Class Prophecy

Writing a book is not an easy thing to do. If you think so try it.

"Hoodathunket" is the title of my book, 1930 is the year, and Rochester, N. Y., the place. The contents is woven about my classmates of June 1918, with whom fate has played strange tricks.

With a list of the graduates in my hand, I started out to get my material and after many days of careful searching I came upon John Neun and Lillian Tegg Neun keeping a home for stray cats.

A startling advertisement in the window of Neal Howard's second-hand shop revealed the fact that our class was not without dramatic talent, as it advertised the Gillette Stock Company, playing the tragedy of the "Missing Link" at the Baker Theater, starring Fred Engelhardt, supported by Helene Clark.

Oliver Steinmann is a flourishing undertaker, owing to the kind assistance of Rev. Thomas Caffery and the inefficiency of Doctor Edmund Flack. Beware of this trio!

James Rawlings is a conductor on the Manitou line. Quite a surprise, James!

Charles Hutchinson has married Ruth Howard and is running a fruit stand on Front Street.

Alice Arthur is a telephone operator at Painted Post. She reads novels between calls. Some job, Alice!

Marian Cushman is rather well known in the city. Her face peers out at you from the street cars, bill-boards and magazines. She is the Chewing Gum Girl, the Sunshine Girl, the Shredded Wheat Girl, etc.

The manager of the Midnight Follies of 1931, who is George Williamson, has engaged Allene Wester, Mary Kinne, Dorothea Fisher, Bertha Kern, Miriam Haag, Ethel Baker and Irene Graves.

Evelyn East, Florence Petterson, Grace Eysvogal and Ethel Chappel are pasting labels in Fred Cole's canning factory, from which Doris Keenan and Irene Lanson have been discharged for being the instigators of a strike. They are now serving their sentence in the Monroe Penitentiary.

Raymond and Ralph Doughty have established a bakery and have hired Helen Corser and Sylvia Leary to make their doughnuts.

The appearance of the Wiser and Leary Circus made it somewhat easier for me to accomplish my undertaking. Thinking that Harold or Bernard might know what had become of some of the others, I went to them. My intuition was correct; the first one to greet my eyes was Emily Bennett, selling tickets at the entrance and working overtime on a package of Cecil Kuhn's new kind of highly flavored chewing gum.

Having entered the grounds I first turned my attention to the animals and was delighted to find that Carlyle Leddon was their trainer.

While I was waiting for the performance to commence, the ring master appeared, leading a shining black charger on which was gracefully posed Thelma Daus, the beautiful bareback rider. On closer observation the ring master proved to be Michael Crino.

With the appearance of so many of my former classmates, the circus had so much attraction for me that I decided to see it all.

One of the best features of the show was, That Daring Trio!! George Bellows, Anna Idle and Roy Purdy, in acrobatic array, jumping wildly from one trapeze to another.

Caesar's ghost! I was never more startled when I recognized the sedate little Edna Butterfield as the Salome dancer. Horrifying!!

That nearly finished the show for me, but I took my courage in hand and went on.

The side shows were even more amazing. William Gee makes a splendid wild man from Borneo and Elizabeth Harrison, the most effective Hula dancer, one could ever imagine. Judith Viall is really a very successful snake charmer.

Horrible, I know, but true nevertheless! I could hardly believe my eyes when I saw Lorna Evarts sitting majestically in a chair on a raised platform, posing as the fat woman. She certainly makes a good one, for she looks as if she weighed three hundred pounds at least. Rolling exercise might do some good, but then I suppose she would be out of a job.

Lillian and Loretta McCarty are perfectly splendid dancers. The Hawaiians would never recognize their native dance! James Howell is their Barker. He ought to make a good one if a name has anything to do with it.

By this time I was extremely excited but the dare-devil dive, performed by Pauline Howland, Gertrude Kent, Roy Borncamp and Roy Crissy took my breath away.

Some of the clowns were Joseph Carney, Paul Lyddon, Joseph Knobles and Leigh Jacques.

The circus would not be complete without the tight-rope walkers, Lee Towsley and John Rowe.

Very much pleased with the circus and the help it had given me, I returned home.

In various other ways I was informed what the following are doing:

Milton Moshier owns a restaurant in Fairport noted for its pretty waitresses, among whom are Adelaide Ets, Marian Fish, Dorothy Cook, Cleo England, Lois Sprague, Elizabeth Heckel, Florence Kennell and Lillian Wadsworth. The biggest drawing card is the beautiful cashier, Frances Dailey.

Fred De Gelleke, under an assumed name, has set up quite a business as a French milliner. It's not a man's work, but then, Fred was always so petit!

I was very proud to find that Jean Rettie, that poetic girl, is writing rhymes for Campbell's soup.

It is interesting to note that Morris Cook has a large practice as a beauty doctor and that Berenice Torpy is one of his best patients.

Doris Marshall is playing opposite Ray Hartzel in the movies, while Robert Griffith is playing the villain. Gee! I bet Bob's jealous!

Ethel Fulton is one of New York's best policewomen. Her latest achievement was the rounding up of Claus Kirsch and his gang of safe-breakers and Kenneth Tompkins for pick-pocketing, thereby ridding New York of two of its cleverest crooks.

Douglas Donald, our class artist, is keeping up the good work and was seen last artistically decorating a bill-board.

Lois Leggett and Margaret McCormack, who are laundresses at the State Hospital, kindly informed me that Earl Whipple and Henry Nellis are keepers there.

