the school was amazed. Our friends could not see the hidden possibilities of June, '11.

"Breathe there a man with soul so dead, Who never to himself hath said, This is my own, my native land."

Who so base as to forget his baptism into the State of Rome? Having been properly impressed by our toga-clad patres, and thoroughly baptized, we were given a billa with orders to wear it in view, so that the older Roman citizens might recognize us. They did! So much for our freshman year, we may never be such children again, so let us delight in reveries.

Our soph year was less joyful, for one thing, we got over the ridiculous habit of studying since upon us fell the task of misguiding the freshmen. Imagine our distress when one of these insufferable youngsters would query, "Please, mister, will you tell me where I can find the second period." About Christmastide we decided to have a sleighride but whenever we planned to have it, our evil genius would order a thaw. They were always delivered on time.

Junior year found us upperclassmen in addition to being "best class men." We now had more influence over the school and used it well. It was upon the success of our farce that the future of East High farces depended. We were even more successful there than in the prom.

While all these things were happening to us, East High activities were passing through a transition period. In the old days, East High was famed for its athletics for its Clarion; for its Roman State; and above all, for the East High spirit. In those days, the Clarion might well report football games: "Venerunt, viderunt, vicimus"; "They came, they saw, we conquered." No more do we have long cheering assemblies, working up football enthusiasm, various activities have been forgotten, the Roman State was neglected for a time; but has this much-lauded, much-derided school spirit been lost; has East High suffered? No indeed, this spirit has only been turned into deeper channels and East High's name is fame.

Formerly, it was East High's aim merely to develop a few men into stars, but is it not much better to develop the entire student body and make it more efficient. This principle has been carried out in interclass track meets which are more heartily and generally contested each year. Interclass basketball was tried and proved successful. The latest step in this movement was the adoption of cross country running as a fall sport. Our grand and glorious class has always been proud of its star athletes; it has also delighted in its habit of winning interclass contests. We have seen more activities abolished and others greatly changed, but through it all we have seen our school spirit intensified and deepened until East High has reached the pinnacle where we are so glad to find it.

Our ranks are sadly dwindled now; would that all our freshmen friends might have been with us during this past year, such a glorious one for us all. As seniors we have come to realize more fully to appreciate just what East High has been to us. With this theme, far too fine for words, but imbedded in our hearts, the class of June, 1911, bids farewell to our loved alma mater, East High.

SENIOR ANNUAL BOARD

CLASS PROPHECY

B

RUSSELL LIPSCOMB

CLASS PROPHET

I ground out industriously, though sleepily over Virgil Book IV, endeavoring to follow the devout Aeneas into the cave of the Cumaean Sibyl. As the hero entered the cave, the wind scattered the leaves of prophecy which Sibyl had compiled; my own thoughts scattered at the same time, and directly, in some dreamy way, I took the hero's place in the cave and became intensely interested in the leaves which lay at my feet. It happened that those relating to the good old East High class of June, 1911, had been blown down by the gust.

Examining the nearest, I found that it was written in Latin verse. Perusing it with my poor Latin ability, I translated with difficulty the name of Porter Surgenor. As nearly as I could make out, Pete's farming instincts had led him into the manufacturing of scarecrows, which were warranted to keep all crows out of "my cornfield." A second which II found related to Dwyer. "Johnnie," according to the statement, was prophesied to manage the Maltops of the Rochester City League, for the season of 1940. I picked up one after another in expectant haste, eagerly reading the prophecy regarding each. Ernest Clark, I found, would spend his life running one of Mike Miller's lunch cars. One leaf showed that Mme. Zeeveld fould fill an engagement at the Temple Theater in 1938, appearing as the star attraction in a high diving act. While in midair, she would accomplish her featuring stunt, the whistling of the dying scene from "Il Trovatore," in her well-known guttural br-r-r-r. Fred Bloom had retired as a pitcher of the world's champions in 1936 and was now cleaning street lamps in Rochester (awful comedown!). He was the most valuable man on the squad for the reason that he could perform his task without the use of a ladder. The next leaf pertained to our good friend Vernon Adkin. He was destined to devote his life to running the old ferryboat at Charlotte. Harold Shantz was put down to succeed Mr. Clark in running yearly European tours. Henry Childs was prophesied to become a rich man. His wealth will come as the result of his invention of an "unloseable" collar-button. Allan Hughes, so I found, was to be national golf champion in 1921.

