DEDICATED
to
Miss Harriette A. Curtiss
Whose wise counsel, broad interests and consecrated endeavor for student, class and school are bringing her the highest reward of the true teacher.
West High Alma Mater

Proudly waves old West High's emblem, black and orange fair,
Floats triumphant in the breezes, no dishonor there.
Student days have fondest memories, comrades here we stand,
As our troth to Alma Mater pledge we hand in hand.

From thy halls, dear Alma Mater, we at length must part,
But thy memory shall not perish from one student's heart;
Far away on life's broad highway, all shall fortune try,
Still our loving hearts shall cherish thoughts of thee, West High.

Alma Mater

Sweet be thy memory, High School of ours,
Fair be thy destiny, fadeless thy flowers.
Hearts that have loved thee have won in life's fight,
Names that we honor thy standard holds bright.

Our Alma Mater dear, to thee we sing,
May all thy future year new honors bring,
May friends thy banners raise, thy foes grow less,
All love and praise to our old R. H. S.

The Athletic Field

To say nothing in our Senior Annual of the West High School athletic field would be a serious mistake. "The field" has come to be a subject of discussion and inquiry. In fact, from the time the project was broached, the public has evinced great interest in it.

The greater part of the debt, incurred in purchasing and putting the field in shape for use, has been paid off. The iron fence surrounding the field has also been paid for. At first it was proposed because of the lack of funds, to put up a high board fence, but the nearby residents, in a public spirited manner, offered to raise the difference between the cost of such a fence and a good iron one. We were only too glad to accept this offer and we have been enabled through West High Day, an account of which is given below, to pay for the fence. The field has been effectually drained and seeded and although the weather has hindered much, it will be in prime condition for the formal opening which will occur Saturday, June the twelfth. It is expected that by this time the building of a grandstand will be well under way.

A baseball game and a track meet will probably be features of the opening. A nominal admission fee will be charged and faculty and students are aiming to make this first Field Day as great a success as was West High Day. As students, we take this opportunity of thanking the trustees for their careful management on our behalf. The members of the Board of Trustees are Judge Arthur E. Sutherland, Rev. Clarence A. Barbour, Mr. H. B. Graves, Mr. Lansing Wetmore, Mr. James P. B. Duffy, for the patrons, and for the faculty, Principal Weet, Mr. Miller, Mr. O'Hern, Mr. Bennett, Miss Ball and Miss Wight.

West High Day

Although there is no need to record West High Day in this brief history, in order to impress it on the members of the present class; yet for fear that future generations, in their blissful enjoyment of the field, should forget our arduous labors to obtain it, we must mention it here.

On Saturday, February twenty-seventh, the friends and patrons of West High School met in Convention Hall to aid in the good cause, and incidentally, to have the time of their lives.

We will say nothing of the weeks of preparation, of the most generous donations of our many friends, of the excitement of the immediate preparation.

The hall itself presented a delightful appearance. From the gay Japanese booth at one end of the hall, with its dainty kimona-clad attendants, past the wierd gypsy tent, past the pennant booth and the refreshment stands, around to where our dignified faculty, attired in chefs' aprons and caps, served ideal hot waffles, and to the booth where the array of delicious cooked food was displayed, all was a marvelous success and the returns far exceeded our wildest expectations.

Probably the feature most enjoyed by the thousands present, was the music and dancing. A concert was given afternoon and evening by Dossenbach's Orchestra. This was followed by a program of dance music to which everyone did full justice.

Senior Class Poem

Four happy years have passed, dear Alma Mater,
Since we, thy first-born sons and daughters, came
To learn of thee the truths of life and duty,
And in return to add our tributes to thy name.

Always, in our days of sun or shadow,
Before our eyes, thou earnestly didst hold
The torch of learning, clear and burning brightly,
With heaven mounting flames of ruddy gold.

