WISE GUIDANCE, WITH PRIDE IN HIS SCHOLARLY ATTAINMENT, WITH AFFECTION FOR HIM AS A

GOOD FRIEND, THE CLASS OF NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTEEN, WITH PLEASURE, DEDICATES THIS BOOK TO ROY SHERMAN STOWELL.

Alma Mater

Sweet be thy memory, High School of ours,
Fair be thy destiny, fadeless thy flowers.

Hearts that have loved thee have won in life's fight,
Names that we honor thy standard holds bright.

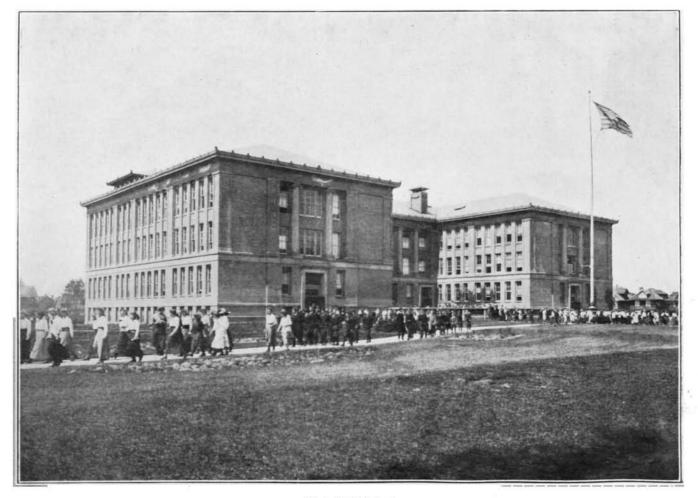

Our Alma Mater dear, to thee we sing,
May all thy future years new honors bring,
May friends thy banners raise, thy foes grow less,
All love and praise to our old R. H. S.

West High Alma Mater

Proudly waves old West High's emblem, black and orange fair,
Floats triumphant in the breezes, no dishonor there.

Student days have fondest memories, comrades here we stand,
As our troth to Alma Mater pledge we hand in hand.

From thy halls, dear Alma Mater, we at length must part,
But thy memory shall not perish from one student's heart;
Far away on life's broad highway, all shall fortune try,
Still our loving hearts shall cherish thoughts of thee, West High.

To the Faculty

To have you with us yet; yes, every one!

A thought of friendship and security
Steals o'er us when we think of what shall be
When next we meet again. Once more the sun
Afar in Southern heavens his course shall run,
And we return from times of jollity
Again to greet you, friends, though some there be Whose work beneath your guiding hands is done.
'Tis seldom that the closing of a year
Marks not the parting of some few of you,
And former ones did often disappear,
Mayhap to "Hymen's bowers" or "pastures new."
Yet this year we may have no cause to fear,
For we'll return again to all of you!

Senior Class Officers

Senior Class Poem

The busy years have passed with winged hours, Within thy stately halls, Oh School of ours; It seems but yesterday we entered here, As freshmen small with timidness and fear.

Our giggling way we took, but looked in awe Upon the graceful seniors, whom we saw As beings of perfection, tho, iwis, The Faculty in turn did not think this.

Our second year, long looked for, came and passed, And then our junior year, alas, too fast Was gone, and we were Seniors. Yet it seems Those years have sped with swiftness like our dreams.

How many joys there were in those four years! Our teams, the victories they won; the cheers; The shouts of pride in our triumphal hour, When our debaters showed their skill and power.

And all the other things we liked so well, All these are o'er, tho it were sad to tell— Now must we leave thee, Oh West High, to climb Still higher up the ladder steep of time.

We should not sorrow for the days gone by, For we will keep thee in our hearts, West High, And hold thy standards, too, and strive to be What sons and daughters of this School should be.

Farewell, the road is leading straight before, The mountain slopes are gay, all purpled o'er; Above, cloud-courted, the white shines, Where each at last in joy his care resigns.

Class History

The Class of June, 1915, has been a wonderful class. Although not the largest class that has been graduated from West High, it makes up in quality what it lacks in quantity. Its ability as a class has been shown in various ways, such as athletics, musical clubs, debating, chess and all other school activities. Although we had several set-backs we feel sure that we have had in Lawrence Elwell a competent basketball manager. With Foster Yawger in basket ball, Norman Ulp in track, Horace Webb, Celeste DeSeck, Beatrice Morrison and Florence Clark in debating, Judson Glen and Charles Lakeman in chess, as well as being well represented in the other activities, we feel that our efforts have not been in vain.