The Sibyl further related that Miss Amelia Tanck was to be professor of Archeology at Yale in 1930, having been given that chair with the degree of R. F. D. in reward for services to the scientific world in discovering upon Mt. Arrarat the remains of the ark. I found that Cordelia Lockwood and Helen Lawrence were to run a "Seeing Rochester" automobile, the former as mechanic, the latter as the barker behind the megaphone I recalled so well. The next prophecy related that Charles Chidsey had turned his talent to the spotlight. He would appear regularly at the Colonial in 1923 in a star bucking-broncho and knife-sticking act. With him, Porter Van Zandt would appear as vocalist. A footnote, however, added that his career was destined to be cut short, as fate decreed that he would puncture a lung trying to reach high "A" in the matinee of April 23, 1924. Knickerbocker will be the originator of a system for learning French in five lessons results guaranteed, (either way). Alice Silverberg and Grace Eisenbrey are to appear as premieres danseuses in a Parisian comedy which is to be the hit of the 1927 season. Guggenheim, the next prophecy showed, is destined to become an athlete of world renown. He will be capable of setting world's record for the 440-yard dash at ten minutes flat. Brennan's future fame is to be in his masterpiece, "When I think of Thee," a poem destined to appear in the Ladies' Home Visitor for May, 1931. Bernhardt and Haskins are to become world-famous as the revivers of the ancient Aztec civilization under the Roman system. Joshua will be dictator and Haskins, consul. Victor Roberts, it was prophesied, will be the speaker of the House in 1925. A footnote added that a high-chair from the baby's furnishing department of a Washington furniture store would replace the old seat, in order that "Vic" might be seen over the speaker's desk.

The next leaf which I examined, showed that Crandall, our football idol, was to discover a wonderful secret which makes his renown secure and will place him at the head of a school known to the world as "How to grow thin in ten days." He will be an example of the success of his cure, having reduced his weight to 399 pounds in 1931. James Maguire is to be staff artist for the New York Journal in 1933, continuing the famous "Desprit Desmond" series. Monroe Dale is to demonstrate his new machine at Crittenden Park during the exhibition week in 1940. Ray Gleichauf is to be the owner of a line airship plying between this city and Fairport; special monoplane accommodation for spooners (under personal direction). Robert Barnes will make his way in the world washing cans for the Rochester Ice Cream Company of which Abraham Hurwitz will be president. "Ducky" Holmes is destined to win renown by virtue of compiling a French dictionary wherein one may acquire all the words in the language after three minutes' reading. William Warren is to become the greatest inventor of labor-saving machines in the world's history. Still another leaf related to Helen Crawford, stating that she is to become the author of a "Diamond Dick" series. Jay Smith will act as her publisher, first volume to appear in 1947. The next leaf which attracted my attention was a sheet from "Puck" of May 23, 1924. The sheet was headed "The Biggest Joke of the Age." Beneath it was a large portrait of Walter

About many others, I found short notices. Hiram Marks is to be a politician of note. Armbruster is destined to become a local grocer with an enormous trade. "O'Brien, Loeffler and Zabel, publishers of a Rochester fashion sheet," was Sibyl's next prophecy. Seward and Julian are to start in Barnum's circus for the year of 1937. Thurber Larzelere is business manager and Harlowe Koch is the clown tor their company. Robbins is to run a doughnut store in Fairport with Charlie Aufderhar as storeboy. The Suffragette Chorus is to appear at Convention Hall in 1943 under the personal management of Adelaide Bowen. Among those prominently figuring in the prophecy are Eunice Perry, Mabel Senkey, Evelyn Osborn, Evelyn Simpson, Loretta Conner, Grace Hoehn and Vera Gorham. The chorus is under the direction of Rachael Stilwell and Wilhelmina Horn. I noticed with satisfaction that one of their number will be a glorious "Paean of Victory" composed by Ruth Turner. It follows in part:

"The power behind the throne We're no longer content to be; For "Votes for Women" we shout, For votes will make us free."