When often, on the narrow path of duty,
We loitered, or aside essayed to stray,
Thy ever ready hand was stretched to guide us,
And faithfully thou ledst us, day by day.

In our joys and fears, successes, even failures,
Thou hast been the first at hand with hearty cheer.
And to thee, O dearest Mother, we’ve attempted
To bring more worthy honors year by year.

But as the stars must fade before the morning,
And as each sun that rises, sets at eve,
So to an end must come our happy school days,
As toward the tasks thou fittedst for, we leave.

Led on by aspirations high and noble,
We’ll strive to raise thy standard to the sky,
Through seeking all that’s true and great and worthy,
As we’ve been taught by thee, our own WEST HIGH.

Class History

A history of the Class of June, 1909! What an incomplete thing it will be! It cannot describe our feelings when we entered, our strivings and disappointments while we toiled through what now seems four short years, and can much less portray our sorrow at leaving the High School which we all have learned to love. There were over one hundred and fifty of us when we entered in September, 1905. One hundred and eight have persevered and are about to receive their diplomas. This forms a very high per cent. Now what shall I write of first and what next, as Virgil says: "Quae quibus anteferam?"

Before I relate some of the achievements of our class, let me explain to the world our unique position. We are the first class to enter West High School as freshmen and to be graduated after pursuing a four years' course there. Other classes have been graduated before to be sure, but we are the first class which has had all of its preparatory training in West High School. We are the artists' proofs, so to speak, from the West High School studio and we are determined, by making those proofs worth something to the world, to bring honor and glory to our Alma Mater.

In our freshman year, the class of June, 1909, was a somewhat extraordinary organization. We were alive to say the least. Our first class meeting was so well attended that standing room was at a premium. And our meeting was so enthusiastic that we gained the notice of the dignitaries of the school. Our meetings have become more orderly in late years, that is true, but our old freshman interest and spirit are still there.

In our sophomore year we started doing things. Before the year was over, everyone realized that the Class of 1909 would have a bright future. Evidences of strength and prowess were not only exhibited on the athletic field but such stars as Root and the Kennells were beginning to show their possibilities in the class room. And that is wherein the Class of 1909 is a characteristic West High output. It is well balanced and well rounded. It is not a class of grinds, nor a class of one sided athletes. It is a class of American girls and boys who can work while they work and play while they play. And this spirit of wholesomeness whether in play or in work is but the following out of the principles and precepts which our teachers have ever taught. For in West High School from the principal clown, all the members of the faculty seem to believe that their duty is more than the single teaching of lessons, they believe that the directing and molding of the students’ lives are important requisites in pedagogy. Moreover what is far more helpful to the student, our instructors have reflected their teachings in their own lives.

Well you can see I am not a historian. I make too many digressions, but yet I am trying to put content into some of the form of my story. It was in our junior and senior years that we shone. First we had a successful Junior Prom and then gave a farce worthy of the school. We also commenced to figure as winners in interclass series, and for awhile 1909 was written on every championship banner. In this, our last year, we have been well represented on the various teams. Uderitz, Cumming and MacDonald starring on the football team, while Mac and Stahlbrodt have upheld our honor on the track team. Thus I might go through the list. For a climax I can mention our representatives on the debating teams. On the girls’ team this year there were Miss Leonard, Miss Howard and Miss Sheridan, all 1909 girls, and ones of whom the class may be pretty proud. On the boys’ team Cumming and Spinning ably upheld not only the honor of the class but of the school as is shown by the retaining of the Amherst Alumni cup. There are still other members whom I would mention, those who, though less prominent in school affairs, nevertheless have been doing their duty as loyal West High students, and deserve their allotment of praise.

I said at the beginning this history would be incomplete. Now I will give a reason. A history of a person to be a finished product must relate the events of a lifetime. So of a class, the history should not only narrate of its infancy but of its manhood and old age.