The manager of the Corinthian, who, by the way, is Clarence Doerr, sent me a notice saying that John Powers, known to the fighting world as Mr. Solly Plexy, the Terror, is engaged to fight Robert Webster, or Robert the Last Hope.

Edward Ward is in business with Harold O'Neill, keeping a junk and scrap establishment. Some of their most efficient rag sorters are Ruth Perrin, Joanna Linke, Freda Rau and Kathleen Bendon.

Kenneth Jones is their head collector, "Any bottles! Any bones! Any rags today!!"

Don't tell anyone, but Muriel Bentley is the real writer of "Dotty Dimples' Advice to the Lovelorn." Does she speak from experience? I wonder!

Marian Fox and Elizabeth Elger have donated their services to the Salvation Army and hold their meetings on the corner of Water Street every Tuesday and Thursday. Elizabeth sings and Marian accompanies her on the organ.

The Ferner, Jackson and Gibb Co. have started a scientific farm near Batavia, New York, and have rounded up as their employees Lucille Hubbard, housekeeper; Winifred Mergott and Mable Ward as cook. Harry Trentman is superintendent, Orin Kondolf foreman and the tractor drivers, Loraine Osborne, Lettie Le Compte, Fern Fuller and Bessie Miller.

William McKee is the chief chore-master. The fruit-pickers are Alma Schalber, Marvel Sherman, Mary Street and Margaret Tracy. It's a great life if you don't weaken!

Marian Clarkson is the clever successor of Mary Pickford and Ruth King is a second Theda Bara.

Marian Punnett and Lillian Remington are mail carriers on the aero route from New York to Chicago and they say that George Kondolf and William Woodruff have gone in search of the North Pole.

The champion carpet beater for the Rescue Mission is Evelyn Richmond. Her muscular power was undoubtedly gained through tennis playing.

The Clifton Sisters' tailor shop is widely known for its high-grade ladies' apparel. They have with them as models, Gladys Cooper, Edna Aston, Edith Bonehill, Harriet Wright and Dorothy Widner.

Rather a surprising class, is it not?

As for myself, in my spare moments, I am selling alarm clocks to compensate for lost time.

Class Poem

Thoughts at the Cross-Roads

We have almost reached the cross-roads
Between the world and school,
We are ready to don the armor,
And work, each with his tool.

We may share the fate of others,
And somehow drift along,
Or we may rise above them,
And live amid the strong.

But no matter what we do,
We should always do our best
To give fame to this school of ours;
We should always stand the test.

And as the years roll onward,
May her name be ever fair!
And may she be proud indeed
Of her Fighters of Life "out there!"

—Jean Y. Rettie.

Class History—June 1918

"The class of June '18." What a different meaning that name has for us now as we are being graduated than it had four years ago! We reminisce—perhaps for the first time with regret that those days are over—and recall the time when we first entered West High's corridors.

How vainglorious we were and how soon were our proud spirits humbled! We found to our amazement that we received not a particle of the attention that was ours in grammar school. Instead we were despised by Seniors and Juniors alike and looked down upon with contempt by even haughty frosh finals.

But our class soon accustomed itself to its new environment. Other classes soon began to be aware of its presence. They realized that a noteworthy group had come into their midst.

Our first year was spent mainly in organizing for the work in the three years to come. During this year, however, we held our Freshman Reception, an innovation in the school at that time and later adopted by the incoming classes.

We grew in importance and in wisdom—as in stature—as time went on. In the second and third years, we conducted various activities, among which the Soph Party, the Junior Play and the Junior Dance were of prime importance. During this period many of our literary and athletic geniuses came into prominence.

We attained our greatest success in this last, our fourth year. This has been a notable year in the history of West High School. Much was accomplished towards helping our country in her time of need. A Liberty Bond social was given by the school in general, but supported largely by the Senior class, the proceeds of which—over seven hundred dollars—purchased Liberty Bonds in behalf of the Students' Association. The vaudeville performance, in which the two Senior classes co-operated, played to full houses for two consecutive nights. With the proceeds, and an appropriation from the Students' Association, we purchased a motor truck which was presented to Base Hospital 19 in this city. Throughout we have shown our ability to conduct affairs in a manner befitting students of West High.

Socially, our history has been similar to that of other classes. But we have made many remarkable records along different lines. Our laurels have been especially well taken care of in athletics. Neal Howard, William Gee and Milton Moshier were the stars on last season's basketball team which brought the championship back to West High after eleven years of defeat. In baseball we have been represented by Earl Whipple, William Gee, Henry Nellis, Joseph Knobles and Roy Borncamp; in soccer by Michael Crino, Neal Howard and Earl Whipple; and in hockey by Paul Lyddon and Joseph Knobles. George Kondolf has been our mainstay in tennis. Evelyn Richmond, Sylvia Leary, Berenice Torpy, Margaret Tracy and many others have captured honors in athletics on the girls' side.

Besides all this athletic ability, we have been active in the field of literature and art. Especially commendable has been the work of Evelyn Richmond, Edmund Flack, Robert Griffith and Douglas Donald on the Occident staff. Their efforts, in collaboration with the other members of the staff, have raised the Occident standard higher than ever before. We are also fortunate in having in our class Frederick Cole and Charles Hutchinson. Many times has the entire student body enjoyed Fred's splendid piano playing and Charles' wonderful vocal selections.

