The Class of June 1921

West High School
To our Fathers and Mothers to whose devotion we owe the completion of our High School Course, the priceless opportunities of the present, and the inspiration with which we are enabled to face the future, we dedicate this book.
whose assistance and advice to the class of June '21 have contributed very materially to the success that attended its undertakings
Seniors
We are now Seniors. Every September and January as a new contingent of Frosh begins its career at West High, we are carried back to that day in September 1917, when the class of June 1921 swept into West High School. The boys carried their hats and lunches to class and the girls just couldn't find 55; our schedules were lost and so were we.

But soon our books were bought and lost and each of us thought ourselves exact images of Sophs—or maybe Seniors! During our "short-trouser and pigtail" year our class gave a reception. We were strange to the school and the school strange to us, but we showed our courage and brought our parents to see the faculty. That same year many picnics were held by various recitation classes—loads of fun, sandwiches, ants, salad and spidery bugs.

In September 1918 there came a great moment in our young lives—the acquisition of sophistication! During our first year we had made many new friendships and renewed old ones so that the amalgamation of the boys' and girls' sections this year made a splendid feeling throughout the class.

All this year the patriotism that swept America ran high in West High. Sewing and knitting by the girls and "farmering" by the boys—everything was willingly done. A dull vacation was enjoyed when school and movies had to be closed for the "flu" epidemic. Then came the "Soph Hop," which, judging from the number who suddenly became Sophs, was a decided success. Most of us had spring fever this year, but managed to pass some of the exams.

The second year started with a bang. It was then that the sterling worth of Phil Goldsmith, our President became apparent in every undertaking. Our Hallowe'en masquerade was a success from beginning to end when the decoration committee, with the aid of Mr. Bezant, succeeded in covering our tell-tale footsteps.

Next came the sleigh-ride which ended with a dance around an oil-stove in the girls' gym. The girls also asserted their rights by giving a Leap Year Party for which Miss Manchester and Mrs Lyman gave a few suggestions and helped to run things off in fine shape.

The Junior Dance and Junior Plays were presented with great success and they can proudly hold a place in West High's history. The last class function of the year was a trip to Coburg which greatly benefited our health and geographical knowledge, and from which we emerged with pockets full of Canadian money. Our only casualties were a few sandwiches and a baseball.

In September 1920, our Senior year started. Our president, Philip Goldsmith, and vice-president, Selma Curry, were re-elected to carry on through our last year. In the fall a Hallowe'en Party was held as well as several informal parties in the girls' gym. The Senior Play and Senior Dance were among the very best ever produced in the school.

The girls' basketball team continued their good work this year and won the interclass championship for the second time, to say nothing of the cup won at the "meet" held in our third year. The boys have also been well represented on teams, and a goodly share of captains and managers came from our class. The first and second places in the School Declamation Contest were won by members of June '21, a notable achievement for our boys.

For two years the OCCIDENT staff was almost entirely comprised of members of our class. West High Day, too, supplied places for many of us to work. This last year the General Committee was composed almost wholly of members of our class.

Then at last, the parting of the ways in many directions. But each one cherishes the pleasant memory of happy days, all too short, spent by the famous class of June, 1921 within the classic halls of Alma Mater.
In September class officers were elected for the Senior year. Philip Goldsmith had served so well throughout the Junior year that his re-election was a matter of course. A vice-president needs to be more than a person who can occasionally take the president’s place and in Selma Curry the class has a vice-president who has worked hard in behalf of every activity from freshman year on. Selma also was a hold-over from the Junior officers, and next to Phil has probably done more for the class than any other member. A wise choice was made in electing Ella Troughton to the secretaryship. She has always recorded our meetings with an accuracy and detail that embarrassed some of us and sounded like biographical sketches. John Shaw is a wizard when it comes to finance and the class in electing him treasurer showed sound judgment. John’s activities are of a varied nature, but when it comes to a money proposition, he is right at home and does his best work. The vociferous expressions of class spirit have been under the direction of May Streebing and Emmett Lynn and during the Senior year, class meetings were always full of pep when they led the cheers. The class of June ’21 is proud of its officers for they are true leaders of the class, “Best of all in all respects.”
THE many class activities in the Senior year call for a vast amount of work which naturally devolves upon the president of the class. But there are so many things for him to do that to ask him to assume these numerous duties would be unfair. The class therefore voted him the right to appoint a Class Cabinet to work in conjunction with him. The following were appointed: Carl Metzger, John Shaw, Frederic Wellington, Harold Stone, Selma Curry, Ella Troughton and Eleanor Hattersley.
THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE of the class was organized during the Junior year to save time in class legislation and management. In a class of over one hundred and fifty it is almost impossible to get all the class members together, and to secure their opinions on subjects up for discussion is even harder. To improve this system, representatives in an Executive Committee were appointed by the president at the ratio of one representative for every ten class members. The plan was to hold meetings of the committee to consider matters that could be handled by them; then each member had to secure the opinion of his constituency of class members. Thus the final vote showed the real sentiment of the class members on the matter in hand. The members of the Executive Committee during Senior year were: Selma Curry, Bernice Doering, Irene Downs, Gertrude Eisenbrey, Florence Lintz, Zillah Vannuccini, Reginald Baron, Jerome Leadley, Emmet Lynn, Carl Metzger, John Shaw, Elmer Smith, Merton Carver and Frederic Wellington.
Last Will and Testament of the Class of June '21

We, the defunct class of 1921 of the West High School, City of Rochester, County of Monroe, State of New York, United States of America, Western Hemisphere, The World, The Universe, and goodness knows what else, being void of mind and understanding, and therefore not to be held accountable, do hereby constitute and cause to be set down this, our last will and testament, giving, devising and bequeathing all our goods and chattels in the manner herewith set forth:

First, We direct that all just debts incurred by our graduation be paid.

Second, To Mr. C. A. LaBounty, we leave the never-failing supply of block-heads, hoping that he may find some use for them in his dumb-bell factory.

Third, To Late Beers we bequeath a new supply of descriptives, trusting that the numerous “prunes”, “birds”, “snow-shoes”, and “crazy yaps” around school will be benefited and Late’s vocabulary enlarged.

Fourth, To Bill Bush we leave the surplus of Norman Lyon’s oratorical abilities with sincere hopes that he may find something to talk about.

Fifth, To Lester Slocum we give one page of advertising in the Occident to assist his attempts to keep his name before the public.

Sixth, To Mr. Bennett we bequeath a blank phonograph record upon which to record those magic words of deliverance, “Beginning with the rear seats, the assembly is dismissed.”

Seventh, To Marjorie Brownell we leave a season ticket to Miss Manchester’s office.

Eighth, To the class of 1950 we bequeath Mrs. Lyman, knowing that she will not wish to advise another class before that time.