For the writing of such a history I am handicapped. The class of 1909 is but in its infancy. Four years do not even constitute an era. And what historian takes up a history in periods shorter than decades? If asked to write this history thirty years from now, I could write more fully and completely. And yet in the main it would have the same tone, that of just pride in the achievements of the class and of endorsement of the spirit and character of its members. Still I hope this history may serve a purpose in pointing out to future classes just what a West High School class should stand for and accomplish in four years.

John Milton Colt,
Historian.

Editorial

West High's fourth year as an institution is fast drawing to a close. During the last four years a high school generation has passed. Hitherto graduating classes have not prepared entirely at West High; part of the praise or blame must be attributed to other schools. But from now on, West High alone will be our Alma Mater.

Attention has been given in connection with the "Class History" to the intellectual and athletic achievements which have characterized our four years of existence, so let us here speak of what might be called our moral achievements. When West High began her career, public opinion seemed to hold that nothing much could be expected of our school; we were too young; we had no traditions, no precedents of our own to go by. So at first when the new school attained any phenomenal success, to the public it was a mistake, it wouldn't happen again. But time has proved the contrary. We have had many obstacles to overcome, many problems to solve, but we have conquered. Not only have we developed what is known as the WEST HIGH SPIRIT, but we have succeeded in convincing the citizens of Rochester that such a spirit exists and that in an institution as in an individual there can be noble traits and loftiness of character.

You outsider, who may chance to read this, do not call it "idle boasting" or "mere vanity." Remember that it is possible and proper for the members of a class to laud their Alma Mater without indulging in self-praise. We, the members of the "Senior Annual Board," as representatives of our class, proclaim to all that we are proud of our "Foster Mother," proud to be sons and daughters of West High.

To you who remain to work on for the glory of our school, we leave a message. Don't think we do it merely because it has been done before, because we feel that we ought to; but understand that we do it because we want to, because we must. In the years to come whatever may be WEST HIGH'S fortunes in material battles, if you, her students, succeed in preserving her spirit—that intangible ineffable something we cannot describe but which we all understand—if you shall succeed in preserving that spirit, no matter what else may happen, WEST HIGH will have won. The WEST HIGH SPIRIT is success.

Long and steadfastly has Miss Curtiss held out against our even mentioning her name in connection with the OCCIDENT. But although we know that we will "catch it" for this, we are going to attempt to express our appreciation of her work. For the past four years she has labored unceasingly and whole-heartedly to raise the OCCIDENT to its present standard and we are certain that, in the future, through her efforts, it will be placed on an even higher pinnacle. Though the staff appreciate Miss Curtiss's modesty it would be nothing less than presumption for us to take all the credit when our critic is deserving of by far the major portion of it.

Sports
The Year’s Athletics

Although we at West High cannot boast of a wonderful record of victories in our athletic activities during this past school year, nevertheless, when one considers the class and the calibre of the teams that have opposed us in every contest, we cannot fail to congratulate ourselves on teams and men that play hard, and play fair, and do it for West High. When we think of the way in which the fellows have stood their ground, and “kept everlastingly at it,” as the saying goes, we may all well feel proud of the name and prestige that they have kept firm for West High in athletics. Without exception, every man on any of our athletic teams this past year has been a hard worker, not for himself, but for his school. No further introduction is needed, the records of each man are clean and straight, the spirit of each team has been for fairness and justice, and the WEST HIGH SPIRIT has been behind the whole. We can now turn to each athletic activity in order, and follow the teams in all their ups and downs.

First, both in point of time and in importance, came football, with all the well-known West High enthusiasm and jubilant support for the gridiron game. Everyone knew the records, free from any defeat, that our football teams had made in 1906 and 1907, and all were looking for a great season. And it was a great season. We didn’t win every game; to be exact, we lost two, but the team was fast and heady and fair, and a credit to the fellows and their coach, Mr. Langslow.