Lucy Goddard and Evelyn Tracy belong to the company as leading soloists. A quartette known as the "Daily Screamers" will do the advertising by parading en Main Street with their banners and songs. The quartette will consist of Mona Quine, Elizabeth Filkins, Doris Howard and Grace Mink. I found to my amazement that Doris Hawks is to run a peanut and candy stand in Power's Block, home-made chewing gum a specialty. Clement Lanni will make a huge fortune as editor of the Rochester Herald, but later is fated to take to poetry and letting his hair grow. I came across one of his papers dated April 30, 1940, which contained a number of interesting facts concerning many of my friends. Gordon Gliddon, known as the only human pianola, edited the music and drama page. Compositions by the well-known composers, George Malone and Ruth Klingelhafer, appeared upon the page. There was, also, a selection from Warren Frost, the well-known playwright. This play, "The Last Moments of Simeon, the Jaw Breaker," was then appearing at the Majestic Theater, of which Russell Scheer was manager. Ah! here's where I come in. I am advertising, too, in this paper. But look, this is "Me" in 1935. "Russell Lipscomb, Fancy Dancing Master, Guarantee to Teach all Pretty Girls within a year's time. Prices Arranged according to the Looks of the Applicants." Hm-m. Well, I have the legs if nothing else.

The fashion page of Lanni's paper was conducted by Harold Doane with Anna Van Alst and Jean Goldstein as assistants. The visit to America of the well-known modiste, Irene La Flamme, was here recorded. Turning a page, I found that Ralph Gleichauf was clerk of the marriage license bureau. I noticed that Professor Louis Gottlieb had recently been appointed to the chair of Latin entymology at New York University. Among the matrimonial note, I saw accounts of the marriages of Lola Werth and Ruth Alexander. The sporting page was edited by Frank Docteur. I saw that Edmund Taylor and Arthur Gibson had figured prominently in New York's victory over Chicago in a game played April 27, 1940. Harold Fay, Clarence Crawford and French had acquitted themselves well as jockeys in a recent turf meet in Batavia. Stewart Gordon and Wronker, so the page informed, were daredevil, loopthe-loop automobilists. An account appeared of the departure of the famous Amazon baseball team for Portuguese, East Africa, where these "Susan B's" were to instruct the natives in the gentle art of the diamond. Mattie Gunther, Edna Nuffer and Mae Bragg were well-known box-women of the team, with Della Maguire, Florence Beachner and Janette Morris behind the bat. The Suffragette Band, conducted by Sarah Blanchard, played a fond farewell at the wharf. There appeared an account of a pugilistic fight for the heavyweight championship of the world. 1911 furnished all those in the ring. The principals were Sam Rabinowitz and Rudolph Schmidt with Robert Osborn and Harold Garson as seconds. David Kesden refereed. Cooman and Hammele were written up as daring balloonists, touring the country under the direction of their manager, Rice.

Evidently, by mistake, this notice appeared in a corner of the paper: "Leon James was recently appointed supervisor of postgraduate work at East High. Mr. James has eloquent qualifications," Viola Pratt and Helen Kenyon were noted as having bettered Florence Daly's record of thirty feet for aeroplane ascension. A footnote announced that Jean McCargo, Clementine D'amanda and Ruth Thomssen had recently started on a pedestrian tour from New York to Chicago. The whereabouts of four members of the American Mountain Climbers were given; Irene Bender and Edna Perry were at present exploring the Alps; and Esther Suter and Josephine Wronker were conducting scientific explorations upon Mt. Popocatepelt.