Ninth, To the head of the Classics Department we bequeath Mr. Bezant with the hope that he will soon follow a good example.

Tenth, To Ted Mooney we bequeath a bottle of Harold Stone’s Hair Stickum.

Eleventh, To those so inclined we leave the “primrose path” to Doc’s and everlasting perdition.

Given under our hand and foot, and duly sealed this tenth day of June, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-One.

Two weeks was the time allowed to the Annual Board for appointed its staff during the previous term no Annual could strike beat us out or beating out the strike and only the best of the minds of the editors, and when the crisis arrived assignments ity over night. Owing to an unforeseen slump in the advertising But in getting away from the usual style of Senior Annual it preparing material for the book. But for the fact that the class have been published, for it came to a matter of letting a printer’s organization saved the day. For weeks the book had lived in given out were filled on the dot and the book became an actual-business, the Board was forced to cut its estimates as to size. has hoped to open a field of variety for future Annual Boards

Good records in athletics and school activities have always been praised and the students who have successfully filled the high scholarship requirements necessary to gain the Honor Roll, should also receive recognition. The 1921 Annual Board inaugurates the practice of printing the picture of the Honor Roll with the hope that classes to come will follow a good precedent. The Honor Roll is composed of students who have gained sixteen A records or their equivalent, in their first seven terms.

Vale!

Life's broad road gleams white before us,
Leading forward, beckoning on.
Four long years we have traveled together,
Now a part of our journey is gone.
In the classroom and the corridor
We have seen each passing day
Bringing with it joy and friendship
Which we'll treasure all the way.

Those ideals which we have learned here
On our path shall be our guide,
And for them to Alma Mater
We will always point with pride.
For, in going out to new things
She has made our vision clear,
True devotion, cheerful service
She has brought within our sphere.

These four years have meant much to us
In our work and in our play,
Joyous, and filled o'erflowing
With bright happiness each day.
Old West High holds out a vision
Which we'll weave into our life.
Our strength we'll use in helping others
On the road that eases strife.

So with freshened hearts and courage
We are starting round a bend
Where new labours now await us,
And success lies at the end.
But through all our lifelong journey,
Wheresoever we may be,
We will thank thee, Alma Mater,
And our hearts all turn to thee.

PAULINE MEADER.

Owing to an unfortunate error the names of three members of the Honor Roll were not printed. These three people, who do not appear in the picture, are Dorothea Bedwin, Marie Geyer and Odd Braaten.
In the fall of 1936, I was travelling in France, spreading propaganda for an anti-grape-juice-and-lemonade campaign which had been started in the United States by a few faithful workers—Jack Shaw at the head, and Bernice Doering, Gordon Walton, Marie Murphy and Elmer Smith working under him. Cigars, cigarettes, chewing-gum and cider having been long ago abolished and formulae for tea and coffee-making having been in force so long that people had forgotten how the real thing tasted, we thought it was up to us to start something.

Sitting in my hotel room on the evening of November 3d, I was slightly discouraged because I could think of no other luxury of which to deprive my compatriots, when I was called to the long-distance telephone booth. What was my surprise to hear from the other end of the line the well-known voice of my old friend, Ella Troughton! After miscellaneous inquiries Ella informed me that Zillah Vannuccini, whose private secretary she was, was running for the office of President as the Retrogressive party candidate against Phil Goldsmith on the Democratic ticket. For eight years Norman Lyon had occupied the White House as a Republican President, ably assisted by his Secretary of State, Reginald Baron. However, Norman had declined a third term, saying he wished to retire and devote his time to writing scenarios for Kenneth Clark, successor to Fatty Arbuckle. Parts of this I had already learned from the papers, but newspapers differ so, especially when there are such different correspondents as Florence Lintz and Harold Bagg. Ella suggested I start home next morning and arrive in time to hear the final results of the election, staying in Washington until after March 4th, and incidentally missing the cold and soupy weather prevalent in Rochester since Max Gideonse was appointed weather-man. I promised Ella I would pack at once and we said good-bye till the next evening.

Next morning I put in an early appearance at the Ethereal Rapid Transit Company's office and caught the eight o'clock ship. It really did not surprise me much to meet the pilot of the ship in the person of Frank Saunders. Frank always did have a bent for soaring—away from various points! We exchanged profuse greetings and information about our classmates and Frank told me many improvements had been made on the machine by Melville Leon and his competent assistants, Bernice Snyder and Lois Reynolds. Then the plane started and we made ourselves comfortable in the many different compartments of the airboat. Looking about me, I discovered Mildred Fuerness and Mary Acker besmeared with grease and busily oiling the vital parts of the machine. In the cafeteria were two neat waiters who proved to be John Jameson and Gregory Dugan. They assured me living on a plane was the best of amusements, never monotonous, and very good for the health.

When we were about half-way across the Atlantic, we sighted a steamer far below, signalling us. We slowed up, dropped down a couple of miles and picked up a basketful of passengers. When the basket was hauled up, lo and behold there were the Reverend Thomas Wolff and Richard Sedgwick! Tommy had reformed Dick and taken him over to Siam with him where they had succeeded in converting a great number of the natives. While Dick was busy in constructing an improved brand of mud-huts. Tommy would distribute cough drops, camomile tea and Sunday-School papers. Now they were home for a short vacation, and were to bring back Pauline Meader, the noted medical missionary.

It was sunset when we reached the field outside of New York. We promised to keep in touch with one another in future. All expressed great interest in the election although our worthy missionaries were unable to vote. Then I bade my new-old friends goodbye and took the train to Washington.

The trip is not long, but I had time to read a couple of magazines purchased from the newsboy, Eugene Brick. One of them happened to be “Life”, and to my amazement and horror I found that Frederic Wellington was the editor-in-chief. The “Duke” had also several West High-ites on his Staff—Sara Chase, Virginia Furnald, Elsie Holley and Ella Bickford were burning midnight oil drawing cartoons; Albert Makin was employed in collecting jokes taken from real human specimens. When he was hard up for jokes he would run over and visit Emmet Lynn and Ted Underleid in their Chinese Restaurant, or Valentine Zahn and Franklin Dix on their model rhubarb-farm, or Boyd Mullan and his gang of Federated Street Cleaners where might be found Ralph Hoyt, Floyd Smith and George Guthrie.

Ella met me at the station and we went to a quiet, exclusive little restaurant for nine o’clock luncheon. Ella promised me I would have a surprise—and I did! The place is run wholly by West High girls and is a regular meeting-place for alumnae. Their chief cook is Olive Bacon who has made herself famous with her home-brewed ketchup and hand-grated horseradish. She effectively bosses around her kitchen a bevy of less accomplished cooks—Gladys Boltz, Dorothy Marples, and Florence Murphy among them. The waitresses are all “good to look upon” and there you may find Kathryn Beazley, Marie Geyer and Lily Rose.