It seems almost impossible that only four years ago we entered West High as "dear little freshmen." For safety the girls wore their rubbers while the boys carried their caps as well as their books, and with an important air we rushed wildly about the building in search of our class rooms, affording amusement to our senior brothers and sisters.

However, toward the close of our freshman year we organized our class and elected our first officers as well as selected our pin.

Then came the second year and according to the custom of the school we gave our Sophomore dance in the corridors of the building. We pride ourselves in saying that, although this was the last dance held in school it was socially and financially a great success. Then, too, as Sophomores we gave tableaux in our assembly which marked the same success as our first social event.

Then in the next year of our high school life we were called upon to display our dramatic ability. Under the direction of Mrs. Ellis we presented Lady Gregory's "Spreading the News," in which Esther McCrossen, as leading lady, proved a star. The other parts were well taken by the remainder of the cast and everyone who saw it enjoyed it. During the same year we gave our Junior Prom held at Sibley Hall. It was well attended and we remember it as a delightful occasion.

Soon we came to the glorious Senior year to which we had all looked forward, and with pleasure as well as importance we took our place.

As Seniors our first undertaking was a reception to the Faculty. After this the senior classes jointly gave a Minstrel Show and a playlet. John Howard, as interlocuter, and Norman Ulp, Robert Morrison, Seldon Howell and Horace Webb as end men were decidedly clever. Norman Ulp's make-up in general was unique. We consider that the girls' playlet was very amusing.

Our last senior event was our Senior dance held in the building. The music was delightful, and the affair was very well managed in every particular.

With satisfaction we can look back on this year as being very eventful in a great many ways. Our young men and women have kept up to the standard on which West High has always prided itself. Our hearts swell with pride as we think of our many victories.

Although we realize that the crowning glory of our school life is graduation, with it is mingled the sorrow of leaving.

"Mid pleasures and palaces we often will sigh

For the good times and friendships at our old West High."

MARTORIE JOHNSON.

LILLIAN RUTH FULTON 1897 — April 10, 1915

Ruth Fulton is gone. The cheery presence, slender and graceful, that lightened the hearts of friends, has passed beyond us. Her laugh, her gestures, her smile, bright eyes, tossed hair, smooth-toned voice are gone from us forever, to live only in our memories. She brightened the lives of all who knew her, she helped the unfortunate, she cheered on the victorious. Her whole life was sweet and irreproachable. It seems impossible that so benevolent a character should end abruptly. Ruth Fulton, as we knew her, is dead, but her spirit we know lives on, and shall live on forever.

January 1916

Drawing toward the end of our High School career, it hardly seems necessary to mention those qualities of our success which have established our recognition as a class of the highest standing. The Class of January 1916 has always been well known in social life, in dramatics, in athletics, debating, chess, in the musical clubs and in all other school activities. In debating this last year, four of the class took part, and to their concentrated effort much of the school's success in this line is due. In athletics also the class has progressed as may be judged from the banners in the corridors. We recollect with pleasure the Junior Dance and the most enjoyable evening of April thirtieth. As a class, we wish to express our thanks to Mrs. Ellis for the work and time she so willingly gave to make the Junior Play a success. In a short time we will be the first class in the school, and wish to express our pleasure that we are to have another half year in West High.

SETH G. WIDENER, President.

June 1916

Another year has passed and the Class of June, 1916, has still continued the good representation in the activities of the school as before.

First of all, the scholarship. Here the names, Annabelle Mullen, Marion Barbour, Ruth Bently, George Kroha and Wendell Tompkins stand out prominently.

In athletics, both boys and girls deserve praise. Among the boys are Griffin Little and Casselman Hess of whom not only we but the whole school is proud. Our girls hold the baseball, basketball and track championship of the school. The only girls now present in the school who have won monograms are Helen Yerger, Ellen Pease and Katherine Kernan, all members of our class.