All this was hugely entertaining until the Sibyl, seated upon her tripod in the smoking cavern, suddenly assumed the terrifying appearance of Mr. Gray in Room 14. I awoke with a start and my dream was replaced by

"Talibus ex adyto dictis Cumaea Sibylla horrendas camit ambages antroque remugit."

INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATE, 1911

At Rochester, May.

Question: Resolved—That a commission form of government similar to the Des Moines Charter should be adopted in Rochester.

Affirmative-West High.

Negative-East High.

East High Team—Winifred Rauschenbusch, Sadie Rose, Lela Brown; alternate, Alice Silverberg.

Decision-Negative won

THE SOCIETY OF 1911

"We are not all arranged in two opposite ranks; the offensive and the defensive; some few there are who walk between."

Last September, the question was brought before the Debating Society as to whether the girls should be admitted in the future since so few ever came to the meetings, (there were eighteen girls and four or five boys at this particular meeting). As a result, one day in Room 30 an organization called the "Girls' Debating Society," was formed. Winifred Rauschenbusch was elected president and a few committees were chosen.

During the year, several impromptu as well as prepared debates have been held. Not only have the members had practice in debating but they have been kept well informed on the live questions of the day. Each girl was given charge of a certain magazine and was requested to read it and then make a report of it at the meeting. Thus the Girls' Debating Society has prospered and accomplished its purpose. It has secured a firm foothold among the many student activities of East High School.

BOYS' DEBATING TEAMS

CLASS POEM

BY

PAUL BRENNAN

CLASS POET

I stand on the shore of a wide, wide sea,. A tumbled tossing sight, And the thoughts that slowly rise in me Are deep as the wintry night.

For the storm clouds dash o'er the foaming main, And the biting winds blow strong, And I think of the days that time hath ta'en, The days of love and song.

Those days seem far behind me now, Their sweetness and their joy. I dare not look around: I vow It might my thoughts destroy.

For now, behold! the snowflakes fall; And now I hear a voice That seems to sing, "Come all, come all, Rejoice, rejoice, rejoice."

And the voice it swings o'er the dashing spray, And whispers far and near, And winds the snowflakes on their way, As if they too should hear.

And now before my eyes, a shape Doth rise above the sea; It seems to wear a snowy drape, A hazy mist to be.

But coming closer to me, slow,
A pretty maid she seems,
A sceptre white as virgin snow,
She looks but made of dreams.

And now, almost the place I stand, She spreads her sceptre out, And there I read in letters grand "Success" writ all about.

Her lips they move, a word she speaks; It seems like a caress, And all the flakes and wat'ry peaks All echo 'round "Success."

I look about me on the shore And faces there I see, And, as I look them o'er and o'er, I find they gaze on me.

They are the faces of our class
As on the shore they stand.
O may the goddess' blessing pass
Before on every hand!

THE FUTURE—AN OPPORTUNITY

To those who think that they are not capable of doing anything in the orchestra and who do not make an attempt to show their ability, let it be said that they are missing an opportunity which does not offer itself very often. The training of playing with others, besides being under a director, will in time develop any boy or girl who has a little musical ability. You might not succeed during your freshman year, but you have four years before you which will undoubtedly give the desired results. Few, pupils realize the importance which orchestral music takes in the education of music, and the fact that we are fortunate in having one of the best musicians in the city as a leader, ought to be an incentive to any music-loving boy or girl.

THE ROMAN STATE

The Roman State which was established in East High in 1903 and which existed for six years without interruption, but finally fell in 1910, was an idea conceived by Mr. Mason D. Gray, head of the Latin Department. He aimed to reproduce the principal features of the ancient Romans' life. The fall of the Roman State could be laid to the seemingly indifference of the pupils, the majority of whom were content to watch instead of doing the work assigned to them. Last year all work of the state was suspended save that of awarding Patrician Pins to the Latin scholars. When the Patrician Pins were awarded this year, a meeting of all Patricians was held. The Patricians decided, at this meeting, that the Roman state was again desired by the Latin pupils. A vote was taken to test the truth, first in the senior classes and then in the other, and the result was that an overwhelming vote was cast in favor of its re-establishment.