On account of its all-feminine management, men are strongly attracted to it. Perhaps that was how we happened to find there, at a corner table, Harold Stone, the noted lawyer. That was a surprise, and we were soon talking over old times. Harold informed us he was working on a mysterious burglary case involving the theft of a half dozen lemonade knives and a soup fork from the White House during President Lyon’s last administration. All evidence seemed to prove that Carl Metzger was the criminal, Carl having taken French leave six months ago. They had tracked him, however, to Oregon, and were carefully watching the movements of a band of miners, noted for their outlawry. This band was composed of Gerald Dyer, Frank Honold, Norman O’Brien, Joseph Picciotti, Howard Trimby and Kenneth Punnett. We all began to tell what we knew about our different classmates. Harold pulled out of his pocket a recent number of the OCCIDENT and we discovered several additions to the West High faculty. Grace Green is the head of the modern language department; Dorothy Brown, of the classics, with Merton Carver teaching Greek under her and Sara Wile, Latin. Lena Ashenberg has gone in for Civics, Elsa Preische is teaching Voluminous Geometry and Solid Trigonometry, while her friend, Lillian Geminder, contents herself with inflicting upon the students, who are smaller than ever, the elements of Fourth Dimension Calculus and logarithms. Alfred Codd is the new principal, the place having proved too much for his predecessor, Philip Wickens, who has resigned and is devoting himself to writing a new “trot” for Virgil students as hard up as sympathetic Phil once was. George Waldo is a teacher in the English Department, and the noted author of successful plays which have been produced at the Park and Princess Theatres here. It was eleven o’clock when we left the restaurant with promises meet again during the winter.

The next day, while Ella was consulting with Zillah as to their party platform, I went down to the Capitol and attended a session of the seventy-fourth Congress. Judge of my surprise when I spied from the visitors’ balcony the familiar faces of Eunice Hutchison, Kathryn Sutorius, Sadie Whitehouse, Margaret Neun, Grace Leigh, Alice Foster and Ruth Dodds—and they were only a few of the women representatives. Sadie and Alice had been sent from Texas where they had made a neat little fortune in oil stocks. Grace, Kathryn and Margaret were from California where they have become greatly interested in enlarging America by taking the tops off mountains and carting them out into the ocean to build new cities on. Eunice and Ruth represented Maine, and were soon to bring up the question of whether or not housecats should be licensed. Among the men I found my old class-mates, Edward Frankewich, Albert Ward, Floyd Simpson and John McCarthy. The Speaker, Erwin Grau, seemed to have a weight on his mind. They were discussing the question of importing our Limburger cheese or making it ourselves, and after a heated debate between Edward and Floyd, the vote was greatly in favor of home manufacture. Roberta Wignall, Marion Bryan and Leah Clark have a dairy in Doc's old drug store, where they make enough to supply a whole continent. Such practical suggestions as these our women representatives have introduced into Congress.

On my way home I purchased a paper which I read while awaiting Ella's return, for we were going to dinner that night with some friends of Ella's whose names she would not tell me. In its pages, I found more familiar names. The Eastern champion team of women basketball players were practising hard in preparation for their game with the European champions in the spring. Among our players were Gertrude Eisenbrey, Margaret Powell, Dorothy Kennedy, May Streebing and Ruth Stafford. In the music columns was advertised a concert to be given that evening by the noted Neapolitan trio composed of Carl Frank, violinist; Alfred Kumerow, tenor; Selma Curry, soprano; with Ruth Walker at the piano. Eleanor Hattersley's aid is often required in the bass parts which Mr. Kumerow cannot reach. Ruth Woods has a regular engagement as accompanist with the Parsells Marimba Band. George has organized an orchestra of eight pieces played by Carter Hughey, Ernest Loos, Harold Calnan, Roland Geiger, Lester Meeks, Clarence Deeker, Cortland Wilson and himself. Among the advertisements were highly recommended Koppler's Kute Kanned Complexions and Fleckenstein's artificial eye-lashes. Josephine and Helen have a laboratory together where they concoct mixtures for their beauty-desiring sisters. One of their most popular products is the Dimple-Denter, invented by their co-worker, Muriel Fay.

I was engrossed in this news when Ella's return was announced. We left at once. As we entered a taxi, something in his voice made me look twice at the driver, and—would you believe it!—George Stifter! So busily did we converse on the way that we barely escaped with our appetites from a collision. George said his company was run by Odd Braaton and Ralph Forrest, and that two other fellow-students, Harold Soule and Charles Rudolf, were expert mechanics employed by the company.

When we arrived at the new Roosevelt Hotel and met our dinner guests. I was indeed amazed to find none others than Mildred Scheibe, Dorothea Bedwin and Elizabeth Frei. Mildred entertained us at dinner with stories of her new hospital for broken-down returned missionaries. Dorothea is her head-nurse, and Elizabeth concocts tempting dishes for the patients. Mildred performs all the difficult surgical operations herself, assisted by her competent understudies, Dorothy Wright and Gladys Saunders. I told them they might expect soon to have Thomas Wolff and Dick Sedgwick as patients. That started us talking and talk we did, both long and loudly.

Finally, someone suggested we go to a theater—if it were not too late. We arrived just as the curtain went up on the second act. It was a ballet number and well executed. As I focused my glasses on the stage, I uttered an exclamation—"Irene Downs! Don't you see her—the cute bobbed one? And if there aren't Elizabeth Kingston and Caroline Ritter!" Sure enough. We found afterwards they were touring with the Steinkamp-Lowe Comedy Company. Henry and Richard have formed a very successful company of players, but they claim that much of their success is due solely to the efforts of their manager, Bobby Congdon, and their costume-designers, Edith Lindenberg and Lydia Cortese. Between the acts, I had an opportunity to observe the theater itself. In one of the boxes, I spied a familiar crop of hair, and then I thought—Kathryn Kingston! Mildred explained to me that she and her co-workers, Helen Meyn and Martha Rodenbush were often employed in government criminal cases. Dorothea pointed out a group seated near the orchestra—Benedict Miller, Herbert Hanson, and Eugene Kent, who run a fine department store in the heart of Parsnip Junction. Their chief buyers are Kenneth Pancoast and Jerome Leadley, who purchase their stocks of women's suits and coats, face powder and darning cotton; and Helen Theim, Gertrude St. John, and Gladys Adams who buy up men's furnishings, hardware, jewelry and auto parts. We all agreed we had had a most surprising and enjoyable evening and said good-night with many promises of future meetings.