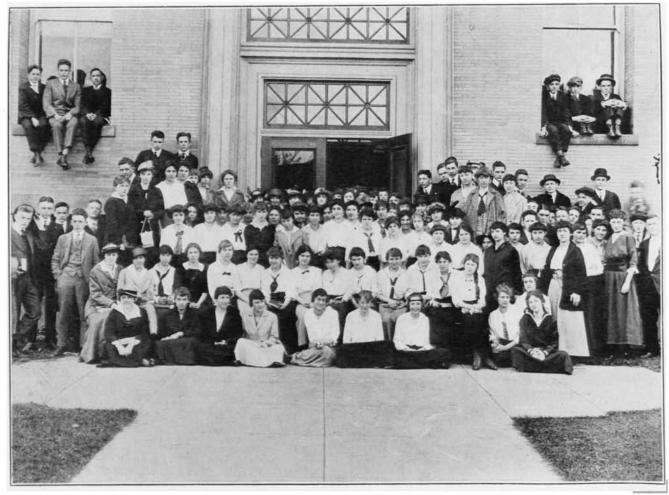

The West High Musical Clubs had their most successful season this past year, due to the able management of our classmate George Kroha, who is also leader of the Orchestra. In the Glee Clubs are scattered sixteen's talented members. Among them are Mildred Chamberlain, Neva Smy and Charles Hutchinson.

Those who saw the Junior play know the dramatic ability of our only actor Elwood Snider. Although he did not have the leading part he was enjoyed by all.

Our social event this year was the dance which was not only a social success but also a financial success.

We have well entered the activities and studies of the school and we hope to keep them up during our Senior year.

GLADYS MILLER.

Class of 1916

January 1917

As another year draws to a close and we look back on our achievements of the year it is with a feeling of satisfaction.

The class has advanced in scholarship and sports, its colors are won with honor on the basketball court, and baseball diamond and the cinder track, its number of names on the class books followed by many A's, is unsurpassed.

In the middle of the year, the sleigh-ride was held. It was a success in every sense of the word. Financially, both classes are on a firm standing, possessing together the munificent sum of $9.99 or $4.99½ apiece. Some start!

By the time the next Senior Annual is written, we will be Seniors. We have been an exceptional class until now. Watch us improve!

June 1917

The first meeting of the Class of June, 1917, was held in February, 1914. At this meeting the class was organized and the following officers elected:

> President-Marjorie Storey Vice-President-Elmer Merz Secretary—Richard Wegman. Treasurer—Horace Thomas.

During the ensuing term, the Class Pin Committee elected Eugene Curtis as chairman. The style of pin recommended by this committee was adopted and was purchased by many members of the class. Old rose and gold were later chosen as class colors.

At the class meeting in May representatives of the class in the Executive Council were elected. Carol Curtis, Basil Moore, and Horace Thomas were chosen.

At the first class meeting in the fall of 1914, new officers were elected as follows:

> President-Horace Thomas Vice-President-Ruth Dutton. Secretary—Alan Davis Treasurer-Elizabeth Shedd

In the season of 1914-15 several important events took place. The first was the Sophomore Party in December. There was an entertainment by the more talented members of the class followed by refreshments and dancing. It was a Poverty Party and everyone wore his old clothes.

Later, on Feb. 13, a sleigh-ride was held, attended by about thirty, but every-one had a good time. The credit for the success of both of these gatherings falls largely to the efficient committee and members of the Faculty whose work made them so successful. The party and sleigh-ride were held under the auspices of both classes of 1917 and now there is in the school safe the joint property of the Class of June 1917, the sum of $9.99.

In school activities also, June, 1917, is well represented. Members of this class have made the Debating, Tennis, Baseball, Hockey, Chess, and Track teams and the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs.

In the class are several scholastic wonders whose report cards are covered with "A's" and who provoke us by telling us how easy such and such a lesson is.

On the whole, we are very proud of our class. Proud of the accomplishments of individuals and of the class as a body. However, we entertain thoughts of greater and better things to be done during our Junior and Senior years at West High.

Class of 1917

January 1918

The Class of January, 1918, was organized early in September, 1914, one term after its members had entered West High School. With the aid and supervision of our principal, Mr. Bennett, the class elected Alfred Sproat as President; Kendrick Ross, Vice-President; Stuart Nivling, Secretary; Lucy Gay, Treasurer. Pins of which we are all proud were secured through the efficient aid of Arthur Odell as chairman of that committee.

In January, 1915, the following officers were elected: Roswell Marshall, President; Ruth Howard, Vice-President; Stuart Nivling, Secretary; Alice Arthur, Treasurer. Three members of the Executive Council were also elected, Alfred Sproat, Allison Gillette and Clarence Gibbs. Lately the Class, through certain members, expressed a desire to be represented in school activities. A meeting was called and George Groves was elected Manager Pro Tem of Baseball. William Jones was elected Captain of Track and Michael Crino, Manager, of the same activity. The girls expressed a desire for a debating team and Ruth Howard was chosen as Manager of the Girls' Debating Team. At the beginning of the meeting Doris Logan was elected Secretary pro tem as Stuart Nivling is absent from school because of sickness.