No less to be noticed is the fact that scholarship ranks high with us. With all our calls to duty during our school careers, we have steadily and firmly adhered to our fixed purpose—that of attaining the greatest possible accumulation of worthwhile knowledge. Twenty honor students—a number that any class would be proud to claim! And mostly girls, at that, which is significant.

Such is our history. We are a great class sure enough, even the Post-grads admit that. Our president, John Neun, has led us with splendid success through the last years of our course. We have always been distinguished; we intend to become more so in later life. We have been dignified always, we have been loyal to our class and our school.

What is in store for us we hardly dare to predict. We leave dear old West High and enter into a changed world with a feeling of gratitude to those who have done so much for us and with a firm and unfaltering determination not to disappoint them in their high hopes for us.

Class of January, 1919

At a meeting of the class of January 1919 the following officers were elected: President, Frank Leach; vice president, Evelyn Tarrant; secretary, Elizabeth Daggs; treasurer, Kenneth Steeves.

The play, "The Twig of Thorn," given by the Junior classes this year was a huge success, owing no doubt to the fact that the cast included several members of our class. Carol Livingstone, Madeline Housman and Le Roy Miller all had leading parts. Leo Knight was also in the cast.

Class of June, 1919

The class of June 1919 has just finished up a very successful year owing to the support of the members and also of the class advisers, Miss Gibbs and Mr. Holmes. Le Roy Beers, president; Katherine Howk, vice-president; Kenneth Boyer, secretary; and Brenda Glass, treasurer, have again held the officers' positions of the class. Beside these, Gladys Von Deben, Elizabeth Barr and Le Roy Beers have upheld the interests of the class in the Executive Council.

One of the best Junior "Proms" was run by this class, combined with January 1919 class, on March eighth. This was due to the efforts of Winifred Cowles, Herbert Messenger and Paul Whipple. Then the greatest of all Junior Plays was put forth by this class, combined with the January class, on May third. Winifred Cowles played the leading role, Ralph Allen was Advertising Manager and Allen Thomas was Business Manager.

Also twenty-six of the boys took a week-end trip to Cornell University where they were heartily entertained by the different fraternities.

With this record behind it the class of June 1919 passes on to its Senior year wishing success to those about it, and aspiring to make another successful year for itself.

KENNETH BOYER,
Secretary.

One morning J. Howell looked over his fence and said to his neighbor: "What are you burying in that hole?"

"Just replanting some of my seeds," was the answer.

"Seeds!" exclaimed Jimmy angrily, "It looks more like one of my hens."

"That's all right," said the other, "the seeds are inside."

C. Gibbs—"Suppose when I get up 2,000 feet in the air this machine suddenly falls?"

Salesman Crino—"We warrant all our goods. You can bring it back."

CLASS OF 1919

Class of January, 1920

At a class meeting held during the month of February, 1918, the boys and girls of the class of January 1920 elected the following officers for the Junior year: President, Francis Remington; vice-president, Doris Smith; secretary, Samuel Danno; treasurer, James Gray; members of the Executive Council, Doris Rankin, Arthur Jones and Ernest Ward.

The first event of the new year was the Sophomore Party which was a grand success. In this, both the January and June classes participated. Next came the big event of the year, the Sophomore Sleighride. It was well attended and although we did not make much money on it, every person that attended was satisfied.

To the chairman of the Sophomore party belongs a great deal of praise for the excellent results obtained. This super-being was none other than James Gray.

In the scholastic line we have numerous stars, but the most luminous are Everett Partridge, "Vic" Moyes, "Art" Henderson, "Irish" Gaffney, Doris Rankin and Doris Smith.

Our class team, with the following stars, Campbell, Remington, White, Gaffney, Coaker, Stadler and Stell, won the school championship in basketball.

In athletics we are represented by many, some of the best being: "Chet" Stadler, who pitched a two-hit game this season; "Hank" Rohrer, infielder-pitcher, and Carl Campbell, the track man.

We have been here two and a half years and we earnestly wish that we had that many years more to go, but the majority of us will leave our Alma Mater in a year and a half while others will see the above wish fulfilled.

In closing we wish those leaving school, both Seniors and those enlisting, the best of luck for the remainder of their days on this wide, wide earth.

SAMUEL J. DANNO,
Secretary.

Class of June, 1920

The class of June 1920 is finishing its second year of its existence in West High School. Although we were not so successful in sports as in the first year the social events made up for the loss. The Sophomore Party which included the class of January 1920 was the first social event. Dancing and games made the time fly and all present appeared to enjoy themselves, even the parents. Refreshments were also served. Plans for a sleighride were made but the weather interfered and a party was held instead. A basketball game was first on the program, followed by dancing. A fine supper was served and certain members made speeches. After the supper the dancing was continued and when the parting time came everybody was sorry to leave. The class has also purchased class pins of a delightful and pleasing type.

The girls' class officers are: President, Martha Spinning; vice-president, Winifred Weet; secretary, Dolores Kellogg; treasurer, Olive Ladd.

CLASS OF 1920

Class of January, 1921

The class of January 1921 has been only a short time in West High school but its career has been more eventful than most people would at first suppose. To begin with the class has a fine staff of officers: President, Lyle Wood; vice-president, Donald MacMasters; secretary, Ernest Underwood.

The class has always been in the van in athletics, winning the championship in tennis and the championship in the Freshman Baseball League and playing the championship game in basketball, baseball and soccer in the inter-class contests. The track team also placed second in the inter-class track meet last spring, being beaten only by 1919, and beat East High Freshmen a few weeks later.