The next morning confirmed reports of the election began to come in. The excitement and suspense ran high. Sentiment was divided among my rediscovered friends. However, as the day progressed, it became evident that Zillah would win, and indeed she did, when the final reports came in. Phil took his defeat very graciously. Ella now became very busy and I thought it best to go back to Rochester and report to my committee headquarters. I promised to attend the inauguration and perhaps bring a fellow alumna or two back with me to meet our friends in Washington.

A few days later, I paid a visit to West High. It seemed good to be inside once more. First, I met Grace Green, and she piloted me around to meet the June '21 teachers. We had quite a reunion that evening at Principal Codd's home. From various sources, I learned that Mary Croston, Grace Sheppard, and Margaret Sweeting are running an employment bureau. They often find work for those sent to them by the welfare workers, Pearl Boldt and Alladene Odell. Stephen Briggs and James McConnell run a truck-farm in Irondequoit. Anne Callaghan and Helen West teach dancing where Mr. Otto used to hold forth. Mike Miller of lunch-room fame has William Meckfessel and Daniel Dole to help him in his chain of restaurants. They make a specialty of "Hot Halibut for Hen-pecked Husbands" and are famous for their Guaranteed, Destructive, Death-Dealing Doughnuts from the studio of Evelyn Davidson. One of their most frequent patrons is William Mow. Many of their favorite recipes are from the pens of Melva Chastain and Phyllis Effinger who write for "Good Housekeeping." William Higgins has organized a new street railway company which even runs a car now and then on the Dewey line and has special directions to make good time if a West High student winks with the secret sign of the Economize Tardy Slips Club. Among his conductorettes, you may find, if you are lucky, Rose Brooks, Elizabeth Lannin, and Evelyn Grimm. I told all I had learned about our classmates in New York and Washington, and we discussed the new president's platform and plans. Suddenly Grace had a brilliant idea—we all gathered around the table and she unfolded her plan. We are all going to write to, phone to, or see personally, all our fellow-alumni we can reach, and meet together in Washington on March 4th. We shall surprise Zillah and have a grand reunion.

Then, with many good-byes "till we meet again," we parted, going home to dream over our planned reunion on Inauguration Day when our dear old class of June '21 will all be together again.
The School
ALTHOUGH West High can no longer claim to be the youngest and newest member of the Rochester school system, it is nevertheless just as much a prominent feature of the system to-day as when it was built and, with its great block of tree-dotted sward, is one of the beauty spots of our city.

But such a wonderful school did not come in a day. It was the supreme attainment of all the developments made in years gone by. As far back as 1827, Rochester had a high school, but it was hardly more than a rude square building of stone, with an equipment limited and inadequate. This did not prevent the students rushing to it in such large numbers as to greatly overtax its facilities, and in 1857 a new school became imperative.

This new building, which stood in Fitzhugh Street, was a great improvement over the original one, but in time it was outgrown and the Rochester Free Academy was built. The academy served till 1903, when the East High School was completed, up to which time it was one of the best equipped high schools in the state. For several years East High remained the wonder of the town; then West High was built. From that time on West High has been the pride of the city.

The first principal was Herbert S. West. To him much credit is due for getting the new organization under way. Deserved honors were soon heaped upon him, for after four years he was appointed Superintendent of Schools—a striking tribute to the man who held the welfare of West High so much at heart. Mr. Bennett took his place and has served ever since—a hard-working and worthy successor of the man who went before him.

Football was the center of school activities in the first years of the school's history. Stories handed down from those times have become traditions, and the spirit that made West High famous while football lasted has come down as a heritage to be jealously guarded.

West High Day was a development of those early days. In 1908 the students decided that the school needed a permanent athletic field and immediately took steps to procure one. To aid in raising the necessary money the plan of running an entertainment at Convention Hall was adopted and carried through. In after years these gala occasions were shifted to the school, and West High Day has come down as one of the outstanding affairs of the year.

The abolishment of fraternities caused a great upheaval in the high schools of Rochester. When the order of the Board of Education drove out all of the old secret societies, clubs, such as the German Club, sprang up to take their places. But these authorized organizations gradually faded from the horizon of student activities, and in time became practically extinct. Recently there has been a decided movement toward the re-establishment of clubs in the school, the Loyalty Club and the French Club taking the initiative in the matter. That they will soon be followed by numerous similar organizations seems probable.

West High has accomplished many things in scholastic activities, having ever been a school of high standing in this respect. That this is true is evidenced by the fact that of the four times Yale scholarships have been offered to the high school students of Rochester, four West High men have carried the awards. That is only one phase. West High has taken more than its quota of state scholarships and many West High students have received special awards from colleges throughout the state. That the future will bring an even greater number of scholarships to her graduates is the sincere hope of every loyal West High supporter.

No school in the country has a better record or brighter prospects than our own Alma Mater. West High stands at the pinnacle of fame and the gateway to opportunity. A fine record at West High generally forecasts a fine record in after life. West High graduates men and women of sterling worth and character.

West High is proud of her graduates, and her graduates are proud of her.

Forty-seven
Student activities at West High are one of the great factors in making the school the great place of hurry and rush that it is. If a student is not affiliated with an athletic team, or serving on the OCCIDENT, it is more than probable that he or she is in the Orchestra, Band, Senior or Junior Play, West High Day Play, Science Club, Loyalty Club, French Club, or representing his or her class as a member of the Executive Council. High requirements make it impossible for a student to take an active part in student affairs if lessons are not kept up to standard, and a student who fails to maintain a satisfactory record in his class is declared ineligible for any team or activity. These requirements tend to raise the general scholarship of the school, for a student who has genuine interest in an activity will make desperate attempts to keep all lessons up to standard.

There are many clubs around school to claim the interest of the students. Prominent among them are the Loyalty Club, the French Club and the Science Club. The Loyalty Club is a social organization, meeting every two weeks at the home of a member for the purpose of more intimate relationships among the students and to instill greater spirit and love for the school. The French Club has for its purpose the acquiring of fluency and ease in simple French conversation, much that cannot be gained in the regular classroom. The Science Club is for those who are interested in the developments and discoveries of Science. The section of the country around offers many opportunities to students interested in natural science, and trips are taken by the Club to points of interest. The Chess Club is an old-time organization which has recently taken a new lease of life. A team was formed of the most proficient members, and two matches were run off against the faculty, the first of which was a tie and the second a victory for the students. The teachers declare that chess is excellent training for the mind.

Through the generous patronage of Mr. Eastman, Rochester is soon to become one of the greatest musical centers in the country. The donation of instruments to the University of Rochester for the use of the High School Students of Rochester is an example characteristic of his liberality. That the instruments were greatly appreciated by the students to whom they opened a new avenue of instruction and pleasure, is evidenced by the fact that in two months' time from the day the boys were given their first instruction, the Rochester High Schools had a band of forty pieces with a sufficient repertoire to participate in a Decoration Day parade. That was several years ago, and the growth and development of all the instrumental organizations of the schools has been steady ever since.