We now hope, with every opportunity before us and with the aid of every single member of the class, to gain many honors, and glory for our Alma Mater, and when the class passes from the school to a higher stage of life that the names of many of its members and the class as a whole may be inscribed in the history of old West High as one which has accomplished its object.

ROSWELL R. MARSHALL. President.

June 1918

Among the distinguished, the Class of June, 1918, stands brilliantly to the fore. Our class has done what many others have failed to do in their Freshman year, that is, it has been represented during the year in every activity in our school. And well has it been represented for if it had not been for the backing up of the class of June, 1918, with some of its fine players, more than one cup would have been lost from our school's treasured store.

A name which all are familiar with in West High is that of Edmund Barry, the wide awake captain of the Basketball team. Here he has shown his true mettle in more than one hotly contested game. He has won great distinction for us but here he has not stopped, for the honor of his class called him and he is winning fame on the first Baseball nine. He has a bright future before him and he will continue to bring honor to his class.

Clarence Benham, a sturdy player who was on the Basketball team, also belongs to our class. He is another of the type which really makes school activity worth while. He has shown great promise.

Lawrence Whitinger is also a real athlete. He comes from the grammar schools of Indiana and is a Hoosier lad who really "plays the game." He was on the indoor track team as dash man and also in the pole vault. He has shown great promise and we are proud to have him in our class.

Evelyn Richmond, the tennis champion in singles and doubles for girls, is one of our prominent and promising young ladies and we wish her every success.

Robert Heffron sings in the Glee Club and is the assistant manager of the Track Team. Howard Symons, who sings in the Glee Club, is a member of the class.

The West High School Orchestra

Life is always ironical. This is noticeable even in the staid and stately Senior Annual. And this short article is a case in point.

For the West High Orchestra, to give a full recountal of its triumphs, of its deeds of glory, to do full justice to the season crammed full of conquest, which it has just finished, to give it space proportionate to its merits, would need three pages. And it gets less than a page. The irony of it all!

And another funny thing. You know how it would be with some people. They would be real put out. But the Orchestra isn't. They're used to it. Throughout the several years of their existence they have been accustomed to this lack of school support. They have worked hard, practised hour upon dreary hour, with no hearers but the anguished neighbors, in order that the West High Concerts should be worthy of the pride of the school. They have succeeded, all right, and so well that they are considered one of the best musical organizations in the city. They have power themselves.

The only question that remains is this: Will West High School remain indifferent to this splendid corps of musicians that has developed in its midst or will it turn out and give them the support they deserve? It's an open question and one that each of you must decide.

We are not members of the Orchestra and so cannot officially express their opinions, but, as outsiders, we get the idea that they don't bother very much about the outcome. They are an independent bunch anyway. They have gone without support so long that they have grown accustomed to it and now they consider that they are "sufficient unto themselves." They have a notion that the skill and training and the artistic appreciation they derive from their practise and their concerts are worth it all. School support is incidental with them. All this, you know, is our fault—the result of monotonously empty concert halls.

Don't think, though, that they are all reserved. They would be glad, we know, to have us at their concerts. Most of them are free, all are cheap and the music—well, you get everything from syncopated Irving Berlin to charming Verdi and stately Wagner. And you will enjoy it all.

They have invited you often enough—they have even made the concerts free,—the rest lies with you. The latch-string is out—nay, the doors are open. It is up to you to come.

Class Room and Corridor

Strangers once, we came to dwell together,
Sons of a mother wise and true;
Now we are bound by ties that cannot sever
All our whole lives through.
Gather closer, hand to hand,
The time draws near when we must part.
Still the love of college days will linger
Ever in each heart.

We have climbed together up the pathway,
On to the goal where life doth wait;
Where, in bright and beck'ning fields of promise,
Lieth fame or fate.
Formed among these dear old halls
The memories that can never die,
Strength to keep us faithful in our manhood
To our purpose high.

-Amherst Song Book.

There is little left. That old song that the Amherst Seniors sing, huddled close in a circle, says just about all there is to be said.

We have climbed together up a pathway, up a pathway fraught with laughing joys and erstwhile loves, where pain and tragedy, lurking in the shadows, were charmed away by hands we could not see and kept from us. We go out to a battlefield, a field bristling with guns and scarred with trenches that 7000 years have placed there for us to master, that have been there since Genesis: a place where we shall see the wickedness that we have not seen before, where we shall stand alone, perhaps for the first time, and learn that life is one big battle and not a happy game.