The class also has a good showing on the school teams, Hartson, Wood and Makins on the track team; Metz on the baseball team and Hartson on the tennis team. The track team is determined to beat 1919 in the next inter-class meet. At the present time the track team is making arrangements for a meet with the January '21 class of East High School.

Class of June, 1921

This class has been in high school only a short time, but it certainly thinks that West High is a fine place. A class meeting was held recently at which the following officers were elected:

Boys—President, George Codd; vice president, Earl Steeves; secretary, Harold Woodruff; treasurer, Wilford Getman.

Girls—President, Eunice Hutchinson; vice president, Dorothy Marples.

She used to sit upon his lap,
As happy as could be,
But now it makes her seasick—
He has water on the knee.

Cholly—"After all, fools make life amusing. When all the fools are dead I don't want to be alive."

Gwendolyn—"Don't worry, you won't be."

Many West High pupils, in spite of the Anti-Swearing Campaign, are seen to indulge in wooden swearing—slamming doors.

The West High Press Club

President—Joseph Knobles

Vice President—Elbert Angevine

Treasurer—Welden Hames

Who in America does not gaze upon the sporting page? It is the first page that the average youth turns to when looking over his newspaper. Without newspaper notice athletics would not have risen to the high plane that they have attained. It is this advertising that goes a long way toward the making of an athletic team.

During the past school year West High has been favored with newspaper notices that have helped the various teams on in their weekly matches. Always have the school correspondents been real live supporters of the teams.

Elbert Angevine, Welden Hames and Joseph Knobles have represented the different papers in our city for West High activities and have done extraordinarily well. The first has been more in the line of an assistant manager to the athletic activities instead of a press agent. As he is a Junior in school rank it means that West High is assured of real support in the local papers for some time.

MUSIC

"THE FEAST OF THE LITTLE LANTERNS."

Girls' Glee Club

In the Girls' Glee Club this year all efforts have been concentrated on the Chinese Operetta in which there is a large cast. Many others are participating besides those of the Glee Club, whose members are as follows:

FIRST SOPRANOS—Grace Eysvogel, Dorothy Singiser, Margaret Tracy, Helen Gould, Gretta Richardson, Elmira Slade, Bessie Miller, Gladys Saunders, Mildred Durkee, Edith Milliman.

FIRST ALTOS—Evelyn Hess, Florence Bradley, Evelyn East, Louise Goldsmith, May Kynock.

SECOND ALTOS—Genevieve Rogers, Ruth Walker, Lillian Davis.

SECOND SOPRANOS—Eunice Prien, Leona Imhof, Elizabeth Lannin.

The Canary Club

On account of the war many of our most talented "chirpers" left their bird cage and winged their way over to France in hopes of "winging" a German. It was this patriotic circumstance that caused the remaining studious canaries to be a trifle delinquent in rendering harmonic melodies. However, no birds ever sang so sweetly or conscientiously. Be it said to their credit that the "chirpings" were pleasing to the ear as evidenced by the thunderous applause given them in assemblies. No effort to annihilate the canaries was made during the performances which is a compliment indeed. We trust that next year the canaries will please us by a much longer program and that in the meantime they will not injure their valuable vocal chords by yelling to the cows or singing to the chickens on the farm.

Orchestra

There is a phase of our school life of which we have not heard much lately, that is, unless we happen to go into the Assembly Hall Monday night. Yet our school orchestra is very much alive and we should certainly miss it if we did not have one.

The orchestra played at the commencement exercises in January and probably will do the same in June, although that has not yet been settled. Their playing at the operetta, "The Feast of the Little Lanterns," was fine and very enjoyable. Apart from these events the orchestra has not given any concerts, although they have been practicing steadily every Monday night.

We must not forget, moreover, the many enjoyable Friday afternoons we spent in dancing, with our school orchestra furnishing the music. We were certainly fortunate to have such fine playing available for our dancing.

Splendid as our orchestra is, however, many of its members lament the fact that so few of the school seem to take an interest in it. They are earnestly desirous of increasing the size of the orchestra. Flutes, cornets and clarinets are especially needed. Any of you who play some kind of a musical instrument and have not yet tried out for the orchestra will be cordially welcomed if you wish to join. If you think that it is too late to become a member this term, don't forget to try early in the fall term.

Following are the members of the orchestra: Two pianos, Dorothy Miller, Audrey Costello; first violin, Neal Clement, Theodore Clement, Benjamin Chamberlin; second violin, Earl Steeves, Dorothy Wilde, Dorothy Kennedy, Earl Ashton, Arthur Barley; drummer, Edmund Miller; viola, Harold Palmer.

Dramatics

Junior Play

Departing from the customs of former years, the classes of 1918 presented four one-act plays on the evening of May 18, 1917. The plays were written by members of the Senior class of that year and were very interesting and exciting sketches.

"Safe," the first of the four plays, was written by Marjory Storey. "For the Stars and Stripes" was the masterpiece of Muriel Hamilton, the comedy of the evening was furnished by "Domestic Economy," the work of Mildred Dean, and the bill was concluded with a war play by Elmer Way, "The Streak of Yellow."

The staging and producing of the four plays was a stupendous task but under the instruction of Mrs. Ellis the large cast of characters was finally whipped into shape. The scenery, designed by Miss See, was unique and gave a suitable atmosphere to the various productions.

Mildred Hall, as leading lady in "For the Stars and Stripes," was the star of the evening. The parts of Mr. and Mrs. Knowal in "Domestic Economy" were well executed by Howard Jones and Sylvia Leary. Clever work was also exhibited by Jimmie Howell as the burglar in "Safe."