Under Mr. Spouse the Glee Clubs have achieved new heights of ability. An Easter cantata given at one of the largest downtown churches was highly praised.

Dramatics have had a prominent place in student life at West High during the last two years. Aside from the Junior and Senior plays, produced under the direction of Miss Tripp, there have been two musical comedies arranged, directed and staged under the supervision of one of the students, Gordon Graham.

The OCCIDENT still maintains its place of influence in the school life. The past season has been one of the most successful ever had, although the staff encountered difficulties unknown in former years. Everyone manages to have a good time, and there is no one who cannot find some place where he or she can work and be happy.
The officers of the West High Student's Association are president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and cheerleader. With the exception of the treasurer, who is a member of the faculty appointed by the principal, all are students.

Each fall the various political organizations of the school hold caucuses and choose their party managers and candidates for offices. The campaign speeches of the party managers are the most flowery oratorical efforts of the year and the party managers do not fail to promise such things as to reduce the price of the tray-lunch and to extend a sidewalk to the corner drugstore if the students will only vote that party into control. The last election was a contest primarily between the Trustbuster and the Booster organizations. Albert Makin was nominated for president by the Trustbusters and endorsed by the Boosters, as was Helen Goold for vice-president. Both were elected. James Gray was elected secretary on the Booster Ticket and Leighton Beers, cheerleader on the Trustbuster ticket. At the end of the term the secretaryship was left vacant by the graduation of James Gray. A special election was called at which the Trustbuster party succeeded in electing its candidate, Willard Gucker. Mr. Watson was reappointed treasurer by Mr. Bennett.

Besides serving as officers of the Student's Association they occupy ex-officio seats in the Executive Council. The president of the Students' Association is also vice-president of the council and officiates as chairman of that governing body.
"Mr. Shaw made a motion that four dollars and fifty cents be appropriated to clean the cheerleader's white pants. Seconded. Carried."

Thus read the minutes of the Executive Council. But weightier matters than this are transacted by this important governing body. According to the Constitution of West High Student's Association, the supervision and control of all student organizations and activities shall be vested in a representative board known as the Council, of which the principal shall be the president and the president of the Student's Association, the presiding officer.

To describe fully the event, past, present and future, which have taken place or will take place through the efforts of the class of January '22 would be an undertaking requiring much time and patience; but it would be a sin not to tell about the Junior Dance and the Junior Play that were given recently.

The play, "Green Stockings," was given May 13th, under the direction of Miss Tripp. It was one of the most laughable comedies that the old assembly has seen in many a day and kept the audience in mirth from the first line to the final curtain.

Athletic activities have provided a means for many of our class members to gain renown. The OCCIDENT has been another activity in which the class has had a great part. So you see, it is a great class and much credit should go to the class advisers for the way we have attained such widespread success.

The officers of the class are Fred LawBon, president; Celeste Andersen, vice-president; Katherine Menzie, secretary, Henry Martin, treasurer. The members of the Executive Council from the class are Mary Shedd, Robert Logie, and Robert Loeb. The faculty advisers are: Mr. Ford and Miss Whitney.

In September 1918, the present Junior Final class entered West High for the first time. According to custom, the most outstanding affair of our freshman year was the reception to the parents when we brought all our folks up to school to meet our teachers.

The first, and perhaps the biggest event of our Sophomore year, was the Hallowe'en party when we turned out the largest crowd that ever attended a class affair in West High. Our Valentine party was also a great success. An excellent program arranged by John Cummings was the feature of the occasion.

Shortly after our adviser Mr. Jenner left us to become principal of Number 17, the class held a party at his new school. The whole evening was a success, but the eats and music were the best ever.

On March 19, 1921, we held a very successful St Patrick's Day party, the feature of which was a vaudeville program arranged by Helen Kelly, A. Stubblefield, and John Cummings.

The class officers are William Bush, president; Loretta Yerger, vice-president; Theodore Mooney, secretary; Leighton Beers, cheerleader. Class members in the executive council are Florine Reynolds, Mary Sullivan and Ruth Mathews.

THE most momentous occasion in the history of West High School was the advent of the class of January '23. The Freshman year was filled with many class affairs, the most important of which was the annual reception to the parents.

Sophomore year was overwhelming in its successful parties and various other entertainments. The swimming championship of the school was won by the class in that year. A wonderful Hallowe'en party was the most marked of many fall activities.

During the Junior term, a dance was held which was declared by all who attended as the most enjoyable ever.

The class adopted the name "Live Wire Class," in the freshman year, and has nobly tried to keep it a class known for its activities.

The officers are Richard Cromwell, president; Esther Strode, vice-president; Carter Holloran, secretary; Walter Holloran, cheerleader. The representatives from the class to the Executive Council are Esther Hubbard, Eniece Gates, and Edward Grey. The class advisers are Miss Storey and Miss Smith.

CARTER HOLLORAN, Secretary.

IT was a great moment for West High when the class of June '23 first took its place in the school. During the freshman year it had the reputation of being the most spirited of all the lower classes. Holding the school championship in soccer is an enviable record for a freshman class, but that is just a sample of the way this aggressive bunch does things.

In the line of social activities the class has had remarkable success. The most important class affairs were the Hallowe'en party last fall and the girls' picnic at Corbett's Glen.

Great things are expected for this class in the next two years, and it is hoped that the spirit that has made it such a success in its comparatively short life will continue all through its life at West High.

The boys' officers are Theodore Dimon, president; Walter Taylor, vice-president; Southern Jennings, secretary; Paul Herrick, treasurer; Wilbur Coon, cheerleader.

SOUTHERN JENNINGS
ALTHOUGH the class of January '24 has not been in school very long, it has already made itself felt in a number of activities. The first event of the year was a welcome party in the girls' gym for the students entering the class from Jefferson Junior High. Games were played that enabled the new members to become acquainted, and these were followed by dancing and refreshments.

The next and biggest event in the history of the class was the Soph Hop. For this occasion the boys and girls combined and everyone had a good time. The first part of the evening was spent in playing games; then everyone went to the Assembly where a short vaudeville program, including a play, "Miss Judith McCann," was presented. After this, refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

The officers of the girls' section are Louise Gelli, president; Gertrude Bradley, vice-president; Winifred Waterman, secretary; Ethel Lutz, treasurer; Isabel Marshall, cheerleader.

THE class of June '24 has organized and already has begun to take an active part in the life of the school. We expect to hear great things from them in the next few years.