Joshua Bernhardt was appointed dictator, following the custom of ancient Rome when the senate convened to appoint a man as leader in times of great necessity. The present dictator appointed Lois Williams to lead the Optimates party, and Gus Haskins to manage the Populares, while he, himself, decided to take the Equestres. He appointed May 16 as the date for the election. At the present time, the Populares lead, with the Equestres in second place, while the Optimates have the least followers. A Roman Banquet and trial will probably be held next year, and it is expected that all activities will flourish as before. After the first fall of the state, the citizens will be more prepared to work toward that which it is attempting to attain.

EAST HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL TEAM OF 1910-1911

SCHOLASTIC CHAMPIONS OF NEW YORK STATE

FIRST BASKETBALL TEAM IN THE HISTORY OF THE SCHOOL WHICH HAS FINISHED THE SEASON UNDEFEATED

WINNERS OF THE SYRACUSE ALUMNI CLUB CUP

EAST HIGH'S SEASON, 1910-11

East High's basketball team of 1910-11 is the first scholastic aggregation in Western New York whose right to championship honors is unquestioned. Balanced by individuals as to present the finest teamwork seen on any of the courts it has played, this aggregation will go down as one of the most remarkable in the history of ball tossing by New York State high school athletes.

The form displayed by the Orientals is the culmination of preparation begun in years before this championship season, for the title holders are but a trifle different in make-up to the quintette of 1909-10, which missed the right to claim the title by one defeat. That East High tossers would overcome all opponents on its schedule was apparent in their early appearances when their superiority to high school fives was so great as to bring comparison with leading college teams.

Individually, in age, weight and experience, the champions almost measure up with collegians, while as a team they have made a record and shown class that would have satisfied more than one college. The most important victory to bring the team into favorable comparison with colleges was gained over the Normal School quintette of Oswego, after the latter had defeated a number of the leading college representatives. The victory of East High on the Oswego court by a margin of eight points brought praise to the wearers of Purple and White that has been given to few teams, even professionals.

Ranking with the victory at Oswego was one gained at Tonawanda over the Tonawanda High School team by eleven points. It was the first defeat ever administered by a high school team to Tonawanda at Tonawanda. Such teams as Lafayette High of Buffalo and Cook Academy of Montour Falls, which heretofore have been considered as of the best on their home courts did not show capability sufficient to be rated with East High. In the case of Cook, the championship aggressiveness of East High was shown at Montour Falls as in no other game. In the first period of play the Orientals did not strike their stride, but in the second overcame a lead made by Cook, to win out by seven points.

Fortune has dealt kindly with East High even as it does with champions in all branches of athletics. The team suffered no serious injuries; that is, none to affect its individuals and leave the team weakened for any of its games. In material the team has been favored with players both as regulars and substitutes who always went to make up a balanced combination. In passing, guarding, goal shooting and confidence, individually and collectively, the players have displayed ability which seems unlikely to be equaled by another Rochester school team. Certainly no other team will ever show such marked superiority to all scholastic competitors as that of East High of 1910-11, even should the present enviable record be duplicated or surpassed.

Cross country running was inaugurated for the first time by Physical Director Fowle, last fall, and the first season's success indicates that this branch of athletics will be one of the foremost in the school in the future. More boys took active part in the cross-country runs than the largest of football squads in the previous years. This new sport actually replaced football. It not only attracted a large following, but also brought out those boys who would otherwise not play football.

OUTDOOR TRACK WORK IN 1911

Owing to the ban which was put on fraternity members by the Board of Education, Captain Heath was left with little material from which to select a team. Alexander Beebee, Philip MacDowell, Theodore Wichmann, George Julian and August Zimmerman, all members of fraternities, were barred by this ruling, and the fact that they were veterans made their loss more severely felt. Despite the difficulties under which he was working, however, Captain Heath had his team out regularly and entered three of the largest interscholastic meets in the state. The team did not finish in first place but East High was represented by its best men and we are satisfied.