But whatever our fate, where'er our destiny calls us, we have been fellows together. When you have laughed we all have laughed with you. We have broken the same bread under the same roof. Your victories were our victories, we have tasted the sting of defeat together. Now the hour draws near when you and I must part. It must be as all partings between friends are, flavored with its touch of sadness. What the old chums and old memories mean to us time alone can show. Now we can only feel the first pangs of parting. But as the years go by and the living to-days are sere and cherished old yesterdays, when our calf-loves and adventures are memories that make us to cast a longful smile, then we shall realize, perhaps, that even those memories are worth all the gold at the rainbow's foot.

So, fair ladies of France and cavaliers tried and true, a long farewell; if we meet again we'll smile indeed, if not, this parting was well taken.

CHARLES RAWLINGS.

Editorials

The Senior Annual Board has done its best to produce a book that is attractive and interesting to everybody, though, of course, only you, readers, can judge of its success. But one thing it hopes to do, beside merely making this a picture and joke book, and that is, to leave a message that will be of some help, perhaps, both to those of you who remain in West High, to those who go on to higher institutions of learning, and to those who start out in the business life of the This is the message: firm, deep-rooted honesty is the Goliath of the human being. He who, by exerting his will power, trains himself in his youth to absolute truthfulness in matters of great and small moment, will find out as he grows older that he has a champion constantly at his side, that is worth more to him than almost anything else he knows; one who can shield him from innumerable battles because of misunderstandings; one who can ward off for him the attacks of smooth-tongued Temptation; one who will help him make his world, whether large or small, public or secluded, cleaner and on a more sound foundation. And this honesty is just as important in minor, everyday matters in school life, as anywhere in the wide world. Every time you yield to a desire to glance at your neighbor's Geometry paper, to run your eye down the columns of the class-book as you stand by the teacher's desk, or listen quietly to a conversation which is not intended to be heard by you, you weaken your own powers of honesty much more than you can build them up again in a long time. It may seem trifling or unimportant at that moment, but it has done a great deal more damage than you realize. Therefore, see to it that while you are young, you are perfectly honest to yourself and to other people at all times and in all places.

Within the last few weeks, the West High School has taken a big step forward toward the development of Music in the school in general. She has established a custom which we hope will be permanent, and which, we feel, will more and more lodge in the hearts of the students the love and appreciation of the best in Music. Assembly part-singing is surely one of the finest plans that has been tried in our school for some time. Now the only thing for us to do, is to go into it with our whole soul and make it a thorough success in order to prove that we realize and appreciate the advantages that are given to us, both in general knowledge of singing and in the instruction in definite, well-known music with which every cultured person should become familiar. Let each one determine to take an interested part in each singing assembly from the very beginning of next term; it will be well worth while.

If there is a thing against which we must guard more than anything else it is the habit of "idle talk"—just talking, without really saying anything. This is an exceedingly easy habit to acquire, for the simple reason that we are often obliged to converse for a time with people who have not much in common with us, and with whom it is difficult to find a point of contact. But we can avoid this, if we will, by putting our minds to work and watching ourselves closely, to see that we do not give in to the temptation to let our thoughts wander but at the same time "keep up the conversation." Do not misunderstand, it is not necessary to talk on weighty subjects continually, but just as soon as we talk merely for the sake of talking we get into deep waters, for then beside just talking idly there creeps in the habit of foolishly criticizing people and things, and so it goes from bad to worse. We all know people who can talk for hours about nothing and we cannot really admire them. There is a great deal of difference between having something to say, and having to say something. Let us try to be of the class of those who have something to say.

GRACE HOWELL

Debating

It can well be said that West High had, this year, as good teams as have ever carried the name of West High School Debating Teams. At the beginning of the year it was decided that West High teams should DEBATE from notes instead of ORATE learned speeches. This they did in spite of the fact that the LaFayette Team came to Rochester with learned speeches. Both boys' teams debated on the question, Resolved, That the milk supply of cities should be distributed from plants owned and operated by the municipalities." The decision of the judges was in both cases against the boys of West High, but yet every member of the Faculty and of the student body was satisfied that West High gave the better debate.

The Lafayette Debate

Question—Resolved, That the milk supply of cities should be distributed from plants owned and operated by the municipalities.

Date-March 26, 1915, in the West High Assembly Hall.