The officers of the boys' section of this live class are Lloyd Storandt, president; James Galloway, vice-president; Earl Bolt, secretary; Donald Silliman, treasurer; Ralph Quick, cheerleader.

The officers of the girls' section are Dorothy Townsend, president; Loretta Richardson, vice-president; Caroline White, secretary; Margaret Pelle, treasurer; Lena Eggleston, cheerleader. The faculty advisers are Mr. P. A. Carpenter and Miss Ray.

Jan. '25 has but recently taken its place at West High, and so far no elections have been held. It is one of the largest classes in the school and by next fall will have become accustomed to its new surroundings and will be ready to take an active part in school activities along with the older and more experienced classes.

THE biggest single project perhaps in all West High's history was the Chinese Relief Drive in which West High set a goal of five hundred dollars and then set to work and raised $1227.00 for the starving people of China. This amount of money makes it possible to feed forty thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine Chinese for one day or saving two hundred forty-five lives until the next harvest. One or two money-raising campaigns in West High's history may have been bigger than this but they were campaigns in which the money was to be used for West High's benefit, part of which was collected from outside sources. Never before has West High raised any like sum for a purely altruistic purpose. This sum, added to the $500 contributed for the European Relief Fund, makes a total of about eighteen hundred dollars given in the last few months.

A special assembly was called for Monday morning at which the purpose of the campaign was outlined and Dr. Albert W. Beaven gave a stirring speech on conditions in China. From that time the school was the scene of practically every money-making scheme imaginable. The boys ran a shoe-shining establishment, the girls sold candy, cakes and even hair-nets. During the whole week these activities continued. But the crowning feature of the drive was a vaudeville show in the Assembly on Friday. The show was an illustration of how short a time West High requires to put on a first-class entertainment of many different acts. Those best received were probably the faculty acts and the Olean Trio with Gordon Graham.

At the close of the performance Miss Cook, general chairman of the committee, made her report showing a grand total of $1227, a sum far beyond the hopes of any one in school. "A good deal of credit should go to the enthusiasm generated by the East High game," said Miss Cook. "West High spirit made our campaign a success. All I had to do was to keep the committee and students from going too far in their attempts." Nevertheless we know that if it had not been for the splendid management of Miss Cook the campaign might have fallen far short of the admirable result that was attained.

Assisting Miss Cook on the general committee were Mrs. Beulah Lyman, Miss Norma Storey, Miss Ella See, Miss Elizabeth Dunbar, Miss Ruth Palmer, Miss Helen Parker, Miss Mabel Allis, Mr. Emil Hulek, Mr. Ray Naramore, Mr. Floyd Wheelan and Mr. Charles LaBounty.

With printing costs increased more than three hundred per cent, the Occident staff under Frederic Wellington as managing editor, managed by scientific juggling of several factors to put out a magazine slightly larger than ever, and a monthly circulation of fourteen hundred copies shows how well the magazine has been received.

Last year John Shaw was the managing editor and the year was marked with numbers well edited, well advertised, and well read.

Fifty-five
WHEN the West High Band came into existence, about three years ago, there were few if any who even hoped that the boys would accomplish as much as they have in the comparatively short time they have been together. From the easy selections of those first days, the band has grown and developed into an organization capable of rendering the most difficult compositions—numbers which are generally considered far beyond the ability of high school and non-professional organizations.

From our infancy we have had a great longing to learn to play on one of those sackbuts or psalteries that the choir used to sing about. We don't know whether they are string, brass, reed or wooden, but it makes no difference; we are set in our purpose. Perhaps some day in the dim and distant future we will have enough ambition and tenacity to go about it to realize this fond dream of ours—till then, we must sit idly by, and let others make our music for us.

We are filled with admiration for the boys who can tackle those big horns and make such inspiring music at the games. We are sure that our band drowned out the East High boys at the last basketball game—our baritone player could do that much alone!

For John Cummings, we have nothing but praise. When he chews his little piccolo, "music hath charms", but when he takes the baton, we must admit that we have a new Sousa in our midst.
UNDER the able direction of Mr. Fay and Mr. Clute, the West High Orchestra has made remarkable progress during the past year. The orchestra has furnished the music for several assemblies, which was enjoyed by all. Mr. Clute, our new director, is a leader of wide experience. For several years he has been cornetist at the Regent, so if most of us have not known him before, at least most of us have heard him.

Carl Frank, a member of the graduating class, and a violinist of considerable note, is assistant director and plays first violin in the concert chair. Carl is hard-working and faithful and to him much credit is due for the way he has assisted the less experienced musicians.

A concert by the Rochester High School Symphony Orchestra at Convention Hall, in conjunction with a speech made by a personage of no less note than ex-president Taft, was the most important event of the year. The Symphony Orchestra is composed of picked players from the orchestras of the several schools. West High musicians take a leading part in this organization, Carl Frank serving as concert master and assistant director.
Sports
IT took a basketball team which won but three games out of seventeen to bring West High spirit to a point never surpassed in the school’s history. Starting with soccer in the fall the Orange and Black continued their policy of “Beat East High” by finishing ahead of them in the Rochester and Vicinity Soccer League. Both East High and Genesee Wesleyan defeated us near the beginning of the season but were defeated by the Occidentals in the last two games of the year.

Next came basketball, with a team whose gameness and sportsmanship won the esteem of the schools whose teams they played. The East High game, preceded by a parade to the Armory of twelve hundred West High students, who knew there was no chance to win but who were determined to beat East High in spirit at least, generated a spirit and a morale that had a signal result on the success of the Chinese Relief Drive the following week.

Our cross-country team will long be remembered for the winning of the Central and Western N.Y. Championship at the University of Rochester Invitation Meet, in which thirteen schools participated. Among the participants was Hutchinson High of Buffalo which took second place in the National Cross-country Meet at Philadelphia.

At the only skating meet of the winter West High won the city championship and the championship of the sophomore division, placing well in senior and junior events.

In swimming, East High was not able to get together a team worthy of competing with ours. A dual meet was held with Manlius, one of the strongest teams in the state, which resulted in a decisive victory for our natators. A City Scholastic Inter-Class Meet was held in which West High won the city championship taking first in every class and winning first place in every event but one.

In track West High tied with Lafayette High of Buffalo for second in another University of Rochester Invitation Meet, where East High failed to place. They took second in a city championship indoor meet in which East High was a poor third.

At this writing West High girls had defeated the East High girls in a decisive basketball game, the first of a series of three. The purpose of these games is to promote a friendly spirit between the girls of the two schools, not to reopen interscholastic athletics for the girls.

West High’s outdoor track team is practically the same that performed in the indoor meets. This year’s track activities are marked by the heaviest schedule in West High School’s history.