On the first Wednesday following the opening of school in September, the call was issued for candidates. About forty men responded, and from then on until the week preceding the first game, time was spent in “picking” the squad that should represent West High on the gridiron. About five veterans had returned, so the chances for new men were good. The best, of course, were chosen, and on Saturday, October 3rd, the team lined up against the bunch from Lockport High School at Baseball Park. When the dust cleared away we found ourselves at the rather long end of a 66 to 0 score.

The next Saturday, however, we were “up against” something entirely different, when the husky bunch from Elmira Free Academy invaded the city. They were heavy and fast, and to be strictly truthful, tricky if not positively dirty in their play, but we beat them, and beat them soundly, by the score of 11 to 0. During the game we are genuinely sorry to say, O'Dea, the visiting left end, and their captain, Diveny, were very seriously injured.

One week later came the big excursion to Buffalo, where we played Lafayette High School, with the exception of East High, our nearest and dearest rival. There, on Lafayette's athletic field, was played the best and fastest game of the year. The home team, although they had been overwhelmed by Tonawanda the week before, braced remarkably, and played us on even terms throughout the game. West High scored first, but Lafayette came on strongly, and at the finish the score stood 5 to 5. Of the courteous treatment accorded us by our Buffalo friends, time or space is not given here to mention, suffice it to say that West High and Lafayette can never be anything but the closest of friends, and the dearest of rivals.

Then, after a week's rest, the team "struck a snag" when Masten Park's fast bunch came to Rochester. For the first time in the history of the school, a West High football team went down to defeat. Hubbell, the Masten Park right half-back, turned the trick when he scored from the four yard line, on the third down, on a beautiful cross-buck. We lost, to be sure, but no one ever saw a West High team play a cleaner or fairer game. Victory is a lot, but to carry a defeat unflinchingly and cheerfully, and to accept one gracefully is a whole lot more, and that is precisely what the fellows and the school behind them did. The score of the game was 6 to 0.

Syracuse High School came next, and accompanied by about 100 loyal "rooters" the team journeyed to Syracuse, where in the new Stadium of Syracuse University, the "Saltines" went down before us by the score of 17 to 0. The team and their supporters were there to win, and win they did, outclassing the rivals especially on the field, and incidentally in the line of cheering, which few schools are able to do against Syracuse High.

Then came Tonawanda's team, big, fast and overconfident. Only by the barest and scantiest of margins did the visitors escape defeat, for with a rush, West High had a touchdown and goal after three minutes of play, and our opponents finally tied the score on a place-kick and a safety, scored on account of the slippery and muddy ball. The final count of this game was 6 to 6.

On Thanksgiving Day, before a crowd of 8,000 persons, West High and East High battled for the championship of the city, and for them, the championship of Western and Central New York. With a long string of brilliant victories behind them, with the wind bearing the cheering voices of their supporters to their ears, East High ran us off our feet, and in ten minutes of play had scored 12 points to our 0. From that point on the West High men fought for every inch of the ground, and but for a field goal by the East High captain toward the close of the second half, held their rivals and played them on even terms. The final score was East High 16, West High 0.

At this place a word should be said of the wonderful record which the East High football team made during the past season. In their triumph they know that we are with them, when we can't be ahead of them, and wish them good luck every step of the way.

From the end of the football season, basketball took our attention. The long looked for East High—West High game was postponed once, but the eventful night finally arrived, the Alumni Gymnasium was packed to the doors, and the game of the year started. The game played by West High that evening would have beaten any preparatory school team anywhere, had it not been for three “horse-shoe” field baskets during the second half, which from a reliable source have been accounted the luckiest shots ever made in a game at the Alumni Gymnasium. We lost to East High again, 15 to 14, the closest of scores, but we lost just the same, and our rivals were the happiest that ever played the noble game of basketball.

In hockey too, the ice came just long enough, so that, in a brilliant contest played on the University Rink, East High could again defeat us, this time by the score of 1 to 0. We might say that the puck, being shot by an East High man, hit both the skates of a West High player and also those of a member of his own team, and then sneaked softly between the goal posts.