The Team—Seth Widener, James McGhee, Horace Webb, Jr., Robert Longes, alternate.

Affirmative-West High. Negative-LaFayette. Decision to Negative.

The East High Debate

Question—Resolved, That the milk supply of Rochester should be distributed from plants owned and operated by Rochester.

Date-April 26, 1915, at the West High School.

The Team—Percival Case, Warren Kennell, Ross Milliman, Robert Thomas, alternate.

Affirmative-West High. Negative-East High. Decision to Negative.

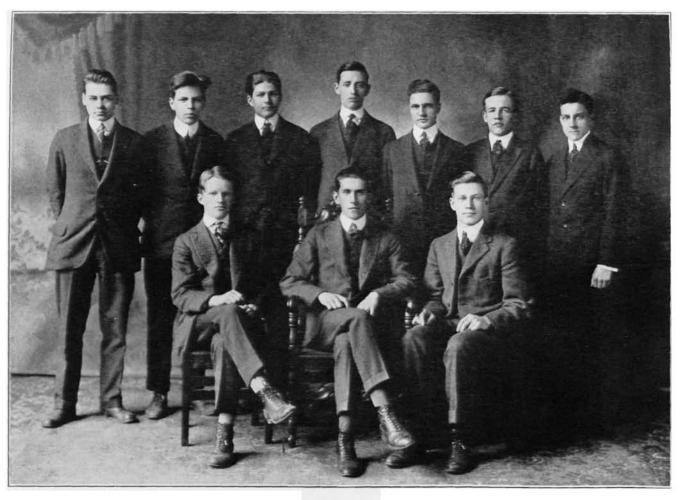

The Girls' East High Debate

Question—Resolved, That a systematic study of domestic science, with an elementary course in the grammar schools and an advanced course in the high schools, should be required of every girl in the Rochester Public Schools.

Date-May 14, 1915, at East High School.

The Team—Florence Clark, Ruth Gillette, Beatrice Morrison, Gladys Tozier, alternate.

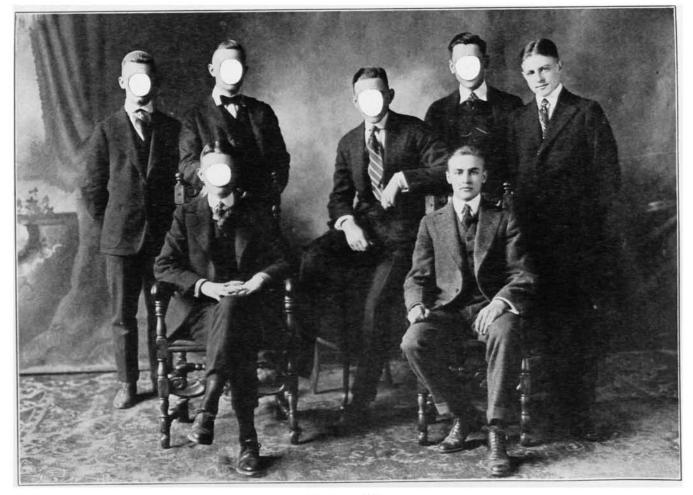

Affirmative-East High. Negative-West High. Decision-to Affirmative.

To Editor of Senior Annual, who, being of female disposition, are understandable to school spirit.

Dear Madam-

I was reading with interest your columns of Occident paper and thinking soliloquisingly when cousin Anako, who are considerably infant in nature, approach whooping and venturing wild cheers of ununderstandableness.

He stop before me with final yelp.

"Why tumult?" I snuggest.

"For we win ball and base game," he bewilder.

"Hm. You play?" I nib insinuatingly. He get me.

"No," he respond sneerfully, "far too young. I support the team with cheers and pocket money. I dismiss 15 cts. today for see game."

"You could buy hair-cutting at Noliano Tonsorial Parlor for so much. Haircutting you need more than ball & base game." I narrate with wet blanket expression.

"Hair-cutting any day; base game never only to-day," he retort with Elinor Glyn ecstasy.

"For why," I pooh-pooh, "Hair-cutting necessary, at base game you only watch. Pitcher omit ball at bat-man, batman knock ball with areoplane speed over fence and elope around path ending considerably without breath where he started."

"Good stuff. But all cannot play, it helps for some to only stand and cheer," he narrate with Milton resignation. "Also I will take Miss Rokoto to Senior Play after supper," he defy with afterthought.

"How much?" I require Jewishly.

"$1.50 shot, "he proclaim with I-should-worry way.