The girl worth while,
Is the one who can smile,
When everything else goes wrong.

SENIOR VAUDEVILLE CAST

Senior Vaudeville Show

Precedent and tradition had always shown an undue partiality to plays of one or two acts in West High School until the advent of the Senior Vaudeville Show on the eleventh and twelfth of January, nineteen-eighteen. The variety offered by the several acts produced intense excitement and surprise and there was not a moment lost in the revealing of the secrets.

The act of Douglas Donald and Roy Miller entitled "Chalk Talk" was quite unusual and mystifying and the exhibition of ball room dances given by Thelma Daus and Franklyn Burke brought several rounds of applause. The minstrel show was the main feature of the bill and between Mike Crino, as interlocutor, and Fred Haines, Floyd Reynolds, Robert Griffith and Franklyn Burke, as end men, a rapid fire of entirely new and original jokes was exchanged, convulsing the audience with laughter. These were supplemented by solos and selections from the chorus of burnt cork comedians.

The military dance given by six Senior girls was exceedingly clever and deserving of honorable mention. The program was concluded with a series of pictures of our boys who have entered into military service.

Dancing in the corridors followed the performances.

With the proceeds obtained from the two productions and some aid from the Students' Association the Senior class was able to purchase a motor truck which was presented to and gratefully received by Base Hospital Unit No. 19 early in the month of February. The truck was escorted by a body of the Senior students from the school and, accompanied with martial music, the parade passed up through Main Street to the Armory where the Hospital Unit was assembled to receive it. Thus the class of 1918 not only presented enjoyable entertainment to a great number of people, but also performed a patriotic service to its country.

RED CROSS AUXILIARY

Foreword

For a little over one year our nation has been engaged in war, which has proved itself to be the greatest one in the annals of humanity. The eyes of all our people are focused for the greater part upon one thing, namely the task of winning the war. While we are engaged in this undertaking many luxuries and desires must be thrust aside and given up. But in centralizing our efforts upon the winning of this world-wide affair we must not forget other things.

In normal times athletics have been called a necessity, now they are more than that. The value of sport is shown by the attention which is given it by the soldier during his off-duty hours. He turns to it with a feeling of relief after the more serious work has been accomplished. After he thoroughly enjoys himself by an hour or two of some sport activity he gladly returns to his grim occupation with a feeling that he is doing his bit and doing it gladly.

In peace times the soldier has participated somewhat in athletics but not as he is now doing. The schools and colleges have for the most part discontinued rather than increased their sporting activities. Surely there is no reason for this. It will not hinder the great work of winning the war; it will aid it by doing the same for the civilian as it is doing for the armed man.

Previous to the war it was the minority that engaged in athletics. Now by reason of the loss of many of the aforesaid, many who never participated in sport are now getting real benefit from it. The benefit is not only physical but mental, for one who has participated in athletic competition cannot but receive a greater amount of self assurance and confidence, things which many of us lack to a more or less degree.

West High, we are glad to say, has not discontinued its athletics one bit. Herein our directors proved themselves wise indeed.

The part that our school is doing for the great world war is small, 'tis true, but does it not strike you that much of our work has been aided by the athletics that we undertake? They have been the electromotive force of many a drive in our war undertakings.

While a good many of our students have derived good from their part in athletics the past year there are still many more who have not come in for their share of this work. They have not even tried. There must be latent ability of an athletic nature in some of the three or four hundred who have not gone in the realm of sport. After once participating in sport for some time those same lads would not hold back but would dig in with assurance and confidence that they were as good as the next one. That would be their compensation for participation in the sports.

The case of Tyrus Raymond Cobb, the famous ballplayer, is an excellent example of what a man can really do if he only tries. Cobb is generally recognized to be the greatest ballplayer in the big leagues. Why? He has no more natural ability than the rest of the field. He has been the leading batsman of the American League for ten years out of the eleven that he has worn the Detroit uniform. Yet he does not hit like Joe Jackson or Tris Speaker, who smash the ball with the force of a bullet. He combines his hitting ability with his running by beating out infield taps for hits, which count for the same in the scorebook.

Cobb is a great ballplayer because he wants to be one. Physically fit, there is not one lad in West High who could not make a strong bid for one of the athletic teams that represents the glorious institution. He may pick from baseball, hockey, swimming, golf, tennis, basketball or soccer.

ATHLETICS

Football Days

MANAGER—MIKE CRINO

CAPTAIN—EARL REED

Soccer, the substitute for Rugby, is gradually winning favor in the mind of the American public as a real sport. While Rugby appears to be the main thing in college athletics it has proved too strenuous for youngsters in high school ranks.

In this game, which has been connected with West High activities for eight years, the Occidentals have always made a favorable showing and this year was no exception, though the chief desire of everyone in school, namely, the defeat of East High for the city championship, was not accomplished.

With Chet Kirchmaier to lead the lads on the field next fall it is likely that a different result may be obtained when the Orange and Black meet the Purple and White.

The members of the team are: Howard, Whipple, Knight, Clarke, Vance, Adams, Moore, Kirchmaier, Crino, Burke and Gillette.