Throughout the winter the track men had been working hard and training faithfully for the meets with the U. of R. 1912 team, East High, and the big interscholastic under the auspices of the New York State companies stationed at the Armory. The first named was easily won by a margin of over forty points, and then came the dual meet with East High.

Our rivals held a substantial lead until the last event, the relay race, when they were but 3 2-3 points ahead. As the winner of this race was to receive 5 points, the result of the meet was at stake when the runners took their marks. For three laps West High was in the lead, and the shouting crowd looked for a West High victory. On the last lap, however, the East High captain, by a wonderful burst of speed made up the lost distance and finished a yard to the good, winning the meet for his team.

With their captain sick and unable to compete at the Armory meet, West High went straight on and worked like men for the victory. By an unfortunate mistake of the judges at the finish of the 70-yard dash, one of our fellows was not given his rightful place, second, and instead, the three points were given to an East High man. This made the score read East High 23, West High 22.

The East High management, however, recognizing the fact that the credit of winning the meet belonged to us, refused to accept the cup, donated as the First Prize, and in a courteous and sportsmanlike manner recommended that it be awarded to West High, which, after considerable red tape had been removed, was done.

And so, as the end of the school year draws on, we look back at our triumphs and defeats, and we think after all, that old West High is a pretty hard school to beat at anything, and when beaten, can bear up, and “go right at ‘em again.”

Award not yet made.
The past year has been marked above all others by a series of excellent assemblies. We have been honored by most distinguished men, representatives of the educational and business world. The Tuesday Musicale, the noted musical society of which Rochesterians are justly proud, has been most generous in giving us three delightful concerts, one on the anniversary of Mendelssohn's birth, one on that of Chopin and one of MacDowell music.

Mr. Arthur Dean, of the State Department of Education, was our first speaker of the year. He gave us a novel account of the manufacture of shoes, in connection with his remarks concerning the trade schools, of which he has charge.

Professor Samuel Lattimore, of the University of Rochester, paid a warm tribute to the character of his friend, Joseph O'Connor, whose loss the city was at that time mourning.

On February twelfth, we observed the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. We had as our guests, several members of the Grand Army of the Republic. The Rev. Chas. Rust offered prayer. Dr. Taylor, of the Brick Church, was the speaker of the day. Seldom do we have the honor of listening to a more interesting, more beneficial address. On the same day, President George M. Forbes, of the Board of Education, in behalf of the Lincoln Educational League, presented to us a beautiful bronze tablet, bearing Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. This has been placed in a prominent place in our corridor.

We are always glad to receive men from the various colleges, and this year have been so fortunate as to have heard Mr. Greene, Secretary of Harvard University, Dr. Stewardson, President of Hobart, and Dr. Crawshaw, President of Colgate. Mr. C. F. Garfield, President of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce, also spoke to us.

Various student organizations, including Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs, the Orchestra and our newly organized Band, have also been most generous with their entertainments.

Another feature of this year's assemblies has been the number of excellent speeches by students. Some of them were remarkably well given, and besides accomplishing the various purposes for which they were designed, and giving the speaker valuable training, they showed us where to turn for our public speakers and orators.

This account of our exercises could not be complete without mention of our cheering. Although the standard set in former years was high, we surely reached and raised it this year. To be sure a great share of the credit is due to the students themselves but their efforts would have been of no avail without the unexcelled leadership of Joseph J. Barnett, and his two able assistants, John M. Colt and Coral A. Morgan. All Western New York sings the praises of our football team and our cheer-leader. Mr. Barnett's work can go on without him, as all wisely directed work should be able to. He chose able assistants who will lead us next year. Perhaps this is his greatest service.
The Year's Dramatics

Our aim this year has been to reduce the number of dramatic productions in order to make them stronger as well as to ensure a larger attendance. In other words, we have sacrificed quantity to quality, which is as it should be. On the whole we are greatly pleased with our efforts in this line. The productions were all given under the personal direction of Mrs. Ellis and a great part of the success, especially of the Senior Play, is due to her.