The baseball team is composed of veterans from last year’s team; and a heavy schedule is planned for it. Twelve men are in school who played on the team last year, and, judging from their past record, they ought to win a championship this spring.

It is worthy of note that in the activities of the past year West High has successfully held to her policy of beating East High except in basketball. But in view of the way in which the newspapers talked of the “Old West High Spirit Revived,” we need to have no regrets that we lost in that one sport. Soccer, track, swimming, cross-country and skating—in all these sports we have demonstrated our superiority to our rivals across the river.
COME out and yell for us and we’ll beat East High,” promised the yard line. Max Gideonse, recently from Holland and almost unknown soccer team before the second East High game. West High was third in the Rochester and Vicinity Soccer League with Genesee Wesleyan Seminary first, and East High second. The afternoon of the game every West High student there saw the best exhibition of high school soccer ever put up on the West High field. The teams played on even terms throughout the first fifteen minutes when an East High forward slipped a counter past Bill Gucker. West High’s famous backfield then showed its worth and whenever the goal was in danger Stifter or Beers booted the ball out of danger, Gucker, too, making some wonderful stops. The half ended without further score.

The second half opened with a rush, West High carrying the ball up the field only to lose it before the goal. The backfield recovered the ball and this time the forward line swept up the field and through the East High defense. Congdon beating the goalie to the ball and scoring. The rest of the half was characterized by fierce fighting. The game was a clean one from our standpoint, only one foul being called for off-side play. The game proper ended without further score, as did an extra period. It was noticed, however, that the Orange and Black kept the ball in East High territory most of the time. A second extra period began with the ball kept almost entirely in East High territory. In the last two minutes of play a penalty was called at East High’s ten-yard line. Max Gideonse, recently from Holland and almost unknown to West High’s students, stood before the East High goal with the outcome of the game in his hands. For a moment he hesitated in a silence almost oppressive, then kicked. The ball sailed past the out-stretched arms of the East High goalie. The game was won. Max was the hero of West High.

The following week over 1,000 students saw the Orange and Black defeat the champion Genesee Wesleyan team by a score of 2 to 0, the first time they had been defeated in two years. There is no doubt that West High had the best team in the league during the latter part of the season, her backfield of Gucker, Beers, Stifter, Makin, Little, Sodwick and Powelson being far the best in the league and her forward of Gideonse, Mullan, Seidel, Martin, Congdon and Black equal to any.

The statistics show that West High scored 38 points to her opponents 8, and ended the season half a game behind the league champions. But the statistics do not show the most interesting thing of all. After the second Canandaigua game, the Canandaigua players came up to the West High had the best team in the league during the latter part of season. At all we would rather lose to West High than any other team we have played, for your team is the cleanest fighting team we have met this season."
WITH a record of thirteen defeats out of sixteen starts, West High's basketball team trotted onto the floor at the East High game to find the Armory filled with two thousand West High fans to East High's one thousand, though East High has the bigger school and is the possessor of a state championship team. The game see-sawed along for five minutes with West High in the lead, when East High's machine got under way and the half ended 27 to 9 for East High.

Never was a greater exhibition of school spirit shown than that of the Orange and Black rooters. Although their team was hopelessly defeated, they spent the time between the halves in battle songs and cheers. West High outplayed her opponents across the river up to the last two minutes of the second half, when the East High machine managed to ring in two baskets necessary to make their score for the half one point better than ours.

After the whistle blew ending the game the West High crowd stayed in their places and gave a last yell for their team. An old East High grad was heard to say afterward, "The support your school gave her team was the most splendid exhibition of school spirit I have ever seen in my life."

West High's cheerleaders, Leighton Beers, Boyd Mullan and Emmet Lynn in devil costumes and May Streebing in a clown costume, were the hit of the evening.

The second game with Manlius, champions of Central New York, was the hair-raiser of the season. Manlius had beaten West High once earlier in the season and expected to repeat, but found it impossible to get past Bobby Congdon and Dick Sedgwick. Only one basket was scored by Manlius on a short shot. Gary, noted for ringing in an average of six or eight baskets to the game, managed to get one, while Hoedl steved in two from the center of the floor and Heffrom made one in the same way. The famous Lawyer found it impossible to score from the field while Howard got away from him for one basket.

At the end of the first half the score was tied. West High had a lead of three points up to the last two minutes when Gary dropped through his basket. The next two minutes took two years off the lives of the spectators. Time and again Manlius shot for the basket and missed. The whistle blew with West High one point ahead. Manlius played the cleanest game seen on a local court this year, two fouls being called against them and five against our team. Practically all of them were technical.

Playing the hardest schedule a West High team has ever had, with an inexperienced team and with eleven of its games out of town, the team under Manager Walton, earned for West High a reputation for clean playing and square dealing that will make easy the continuance of relations with all the teams we have played this season.
This year, for the first time since 1913, a series of games was played between a girls' team from West and one from East High. The first game resulted in an easy victory for our girls, 44-24. Two more games were yet to be played when this book went to press. The West High team is as follows: Margaret Powell, captain; Grace Green, May Streebing, Marjory Carter, Dorothy Kennedy, Ruth Stafford, with the following as substitutes: Evelyn Grimm, Dorothy Reed, Constance Polla, Louise Gelli is the team mascot, Miss Dunbar and Miss Fisher, coaches.

The games with East High were played, not as a re-opening of interscholastic activities for the girls, but as a means of promoting a better feeling between the girls of the rival institutions.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL

For the second successive time the girls' team representing the class of June 1921 won the interclass championship in the recent games. The following girls made up the team: Margaret Powell, captain, Grace Green, May Streebing, Ruth Stafford, Dorothy Kennedy and Evelyn Grimm. Margaret Powell, who is captain of the school team, has been captain of the 1921 team ever since the class began to be represented in basketball three years ago. It is worthy of note that five of the six girls on the class team are members of the school team and the other is a substitute, showing that the girls of June 21 live up to the class motto of, "Best of all in all respects."
Concerning baseball little can be said at this time. When the ANNUAL went to press the team had not been picked. The squad is composed of Congdon, Beers, Lutz, Powelson, Wilson, Seidel, Martin, Clark, Carrol, Little, Gaffield, Mattern, Urquhart, Stifter, Wollenhaupt, and Byers. Ten of these players played on last year’s team which made a creditable showing, playing Lafayette High of Buffalo for the Western New York championship and winning, then dropping the last three games. Manager Congdon, who managed the team through the latter part of the season, has arranged a heavy schedule as follows:

April 22, Canandaigua Academy at West High Field.

April 29, Newark High at Newark.
May 6, East High at West High Field.
May 7, Geneva High at Geneva.
May 11, Brockport Normal at West High Field.
May 13, Manlius at West High Field.
May 20, Brockport Normal at Brockport.
May 25, East High at Baseball Park.
May 27, Canandaigua Academy at Canandaigua.
June 1, Genesee Wesleyan Seminary at West High Field.
June 3, Newark High at West High Field.
June 8, Genesee Wesleyan Seminary at Lima.
June 10, East High at Baseball Park.