West High Aquatics

MANAGER—JOSEPH KNOBLES

CAPTAIN—FRANCIS REYNOLDS

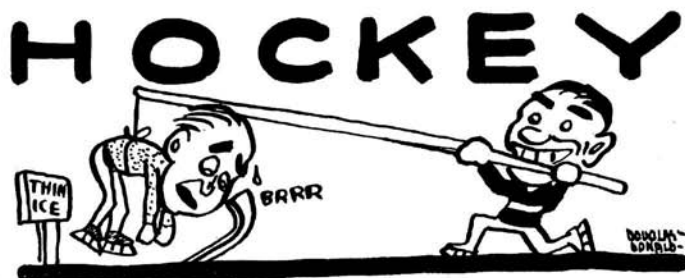

March is the month when most sports are not in full swing. Basketball has had its day and outdoor sports, as baseball and tennis, are yet unable to make a real start. It is then that swimming comes in for its share of attention.

West High put out a good team considering that it was the initial attempt of the institution. Two meets were held, the one with East High resulting in a loss for our boys and the Cathedral meet tallying up a win for the Orange and Black fish.

Reynolds showed clearly in these meets that he is the class of the school's swimmers. Alexander, Shepard and Miller were also lads of ability, each bringing home points for West High in the meets.

SOCCER TEAM

The Great Winter Sport

MANAGER—JAMES HOWELL

CAPTAIN—PAUL LYDDON

Hockey is a sport that deserves the attention of every student in the school. In Canada it is the leading game, crowds of thirty thousand frequently attending the games. Here in West High twenty or thirty support the game, including the players. This should not be the case. We can think of no cleaner sport than this winter game. There is just that bit of personal contact in it that puts the real element of excitement into it. As for the speed of the game one has only to see a veteran of the game shoot up the rink carrying the puck for a goal shot.

From a standpoint of games won and lost the past season was not a winner for West High, one loss being attributed to the team and one tie game going into the records. The former was received at the hands of East High and the latter was played with Lafayette High of Buffalo.

The three veterans of the squad, Howell, Steevens and Lyddon, were responsible in a large measure for the clever game put up by the Genesee Street lads. Captain Lyddon was placed upon the All-State Septette by reason of his fine playing at point. Kirchmaier, a newcomer at the game was a find, his brilliant playing being rewarded by a place on the All-State hockey septette. LePine and Knight were also in the thick of the fight during the course of the season's play.

HOCKEY TEAM

BASKETBALL

Champions of Rochester

MANAGER—WRAY RAWLINGS

CAPTAIN—NEAL HOWARD

Basketball teams which have represented West High in the past have always proved to be equal to the task of holding their own during the course of a season's play, but for eleven years no team was able to come through the playing year with a win over East High until Petey Howard and his record breaking squad went over the top this February by scoring a clean-cut win over the Orientals, making it the most successful season ever from a percentage standpoint. One game was lost out of the thirteen played, the reverse coming in the earlier part of the year at the hands of the Brockport Normal five, who were defeated later in the season, requiting the Occidentals for their only loss.

To little Petey Howard must go the major share of credit for the success of the quint. Though others performed with shining success at different times it was the aggressiveness of this same Howard that enabled the Orange and Black to come through with such a fine record. Red Gee was a stellar worker at left guard, chalking up a record of holding his forward scoreless for six consecutive games during the latter part of the season. When Petey was injured it was Red who took the burden of acting captain and led the team with much success. Both of these lads were honored by being placed upon the All-Scholastics, a team representing the cream of New York State's best basketball players in scholastic ranks.

The other members of the squad were all above the average in ability, many a game being won by their valuable assistance. Harvey Morgan, the big center of the five, was elected to lead the 1918-1919 team. Milanetti, McKie, Moshier, Cerquoni, Rohrer, Clarke and Messenger were others who were on the first squad.

WE'RE UP IN FRONT AS USUAL

In the Girls' Gym

Although girls' athletics are not as prominent as those of the boys, nevertheless something is always being done in the girls' gym whatever the season. From tennis and hockey in the fall through basketball and gym meets in the winter to spring with its baseball and tennis, as well as hiking and swimming, our girls are very busy with some form of exercise throughout the year. A very successful gym meet was held this spring which was won by the class of June 1919. Irma Seibert won the silver cup with the highest individual score.

The girls of the class of June 1918 have been very successful in athletics throughout their high school course. They have held the inter-class championship in basketball for three years. Among the members of the team are Margaret Tracy, Sylvia Leary, Berenice Torpy, Evelyn Richmond, Marian Clarkson and Helen Corser. They have also held the championship of the classes in baseball for two years, while this year's champions are still to be determined. In tennis, moreover, the championship has been in the hands of June 1918 girls for the past four years, the champions the past year in singles and doubles being Evelyn Richmond and Berenice Torpy. These two girls and Sylvia Leary have also earned monograms, very few of which are possessed by members of the school, not more than four in fact, if that many.

We are proud to see that our girls have shown such an interest in athletics and sincerely hope that this interest will continue in the years to come.

On the Golf Links

During the past five or six years it has been the custom to stage golf tournaments and the statement that golf is a real live game was amply vouched for by the entries during said tournaments. This year saw thirty or forty entering the tournament and results indicate that the team which is to be picked from the best players will be one which will be an honor to West High.

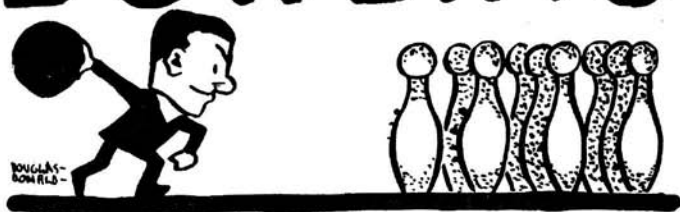

Rountree, runner-up in last year's event, is now in the semi-finals and bids fair to cop the major honors. James Howell is one of the boys who has shown good form, scores of 80 or thereabouts being his usual run for the 18-hole course. Knobles, Kennedy, Van Ettan, Lyddon, Steincamp and Meeks are others who displayed good golf.