November sixth, 1908, the West High Alumni Dramatic Association presented "The Bachelors," a clever farce, more properly termed a musical comedy. It was written by a member of the cast, Mr. William Costello, '07. The part of the freshman fop taken by the author was very realistic and met with hearty applause. The musical parts were exceptionally well rendered, especially when one takes into consideration that none of the cast had had special musical training. The audience, in number and appreciation, was very encouraging. Such spirit as our alumni showed in giving the play is certainly most commendable. We thank them.

Next came the Junior Farce, "A Suit of Livery;" 1910 handled it in a very able manner. The fact that our captain-elect of football and his brother, also of football fame, took the leading parts lent added interest. The play was of the modern style involving mistaken identity and love at first sight. The farce, coupled with the dancing which follows everything in high school nowadays, furnished a very enjoyable evening's entertainment.

We wound up the season with our own Senior Play. This was given on May twenty-first. The play was "Silas Marner," dramatized from George Eliot's novel of that name, by our own directress, Mrs. C. S. Ellis. Owing to the large cast the necessary work was immense, but the result was worth it. Mr. Bond's work "in the title role" was perhaps the best acting ever done by a West High student. The parts of Godfrey and Dunston were strong and appealing. But the type of play itself and its general tone meant success. It was distinguished by its freedom from that sickening "slushiness" so often condemned in high school productions. The subtle thread of humor, simple and unaffected, portrayed in the rural characters was gracefully refreshing. We hope that the inclination of future classes will be more toward plays of this character.
Class Room and Corridor

My colleague, who has written the “intellectual and classical” half of this department, said that it made him feel important to have his opinions printed in the OCCIDENT, and that this was the reason he liked writing “Class Room and Corridor.”

I’m afraid that I can’t say as much for myself. I certainly feel just the opposite of “important” whenever I hear little conversations like this:

“Did you like ‘Class Room and Corridor’ this month?”

“Me? O, I never read the stuff! Just the story and the Class Notes—that’s all.”

But for the few nice things that have been said about “Class Room and Corridor” this year, I want to thank the kind-hearted people who said them. They’re always appreciated, although you may not think so. My colleague has been known to weep tears of joy when any certain opinion of his has met with the favor of the West High Critics.

It seems to be the general opinion up here at school that “Class Room and Corridor” is awfully easy to write. But it isn’t, by any means. So, whenever you happen to hear anyone remark that he knows he could do it better than the person who writes it now, please tell him just to try it one time. Then, maybe after he’s wasted a lot of theme-paper, and used all the ink in his fountain pen—or, if he’s like me—chewed the point all off his pencil, he’ll understand that there’s some work to do.

I’m afraid all this sounds rather like a denial of what I said in beginning, that it was fun to be in the position that the writer of “Class Room and Corridor” is in. But I don’t want it to sound so, at all, for it has been a pleasure to write “Class Room and Corridor,” and I thank everyone who has listened to the words of wisdom that have been printed here each month.

MARY SUTHERLAND.

Did you notice how careful my esteemed colleague was to shift all the responsibility for this department onto me? You mustn’t criticize her for that; it’s just a way her sex has.

West High is not simply a preparatory school; it aims to prepare students for life as well as for college. But still it must be true that the more education a person has, the more he wants. If you will run through the personal history of the class, published on preceding pages, you will discover that an unusually large percentage of the seniors intend entering college next fall. What does this mean? It means that we have learned at West High to appreciate the value of higher education. It means that the university graduate will be the rule rather than the exception.