"For $1.50 could see regular show," I snuggest.

"But that would not be for support West High," he elucute.

"How could it?" I ask out. "Are you married husband to West High? Must you support it and pay out alimonies when you leave?" This quick-fire report from me.

"That are Elbert Hubbard joke," he surrogate. "Elucute," I revoke.

"Well," he negotiate, "I tell you in plain S. P. C. A. I attend West High school for study-

"For study," I state with Sherlock Holmes mystery.

"Yes, for study," he report hydrophobically. "But West High also are distinguished container of many intellectual enterprise. These it are patriotic duty of every West High school boy to support. Therefor. All our best people visit games and other amusements for help team win. Therefor. To be in swimining I must go see games, too. Etc.," he report, making slight pause to intellect.

"Why swim?" I neglect hopelessly, "Water are yet very cold."

He overlook my English joke.

"It are duty, I say it, of entire West High to turn out to all games. Otherwise teams will not play good and other team beat. Therefor school pride will be drugged in the dust."

"Why should worry?" I rebuke. "You no are play. You will not be for blamed."

"Yes, but West High must win," he report wildly with cubist gestures. "Here I overlook lessons tonight for support school and see play which are considerably unintelligent for me."

"This are circular talk," I negotiate with wiseness. "You go to school for education, not?"

"Yes, but-" he begin hopelessly.

"Listen," I acknowledge, gentle but firmly, "you attend West High School for intellect. Your honorable father pay sifficient taxation for continue that important education. Therefor. Should study all possible for get money's worth. Not? Yet you overlook numerous studies for take Miss Anako, to play-show which are not even intellectual to you. Why is? More even. Could see better play-show for less. Therefor. Why see poor show when can see good play show for less. Ad lib. etc." I flourish wind-up.

Hon. Cousin Anako, who has been making tango step of considerable excite and gestures of Eva Tanguay emotion, begin say so.

"It are so," he eliminate. "I go West High School."

I give vacant stare of considerable cold shoulder.

"It are so." This from me.

"Therefor," he elocute, "I are proud of West High. West High have numerous teams. If they win I shall be more proud; if they lose I shall be sad. They need support. Therefor, I must support teams to make win, which are considerable pride to me, etc." He make pause for breath and intellect.

"But-"I surrogate.

"Never mind," he nib. "It are so. Could see better show, maybe. But. I would not support school. Play-show would not success. Would not make pride to me of school."

"But why want play to be a success?" I require, "You get sifficient intellect from school without play. It will not help you if play make successful. You are cubist reason. Go to school for educate, for get intellect for play. Want to make play successful when you make no money or anything from it. Why is?"

"You are Jewish, not Japanese," he report over back as he elope toward home.

"See play to-night?" I require with shout.

"Sure," he nib loudly. "Bet cha life."

Thus he leave eyesight, leaving me considerable Round Robin.

Hoping you are the same, I remain,

Yours truly,

The Cynic

Here stands our band,
We're gay and joyous, giving friends the hand—
But some poor fools are weeping—why? I cannot understand.

We're through at last, The four long years of drudgery are past And now we're hastening to a life more gay and vast.

Tears in my eyes?
Impossible! Why, very glad am I—
But hold! Cynic no more, in tears I sob, "West High, good-bye."
R. M. C.

The Year's Dramatics

The class of 1915 has, in contrast to other preceding classes, followed an original plan of having two Senior plays, one by the boys and one by the girls. The boys' play was a good old-fashioned minstrel show which was directed by William Crossett, a former member of West High. The girls' play, under the supervision of Mrs. Ellis, was a farce, "The Kleptomaniac." Both plays were given at the same performance, and they were so well given that it was repeated a week later.

The Junior Farce, "My Lord in Livery," was given by the classes of 1916 in the West High Assembly Hall. Under Mrs. Ellis' supervision the farce was very well produced, and was enjoyed immensely by those who attended. The members of the class who took part showed great ability and promised well for a Senior play next year.

ATHLETICS

ZAMINIMINA S

TR M. WIRSTER IF.

The Girls' Gym.

"And what is left—'Tis memories, The rarest of them all."

And those memories will be cherished; for all the girls will look back with pride on this splendid season.

First on our year's scroll comes our Tennis Tournament. Never in the history of the school did so many girls enter this sport, but this only made it the more interesting to us all, who were slowly and surely sifted down. As a result, Evelyn Richmond of the class of 1918 has held the girls' tennis title in singles during our 1914-1915 season, while she shares the title in doubles with Ruth Osborne.