FOUR YEARS OF ATHLETICS

BY

GUS HASKINS

ASSISTANT EDITOR

Since the advent of our class in East High School four years ago, the degree of emphasis placed upon the various athletics has undergone a great change. The class of June, 1911, has always taken an active interest in these activities and has helped its Alma Mater to pass through four of the most successful years in its history. During the four years, the class of June, 1911, has had the distinction of being represented in the four major sports of the school, namely: football, basketball, baseball and track. This is the first class to go through the school with representatives on the four different teams for four consecutive years.

When we entered school in the fall of 1907, football was at that time the king of sports. The team that year was one of the best which has ever represented the school and went through the season with but one defeat. The enthusiasm which prevailed among the upperclassmen was soon imparted to the Freshmen and from that time to the present day, we, the former Freshies, have never allowed that spirit to wane. We were fortunate in being represented on that famous team by one of our members, Clement Lanni, who has the distinction of being the only freshman, and in fact, the only pupil in the history of the school who has ever won four letters in one year. The following year in football, the team went through the season without a defeat. It was the first time in the history of the school that a football team cleared the season undefeated and we were again represented by Lanni. George Julian worked out on the squad but did not win his letter.

The third year of football was another good season. East High, however, was forced to lower its colors to West High in the main struggle of the year, losing by a score of 10 to 7. This defeat was the bitterest blow of all, for we lost after winning seven consecutive games without having been scored on. After the season, George Julian and John Dwyer, two of our faithful 1911 men, were elected to captain and manage the team for 1911. Another death-blow was struck when the Board of Education abolished football and our great team-to-have-been in 1910 never terminated. We undoubtedly would have been represented by several men.

Basketball stood next in importance to football when we entered school. The team was not a star one that year, but the following season, under the leadership of Captain Teal Cox, the five won thirteen of a possible fifteen games. Our first representative leader of an athletic team, Clement Lanni, was successful. He piloted his quintette through the season with a wonderful record of 18 victories in 19 games. This past season, Captain George Malone brought the Scholastic Championship of the State to the school by taking 17 consecutive games without a defeat. During these four years of basketball, this branch of athletics has gained prominence yearly.

In track athletics, 1911, has always led the other classes. In our Freshmen year, we were not successful in winning the first honors in the inter-class track meet, but for two consecutive years, the banner has been won by our team. In gaining honors on the first team, Lanni loomed up as the weight-man in his Freshman and Sophomore year, winning his letter in his hammer throw and shot-put. He did not try for the team in his Junior and Senior years, but he was well superseded by George Julian, who has been the representative of 1911 in field athletics for two years.

1911 has also come forward for its share of glory in baseball. Our members have been more numerous on this team than any other. At present there are numerous players on the team who have joined our class but did not enter with us in September, 1907. Manager John Dwyer, thrice-president of our class, is the honored man of 1911 on this year's baseball team. During our first two years in school, Lami upheld the honors of the class on the regular team, playing shortstop. We have also been represented in the minor sports, such as hockey, tennis and cross-country running. The latter branch of athletics was introduced last fall to replace football. It fell to the lot of 1911 to inaugurate this sport successfully, and we did it. The first interclass run was won by our team with Childs, Seward, Holloway, Loeffler, Barnes, Bernhardt, Guggenheim and others. Now that it has been properly established as a sport at East High, we may look forward to greater interest in cross-country running in the future.

ASSEMBLIES

Among the pleasant memories of our daily school life during the past year, perhaps the brightest and most prominent were our Friday morning assemblies. The school has welcomed many well-known and distinguished speakers within the past ten months, who were not merely appreciated because they assisted in bringing about those rare "shorts," but for their interesting and beneficial talks.

The members of the Tuesday Musicale have entertained us on several occasions with well-selected programmes for which we are thankful to Mrs. Casterton who has been welcomed by every pupil. Bishop Winter Warren of the Methodist Episcopal Church, gave us an instructive talk on "Education."