West High's bowling team was more than ordinary this year, the inter-scholastic championship being the result of the work of the season, all local high school claimants being eliminated by the sturdy work of the Orange and Black pinmen.

Caffery and Haines were lads who showed good ability in this activity, and Gillette did well. The members of the team are: Burke, Scherer, Knobles, Caffery, Haines, Gillette and Donald.

The Baseball Diamond

MANAGER—EDMUND FLACK

CAPTAIN—FRANK SCHERER

It was Tennyson, if we remember correctly, who said: "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." If he had ever gotten into touch with the great national pastime we feel sure that he would have substituted baseball for the last word in his statement, for the first sign of spring is sure to see Young America on the diamond lining the ball out of the outer pastures.

West High opened its baseball season with one of the finest teams that has ever represented the Orange and Black. The infield plays the errorless brand of ball and the outfielders are gardeners of the finest type. Earle Whipple, the team's mainstay in the box is a left-hander who is a hurler of no mean ability. Stadler and Thomas also show signs of being real boxmen.

With Dutch Scherer as leader for the team it is hard to see how any opponent can get the jump on West High, for the doughty backstop is the real live wire with vim enough for ten men.

The list of the players follows: Infield, Rohrer, Borncamp, Panepinto and Josephus Knobles; outfield, Patterson, Holden, Meeks, Nellis, Knight, Gillette; pitchers, Whipple, Stadler, Thomas; catchers, Scherer and Gee.

One of our Freshmen when asked upon a test to tell where the English language came from replied: "From the dictionary."

Miss Pratt (in Latin class)—" 'Erie' doesn't come from the Latin 'ire' because it doesn't go."

Buddy Rountree—"I just landed a new job as caddy for a golf club. Is there much money in it?"

Another One—"The salary ain't much but a guy can make lots of money backing up a fellow like Unconscious Knobles when he tells about his big scores."

Track Activities

MANAGER—ROBERT HEFFRON

CAPTAIN—RALPH ALLEN

Very seldom has a West High track team defeated an East High team, but our track boys finished ahead of the Orientals in a triangular meet with the U. of R. underclassmen this May. From the form displayed by our boys in that meet we should have a winning team throughout the year.

Lyell Wood, one of the best sprinters in scholastic ranks, is tearing up the cinders for West High. Captain Allen is another champ. Harvey Morgan and Angevine are two track lads who are among the most versatile in the city.

The members of the team are: Campbell, Palmer, Morgan, Angevine, Allen, Wood and Englehardt.

Small Brother—"Bet he'd kiss you if I weren't here."

Ruth Wickens—"You bad boy! Run away this instant."

Captain—"Charge!"

Soldier (who used to sell ribbons)—"Just a moment, please. Name and address?"

"The man who gives in when he is wrong," said the orator, "is a wise man, but he who gives in when he is right is—"

"Married!" called a timid voice. And who should it be but Allan Thomas.

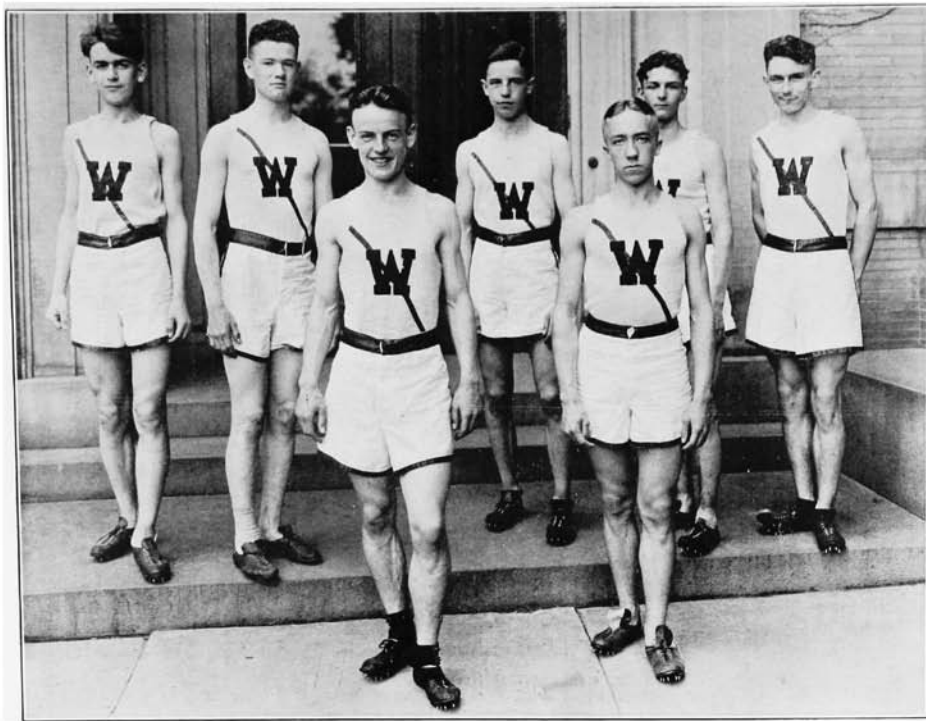

Little Freshman—"Say, pop, what is meant by beastly weather?"