More and more men are coming to realize that “those who think must govern those who toil.” Many of the things we study, as Latin and Greek, seem to have no practical bearing on life. But when one considers this point, it can be easily seen that they stand in the same relation to mental development as do high school athletics to physical development. Each is a training for the highest good in its line. And the mental training is as much above the athletic training as the mind is above the body. So if you wonder what difference dead languages and higher mathematics are going to make to a business man, regard them as you do football and baseball. Each has its place as preparatory drill. Some of us have completed our preparation for life and are about to apply this preparation. Others are to get more preparation so as to have more to apply. But all of us have profited by our high school training and will always have that to fall back upon.

Exchanges

There may be some who do not understand why we have an "Exchange Department." For the benefit of any such, the exchange editor would say that this custom is carried out by high schools for purposes of mutual benefit. We get ideas and pleasure from the perusal of other papers and we trust they do the same from us. So that you may understand how this system has worked in our own case, also to enable you to see our own paper as "others see us," we publish the following list of extracts from various of our exchanges. They are selected at random from north, east, south and west, from big schools and little schools. The reason why we publish only complimentary quotations is because we have been able to find no others.

In The Critic for May, we find "We are unable to review the last issue of the OCCIDENT, as it is so excellent that our superintendent carried it off to his office."

The Bugle for April, speaks of the OCCIDENT as "among our best exchanges."

The March Tiger pays us an appreciated compliment:—"The OCCIDENT presents a pleasant appearance, both inside and out, and the atmosphere of clean sport is certainly commendable."

In the Sphinx for March appears: "The story entitled 'Love Me, Love My Dog,' in the OCCIDENT is exceedingly interesting."

The February Optic says "The OCCIDENT is up to its usual standard. We need say no more."

We cut this from the Chronicle for February: "The OCCIDENT—Your January issue has a very neat and appropriate cover, and you are to be congratulated upon your magazine."

The Shehocken says, "The OCCIDENT is one of our best exchanges."

From the Orange and Black—"The OCCIDENT, Rochester, N. Y., is almost above criticism. The stories, jokes, etc., are of the very best."

containing complete and up-to-date information regarding the school, and many interesting photographic reproductions of the different departments at work, mailed or delivered free to those interested.

Thorough preparation in Commercial, Shorthand, Typewriting, English Preparatory, Civil Service, and Teachers' Training Courses.

The annual attendance of students exceeds 800, the majority consisting of high school graduates or undergraduates. Full credit given to students of the Rochester High Schools for work done in the commercial subjects.

No difficulty in assisting students to secure suitable positions. Nearly 4000 calls for our students since August 1, 1905.

School in session during the entire year. Students admitted any month. Special Summer School for the normal training of commercial teachers, July 6 to August 13. Bulletin giving all particulars mailed or delivered. Visitors invited.

The Students' Store

Scrantom, Wetmore and Co.'s store is truly a store for the student, in every department there is something of interest.

SOCIAL STATIONERY DEPARTMENT
Here the stationery and engraving needs are supplied. From paper, box of 50 envelopes and 50 sheets, at 25¢ to the stationery embossed with school or personal monogram.

ART GOODS DEPARTMENT
Posters for the student's room, pictures, brass goods and leather goods. Many unique den decorations.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT
Largest line of school books between New York and Chicago is displayed in this department. This, of course, directly interests the student.

BOOK DEPARTMENT
Thousands of miscellaneous titles in fiction for light reading and books for study on all subjects.

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT
Accessories for all in and out of door sports, college and school pennants, games, etc. In this department sport loving students will find everything to make their pleasure the more enjoyable.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT
Drawing material and artist supplies for the art student. We have always enjoyed seeing the young people in our store and believe that they have in turn enjoyed coming. We welcome this. At all times a most cordial invitation is extended student callers.

What About Your Photograph Work?

A good share of the fun in picture-taking is seeing the finished product. Our photographic section takes great pains in bringing first class results from the exposed films. Our present equipment is just about perfect, and we are able to give you your prints two days after the films are received.

If you prefer to develop and print your pictures at home, we have the necessary chemicals and papers.