With strong opposition from the younger girls, the class of June '15, led by Harriet Zeigler, for the second time won the championship in class basketball. Again they stood the test in the studyroom basketball games, and as a result they imprinted an inky "24" on the Studyroom Basketball banner.

The fourth annual girls' Inter-class Gym meet was held in the middle of April and Sylvia Hamalainian received the annual trophy from Mr. Bennett.

Among the other events held during the 1914-1915 season were the annual baseball game with East High, the first annual swimming meet and the spring tennis tournament.

Looking back over our season's work we find it highly prosperous and although girls' athletics are now a very minor part in the school life, they are progressing finely and would do more if given a little more encouragement. At present, however, all the credit is due to Miss Manchester who carries on the splendid work which we all very much appreciate.

Soccer

Soccer is the growing sport in West High. It has come up in four years from a championship team picked from eleven men to a championship team picked from about one hundred and thirty fellows. Out of four years of play West High has won the Interscholastic Championship three times. Here's to another championship!

Basketball

If the winning ability of a team depended on the spirit and "pep" shown then West High would surely have had a championship team. As a matter of fact there were less baskets shot than spirit shown; consequently the team this year was not of winning caliber. However, with Captain Barry at the helm next year West High looks forward to a more prosperous season.

Baseball

Of all the athletic activities Base Ball seems to command the most attention. There are more fellows out for this sport than any other. This year the crowd that have been supporting the team were immense, breaking all records sind football. The team is composed of "vets" and yet but very few will be lost t graduation. Manager Hunt had a fine schedule for the team.

Track

This year seems to be an off year for track. The material has mostly been drawn from the younger and inexperienced men. More fellows are needed to make track a success. A fellow never knows whether he has ability in track until he has tried out. If West High could have fifty fellow out next fall, so that competition would be keen, there would be no doubt as to the outcome. Support track!

Tennis

There is no high school in the country where there are more fellows playing tennis than at West High. The team this year was greatly handicapped in that the home courts were not in condition very early. The matches had to be played at South Park. In spite of this a great deal of interest was shown. The schedule was good and the team has been successful.

Hockey

There was a good deal of interest shown in Hockey this year but mostly by the younger class of fellows. With this material for next year West High should have a corking good team. More fellows are needed to make this sport a success. Get out in the air and don't be afraid of taking cold.

Fellows, identify yourselves with at least one activity while at West High. If you do not succeed at debating try athletics. If you like music don't let anybody stop you from getting on the Glee Club. College fellows all acknowledge that work of this kind done in High School is worth more to you when you get in college than double the work while in college. Prepare yourself here. Both school and individual will get the benefit.

"Peace!!!"

"Seven minute speed test."

"Again!!!"

"Now, never mind that, girls."

"When conversation becomes more absorbing than music, the music will cease."

Heard in the "Vic"

Flashed on the screen—"He sold the product of his genius for a pittance." Bright girl watching the show—"Say, Anna, how much is a pittance."

The "bored" of Education—The Students.

Harriet Gould (in Biology)—"What part of the body is the scrimmage?"

Biology teacher—"I never heard of it before."
Harriet—"Well, I read in the paper that a boy got hurt in the scrimmage, playing football."

Bill-"Why aren't they going to put any more horns on the Ford autos?" Pill-"I don't know."

Bill-"Why, because they look too much like the devil already."

Heard in Algebra—The fraction leaned over and touched the whole number on the shoulder, "Say," she whispered, "is my numerator on straight?"

Heard in the Regent

It was perfectly evident to me that the Regent attracted many other West High students besides myself, for right behind me sat a row of chattering girls. It was impossible not to hear their comments on the pictures.

A scene in a gambling house flashed on the screen and then the "leader", to the effect that the villain played with loaded dice. A fierce struggle ensued upon the screen and a horrified voice exclaimed, "Oh, my dear! What if one of those dice should explode!"

Finis

Graduation day has come;

Years have passed

Since our first look at this school— Now the last.

The Hand of Time has turned a leaf In the Eternal Scroll:

We feel strangely young and fresh Yet grown old.

The corridors with friends were gay All around,

Now they're empty and the crowds Are gone.

The world is calling to our hopes And fears;

And we bid farewell to West High—Some in tears.

Sometimes a few dollars look big to the buyer of printing and it is then that service and quality don't figure in the deal—"its how cheap we can get it."

But, there is a right quality, right service and right price and our quality, service and price for your printing will be as near right as experience can make it.