Recognition of various student activities took place on many occasions. The presentation of Clarion and Patrician Pins, the awarding of class and cross-country insignias, and the track and basketball "R"s, were as usual among the honored presentations. We had the unusual privilege of hearing Mr. William Owen, who was then playing in "The Prosecutor" at the Shubert Theater. He gave a talk on Shakespeare and dwelt particularly on "The Merchant of Venice." Mrs. Gertrude S. Martin, the Advisor to Women in Cornell University gave some excellent advice to the school in general, and especially the girls.

William R. Castle, Assistant-Dean of Harvard University, spoke on his college and corrected some existing impressions that his institution was for "rich men's sons only." The Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs have favored us many times with fine programmes, while the Friday singing, which was led by Mrs. Casterton, needs no comment. Through the courtesy of Monroe Dale, June, '11, the school was given its first moving-picture show. Physical Director Fowle introduced a special feature in the morning assemblies when he had thirteen boys of his gym class go through a drill on the parallel bars.

On several occasions we have welcomed back our alumni. Otho Clark, June, '10, now of Cornell, spoke on track; Oscar Kaiser, '08, of the University of Rochester, urged the school to support debating; Frank Gosnell, June, '10, favored us with three solos at a Tuesday Musicale concert.

Charles E. Hungerford of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, gave us an interesting talk on the traffic problem in Brooklyn, which he illustrated with stereopticon views. We also were honored with a short talk by Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane of Kalamazoo, Michigan. Mrs. Crane spoke on the importance of preserving a city's cleanliness.

The assemblies this year have combined more than ever, beneficial, interesting and profitable qualities. It has formed another link to the bright chain of memories which brings us closer and binds us to our Alma Mater, East High.

ARBOR DAY, FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1911

For the first time in the history of the school, Arbor Day was observed at East High School on Friday afternoon, May 5. The precedent was set by the class of June, 1913. Hilmar Rauschenbusch, president of the class, with a few others conceived of the idea of planting an ivy, and on the appointed day Principal Wilcox excused the school a few minutes earlier in order that the pupils might be able to take part in the ceremony. Short speeches were made by Mr. Wilcox and Hilmar Rauschnbusch, while Howard Minchin recited Dickens' "Ivy Green." A Japanese Ivy was planted on the boys' side of the school.

If you in after years would cry, with joy, attend the U. B. I.

Three things a business man requires of his stenographer: Speed, Accuracy and Legibility.

If you cannot spend four or five years and $2,000 to become a lawyer or a doctor, spend six to ten months at a business school at a cost of $200 to $300 and become a Wanamaker, a Gage or a Cortelyou, a Wetmore, a Markham, a Dolittle, a Barnes, a Woodworth, a Hunt.

Become stenographer to President of the U. of R., to the Board of Health, to the Law Library, to Banks, to Chamber of Commerce, to Judges, to N. Y. State Legislature, Official Court Reporters, etc. The kind of training that makes for PRIVATE SECRETARY POSITIONS is given at UNDERHILL'S BUSINESS INSTITUTE, 30 Main St. E., Rochester, N. Y.

Have you read Hapgood's advertisements of Executives, Managers, Bookkeepers, Correspondents, Stenographers. College Men, Other Openings, Sales, Office and Technicals? Send your address to us and we will send it to you by return mail.

Hapgood's estimate is the world's estimate of brains.

Hapgood's statements are perfectly reliable.

Attend the best by going to school where the most pains is taken with your education; where you recite a lesson until you know it, if five times over.

This is the kind of teaching done at the U.B.I.

This is the Flag of the State of New York, and it means something. It says:

Why earn $10 when you can earn $20?

Why work six months for something, when you can get something better in three months?

What are we doing? Teaching young ladies and young men to be successful in business. Does that seem good to you? Then come to see us; let us show you what we can do for you? It costs nothing to find out what we can do; it does not cost much to have us do our best for you; and you would not sell at any price the ability we can develop in you.

Do you want a Position? We will get it for you.

How does our school compare with others. It Excels all.