West High's track team tied for second place with Lafayette High of Buffalo in a University of Rochester Invitation Meet, Rochester Shop taking first. East High did not score. Captain Babcock's aggregation was easily the best-balanced team on the floor and were in the lead up to the last event losing because of the splendid individual work of Cox and Kellogg of Shop. In a city championship indoor meet West High took second to Shop's first, leading again up to the last event. Had the pole vault and high hurdles been among the events, West High would have won by a safe margin, but the smaller schools controlled enough votes in the athletic council to have these events omitted from the meet. Prospects for '21 outdoor track are bright, with one of the largest teams in years and a schedule outrivalling any ever carried through by a West High team. The members of the team are Babcock, Dimon, Gucker, Ward, Burhans, Makin, Borchbach, Mattern, Lockin, Gugino, Cherry, Underwood, Paddock and Metzger.

West High awoke one morning to find that overnight its little-known cross country team had sprung into prominence by defeating twelve schools for the championship of Central and Western New York State at the University of Rochester Invitation Meet. Practicing day after day for weeks, and running over the course the day before the meet in six inches of snow and mud, Captain Dimon's men deserved to win. Dimon ran an excellent race, finishing third. After Dimon crossed the line Babcock, Locklin, McAmmond and Henderson trotted in among the first twelve. The team was not a collection of bright luminaries but rather a well-balanced organization which won as the result of steady consistent training and to Coach L. G. Smith should go a great deal of the credit for the team that represented West High. All of these men will be in West High again next fall and we may expect another silver cup for our trophy case then.
WEST High's swimming team threw a surprise into the St. John's Military Academy team when they took the opening aquatic contest at the Y. M. C. A. pool on January 22, 35 to 27. Each team took three first places and the Occidental team walked off with the relay race, the deciding event. In a city championship inter-class meet West High took all but one first place, winning the scholastic championship together with those all classes. The members of the team are Wickens, Emory, Seidel, Beekwith, Leadley, Brick, Cooper, Graning, Grant and Rowley. Holloran and Cobb showed up well in the inter-class meet. No chance has been given to beat East High in a regular dual meet as they have not been able to scrape together a team worthy of competition with Captain Wickens' men.

The Washing for a Family of Five or Six Can Be Done In About Two Hours! Think of It!

Time out of number has the statement been voluntarily made by users of the Eden Electric Washing Machine that the washing for a family of five or six is finished and most of it on the line in about two hours from the time of starting.

Add to this great saving of time and physical labor the saving in wear and tear of fabric and you couldn’t have a more convincing argument for investing in an electrically operated washing machine.

Let us give you a demonstration next wash day that will cost you nothing except for the current consumed - approximately 3 cents

An Unusual Institute
Do you realize that it would be difficult to find in this broad land of ours another school, of its type, which combines the advantages of so many and varied courses as are offered by Mechanics Institute.

It is an unusual institute; the courses are practical and thorough, and graduates are in constant demand as teachers and in industry.

Each year more and more young men and women come to this city from other localities to enter its classes. West High Students ought to realize that here is a modern technical school, where they may equip themselves for their life’s work, and should investigate its possibilities.

If you are not fully decided on your plans for the future, come in and talk with us. Perhaps we can be of service in suggesting a suitable program.

Service in printing, in modern terms, is a combination of art and type.

This organization offers such a service.

An unsurpassed Art Department, where original and appropriate ideas are created, is the first step, and is of utmost importance to the buyer of advertising.

In conjunction with this art service an efficient copy and lay-out department is maintained for development of catalogues, circulars, booklets and other forms of advertising.

Then follows careful and accurate craftsmanship on the presses, which is, in itself, an art.

From the most elaborate color process work to the simplest pamphlet, an equal degree of the artistic is exercised.

ALL ABOARD FOR THE VACATION SPECIAL

We wish you a pleasant trip, a delightful vacation, but you can't get away without first having the proper luggage for the trip.

And luggage—good luggage—is a hobby with us. To go away with shabby looking luggage is just like being all dressed up in your best clothes except for a pair of rusty looking shoes. Good looking luggage is a part of your traveling costume—it must be right.

We would be glad to show you some of this correct luggage and see that you are properly equip-ved before you start.

A Personal Message
to High School Students

No matter what your plans for future work may be, you will always find it a tremendous advantage to have a knowledge of Shorthand, Typewriting and Bookkeeping. Do you realize that you can get a good start in any one or all of these subjects by spending part of your summer with us? We are prepared to take care of you in the summer months in a way that will not mean a sacrifice of your whole time. Our Day School Session runs from 9 to 1. This will enable anyone to commute from the lake or country without discomfort. Inquire about our organization and plan for the summer work.

Darrow School of Business
218 East Avenue
The Albany Law School has adopted a course of study leading to the degree of LL.B. extending over a period of three years. The instruction is of a practical character intended to fit the student for the bar examinations and for practice at the bar. The extension of the course, however, gives larger opportunity for attention to the history and theory of the law than was possible in two years.

Students who are qualified to enter advanced classes may do so upon passing a satisfactory entrance examination. In such case they will, on compliance with the requirements as to attendance and examination, receive certificates of attendance, as required by the rules with reference to admission to the bar.

The annual circular, giving full information, may be had on application to the Registrar.

She — Are you a Senior?
He — No, I'm a Freshman, too.

Hoyt — I'm getting quite popular with the faculty.
Miller — S'at so?
Hoyt — Yep, Mr. Bennett invited me to his office twice last week.

if Mother and Dad knew as much about the CADILLAC as you boys and girls do—if they knew how easily it controls and rides; how thoroughly reliable it is; how safe it is, both as a car and as an investment; and finally, if they knew—as you do—that it's the most economical car to own and operate over a term of years, there'd be nothing to it—you'd have your own CADILLAC "EIGHT".

Suppose you coach 'em a bit, eh?

Mrs. Lyman—(while faculty picture was being taken) I wonder why all the students are so interested.

Mr. Kenyon—It's the first time they have seen the faculty looking pleasant.

Barbara Beach, reading proof at the printer's—"Mr. Burns, is one of your men dead?"

Mr. Burns—"Why, no. What makes you ask that?"

Barbara: "That black cloth hanging on the door—I thought it was a crape. What is it?"

Mr. Burns: "That's the office towel!"

Hello, is Phil here?

"Liz" Smith, answering phone—Yes, which one?

Jack Shaw (after seeing several perfect 48's on the stage at Temple)—Some heavy bill this week!