Senior—"When its raining cats and dogs."

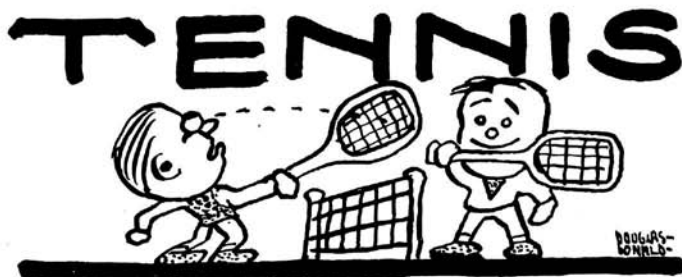

"Nellis promised to give his 'wife' a dime for every one he spent for tobacco."

"How does it work?"

"Fine. You see he meets me every day at the drug store and buys flackspecials for both of us and I buy the smokes."

TRACK TEAM

Tennis Activities

MANAGER—ALFRED SPROAT

CAPTAIN—GEORGE KONDOLF

Tennis, along with baseball, is one of the harbingers of spring and devotees of this sport are many. The school team is composed of George Kondolf, Hames, Smith, Hartson and Holden. In the first two matches on the schedule the boys were left behind, but they gave their opponents a real run for their money all the way and it seems as though this spirit will go a long way toward the making of a successful team.

George Kondolf and Hames form a likely pair for double matches and each has shown that he is capable of holding his own in the singles. Holden, Smith and Hartson are racquet men of recognized ability. Other players of more than average ability are in our school. In the tournaments, Smith, Daniels and Kirchmaier are making bids for the premier honors.

Florence Manly (when required on a test to explain the German influence on America) wrote "Sauerkraut and wieners."

Jean Rettie, our illustrious poet and authority on new thought and reincarnation, firmly believes that she was Cleopatra in her last incarnation.

"What are these?"

"War biscuits. What about 'em?"

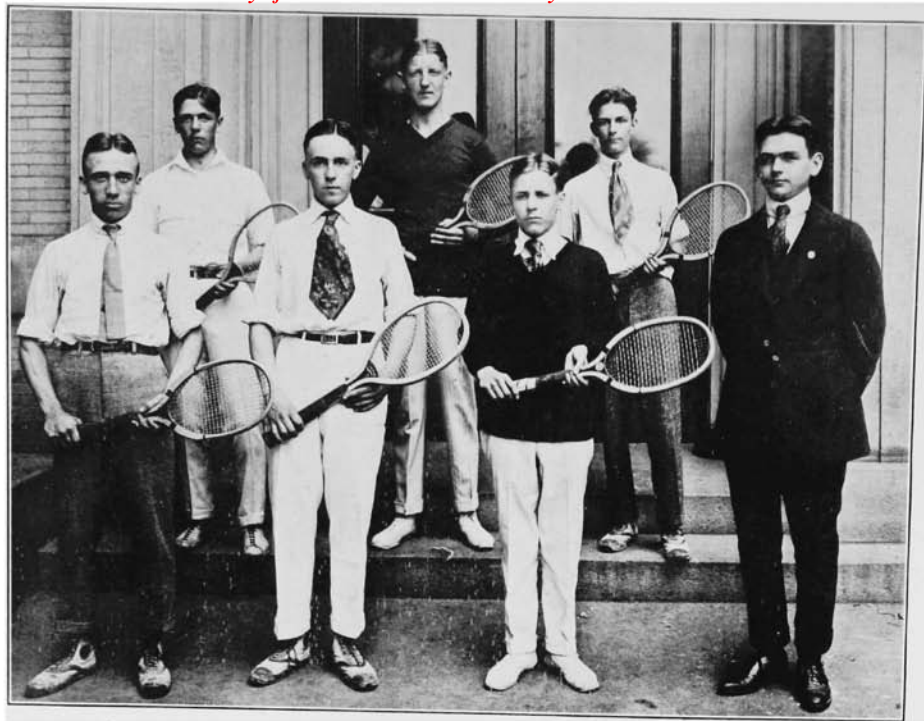

"Sherman said it. That's all."

Conductor (to boys on crowded street car)—"You'd better shut that window, you're in a draught there."

Watson Paddock—"Well, then, we'll all be subject to the draft."

Lyle—"Anything that you say goes."

E. R. (quickly)—"Lyle!"

Summer Time is Recreation Time

Young men and young women freed from school duties and responsibilities for the summer months need healthful recreation.

Both mind and body are more active when given relaxation and recreation.

Whether your favorite pursuit be fishing, baseball, golf, tennis, croquet, or just a hammock and a good book, we have the needed supplies for all these sports and diversions.

We hope you may have a pleasant summer. We would like very much to help in making it pleasant for you.

WHY NOT PREPARE

for prompt service in the war? You can do this by taking a course in shorthand and typewriting in the ROCHESTER BUSINESS INSTITUTE. The government sorely needs people who understand these subjects.

You can prepare to do first-rate work in from six to eight months, and can register on the first or third Monday of any month in the year at 172 CLINTON AVENUE SOUTH.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE

offers to young men and women, High School graduates, normal and professional courses in Industrial, Household, and Applied Arts which prepare them for efficient service.

The teaching profession is especially attractive; capable instructors are in constant demand and command good salaries. Many West High students, later "Mechanics" graduates, have made good as teachers.

Suppose YOU consider seriously this field and talk the matter over with us.
